The Galileo Paradigm
Societal Presumptions made by lenient minded American Nationals

This short narrative is based on a personal belief derived from legal research on the lack of taxable liability on earnings of select individuals.

“All Truths are easy to understand once they are discovered.”
[Galileo Galilei]

[Frederick the Great]

“We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated Governments in the world – no longer a Government of free opinion, no longer a government of conviction and vote of the majority, but a Government by the opinion and duress of small groups of dominant men.”
[Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States]
REASONABLE NOTICE TO READERS

Many Americans today are preoccupied with life and the stress filled demands on their time and make similar mistakes by assuming they know something without ever seeking to prove it as fact [or as fact applicable for their own life] simply because it is accepted as a social custom. There is precious little time at the end of the day for many to perform their own research (which is unfortunate) on a subject matter of this intensity. However, ignorance or being unaware has a very high cost.

Long ago, man empirically “knew” that the earth was flat and that the earth was the center of the universe. There was no major question in this regard until Galileo completed his work which established a new paradigm that in the eyes of modern man seems rather simple today. There was much strife and derision put upon him but over time his work stands as fact and we might even wonder what the fuss was all about.

We are all created as free moral agents with the right to make our own decisions and then to be responsible for those free will choices and not to blame others for their beliefs by claiming any kind of undue influence in order to escape our individual responsibility for our own decisions and choices. How each reader chooses to exercise or apply information found in this work, or any other information that may come forth, is the essence of their free moral determination.

The informational material presented in this work is provided for the educational benefit of those seeking such knowledge based on this author’s belief. The best decisions are usually those that are based upon knowledge and information rather than assumption of fact(s) not in evidence.

All information presented are as truthful as the source of the information published or presented by the various federal documents and public records. While most readers may have opinions, only the law prevails. The reader is encouraged to secure awareness of the law and to those who are made liable - - they are encouraged to abide by it at all times. All information presented is based on opinion or belief. Each reader should not trust anyone on material as complex as this subject but should do their own review and prove everything prior to making a decision based on that effort.

Therefore, it is an imperative necessary for this author to present the following statement to clarify the intent of the work, the type of speech, and the parties this material is only made available for their reading enjoyment of this author’s expressions and opinions resulting from a rather lengthy research effort.
WARNING & LEGAL NOTICE

The information and opinions in this short narrative are intended only for an audience of those who are American Nationals, nonresident aliens to all federal judicial districts, who have their domicile outside the “United States” [defined at 26 USC §7701(a)(9), (a)(10), & 7408(d)], who work only in the private sector, and thereby do not derive any income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the “United States.”

The character of speech in this book is NOT to be considered factual or commercial speech because the educational information and possible insights in this book enjoys the same literary license the IRS uses where it proclaims in IRM section 4.10.7.2.8.1 that:

> “Publications are nonbinding on the Service and do not necessarily cover all positions for a given issue. While a good source of general information, [IRS] publications should not be cited to sustain a position.”

Therefore,

> “All information, opinions, and beliefs in this book, The Galileo Paradigm, are nonbinding on the author and should not be cited to sustain a position but it is a good source of general information.”

There are no “customers” of this book and no records are maintained from any distribution. This notice also means this book is protected speech under the First Amendment and therefore not actionable by federal courts as factual speech.

This information is NOT INTENDED OR APPLICABLE FOR THOSE WHO ARE:

(1) Federal workers,
(2) U.S. citizens,
(3) resident aliens,
(4) have a federal domicile as defined at 4 USC §72 & 26 USC §7408(d),
(5) public office holders,
(6) engaged in any federal franchise,
(7) contractually engaged in commercial activity with the national government, or
(8) those who operate in a representative capacity in behalf of, and for the benefit of, the national government [meaning use of an SSN].

Any inference on the part of others about the information within this book as being anything other than nonfactual speech can only occur by intentional misapplication by that individual or party. There is only respect for those who elect to work for the “United States”, have a domicile there, and lawfully pay all municipal taxes imposed as defined by the “Special laws”, for the legislative municipal jurisdiction promulgated in the Internal Revenue Code [IRC].
NOTABLE QUOTES

“The lie can be maintained only for such time as the State can shield the people from the political, economic, and/or military consequences of the lie. It thus becomes vitally important for the State to use all of its powers to repress dissent, for the truth is the mortal enemy of the lie, and thus by extension, the truth is the greatest enemy of the State.”

[Joseph Goebbels, German Minister of Propaganda, 1933-1945]

“The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They recognized the significance of man’s spiritual nature, of his feelings, and his intellect. They know that only a part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things.

They sought to protect Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations.

They conferred, as against the Government, the right to be let alone, - - the most comprehensive of rights, and the right most valued by civilized men.

Decency, security, and liberty alike demand that government officials shall be subjected to the same rules of conduct that are commands to the citizen.

In a government of laws, existence of the government will be imperiled if it fails to observe the law scrupulously.

Our Government is the potent, the omnipresent teacher. For good or ill, it teaches the whole people by its example. Crime is contagious. If the Government becomes a lawbreaker, it breeds contempt for law, it invites every man to become a law unto himself; it invites anarchy.”

Presumptions are a fact of life. How did we ever start making them? How often do we make them? What affect do presumptions (assumptions) really have on our individual lives? It is so easy to ask questions as we seek answers. Perhaps it is best to stop and think at times so that we might really understand what costs are associated with reacting or doing something without thinking.

Webster’s Dictionary defines the word ‘Assumption’ as “a statement accepted as, or supposed to be, true without proof or demonstration.” We obviously make assumptions without consideration to the above questions before we draw conclusions based on what we anticipate the facts or truth to be. Interesting that assuming is so easy to do. There is perhaps a need for all of us to simply stop ever so briefly and think critically about what affect we might expose ourselves to by making even the most mundane assumption.

The most significant historical story about assumption of facts not in evidence is recalled in the time of Galileo and his work on astronomy. He was able to scientifically prove [based also on the work of Copernicus] that the earth was not flat nor the center of the universe. This was in direct opposition to the assumptions made by almost every individual at that time in history.

World History is full of commentary about the results for those who present a new paradigm and Galileo faced nothing different. Change is a fact of life. However, many in authority prefer not to discommodate themselves. Many times authority figures prefer to dismiss a new paradigm without thinking about the potential benefit long term. Change may really present opportunity, if viewed carefully.

An everyday illustration was found when a young wife was cooking a roast beef dinner for her new husband. During the preparation, the husband noticed that his bride had cut a rather good-sized roast into two pieces and then placed each section into a separate pan to cook the meat. Following the meal, the husband noticed that the oven was large enough to handle the single portion of beef if it had not been cut in half. Curious, he asked his wife why she cut the beef and cooked it in two pans. She responded with “I really don’t know. My mother always prepared it that way. I guess she had a good reason.”

Puzzled about her husband’s question, the new wife later called her mother to pose the same question. Her mother told her “That’s the way my mother always prepared the roast and I really don’t know why she used two pans either.” A conference call to the grandmother quickly ensued and the same question was repeated to her. The eldest mother laughed and told her daughter and granddaughter the answer to the mystery when she stated, “I never had a single pan large enough to cook a whole roast in.”

So most of us grow up with little understanding of why we do the many things we do because we have never stopped to explore for understanding the reason. Today, millions of young children intuitively ask the simple and universal question, when they ponder the unknown in their life, by unabashedly shouting out to their parents…. “Why?”

Most parents recoil initially as they have to stop and think about their answers, especially when the small child is sincere and genuinely interested in a subject so important to them at the time.

When a parent responds to a child’s question, the child listens and quickly accepts the parents’ response as fact. No documentation is required for the parent to prove their statements. In the early years, children are generally accepting of the parents’ statements. So the trusting child ‘assumes’ the answer is truthful because the parents represent the highest authority in their life and do not think to question the response due to respect or immaturity in their cognitive abilities at that stage of their development.
Parents are expected to have their children’s best interest at heart and usually that is a pretty safe “presumption”. However, if the parent passes on their ‘presumptions’ to their offspring we see the result for generations. Who better to trust than those who you respect and are in a position of authority over your life?

So at a tender age, we quickly ‘accept facts as true’ without routinely seeking proof or documentation. Parents and educational institutions who would seek to improve the life of those they have been entrusted might want to think critically about challenging the reasoning capacity to consider a more rigorous search for validation of presentations before taking the easy road in life of merely assuming something to be a fact.

Who knows what good can be the result to mankind when each of us can contribute by stimulating creative and critical thinking about matters so long entrenched as fact when all along it might only be a presumption of a fact.

The statement below is a clear announcement that the government operates by precise planning. However, it allows the use of presumption when their forms are used by those who never were intended for their use. Consider the statement in light of what you do when you read their ‘information’ or as some would say ‘propaganda’ when the government agency or bureau purposely does not define their words of art on published documents. Could it be that the government prefers to let you fumble about their United States Code, their Code of Federal Regulations, and on their blizzard of forms and publications produced to find what is really being stated?

As you read further in this book, look for U.S. Supreme Court commentary in Fleming v. Nestor, 363 U.S. 603 (1960) to see what was behind the real intent of the Social Security Act and its Administrative agency. When doing so, try to remember FDR’s following statement.

“Governments never do anything by accident; if government does something you can bet it was carefully planned.”

[Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States]
INTRODUCTION

What is the first thought that comes to your mind when you hear the subject is about ‘taxes?’ Painful, boring and dry come to mind for many. Truthfully, that was my perception years ago. Let’s have some fun with this domain of accountants and attorneys that many ‘assume’ is nothing but dull and hard to understand or perhaps not really worth the effort.

Is discussing money a ‘painful, dry, and boring’ subject to you? Maybe you should reconsider as it is your money that is at stake and perhaps, just perhaps, you have made some incorrect ‘assumptions’ about what you think you know.

As a Christian, the Scriptures told me to ‘pay taxes that were due’. The Amplified Bible states “Render to all their dues. [Pay] taxes to whom taxes are due, revenue to whom revenue is due, respect to whom respect is due, and honor to whom honor is due.” I can’t tell you how many times I heard that scripture but never stopped to dissect it to see what was really being said. The key word in that passage of Romans 13:7 is the word ‘due’. Can you see what my ‘presumption’ was?

Taxation once consumed a large portion of my earnings and all I knew at the beginning, was that I had virtually no idea what was going on, why, or even how it all got started. I just worked hard to earn enough to provide for the necessities of life while all the time a large segment of my earnings was given by my private sector non-federal employer to a Santa Claus styled character by the frivolous name of ‘Uncle Sam’.

There is one big difference between “Santa Claus” and “Uncle Sam”. One gave you nice presents as a child [if you were good that year] while the other takes from you before you even get your paycheck [because you filled out an IRS Form W-4 agreement [contract] and used or identified a SSN on that contract]. Can’t fight City Hall, correct? So like many, you might have looked to the experts to find ways to shelter your money or retain as much as possible by taking “benefits” called “deductions” granted by the National Government. But those guys and gals don’t work for free.

Next, you might have even contemplated your own creative ideas to protect your money but fear probably arose as you developed your thoughts and realized that “email@ alcatraz.com” didn’t have any special appeal. So you just wish you could understand why you have to pay out so much money and you hoped to find a solution to legally keep what you earned. At the end of the year, with your fingers crossed, you pray that this “Uncle Sam” character is benevolent enough to take no more. Sound about right so far?

Keep the definition of “Assumption” fresh in your mind when you review the upcoming information and documentation. It will help somewhat if you are just a little lighthearted too. This subject makes most who discuss it experience a wide range of emotions….from fear to anger to disbelief. I might have left one out, so I will let you determine your state of mind after you finish reading the material. Remember, this book contains my opinions derived from my limited cognitive ability to ascertain the truth from the legal documents researched. Verify everything stated and assume nothing is correct or true in this book.

Before continuing, perhaps it would benefit the reader to understand that this project was not entered into lightly. The Federal government is large and powerful. It has an agenda that might be cause for concern as expressed by Judge Andrew P. Napolitano in his book, Constitutional Chaos: What happens when the Government breaks its own laws.

The cover sleeve to his book states, “Judge Napolitano focuses his biting criticism squarely on the government’s disregard for the bedrock at American freedom; the U.S. Constitution.” His book is worth the time to read. He is a graduate of Princeton University and Notre Dame Law School. He has taught constitutional law at two law schools and is currently [at the time this book was written] a Senior Judicial Analyst for the Fox Network.

In Chapter 6 of his book, Judge Napolitano stated:

“The First Amendment explicitly prohibits the government from interfering with free speech. The Amendment is in danger—and its danger comes from the least likely sources: the judiciary.” [Emphasis added]

It is unfortunate that our Forefathers did not reference the various types of “speech”. “Commercial speech” is NOT protected speech under the First Amendment. During political campaigns, the “political speech” of the candidates running for office IS protected so that once they enter their newly elected office, they are free to ignore anything they spouted in order to secure the votes of the people.

He goes on to state:

“Justice Thurgood Marshall suggested that only those government interests that speak to the continued existence of the government itself rise to the constitutional level sufficient to override expressive liberties….it is telling indeed that Justice Marshall cited no other example of a government interest of significant magnitude [known as a ‘state interest of the highest order’] to override expressive liberties.” [Emphasis added]

Worthy of another citation from his work is the statement that:

“The U.S. Supreme Court has granted strident protection to the media in a narrow category of cases where the government attempted to punish the publication of lawfully obtained truthful information. This means that the government may curtail the content of expressive liberties only when the interests that the government seeks to serve must be served at the peril of the demise of the government itself if they go unserved and only where the government’s interest in self-preservation can be served by no other means.” [Emphasis added]

I conclude with a final reference to Judge Napolitano’s book where he stated in the last paragraph in Chapter 6 that:

“The First Amendment, the crown jewel of our constitutional democracy, would have Americans enjoy the exercise of our expressive liberties in the certain knowledge that, barring a state interest of the highest order, [that which would cause the demise of the government itself] the courts will always safeguard the exercise of our expressive liberties.” [Emphasis & Clarification added]

The information provided here is a truthful presentation of published law and does not create any peril for the existence of the Federal government as this is merely a study of its own laws. What you are about to learn will either cause a very real paradigm shift in your thinking and understanding, as you have new knowledge to consider, or you will merely continue as normal and disregard what you think is essentially rabble.

The choice is yours as stated in the Disclaimer. After all, it has always been your choice as a free moral agent. However, you will no longer be able to say “No one ever told me” after you complete this book and some additional study. You have an open mind as evidenced by just your act of reading this far. So keep it open to the end and then you will be able to at least consider the possibility of what is presented just might be factual and true. Then you consider your own options on controlling your money.

As in any discourse of this magnitude, I urge you to never take anyone’s word for anything, including mine, when the subject is this important. So check out the references in this work - - on your own. After all, this whole effort is to better educate you “about your money” and your “control” over it. Then make your own decisions!

Know this fact and know it well, the federal income tax is perfectly legal in it being applied to those who are identified as taxpayers. It is functional and can be applied within the “United States” [defined at 26 USC §7408(d) as the District of Columbia] and qualified individuals per 26 USC §911(d)(3) who maintain their “Tax Home” or “abode” continually within the United States as defined by 26 USC §7408(d).

At this time, perhaps it is best to tell you what this information is “not” about. It is not about becoming a “Tax Protestor”, “Fighting City Hall”, or joining some “patriot movement”. The people from each of the sovereign and independent states of the Union, have a history of freethinking and challenging the status quo from time to time.

Remember you Americans who understand:

[American Communications Association v. Douds, 339 U.S. 382, 442, (1950)]

It is a historical footnote, however, that this country slowly established itself from an original group of raucous tax protestors who were in disagreement with the prevailing attitudes from Europe and the English monarchy of King George. That was a different time and does not lend itself in our modern day as a way of resolving disagreements between the people and government.

Adherence to the law is all that is required by any American National to redress any grievance. All government workers who hold a public office exercising some of the sovereign power of the government must have taken an Oath of Office “to protect and defend” the Constitutional contract that Americans cherish.

You are encouraged to re-read the Constitution. Also, you should obtain a copy of Black’s Law Dictionary [ONLY the Sixth Edition or earlier] so that you can check out the legal definitions that are used by those in public office. At all times, keep in mind that “We The People” granted some of our unalienable rights granted to us by our Creator to establish the inferior “state” governments which in turn joined together to create the more déclassé “federal” government primarily for national defense and foreign relations and other needful uses.

It is the intent of this book to help you educationally broaden your knowledge and facts about the federal income tax and to bring to light areas where the reader makes “assumptions” about what was presumed to be fact. There are documented references provided so that the reader can be more easily encouraged to validate statements.

The reader is continually encouraged to take no one’s word for anything, including mine, but to prove all facts to your own satisfaction. My research is not presented to be a thorough academic dissertation on the subject. The objective behind this effort was to take the basic pieces of the puzzle that comprise the tax laws and present them in perhaps a more understandable format for a foundation more understandable to the neophyte. Thus, encouraging a more in-depth study by those so inclined.

Opinions and documentation in this book are based entirely on enacted federal law. Reference authorities provided consist of the Constitution of the United States of America [ratified 1789], the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment to properly identify the parties upon whom the federal income tax was intended to be levied upon, the United States Code, the Statutes At Large [SAL], the Code of Federal Regulations [CFR], Congressional publications, correspondence from the Federal Register, Testimony before the House Ways & Means Committee by a federal officer, and legal opinion letters from various government sources. My personal expressions will be used sparingly.
You will soon discover the facts about the Subtitle ‘A’ federal income tax as to just who the “Taxpayers” that it properly addresses are and those that it does not have applicability toward. The facts based on federal laws speak for themselves. Material presented was designed for the layman to read, comprehend, and develop a strong foundation before the reader may choose to go deeper.

Cornell University has a substantial website https://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/text/ that will permit the reader to download copies of most of the references from the USC and CFR.

Other reference sites you might want to investigate on this subject that are very well developed and contain a wealth of informational material are the Canadian websites of:

Some points of clarification before you start your reading:

1) Verify everything shown in this book,

2) Make no more “presumptions” about what you think is correct but prove it to your own satisfaction by thinking critically,

3) Anyone can be sincere… and possibly sincerely wrong. Verify the facts and analyze the definition of the terms before you draw any conclusions,

4) When you see the phrase “American National” in this work please understand that it is defined to mean those who were either born in one of the now 50 states of the Union [the Constitutional Republic] or those naturalized. They are non-resident aliens to all federal jurisdictions. Those are the ones protected against government intrusion into their lives by the Constitution.

Finally, a note of caution, watch the use of words that you are familiar with and try not to “presume” that they carry the same meaning in federal use. That is why Black’s Law Dictionary is going to be very useful. Your everyday use of terms will, more often than not, mean something altogether different when those terms are used in federal law context.

When you were a child you might have used the phrase “Sticks and stones may break my bones but Words will never hurt me.” Forget the childish mantra. Words, as an adult, can inflict severe penalties or limitations upon anyone if you do not take the time to look up the definitions of any term you read. Learn what your government means by the terms that you so casually use in everyday context.

Again, please stop “presuming”.

Be audacious and think critically….

“L’audace, L’audace, toujours l’audace”
1 Chapter 1: “American National” or “U.S. citizen” Is there a Difference?

"Dolosus versatur generalibus. A deceiver deals in generals. 2 Co. 34."

"Fraus latet in generalibus. Fraud lies hid in general expressions."

Generale nihil certum implicat. A general expression implies nothing certain. 2 Co. 34.

Ubi quid generaliter conceditur, in est haec exceptio, si non aliquid sit contra jus fasque. Where a thing is concealed generally, this exception arises, that there shall be nothing contrary to law and right. 10 Co. 78.

[Bouvier's Maxims of Law, 1856]

Quote to Contemplate:

“All subjects over which the sovereign power of a state extends are objects of taxation; but those over which it [sovereign power of the state] does not extend are, upon the soundest principles, exempt from taxation. This proposition may almost be pronounced as self-evident.

The sovereignty of a State extends to everything which exists by its authority, or is introduced by its permission.”

Time for some fun with the “presumptions” we continually make in our lives. At first glance this subject might not seem important so let’s take a closer look. Ponder this question seriously, “Are you a United States citizen?” Is this the same type of citizen referred to in Article 1, Section 3 “Citizen of the United States”? Here is another one for you, “Are you an ‘American National’?” Did you answer “Yes” to all three questions? What does it matter, you ask? A great deal! Think of your answer in context to the federal income tax laws.

Your puzzled expression is similar to most people who face these questions for the first time. Don’t worry; there is a correct answer for you, but one that only you can determine. Certainly you know who you are, right?

First of all, where were you born? If you were born in one of the 50 states of the Union [and perhaps earn your living in the private sector there] then you are a secured party to the Constitution and are in fact an American National [a nonresident alien by federal definition]. It’s a simple thing to remember; those born in one of the 50 states of the Union, or naturalized into the Republic, are American Nationals. There is a different definition, used by the federal government, for defining those whom they refer to as “U.S. citizens”.

A surprising subject to consider now is the definition of the phrase “United States”. We all know what that means - - or do we? Let’s back up a minute and define the word “definition” as found in Black’s Law Dictionary.

In Black’s Sixth Edition, the definition of the word “definition” is stated to be,

“The process of stating the exact meaning of a word by means of other words. Such a description of the thing defined, including all essential elements and excluding all nonessential, as to distinguish it from all other things and classes.”

Have you ever stopped to think about the term “United States” in regard to its “legal” definition? There is more than one definition and many find that somewhat surprising.
Now we are ready to look at the definition of the phrase “United States” and we will start with Black’s Law Dictionary. There are three distinct and separate meanings of the commonly used phrase “United States” and they are as follows:

1) It may be the name of a sovereign occupying the position analogous to that of other sovereigns in the family of nations, [as in the United Nations]

2) It may designate territory over which the sovereignty of the federal government extends, [Federal Zone – Washington, DC & U.S. Territories]

3) It may be collective name of the states which are united by and under the Constitution.” [The Republic] [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1533]

As a point of clarification of the second definition of “United States” in Black’s Law Dictionary, you will find this further supported by Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 in the Constitution to mean only the District of Columbia. Additionally, the Internal Revenue Code [IRC or Title 26] shows that 26 USC §7408(d) “Citizens and residents outside the United States” has the following expressed geographical definition:

“If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in, and does not have his principal place of business in, any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident shall be treated for purposes of this section as residing in the District of Columbia.”

You will also find at 26 USC §7701(a)(9) the term “United States” defined to mean:

“The term ‘United States’ when used in a geographical sense includes only the States and the District of Columbia.”

Remember the definition of the word “definition”? A definition of the word “includes” is found in Black’s as meaning “to confine, surround, fence in on all sides, shut up, comprise, embrace, etc.” Thus, this definition “consists of, to the exclusion of all nonessential elements” only the States and the District of Columbia.

The next logical question is “What is the definition of the term ‘State’”? That is found at 26 USC §7701(a)(10) where you find expressed:

“The term ‘State’ shall be construed to include the District of Columbia, where such construction is necessary to carry out provisions of this title.”

So by strict “definition” the word “State” found in the IRC is limited to mean “consists of, to the exclusion of all nonessential elements” only “the District of Columbia.”

These definitions are the same District of Columbia as described in Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 of the Constitution. The sovereignty of the federal government can not extend over the 50 states of the Union as the federal government is prohibited from extending its sovereign jurisdiction beyond Washington, DC [and the U.S. Territories since 1898 at the conclusion of the Spanish-American War]. The Treaty of Peace was signed in Paris between the King of Spain and the United States.

You will soon understand that the two key definitions in Black’s Law Dictionary that will be expressed repeatedly are the second and third definitions. To facilitate the ease in distinguishing the two separate and distinct geographical jurisdictions, you must know that the term “Federal Zone” refers exclusively to the national government and its sovereignty or absolute control over the lands and people born in the “United States” and living there. Thus, the Federal Zone means Washington, DC which is the exclusive [sovereign] geographical jurisdiction of the national government.

The 50 states of the Union [The Republic] are separate and sovereign and as such are not within the federal “United States” [The Democracy] jurisdiction. A great deal of confusion and misunderstanding has resulted over the last 100 years by people blending the two distinctly different jurisdictions without recognition of the impact of jurisdictional differences and Constitutional factors. Much of this confusion results from a failure to teach the principles of the separation of powers doctrine in both public schools and law schools.

Glad you stayed with it this far? You are probably a little worn out by all the lawyer verbosity created by the IRC. Just remember, on a first reading things are somewhat confusing no doubt. Why don’t we put the two §7701 definitions [the exact meaning of the word that comprises all essential elements and excludes all nonessential elements] for “State” and “United States” together to make the IRC definition just a little clearer.

Therefore, “the term “United States” when used in a geographical sense comprises or consists of only the District of Columbia.” This geographical area is the Federal Zone. But most people would naturally think there should be an easier or more straightforward way of defining the term “United States” than all that we just read.

Well guess what, there is! In 26 USC, Chapter 38 – Environmental Taxes, Subchapter A – Tax on Petroleum [Excise Tax], Section 4612 (a) there is a definition for the term “United States” as follows:

“For the purposes of this chapter” [Chapter 38] United States is defined accordingly, (4) “The term United States means the 50 States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, any possession of the United States [the federal government per Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17], the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.”

Would it really be so hard for the IRS to have defined “United States” in 7701(a)(9) & (a)(10) to mean “the 50 states of the Union” when addressing federal income taxes under Subtitle ‘A’ of the IRC?

Yes it would as the term “United States” [other than Chapter 38 for petroleum excise taxes] when addressed or applying a reference to the federal income tax only applies to the District of Columbia and not the 50 states of the Union. Does this now make sense as to why the Section 4612(a) says “For the purposes of this chapter” means that the definition of “United States” as stated in section 4612 only references the 50 states in context to an excise tax only on petroleum products?

Why all the fuss? Different jurisdictions have different rules for one reason. Keep reading and this will become clearer shortly.

No doubt you have seen the phrase “U.S. citizen” on various government forms and banking documents. Are you at least curious by now as to why the phrase “American National” is not used in these forms and documents?

There is a very large difference between “United States citizens” or “U. S. citizens” [people who were born in and/or live in the Federal Zone] and American Nationals [people born in the 50 states – The Republic]. The definition for “U.S. citizen” is found at 8 USC §1401 (a) to mean “a person born in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof.”

The areas where you will find the true federal statutory creations called “U.S. citizens” are in Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Guam, and the other U.S. Territories. I have been informed that these people carry U.S. citizen ID cards.
See the use of the very small word “and”? That small word links the two elements together. The elements are: (1) “born in the United States” [Federal Zone District of Columbia], and (2) “subject to the jurisdiction” [of the District of Columbia] thereof;” Government subjects are inferior to the government as they are the creations of that government. This is identical to monarchical government in that people are subject to that monarchy. Remember, the Constitution has no valid application in the Federal Zone!

As our Constitution tells us, the federal government was created by “We The People” who made the government inferior to us as we are its creator. As descendents of the founding fathers, that makes American Nationals superior to its government in our country.

Is your question now, “OK, so all that means what to me?” The discovery of this distinct definition came from 26 CFR §301.6109-1 Identifying Numbers. This legislative regulation states,

“A Social Security Number is generally identified in the records and database of the Internal Revenue Service as a number belonging to a “U.S. citizen or resident alien individual.”

But who are those who can apply for and be issued a SSN? That answer is found in 20 CFR §422.104 as shown:

§422.104 Who can be assigned a social security number.

(a) Persons eligible for SSN assignment. We can assign you a SSN if you meet the evidence requirements in §422.107 and you are:

(1) A United States citizen; or

(2) An alien lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence …

(3) An alien who cannot provide evidence of alien status showing lawful admission to the U.S. ….

(i) You need a social security number to satisfy a Federal statute or regulation that requires you to have a social security number in order to receive a Federally-funded benefit to which you have otherwise established entitlement and you reside either in or outside the U.S.;

(ii) You need a social security number to satisfy a State or local law that requires you to have a social security number in order to receive public assistance benefits to which you have otherwise established entitlement, and you are legally in the United States

As evidenced by regulation 20 CFR §422.104 found under EMPLOYEE BENEFITS, American Nationals have no reason or requirement to obtain an SSN. The SSA indicates there is no law requiring Americans to obtain a SSN when the National SSA office stated:

[SEDM Exhibit #07.004; SOURCE: http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm]

The Federal government does not possess the power to force any American to obtain a “State Number” in order to live and work in the Constitutional Republic but we all know that most private sector non-federal employers seem to blatantly disregard this fact and coerce many with threat of losing their jobs if they don’t sign up.

This goes against the grain of what U.S. Supreme Court Justice Lewis D. Brandeis declared in his dissenting opinion in Olmstead v. U.S., 277 U.S. 438 (1928):
“The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They recognized the significance of man’s spiritual nature, of his feelings, and his intellect. They know that only a part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things.

They sought to protect Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the Government, the right to be let alone, - - the most comprehensive of rights, and the right most valued by civilized men.”

As the federal government defines its terms, you can easily see that there is clarity but yet something just not complete.

Persons born within and domiciled within the states of the Union are called “nationals” or “state nationals” and are defined in 8 USC §1101(a)(21):

8 USC §1101 Definitions [for the purposes of citizenship]

(a)(21) The term ”national” means a person owing permanent allegiance to a state.

The “state” to which they refer above is lower case because it is a “foreign state” for the purposes of legislative but not political jurisdiction.

Foreign Laws: “The laws of a foreign country or sister state. In conflicts of law, the legal principles of jurisprudence which are part of the law of a sister state or nation. Foreign laws are additions to our own laws, and in that respect are called ’jus receptum’.”

Foreign States: “Nations outside of the United States...Term may also refer to another state; i.e. a sister state. The term ’foreign nations’, ...should be construed to mean all nations and states other than that in which the action is brought; and hence, one state of the Union is foreign to another, in that sense.”

“The States between each other are sovereign and independent. They are distinct and separate sovereignties, except so far as they have parted with some of the attributes of sovereignty by the Constitution. They continue to be nations, with all their rights, and under all their national obligations, and with all the rights of nations in every particular; except in the surrender by each to the common purposes and objects of the Union, under the Constitution. The rights of each State, when not so yielded up, remain absolute.”
[Bank of Augusta v. Earle, 38 U.S. (13 Pet.) 519, 10 L.Ed. 274 (1839)]

“In determining the boundaries of apparently conflicting powers between states and the general government, the proper question is, not so much what has been, in terms, reserved to the states, as what has been, expressly or by necessary implication, granted by the people to the national government; for each state possess all the powers of an independent and sovereign nation, except so far as they have been ceded away by the constitution. The federal government is but a creature of the people of the states, and, like an agent appointed for definite and specific purposes, must show an express or necessarily implied authority in the charter of its appointment, to give validity to its acts.’”

[People ex re. Atty. Gen. V. Naglee, 1 Cal. 234 (1850)]

“U.S. citizens” have no benefit of constitutional protections of the God-given rights enjoyed by American Nationals. The reason - - the Constitution only has applicability within the Republic, not in the Democracy called Washington, DC. The Constitution does not extend into the District of Columbia. Washington, DC is sovereign territory granted as exclusive or monarchial jurisdiction belonging only to the “United States” - - the federal government.

So when you complete the application [the purported constructive trust private law contract which permits the Federal government the opportunity to bypass the constitutional limitation imposed against it], you in effect have told the Federal government that you are a “U.S. citizen”. Is it any wonder why the IRS considers anyone with a SSN to be anything but a “U.S. citizen” or “resident alien” individual based on 26 CFR §301.6109-1? This apparent deception has been the root cause of financial and Constitutional disenfranchisement of all American Nationals who use a Social Security Number [Federal property per 20 CFR §442.103(d)].

Now do you understand why so many who have been dragged into U.S. District Courts have lost? The Judge is absolutely correct about that issue as “U.S. citizens” are devoid of any constitutional rights as the Federal government only grants them privileges and welfare that the ungrateful peons don’t seem to appreciate all that the United States does for them.

The lowest common denominator is the SSN. The result of one who uses this Federal property in their private sector employment, banking, or other functions have [in effect] become “one who operate in a representative capacity” [per Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b)] of their “real” employer, the Federal government.

The problem for those who were slammed and in fact are American Nationals is that they assumed exactly what the government wanted them to assume so that the control became absolute by the sovereign over its dissimulated subjects. Those who signed over into the federal jurisdiction by purported constructive trust private law contact with the government apparently get what they have coming to them in the eyes of the government.

The same is true with the IRS. They have made the “presumption” you are a “U.S. citizen” and as such are “subject to the jurisdiction of the federal government” as described at 26 USC §7408(d). If you do not know the law, that is not the problem of the IRS. It is the duty of every American National to know the law [what a task that truly is]. Now that you are aware of the deception it is time to rebut the IRS “assumption” granted under 26 CFR §301.6109-1. If you have not rebutted the IRS “assumption” that you are a “U.S. citizen”, then you must be who the IRS “assumes” you are.

American Nationals must rebut the IRS “presumption” of being a “U.S. citizen” according to U.S. v. Slater, 545 Fed.Supp. 179, 182 (1982), because:

“Unless the defendant can prove he is not a citizen of the United States [the Federal Zone], the IRS has the right to inquire and determine a tax liability”” [Clarification added]

Article XIV [14th Amendment] Section 1 states,

“All persons born or naturalized in the ‘United States’, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the ‘United States’ and of the ‘State’ wherein they reside.”

There is more to this Amendment but the pertinent parts are presented for your consideration. This Amendment makes persons born in or naturalized in the Federal Zone statutory citizens of the Federal government.
This Amendment was originally passed to provide a federal or statutory citizenship status to the former slaves following the conclusion of the Civil War. At the end of the Spanish-American War, Spain ceded over territories and people, which now make up the current U.S. Territories and possessions of the Federal government. These people are “U.S. citizens” and carry federally issued U.S. Citizenship identification cards and are “subject to the exclusive [sovereign] jurisdiction” of Congress.

The majority of the laws that Congress passes only apply to these citizens. This can be argued because there is no Constitutional requirement that Congress tell any American the lawful jurisdiction for each Act of Congress which is very convenient for them and disturbing for Americans who understand the potential for harm and confusion arising from the lack of such clarity on the part of those in Congress.

Before passing the 14th Amendment however, the Congress of the Unite States formally acknowledged the distinction of American Nationals in legislation. You can find the specific legislation, The Expatriation Act, in the Statutes At Large, Volume 15, Chapter 249, page 223, 40th Congress, on July 27, 1868.

Are you a “U.S. citizen”? You decide. Look at this definition found in 26 CFR §31.3121(e) State, United States, and citizen:

(b) “The term ‘citizen of the United States’ includes [consists of] to the exclusion of all others; comprises a citizen of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, and effective January 1, 1961, a citizen of Guam or American Samoa.” [Clarification added]

Congress stated in the Expatriation Act that,

“An Act concerning the Rights of American Citizens in foreign States….Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that any declaration, instruction, order or decision of any Officers of this government which denies, restricts, impairs or questions the right of expatriation, is hereby declared inconsistent with the fundamental principles of this government.”

Did you notice the reference to “American Citizens in foreign States”? The Congress is telling everyone who cares to notice that the United States is separate and distinct from the now 50 states of the Union [The Republic] and that the Congress considers American Nationals [Nonresident aliens to federal jurisdiction] to live in a “foreign state”.

Take a look at the Constitution of the United States of America [ratified 1789] in Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 and you find the geographical jurisdiction and limits of the majority of political authority for the Federal government.

“The Congress shall have the power to… exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such District [not exceeding ten miles square] as may, by cession of particular States, and the Acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the Government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the Legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings…”

Simply put, the Constitution of the United States of America clearly shows that the several States [the 50 states of the Union] are considered to be foreign States from the “United States” [The Federal Zone]. The “United States” exists only within the jurisdiction, described within the Constitution, as the “District not exceeding ten miles square” meaning Washington, DC. The 50 states of the Union are separate, unique and foreign to the exclusive sovereign jurisdiction of the United States [the Federal government].

Jurisdiction in which a law is applicable is vital to understanding if a federal law applies to American Nationals. Congresswoman Zoe Lofgren stated in a recent letter,
“There is no Constitutional requirement to identify the source of authority when passing a particular law....evaluation of Constitutional authority must be done on a case by case basis.”  [Emphasis added]
[Sedm Exhibits #09.024;
SOURCE: http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm]

Did you ask yourself “Why” Congress doesn’t want to tell American Nationals the “jurisdiction” in which each law Congress passes is applicable towards? Could it be they simply want Americans to “assume” that each law Congress passes also applies to the 50 states of the Union? Ask about the Patriot Act as to its intended jurisdiction!

Even worse, could it be that Congress now considers the majority of people living in the 50 states of the Union to be “U.S. citizens” while only very few still remain as independent American Nationals? Okay, I will step down from my soapbox again but most readers would have to admit these are important questions to consider.

If you don’t make the effort to find out, then the statement in Hosea 4:6 is appropriate when our Creator and Grantor of our constitutionally protected Rights stated,

“My people are destroyed for a lack of knowledge.”

A deception takes place upon the unsuspecting public when the government should be proactive in providing full disclosure as to the implications and ramifications of any American National who seeks to acquire a SSN and selects the box for “U.S. citizen”.

Those of us who were born in one of the 50 states [The Republic], live there, and earn our living there are American Nationals. We are the people who enjoy all the Constitutional Protections of our God-given Rights. We are not subject to the exclusive [sovereign] jurisdiction of the United States [the National government] as are those who are truly “U.S. citizens”.

When you travel about your city look for buildings with signs proclaiming “United States Postal Service” or “United States Federal Courthouse”, it should now dawn on you that the sign is proclaiming that building or location is in effect an insular possession of the National government.

Upon entering that building or property you have, for all practical purposes, entered a foreign country or “jurisdiction”. You are no longer standing in the state jurisdiction you were in prior to your entry into the federal facility.

Let’s look at what the U.S. Supreme Court has to say about jurisdiction. In the case Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901), the Court stated, “Constitutional restrictions and limitations [Bill of Rights] were not applicable to the areas of lands, enclaves, territories, and possessions over which Congress had Exclusive [sovereign] Legislative Jurisdiction.”  [Emphasis & Clarification added]

This Supreme Court ruling says that it doesn’t matter what the restriction and limitations are stated to be in the Constitution against the National government when considering the Federal Zone. Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17 & 18 of the Constitution created the National government’s geographical jurisdiction called the District of Columbia. In this exclusive jurisdiction the Congress is free “to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or the property belonging to the United States.”

Additionally, the Supreme Court stated in the Downes v. Bidwell decision that,

“The laws of Congress in respect to those matters [outside of Constitutionally delegated powers] do not extend into the territorial limits of the states [the 50 states of the Union], but have force only in the District of Columbia, and other places that are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government.”  [Emphasis & Clarification added]

As such, the restrictions and limitations that apply against the National government, in regards to the 50 states of the Union, have no applicability against Congress in the Federal Zone. “U.S. citizens” are subject to the exclusive [sovereign] jurisdiction of Congress. There are no protections under the constitution in the District of Columbia.

It is therefore clear that the District of Columbia is a unique and sovereign jurisdiction belonging not to the people of the 50 states of the Union but only to the federal corporation established by the contract we routinely refer to as the Constitution.

The goal of governments throughout world history is to seek power and exclusive control. Due to the limitations of the Constitution, there was devised a clever plan to acquire the extension of powers over Americans by bringing them under Federal control via private law contracts.

Thus there can be no claim brought forth against the Federal government for violation of the Constitution and the limitations placed against the National government. Perhaps, however, there is just a violation of the spirit of the Constitution by deception in order to extend its power and control. By definition, the United States and the 50 states of the Union [foreign states to the jurisdiction of the National government] have two entirely different forms of government. The “United States” uses a legislative democracy as its form of government in which 51% rule the other 49%.

The 50 states of the Union, as found in the Constitution of the United States of America [ratified 1789] at Article IV, Section 4 states, “The United States shall guarantee to every State in the Union a Republican form of government...” American Nationals live in a republic where all God-given Rights are protected under common law and secured by the Constitution.

Despite the obvious common law foundation of a republican form of government, most in today’s society consider that American Nationals operate under the Statute Laws of the District of Columbia. You will find stated in the Uniform Commercial Code, Section 1-103:6 the statement,

“A Statute should be construed in harmony with the common law, unless there is a clear legislative intent to abrogate the common law....the Code cannot be read to preclude a common law action.”

What all this means is that a Statute provides a means for National government control via the creation of the group of government agents known as “attorneys at law”. The law basically tells us we can do anything we want to do, so long as we do not injure any one’s person, property, or rights. Statutes by themselves are the “law” for all who are “U.S. citizens”.

Statutes alone are not law when directed to American Nationals in the Republic and they only should be in harmony with the common law. In other words, the BAR [British Accredited Registry] Association is telling us that its’ member army of Attorneys at Law are going to treat our law [common law] as if it is nonexistent.

Our unalienable rights are a product of, and protected by, the common law [Constitution] and not Statute Law. Statutes are where the term “Civil Rights” originated and are based upon an inferior citizenship known as “U.S. citizens”.

Civil Rights are contract based rights from the BAR Association and not the rights secured in the first ten Amendments to the Constitution of the United States. Currently, there are over 60 million Statutes. Any time the BAR Association decides to add to its power and its pocketbook, it simply prosecutes people through one or more of its gargantuan number of statutes.
So we have a Congress, which can create any statute law that they desire to be made applicable in the Federal Zone even if it would be considered “unconstitutional” in the 50 states of the Union. The Congressional law would be valid by Statute only by application in the Federal Zone exclusively.

The Congress uses contract law skillfully but deceptively well in the case of the SSN application [a purported constructive trust contract] to convert American Nationals into their indentured financial servants and straddle them with the Federal deficit.

Is that what our forefathers intended the Federal government to do? Have you read the Declaration of Independence and noticed that one of the reasons our forefathers broke from the tyranny of King George was “For imposing taxes on us without our consent”? The Excise taxes the Federal government needs is valid and the government was granted them with our forefathers consent. The Federal income tax was never permitted by the constitution created by our forefathers and so the federal bureaucrats/aristocracy devised an alternative method to circumvent that limitation.

People would get the idea more readily if Congress would only appoint a “King or Queen” of Washington, D.C. Such an enacted law should be applicable to the District of Columbia but would have no effect in the 50 states of the Union. That would be a clear signal to all Americans that the District of Columbia is a separate and distinct jurisdiction with its own ability and authority to create laws for its jurisdiction.

Up until the 14th Amendment was ratified in 1868, there was no such thing as a “U.S. citizen” in federal laws. The term “U.S. citizen” was originally invented to protect the former slaves following the end of the Civil War. Reading the history prior to the Civil War you find most Americans considered allegiance primarily to the singular state of the Union in which they resided.

You will find this fact stated in Crosse v. Board of Supervisors, 221 A.2d. 431 (1966):

“Both before and after the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, it has not been necessary for a person to be a citizen of the United States in order to be a citizen of his state.”

No wonder the confusion has caused so many “presumptions” over the years. The terminology should have been designed to be less confusing in order to keep people informed and aware of what the reference points were from the beginning. Do you think these semantic similarities were accidental or are they part of some design to permit the casual observer to be easily deceived or defrauded?

It has long been understood that everything a government does, it does with design and purpose. Governments historically seek to gain maximum control and benefit of that control to further the objectives of those in power. However, governments do not exist in a vacuum but rather are imperfect creations of man.

So the men and women in government circles, who are running the government and the banking interests, are careful and purposeful in their elite positions of authority. They are skillful in the “words of art” and the purpose behind them. It is the unaware who suffer the most, when the basic necessities of life divert their attention and interest, resulting in their lives being contained and controlled by such words of legal art.

Just as the aging process is so imperceptible on a daily basis, the path leads to the inevitable endpoint. Our forefathers knew these facts all too well. The grand experiment that this nation embarked upon in 1776 has never been left unattended by those educated elite who weave such a deceptive web of legalese.

All of us are indebted to the many contributions of the great men and women who, to this day, continue to make this nation what it is. They are recognized and applauded. World History, however, cautions all of us to be vigilant as the ultimate goal of government is absolute power if not held in check. The cycle was broken by the birth of this nation but history holds out the warning signs of the almost imperceptible process that has been instituted to make the Constitution a mere document of history for use only by museums. How long this concept of the average American being sovereign and controlling the reigns of government will last is the question for our generation.

Being a “U.S. citizen” affords no advantages to American Nationals and is nothing but a liability as far as can be determined. Those who are Subtitle ‘A’ Taxpayers are those who:

1. Work for the Federal government by engaging in the conduct of a trade or business,
2. Are “U.S. citizens”,
3. Are Resident aliens, and
4. Operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the national government by private law constructive trust contracts which are not voidable ab initio.

According to 26 CFR §1.871-1, those who are non-resident aliens [American Nationals who have no domicile within the United States a.k.a. the District of Columbia] have no liability for the Subtitle ‘A’ Federal income tax because they:

“Do not derive their income from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business [meaning the performance of the functions of a public office per 26 USC §7701(a)(26)] in the United States [meaning the District of Columbia]” [Emphasis & Clarification added]

According to 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B) one is a nonresident alien “if such individual is neither a citizen of the United States [a.k.a. the District of Columbia] nor a resident of the United States.” Again in 26 CFR §1.871-1(b)(4) you find this regulation now addressing in more detail what a nonresident alien is rather than the statute at 7701 (b)(1)(B) defining only what a nonresident alien is not. This regulation addresses “Expatriation to avoid tax. For special rules applicable in determining the tax of a nonresident alien individual who has lost U.S. citizenship with a principal purpose of avoiding certain taxes, see section 877.”

Do you see what is going on? How can a Nonresident Alien ever lose what he/she never had? How can a Nonresident alien be a “U.S. citizen” [a.k.a. citizen of the United States] when the statute at 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B) clearly shows that such a U.S. citizen /citizen of the United States [the District of Columbia] designation is an impossibility?

Thus, in a round about way the regulation is addressing American Nationals [who could not be legally called a “U.S. citizens” by the statutory definition per 8 USC §1401(a)] as who were born in one of the 50 states of the Union who in effect become “stateless” in regard to federal jurisdiction [not having any federal domicile and not deriving any income from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business – the performance of the functions of a public office a.k.a. working for the national government] without having to expatriate.

Most have thought the only way to legally avoid the federal income tax was to expatriate and leave the country and become a citizen of a different country. This is a very interesting discovery and has really got to be difficult for the national government in that American Nationals are identified properly as nonresident aliens who are without the “United States” as to jurisdiction and have no federal income tax liability and in turn do not have to “expatriate” which was commonly thought of as the only alternative to legally avoid the taxation by the national government.

Thus, this dance of words about citizenship began with filling out a Social Security Application [today’s Form SS-5] which in reality is a purported constructive trust contract established under private law but is not a contract at all.
Americans have long made the assumption that a “U.S. citizen” meant the same thing as a citizen in one of the 50 states of the Union. We know better now. Those born in the 50 states of the Union are nonresident aliens [American Nationals] and only have a taxable liability if the derive income from being engaged in the federal franchise called a “trade or business” within the United States. This may appear complex but take heart; there is a method to resolve this incorrect identification of your American National status as well as getting rid of the SSN if it was established incorrectly according to contract law.

The initial step is to obtain a clear legible photocopy of the original SSN application from the SSA. There is a SSA form to use and the current charge by the SSA to obtain a photocopy is $27. A copy of that form is found in the exhibit section regarding a Request for a Photocopy of the original application submitted.

Additionally, the Administrative Procedures Act provides a process whereby you can rebut your SSN induced status of being labeled as a “U.S. citizen”. The reason that you must rebut the “assumption” [arising from the SSN purported constructive trust contract] is that without a rebuttal, the “presumption” by the government remains valid and the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.) continues to identify you as being a “U.S. citizen” and thus a “Taxpayer” merely by your use or having secured a SSN.

You have a choice to make as a free moral agent, should you choose to accept that role, to continue identifying yourself as a “U.S. citizen” [if that is your proper status] or to rebut and reconfirm your rightful status as a nonresident alien [one who is neither a U.S. citizen or resident alien] to the federal jurisdiction and are in fact an American National [a secured party to the Constitution].

One concerning thought on the word “citizen” is found in Black’s Law Dictionary Sixth Edition, where you find “citizens are members of a political community who, in their associated capacity, have established or submitted themselves to the dominion of a government for the promotion of their general welfare and protection of their individual as well as collective rights.”

To close this chapter with big bang, the following subsections provide a succinct graphical summary of everything you could ever want to know about citizenship that the government doesn’t want you to know. 1.1 The Four "United States"

It is very important to understand that there are THREE separate and distinct CONTEXTS in which the term "United States" can be used, and each has a mutually exclusive and different meaning. These three definitions of "United States" were described by the U.S. Supreme Court in Hooven and Allison v. Evatt, 324 U.S. 652 (1945):

Table 1: Geographical terms used throughout this page

In addition to the above GEOGRAPHICAL context, there is also a legal, non-geographical context in which the term "United States" can be used, which is the GOVERNMENT as a legal entity. Throughout this page and this website, we identify THIS context as "United States*" or "United States". The only types of "persons" within THIS context are public offices within the national and not state government. It is THIS context in which "sources within the United States" is used for the purposes of "income" and "gross income" within the Internal Revenue Code, as proven by:

FORMS PAGE: http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

The reason these contexts are not expressly distinguished in the statutes by the Legislative Branch or on government forms crafted by the Executive Branch is that they are the KEY mechanism by which:

1. Federal jurisdiction is unlawfully enlarged by abusing presumption, which is a violation of due process of law. See:

Presumption: Chief Weapon for Unlawfully Enlarging Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.007
DIRECT LINK: http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/Presumption.pdf

2. The separation of powers between the states and the national government is destroyed, in violation of the legislative intent of the Constitution. See:

Government Conspiracy to Destroy the Separation of Powers, Form #05.023

3. A "society of law" is transformed into a "society of men" in violation of Marbury v. Madison, 5 U.S. 137 (1803):

"The government of the United States has been emphatically termed a government of laws, and not of men. It will certainly cease to deserve this high appellation, if the laws furnish no remedy for the violation of a vested legal right."

[M*arbury v. Madison*, 5 U.S. 137, 163 (1803)]

4. Exclusively PRIVATE rights are transformed into public rights in a process we call "invisible eminent domain using presumption and words of art".

5. Judges are unconstitutionally delegated undue discretion and "arbitrary power" to unlawfully enlarge federal jurisdiction. See:
The way a corrupted Executive Branch or judge accomplish the above is to unconstitutionally:

1. PRESUME that ALL of the four contexts for "United States" are equivalent.
2. PRESUME that CONSTITUTIONAL citizens and STATUTORY citizens are EQUIVALENT under federal law. They are NOT. A CONSTITUTIONAL citizen is a "non-resident" under federal civil law and NOT a STATUTORY "national and citizen of the United States at birth" per 8 U.S.C. §1401. See the document below:

3. PRESUME that "nationality" and "domicile" are equivalent. They are NOT. See:

4. Use the word "citizenship" in place of "nationality" OR "domicile", and refuse to disclose WHICH of the two they mean in EVERY context.
5. Confuse the POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL meaning of words with the civil STATUTORY context. For instance, asking on government forms whether you are a POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL citizen and then FALSELY PRESUMING that you are a STATUTORY citizen under 8 USC §1401.
6. Confuse the words "domicile" and "residence" or impute either to you without satisfying the burden of proving that you EXPRESSLY CONSENTED to it and thereby illegally kidnap your civil legal identity against your will. One can have only one "domicile" but many "residences" and BOTH require your consent. See:

7. Add things or classes of things to the meaning of statutory terms that do not EXPRESSLY appear in their definitions, in violation of the rules of statutory construction. See:

8. PRESUME that STATUTORY diversity of citizenship under 28 USC §1332 and CONSTITUTIONAL diversity of citizenship under Article III, Section 2 of the United States Constitution are equivalent.
9. 8.1. STATUTORY and CONSTITUTIONAL diversity are NOT equal and in fact are mutually exclusive.
10. 8.2. The STATUTORY definition of “State” in 28 USC §1332(e) is a federal territory. The definition of “State” in the CONSTITUTION is a State of the Union and NOT federal territory.
11. 8.3. They try to increase this confusion by dismissing diversity cases where only diversity of RESIDENCE (domicile) is implied, instead insisting on “diversity of CITIZENSHIP” and yet REFUSING to define whether they mean DOMICILE or NATIONALITY when the term “CITIZENSHIP” is invoked. See Lamm v. Bekins Van Lines, Co, 139 F.Supp. 2d. 1300, 1314 (M.D. Ala. 2001)(“To invoke removal jurisdiction on the basis of diversity, a notice of removal must distinctly and affirmatively allege each party’s citizenship.”, “[a]lthough ‘citizenship’ and ‘residence’ may be interchangeable terms in common parlance, the existence of citizenship cannot be inferred from allegations of residence alone.”).
12. Refuse to allow the jury to read the definitions in the law and then give them a definition that is in conflict with the statutory definition. This substitutes the JUDGES will for what the law expressly says and thereby substitutes PUBLIC POLICY for the written law.
10. Publish deceptive government publications that are in deliberate conflict with what the statutes define "United States" as and then tell the public that they CANNOT rely on the publication. The IRS does this with ALL of their publications and it is FRAUD. See:

Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007
DIRECT LINK: http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/ReasonableBelief.pdf

This kind of arbitrary discretion is PROHIBITED by the Constitution, as held by the U.S. Supreme Court:

> 'When we consider the nature and the theory of our institutions of government, the principles upon which they are supposed to rest, and review the history of their development, we are constrained to conclude that they do not mean to leave room for the play and action of purely personal and arbitrary power.'
> [Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356, 369, 6 S. Sup.Ct. 1064, 1071]

Thomas Jefferson, our most revered founding father, precisely predicted the above abuses when he said:

> "It has long been my opinion, and I have never shrunk from its expression,... that the germ of dissolution of our Federal Government is in the constitution of the Federal Judiciary--an irresponsible body (for impeachment is scarcely a scare-crow), working like gravity by night and by day, gaining a little today and a little tomorrow, and advancing its noiseless step like a thief over the field of jurisdiction until all shall be usurped from the States and the government be consolidated into one. To this I am opposed."
> [Thomas Jefferson to Charles Hammond, 1821. ME 15:331]

> "Contrary to all correct example, [the Federal judiciary] are in the habit of going out of the question before them, to throw an anchor ahead and grapple further hold for future advances of power. They are then in fact the corps of sappers and miners, steadily working to undermine the independent rights of the States and to consolidate all power in the hands of that government in which they have so important a freehold estate."
> [Thomas Jefferson: Autobiography, 1821. ME 1:121]

> "The judiciary of the United States is the subtle corps of sappers and miners constantly working under ground to undermine the foundations of our confederated fabric. They are construing our Constitution from a co-ordination of a general and special government to a general and supreme one alone. This will lay all things at their feet, and they are too well versed in English law to forget the maxim, 'boni judicis est ampliare jurisdictionem.'"
> [Thomas Jefferson to Thomas Ritchie, 1820. ME 15:297]

> "When all government, domestic and foreign, in little as in great things, shall be drawn to Washington as the center of all power, it will render powerless the checks provided of one government on another and will become as venal and oppressive as the government from which we separated."
> [Thomas Jefferson to Charles Hammond, 1821. ME 15:332]

> "What an augmentation of the field for jobbing, speculating, plundering, office-building ["trade or business" scam] and office-hunting would be produced by an assumption [PRESUMPTION] of all the State powers into the hands of the General Government!"
> [Thomas Jefferson to Gideon Granger, 1800. ME 10:168]
1.2 Statutory v. Constitutional Contexts

It is very important to understand that there are TWO separate, distinct, and mutually exclusive contexts in which geographical "words of art" can be used at the federal or national level:

1. Constitutional.
2. Statutory.

The purpose of providing a statutory definition of a legal "term" is to supersede and not enlarge the ordinary, common law, constitutional, or common meaning of a term. Geographical words of art include:

1. "State"
2. "United States"
3. "alien"
4. "citizen"
5. "resident"
6. "U.S. person"

The terms "State" and "United States" within the Constitution implies the constitutional states of the Union and excludes federal territory, statutory "States" (federal territories), or the statutory "United States" (the collection of all federal territory). This is an outcome of the separation of powers doctrine. See:

http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

The U.S. Constitution creates a public trust which is the delegation of authority order that the U.S. Government uses to manage federal territory and property. That property includes franchises, such as the "trade or business" franchise. All statutory civil law it creates can and does regulate only THAT property and not the constitutional States, which are foreign, sovereign, and statutory "aliens" for the purposes of federal legislative jurisdiction.

It is very important to realize the consequences of this constitutional separation of powers between the states and national government. Some of these consequences include the following:

1. Statutory "States" as indicated in 4 USC §110(d) and "States" in nearly all federal statutes are in fact federal territories and the definition does NOT include constitutional states of the Union.
2. The statutory "United States" defined in 26 USC §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10) and 4 USC §110(d) includes federal territory and excludes any land within the exclusive jurisdiction of a constitutional state of the Union.
3. Terms on government forms assume the statutory context and NOT the constitutional context.
4. Domicile is the origin of civil legislative jurisdiction over human beings. This jurisdiction is called "in personam jurisdiction".
5. Since the separation of powers doctrine creates two separate jurisdictions that are legislatively "foreign" in relation to each other, then there are TWO types of political communities, two types of "citizens", and two types of jurisdictions exercised by the national government.

"It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to its objects, but extending all over the Union: the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities was the law in question passed?"
[Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265, 5 L.Ed. 257 (1821)]

6. A human being domiciled in a Constitutional state and born or naturalized anywhere in the Union. These are:
6.1. A state national pursuant to 8 USC §1101(a)(21)
6.2. A statutory “non-resident non-person” if exclusively PRIVATE and not engaged in a public office.
6.3. A statutory "nonresident alien" (26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B)) in relation to the national government if they lawfully serve in a public office.

7. You can be a statutory "nonresident alien" pursuant to 26 CFR §1.1441-1(c)(3)(ii) and a constitutional or Fourteenth Amendment "Citizen" AT THE SAME TIME. Why? Because the Supreme Court ruled in Hooven and Allison v. Evatt, 324 U.S. 652 (1945), that there are THREE different and mutually exclusive "United States", and therefore THREE types of "citizens of the United States". Here is an example:

"The 1st section of the 14th article [Fourteenth Amendment], to which our attention is more specifically invited, opens with a definition of citizenship—not only citizenship of the United States[], but citizenship of the states. No such definition was previously found in the Constitution, nor had any attempt been made to define it by act of Congress. It had been the occasion of much discussion in the courts, by the executive departments and in the public journals. It had been said by eminent judges that no man was a citizen of the [] except as he was a citizen of one of the states composing the Union. Those therefore, who had been born and resided always in the District of Columbia or in the territories [STATUTORY citizens], though within the United States[], were not [CONSTITUTIONAL] citizens."

The "citizen of the United States" mentioned in the Fourteenth Amendment is a constitutional "citizen of the United States", and the term "United States" in that context includes states of the Union and excludes federal territory. Hence, you would NOT be a "citizen of the United States" within any federal statute, because all such statutes define "United States" to mean federal territory and EXCLUDE states of the Union. For more details, see:

Why You are a "national", "state national", and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

8. Your job, if you say you are a "citizen of the United States" or "U.S. citizen" on a government form (a VERY DANGEROUS undertaking!) is to understand that all government forms presume the statutory and not constitutional context, and to ensure that you define precisely WHICH one of the three "United States" you are a "citizen" of, and do so in a way that excludes you from the civil jurisdiction of the national government because domiciled in a "foreign state". Both foreign countries and states of the Union are legislatively foreign and therefore "foreign states" in relation to the national government of the United States. The following form does that very carefully:

http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

9. Even the IRS says you CANNOT trust or rely on ANYTHING on any of their forms and publications. We cover this in our Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007. Hence, if you are compelled to fill out a government form, you have an OBLIGATION to ensure that you define all "words of art" used on the form in such a way that there is no room for presumption, no judicial or government discretion to "interpret" the form to their benefit, and no injury to your rights or status by filling out the government form. This includes attaching the following forms to all tax forms you submit:

9.1. Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm
9.2. Tax Form Attachment, Form #04.201
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

We started off this document with maxims of law proving that "a deceiver deals in generals". Anyone who either refuses to identify the precise context, statutory or constitutional, for EVERY "term of art" they are using in the legal field ABSOLUTELY IS A DECEIVER.

1.3 Statutory v. Constitutional citizens

The Galileo Paradigm, version 1.04

Copyright Adele Weiss

http://famguardian.org/
Statutory citizenship is a legal status that designates a person’s domicile while constitutional citizenship is a political status that designates a person’s nationality. Understanding the distinction between nationality and domicile is absolutely critical.

1. Nationality:
   1.1. Is not necessarily consensual or discretionary. For instance, acquiring nationality by birth in a specific place was not a matter of choice whereas acquiring it by naturalization is.
   1.2. Is a political status.
   1.3. Is defined by the Constitution, which is a political document.
   1.4. Is synonymous with being a “national” within statutory law.
   1.5. Is associated with a specific COUNTRY.
   1.6. Is called a “political citizen” or a “citizen of the United States in a political sense” by the courts to distinguish it from a STATUTORY citizen. See Powe v. United States, 109 F.2d 147 (1940).

2. Domicile:
   2.1. Always requires your consent and therefore is discretionary. See: Why Domicile and Becoming a “taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002 http://sedn.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm
   2.2. Is a civil status.
   2.3. Is not even addressed in the constitution.
   2.4. Is defined by civil statutory law RATHER than the constitution.
   2.5. Is in NO WAY connected with one’s nationality.
   2.6. Is usually connected with the word “person”, “citizen”, “resident”, or “inhabitant” in statutory law.
   2.7. Is associated with a specific COUNTY and a STATE RATHER than a COUNTRY.
   2.8. Implies one is a “SUBJECT” of a SPECIFIC MUNICIPAL but not NATIONAL government.

Nationality and domicile, TOGETHER determine the political/CONSTITUTIONAL AND civil/STATUTORY status of a human being respectively. These important distinctions are recognized in Black’s Law Dictionary:

> “nationality – That quality or character which arises from the fact of a person's belonging to a nation or state. Nationality determines the political status of the individual, especially with reference to allegiance; while domicile determines his civil [statutory] status. Nationality arises either by birth or by naturalization.”

The U.S. Supreme Court also confirmed the above when they held the following. Note the key phrase “political jurisdiction”, which is NOT the same as legislative/statutory jurisdiction. One can have a political status of “citizen” under the constitution while NOT being a “citizen” under federal statutory law because not domiciled on federal territory. To have the status of “citizen” under federal statutory law, one must have a domicile on federal territory:

> “This section contemplates two sources of citizenship, and two sources only,-birth and naturalization. The persons declared to be citizens are all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof.' The evident meaning of these last words is, not merely subject in some respect or degree to the jurisdiction of the United States, but completely subject to their [plural, not singular, meaning states of the Union] political jurisdiction, and owing them [the state of the Union] direct and immediate allegiance. And the words relate to the time of birth in the one case, as they do [169 U.S. 649, 725] to the time of naturalization in the other. Persons not thus subject to the jurisdiction of the United States at the time of birth cannot become so afterwards, except by being naturalized, either individually, as by proceedings under the naturalization acts, or collectively, as by the force of a treaty by which foreign territory is acquired.”

“This right to protect persons having a domicile, though not native-born or naturalized citizens, rests on the firm foundation of justice, and the claim to be protected is earned by considerations which the protecting power is not at liberty to disregard. Such domiciled citizen pays the same price for his protection as native-born or naturalized citizens pay for theirs. He is under the bonds of allegiance to the country of his residence, and, if he breaks them, incurs the same penalties. He owes the same obedience to the civil laws. His property is, in the same way and to the same extent as theirs, liable to contribute to the support of the Government. In nearly all respects, his and their condition as to the duties and burdens of Government are undistinguishable.”

[Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893)]

Notice in the last quote above that they referred to a foreign national born in another country as a “citizen”. THIS is the REAL “citizen” (a domiciled foreign national) that judges and even tax withholding documents are really talking about, rather than the “national” described in the constitution.

Domicile and NOT nationality is what imputes a status under the tax code and a liability for tax. Tax liability is a civil liability that attaches to civil statutory law, which in turn attaches to the person through their choice of domicile. When you CHOOSE a domicile, you elect or nominate a protector, which in turn gives rise to an obligation to pay for the civil protection demanded. The method of providing that protection is the civil laws of the municipal (as in COUNTY) jurisdiction that you chose a domicile within.

domicile. A person's legal home. That place where a man has his true, fixed, and permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning. Smith v. Smith, 206 Pa. Super. 310, 213 A.2d. 94. Generally, physical presence within a state and the intention to make it one's home are the requisites of establishing a “domicile” therein. The permanent residence of a person or the place to which he intends to return even though he may actually reside elsewhere. A person may have more than one residence but only one domicile. The legal domicile of a person is important since it, rather than the actual residence, often controls the jurisdiction of the taxing authorities and determines where a person may exercise the privilege of voting and other legal rights and privileges."

Later versions of Black’s Law Dictionary attempt to cloud this important distinction between nationality and domicile in order to unlawfully and unconstitutionally expand federal power into the states of the Union and to give federal judges unnecessary and unwarranted discretion to kidnap people into their jurisdiction using false presumptions. They do this by trying to make you believe that domicile and nationality are equivalent, when they are EMPHATICALLY NOT. Here is an example:

“nationality – The relationship between a citizen of a nation and the nation itself, customarily involving allegiance by the citizen and protection by the state; membership in a nation. This term is often used synonymously with citizenship. “

[Black’s Law Dictionary (8th ed. 2004)]

Federal courts regard the term “citizenship” as equivalent to domicile, meaning domicile on federal territory.

“The words "citizen" and citizenship," however, usually include the idea of domicile, Delaware, L.&W.R.Co. v. Petrowsky, C.C.A.N.Y., 250 F. 554, 557;”

Hence:

1. The term “citizenship” is being stealthily used by government officials as a magic word that allows them to hide their presumptions about your status. Sometimes they use it to mean NATIONALITY, and sometimes they use it to mean DOMICILE.

2. The use of the word “citizenship” should therefore be AVOIDED when dealing with the government because its meaning is unclear and leaves too much discretion to judges and prosecutors.

3. When someone from any government uses the word “citizenship”, you should:
   3.1. Tell them NOT to use the word, and instead to use “nationality” or “domicile”.
   3.2. Ask them whether they mean “nationality” or “domicile”.
   3.3. Ask them WHICH political subdivision they imply a domicile within: federal territory or a constitutional state of the Union.

A failure to either understand or apply the above concepts can literally mean the difference between being a government pet in a legal cage called a franchise, and being a free and sovereign man or woman.

NOTES:

1. Domicile is a prerequisite to having any civil status per Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17. One therefore cannot be a statutory "alien" under 8 USC §1101(a)(3) without a domicile on federal territory. Without such a domicile, you are a transient foreigner and neither an "alien" nor a "nonresident alien".

2. "United States” is described in 8 USC §1101(a)(38), (a)(36) and 8 CFR §215.1(f) and includes only federal territory and possessions and excludes all Constitutional Union states. This is a product of the separation of powers doctrine that is the heart of the United States Constitution.

3. A “nonresident alien individual” who has made an election under 26 USC §6013(g) and (h) to be treated as a “resident alien” is treated as a “nonresident alien” for the purposes of withholding under I.R.C. Subtitle C but retains their status as a “resident alien” under I.R.C. Subtitle A. See 26 CFR §1.1441-1(c)(3)(ii).

4. A "non-person" is really just a transient foreigner who is not "purposefully availing themselves" of commerce within the legislative jurisdiction of the United States on federal territory under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 USC Chapter 97. The real transition from a "NON-person" to an "individual" occurs when one:

4.1. "Purposefully avails themself" of commerce on federal territory and thus waives sovereign immunity. Examples of such purposeful availment are the next three items.

4.2. Lawfully and consensually occupying a public office in the U.S. government and thereby being an “officer and individual” as identified in 5 USC §2105(a). Otherwise, you are PRIVATE and therefore beyond the civil legislative jurisdiction of the national government.

4.3. Voluntarily files an IRS Form 1040 as a citizen or resident abroad and takes the foreign tax deduction under 26 USC §911. This too is essentially an act of "purposeful availment". Nonresidents are not mentioned in section 911. The upper left corner of the form identifies the filer as a “U.S. individual”. You cannot be an “U.S. individual” without ALSO being an “individual”. All the “trade or business” deductions on the form presume the applicant is a public officer, and therefore the "individual" on the form is REALLY a public officer in the government and would be committing FRAUD if he or she was NOT.

4.4. VOLUNTARILY fills out an IRS Form W-7 ITIN Application (IRS identifies the applicant as an "individual") AND only uses the assigned number in connection with their compensation as an elected or appointed public officer. Using it in connection with PRIVATE earnings is FRAUD.

5. What turns a “non-resident NON-person” into a “nonresident alien individual” is meeting one or more of the following two criteria found in 26 CFR §1.1441-1(c)(3)(ii):

5.1. Residence/domicile in a foreign country under the residence article of an income tax treaty and 26 CFR §301.7701(b)-7(a)(1).

5.2. Residence/domicile as an alien in Puerto Rico, Guam, the Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands, the U.S. Virgin Islands, or American Samoa as determined under 26 CFR §301.7701(b)-1(d).

6. All “taxpayers” are STATUTORY “aliens” or “nonresident aliens”. The definition of “individual” found in 26 CFR §1.1441-1(c)(3) does NOT include “citizens”. The only occasion where a “citizen” can also be an “individual” is when they are abroad under 26 USC §911 and interface to the I.R.C. under a tax treaty with a foreign country as an alien pursuant to 26 CFR §301.7701(b)-7(a)(1)

And when he had come into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, "What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings [governments] of the earth [lawfully] take customs or taxes, from their sons [citizens and subjects] or from strangers ["aliens", which are synonymous with "residents" in the tax code, and exclude "citizens"]?"

Peter said to Him, "From strangers ["aliens"/"residents" ONLY. See 26 CFR §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii) and 26 CFR §301.6109-1(d)(3)]."
Jesus said to him, "Then the sons ["citizens" of the Republic, who are all sovereign "nationals" and "nonresident aliens" under federal law] are free [sovereign over their own person and labor. e.g. SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY]. "

NOTES:
Chapter 1: “American National” or “U.S. citizen” Is there a Difference

1. “United States” is defined as federal territory within 26 USC §§7701(a)(9) and (a)(10), 7701(a)(39), and 7408(d), and 4 USC §110(d). It does not include any portion of a Constitutional state of the Union.

2. The “District of Columbia” is defined as a federal corporation but not a physical place, a “body politic”, or a de jure “government” within the District of Columbia Act of 1871, 16 Stat. 419, 426, Sec. 34. See: Corporatization and Privatization of the Government, Form #05.024; http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm.

3. American nationals who are domiciled outside of federal jurisdiction, either in a state of the Union or a foreign country, are “nationals” but not “citizens” under federal law. They also qualify as “nonresident aliens” under 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B). See sections 4.11.2 of the Great IRS Hoax for details.

4. Temporary domicile in the middle column on the right must meet the requirements of the “Presence test” documented in IRS publications.

5. “FEDERAL ZONE”=District of Columbia and territories of the United States in the above table.

6. The term “individual” as used on the IRS Form 1040 means an “alien” engaged in a “trade or business”. All “taxpayers” are “aliens” engaged in a “trade or business”. This is confirmed by 26 CFR §1.1441-1(c)(3), 26 CFR §1.1-1(a)(2)(ii), and 5 USC §552a(a)(2). Statutory “U.S. citizens” as defined in 8 USC §1401 are not “individuals” unless temporarily abroad pursuant to 26 USC §911 and subject to an income tax treaty with a foreign country. In that capacity, statutory “U.S. citizens” interface to the I.R.C. as “aliens” rather than “U.S. citizens” through the tax treaty.
1.6 Meaning of Geographical “Words of Art”

Because the states of the Union and the federal government are “foreign” to each other for the purposes of legislative jurisdiction, then it also follows that the definitions of terms in the context of all state and federal statutes must be consistent with this fact. The table below was extracted from the Great IRS Hoax, section 4.9 if you would like to investigate further, and it clearly shows the restrictions placed upon definitions of terms within the various contexts that they are used within state and federal law:

NOTES:

1. The term “Federal state” or “Federal ‘States’” as used above means a federal territory as defined in 4 USC §110(d) and EXCLUDES states of the Union.
2. The term “Union state” means a “State” mentioned in the United States Constitution, and this term EXCLUDES and is mutually exclusive to a federal “State”.

1. Changing domicile from “foreign” on the left to “domestic” on the right can occur EITHER by:
   1.1. Physically moving to the federal zone.
   1.2. Being lawfully elected or appointed to political office, in which case the OFFICE/STATUS has a domicile on federal territory but the OFFICER does not.

2. Statuses on the right are civil franchises granted by Congress. As such, they are public offices within the national government. Those not seeking office should not claim any of these statuses.
1.8  Statutory Rules for Converting Between Various Domicile and Citizenship Options Within Federal Law

The rules depicted above are also described in text form using the list below, if you would like to investigate the above diagram further:

1. “non-resident non-person”: Those with no domicile on federal territory and who are born either in a foreign country, a state of the Union, or within the federal zone. Also called a “nonresident”, “stateless person”, or “transient foreigner”. They are exclusively PRIVATE and beyond the reach of the civil statutory law because:
   1.1. They are not a “person” or “individual” because not engaged in an elected or appointed office.
   1.2. They have not waived sovereign immunity under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 USC Chapter 97.
   1.3. They have not “purposefully” or “consensually” availed themselves of commerce within the exclusive or general jurisdiction of the national government within federal territory.
   1.4. They waived the “benefit” of any and all licenses or permits in the context of a specific transaction or agreement.
   1.5. In the context of a specific business dealing, they have not invoked any statutory status under federal civil law that might connect them with a government franchise, such as “U.S. citizen”, “U.S. resident”, “person”, “individual”, “taxpayer”, etc.
   1.6. If they are demanded to produce an identifying number, they say they don’t consent and attach the following form to every application or withholding document:

   Why It is Illegal for Me to Request or Use a “Taxpayer Identification Number”, Form #04.205
   http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

2. “Aliens” or “alien individuals”: Those born in a foreign country and not within any state of the Union or within any federal territory.
   2.1. “Alien individual” is defined in 26 CFR §1.1441-1(c)(3)(i).
   2.2. An alien is defined in 8 USC §1101(a)(3) as a person who is neither a statutory “U.S. citizen” per 8 USC §1401 nor a “national of the United States” per 8 USC §1101(a)(22).
   2.3. An alien with no domicile in the “United States” is presumed to be a “nonresident alien” pursuant to 26 CFR §1.871-4(b).

3. “Residents” or “resident aliens”: An “alien” or “alien individual” with a legal domicile on federal territory.
   3.1. “Resident aliens” are defined in 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(A).
   3.2. A “resident alien” is an alien as defined in 8 USC §1101(a)(3) who has a legal domicile on federal territory that is no part of the exclusive jurisdiction of any state of the Union.
   3.3. An “alien” becomes a “resident alien” by filing IRS Form 1078 pursuant to 26 CFR §1.871-4(c)(ii)

4. “Nonresident aliens”: Those with no domicile on federal territory and who are born either in a foreign country, a state of the Union, or within the federal zone.
   4.2. Also called a “nonresident”, “stateless person”, or “transient foreigner”.
   4.3. A “nonresident alien” is defined as a person who is neither a statutory “citizen” pursuant to 26 CFR §1.1-1(c) nor a statutory “resident” pursuant to 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(A).
   4.4. A person who is a “non-citizen national” pursuant to 8 USC §1452 and 8 USC §1101(a)(22)(B) is a “nonresident alien”.

5. “Nonresident alien individuals”: Those who are aliens and who do not have a domicile on federal territory.
   5.2. Status is indicated in block 3 of the IRS Form W-8BEN under the term “Individual”.
   5.3. Includes only nonresidents not domiciled on federal territory but serving in public offices of the national government. “person” and “individual” are synonymous with said office in 26 USC §6671(b) and 26 USC §7343.

6. Convertibility between “aliens”, “resident aliens”, and “nonresident aliens”, and “nonresident alien
Chapter 1: “American National” or “U.S. citizen” Is there a Difference

6. A “nonresident alien” is not the legal equivalent of an “alien” in law.

6.2. IRS Form W-8BEN, Block 3 has no block to check for those who are “non-resident non-persons” but not “nonresident aliens” or “nonresident alien individuals”. Thus, the submitter of this form who is a statutory “non-resident non-person” but not a “nonresident alien” or “nonresident alien individual” is effectively compelled to make an illegal and fraudulent election to become an alien and an “individual” if they do not add a block for “transient foreigner” or “Union State Citizen” to the form. See section 5.3 of the following:

About IRS Form W-8BEN. Form #04.202
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

6.3. 26 USC §6013(g) and (h) and 26 USC §7701(b)(4)(B) authorize a “nonresident alien” who is married to a statutory “U.S. citizen” as defined in 26 CFR §1.1-1(c) to make an “election” to become a “resident alien”. This can only happen by either fraud or mistake.

6.4. It is unlawful for an unmarried “state national” pursuant to 8 USC §1101(a)(21) to become a “resident alien”. This can only happen by either fraud or mistake.

6.5. An alien may overcome the presumption that he is a “nonresident alien” and change his status to that of a “resident alien” by filing IRS Form 1078 pursuant to 26 CFR §1.871-4(c)(ii) while he is in the “United States”.

6.6. The term “residence” can only lawfully be used to describe the domicile of an “alien”. Nowhere is this term used to describe the domicile of a “state national” or a “nonresident alien”. See 26 CFR §1.871-2.

6.7. The only way a statutory “alien” under 8 USC §1101(a)(3) can become both a “state national” and a “nonresident alien” at the same time is to be naturalized pursuant to 8 USC §1421 and to have a domicile in either a U.S. possession or a state of the Union.

7. Sources of confusion on these issues:

7.1. One can be a “non-resident non-person” without being an “individual” or a “nonresident alien individual” under the Internal Revenue Code. An example would be a human being born within the exclusive jurisdiction of a state of the Union who is therefore a “state national” pursuant to 8 USC §1101(a)(21) who does not participate in Social Security or use a Taxpayer Identification Number.

7.2. The term “United States” is defined in the Internal Revenue Code at 26 USC §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10).

7.3. The term “United States” for the purposes of citizenship is defined in 8 USC §1101(a)(38).

7.4. Any “U.S. Person” as defined in 26 USC §7701(a)(30) who is not found in the “United States” (District of Columbia pursuant to 26 USC §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10)) shall be treated as having an effective domicile within the District of Columbia pursuant to 26 USC §7701(a)(39) and 26 USC §7408(d).

7.5. The term “United States” is equivalent for the purposes of statutory “citizens” pursuant to 26 CFR §1.1-1(c) and “citizens” as used in the Internal Revenue Code. See 26 CFR §1.1-1(c).

7.6. The term “United States” as used in the Constitution of the United States is NOT equivalent to the statutory definition of the term used in:

7.6.1. 26 USC §7701(a)(9) and (a)(10).

7.6.2. 28 USC §1101(a)(38).

The “United States” as used in the Constitution means the states of the Union and excludes federal territory, while the term “United States” as used in federal statutory law means federal territory and excludes states of the Union.

7.7. A constitutional “citizen of the United States” as mentioned in the Fourteenth Amendment is NOT equivalent to a statutory “citizen and national of the United States” as used in 8 USC §1401. See:

Why You are a “national”, “state national”, and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen. Form #05.006
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

7.8. In the case of jurisdiction over aliens only, the term “United States” implies all 50 states and the federal zone, and is not restricted only to the federal zone. See:

In accord with ancient principles of the international law of nation-states, the Court in The Chinese Exclusion Case, 130 U.S. 581, 609 (1889), and in Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893), held broadly, as the Government describes it, Brief for Appellants 20, that "the power to exclude aliens is "inherent in sovereignty, necessary for maintaining normal international relations and defending the country against foreign encroachments and dangers - a power to be exercised exclusively by the political branches of government . . . ." Since that time, the Court's general reaffirmations of this principle have [408 U.S. 753, 766] been legion. 6 The Court without exception has sustained Congress' "plenary power to make rules for the admission of aliens and to exclude those who possess those characteristics which Congress has forbidden." Boutilier v. Immigration and Naturalization Service, 387 U.S. 118, 123 (1967). "[O]ver no conceivable subject is the legislative power of Congress more complete than it is over" the admission of aliens. Oceanic Navigation Co. v. Stranahan, 214 U.S. 320, 339 (1909).

[Kleindienst v. Mandel, 408 U.S. 753 (1972)]

While under our constitution and form of government the great mass of local matters is controlled by local authorities, the United States, in their relation to foreign countries and their subjects or citizens, are one nation, invested with powers which belong to independent nations, the exercise of which can be invoked for the maintenance of its absolute independence and security throughout its entire territory. The powers to declare war, make treaties, suppress insurrection, repel invasion, regulate foreign commerce, secure republican governments to the states, and admit subjects of other nations to citizenship, are all sovereign powers, restricted in their exercise only by the constitution itself and considerations of public policy and justice which control, more or less, the conduct of all civilized nations. As said by this court in the case of Cohens v. Virginia, 6 Wheat. 264, 413, speaking by the same great chief justice: That the United States form, for many, and for most important purposes, a single nation, has not yet been denied. In war, we are one people. In making peace, we are one people. In all commercial regulations, we are one and the same people. In many other respects, the American people are one; and the government which is alone capable of controlling and managing their interests in all these respects is the government of the Union. It is their government, and in that character they have no other. America has chosen to [130 U.S. 581, 605] be in many respects, and to many purposes, a nation; and for all these purposes her government is complete; to all these objects, it is competent. The people have declared that in the exercise of all powers given for these objects it is supreme. It can, then, in effecting these objects, legitimately control all individuals or governments within the American territory."

"The power of exclusion of foreigners being an incident of sovereignty belonging to the government of the United States as a part of those sovereign powers delegated by the constitution, the right to its exercise at any time when, in the judgment of the government, the interests of the country require it, cannot be granted away or restrained on behalf of any one. The powers of government are delegated in trust to the United States, and are incapable of transfer to any other parties. They cannot be abandoned or surrendered. Nor can their exercise be hampered, when needed for the public good, by any considerations of private interest. The exercise of these public trusts is not the subject of barter or contract."

[Chae Chan Ping v. U.S., 130 U.S. 581 (1889)]
1.9 Effect of Federal Franchises and Offices Upon Your Citizenship and Standing in Court

Another important element of citizenship is that artificial entities like corporations are statutory but not Constitutional citizens in the context of civil litigation.

“A corporation is a citizen, resident, or inhabitant of the state or country by or under the laws of which it was created, and of that state or country only.”
[19 Corpus Juris Secundum, Corporations, §886]

“A corporation is not a citizen within the meaning of that provision of the Constitution, which declares that the citizens of each State shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens of the several States.”
[Paul v. Virginia, 8 Wall (U.S.) 168, 19 L.Ed. 357 (1868)]

Likewise, all governments are “corporations” as well.

“Corporations are also of all grades, and made for varied objects; all governments are corporations, created by usage and common consent, or grants and charters which create a body politic for prescribed purposes; but whether they are private, local or general, in their objects, for the enjoyment of property, or the exercise of power, they are all governed by the same rules of law, as to the construction and the obligation of the instrument by which the incorporation is made. One universal rule of law protects persons and property. It is a fundamental principle of the common law of England, that the term freemen of the kingdom, includes 'all persons,' ecclesiastical and temporal, incorporate, politque or natural; it is a part of their magna charta (2 Inst. 4), and is incorporated into our institutions. The persons of the members of corporations are on the same footing of protection as other persons, and their corporate property secured by the same laws which protect that of individuals. 2 Inst. 46-7. 'No man shall be taken,' 'no man shall be disseised,' without due process of law, is a principle taken from magna charta, infused into all our state constitutions, and is made inviolable by the federal government, by the amendments to the constitution.'
[Proprietors of Charles River Bridge v. Proprietors of Warren Bridge, 36 U.S. 420 (1837)]

TITLE 28 - JUDICIARY AND JUDICIAL PROCEDURE PART VI - PARTICULAR PROCEEDINGS
CHAPTER 176 - FEDERAL DEBT COLLECTION PROCEDURE
SUBCHAPTER A - DEFINITIONS AND GENERAL PROVISIONS
Sec. 3002. Definitions

(15) "United States" means -
(A) a Federal corporation;
(B) an agency, department, commission, board, or other entity of the United States; or
(C) an instrumentality of the United States.

"A federal corporation operating within a state is considered a domestic corporation rather than a foreign corporation. The United States government is a foreign corporation with respect to a state."
[19 Corpus Juris Secundum, Corporations, §883 (2003)]

Those who are acting in a representative capacity on behalf of the national government as “public officers” therefore assume the same status as their employer pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b). To wit:
IV. PARTIES > Rule 17.

Rule 17. Parties Plaintiff and Defendant; Capacity

(b) Capacity to Sue or be Sued.

Capacity to sue or be sued is determined as follows:
(1) for an individual who is not acting in a representative capacity, by the law of the individual's domicile;
(2) for a corporation[the “United States”, in this case, or its officers on official duty representing the corporation,] by the law under which it was organized; and
(3) for all other parties, by the law of the state where the court is located, except that:
   (A) a partnership or other unincorporated association with no such capacity under that state's law may sue or be sued in its common name to enforce a substantive right existing under the United States Constitution or laws; and
   (B) 28 USC §§754 and 959(a) govern the capacity of a receiver appointed by a United States court to sue or be sued in a United States court.

Persons acting in the capacity as “public officers” of the national government are therefore acting as “officers of a corporation” as described in 26 USC §6671(b) and 26 USC §7343 and become “persons” within the meaning of federal statutory law.

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 68 > Subchapter B > PART I > § 6671
§ 6671. Rules for application of assessable penalties

(b) Person defined

The term “person”, as used in this subchapter, includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

TITLE 26 > Subtitle F > CHAPTER 75 > Subchapter D > § 7343
§7343. Definition of term “person”

The term “person” as used in this chapter includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

Because all corporations are “citizens”, then “public officers” also take on the character of “U.S. citizens” in the capacity of their official duties, regardless of what they are as private individuals. It is also interesting to note that IRS correspondence very conspicuously warns the recipient right underneath the return address the following, confirming that they are corresponding with a “public officer” and not a private individual:

“Penalty for private use $300.”

Note that all “taxpayers” are “public officers” of the national government, and they are referred to in the Internal Revenue Code as “effectively connected with a trade or business”. The term “trade or business” is defined as “the functions of a public office”:

26 USC Sec. 7701(a)(26)

"The term 'trade or business' includes the performance of the functions of a public office."

The U.S. Supreme Court has also said it is “repugnant to the constitution” for the government to regulate private conduct. The only way you can lawfully become subject to the government’s jurisdiction or the tax laws is to engage in “public conduct” as a “public officer” of the national government.

“The power to "legislate generally upon" life, liberty, and property, as opposed to the "power to provide modes of redress" against offensive state action, was "repugnant" to the Constitution. Id., at 15. See also United States v. Reese, 92 U.S. 214, 218 (1876); United States v. Harris, 106 U.S. 629, 639 (1883); James v. Bowman, 190 U.S. 127, 139 (1903). Although the specific holdings of these early cases might have been superseded or modified, see, e.g., Heart of Atlanta Motel, Inc. v. United States, 379 U.S. 241 (1964); United States v. Guest, 383 U.S. 745 (1966), their treatment of Congress' §5 power as corrective or preventive, not definitional, has not been questioned.”
   [City of Boerne v. Flores, Archbishop of San Antonio, 521 U.S. 507 (1997)]

Note also that ordinary “employees” are NOT “public officers”:

Treatise on the Law of Public Offices and Officers Book I: Of the Office and the Officer: How Officer Chosen and Qualified Chapter I: Definitions and Divisions

§2 How Office Differs from Employment.-A public office differs in material particulars from a public employment, for, as was said by Chief Justice MARSHALL, "although an office is an employment, it does not follow that every employment is an office. A man may certainly be employed under a contract, express or implied, to perform a service without becoming an officer."

"We apprehend that the term 'office,'" said the judges of the supreme court of Maine, "implies a delegation of a portion of the sovereign power to, and the possession of it by, the person filling the office; and the exercise of such power within legal limits constitutes the correct discharge of the duties of such office. The power thus delegated and possessed may be a portion belonging sometimes to one of the three great departments and sometimes to another; still it is a legal power which may be rightfully exercised, and in its effects it will bind the rights of others and be subject to revision and correction only according to the standing laws of the state. An employment merely has none of these distinguishing features. A public agent acts only on behalf of his principal, the public, whose sanction is generally considered as necessary to give the acts performed the authority and power of a public act or law. And if the act be such as not to require subsequent sanction, still it is only a species of service performed under the public authority and for the public good, but not in the exercise of any standing laws which are considered as roles of action and guardians of rights."
"The officer is distinguished from the employee," says Judge COOLEY, "in the greater importance, dignity and independence of his position; in being required to take an official oath, and perhaps to give an official bond; in the liability to be called to account as a public offender for misfeasance or non-feasance in office, and usually, though not necessarily, in the tenure of his position. In particular cases, other distinctions will appear which are not general."

The ruse described in this section of making corporations into "citizens" and those who work for them into "public officers" of the government and "taxpayers" started just after the Civil War. Congress has always been limited to taxing things that it creates, which means it has never been able to tax anything but federal and not state corporations. The Supreme Court has confirmed, for instance, that the income tax is and always has been a franchise or privilege tax upon profit of federal corporations.

"Excises are taxes laid upon the manufacture, sale or consumption of commodities within the country, upon licenses to pursue certain occupations and upon corporate privileges...the requirement to pay such taxes involves the exercise of [220 U.S. 107, 152] privileges, and the element of absolute and unavoidable demand is lacking..."

...It is therefore well settled by the decisions of this court that when the sovereign authority has exercised the right to tax a legitimate subject of taxation as an exercise of a franchise or privilege, it is no objection that the measure of taxation is found in the income produced in part from property which of itself considered is nontaxable...

Conceding the power of Congress to tax the business activities of private corporations.. the tax must be measured by some standard..."

determining what constitutes income, substance rather than form is to be given controlling weight. Eisner v. Macomber, supra, 206. [271 U.S. 175]"

To create and expand a national income tax, the federal government therefore had to make the municipal government of the District of Columbia into a federal corporation in 1871 and then impose an income tax upon the officers of the corporation ("public officers") by making all of their earnings from the office into "profit" and "gross income" subject to excise tax upon the franchise they participate in. Below is the history of this transformation. You can find more in Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Chapter 6:

1. The first American Income Tax was passed in 1862. See:
   12 Stat. 432.
   [http://memory.loc.gov/cgi-bin/ampage?collId=llsl&fileName=012/llsl012.db&recNum=463]
2. The License Tax Cases was heard in 1866 by the Supreme Court, in which the Supreme Court said that Congress could not license a trade or business in a state in order to tax it, referring to the civil war tax enacted in 1862. See:
   License Tax Cases, 72 U.S. 462 (1866)
3. The Fourteenth Amendment was ratified in 1868. This makes corporations "citizens".
4. The civil war income tax was repealed in 1871. See:
   4.1. 17 Stat. 401
   4.2. Great IRS Hoax, Form #11.302, Section 6.5.20.
5. Congress incorporated the District of Columbia in 1871. The incorporation of the District of Columbia was done to expand the income tax by taxing the government’s own “public officers” as a federal corporation. See the following:

1.10 Federal Statutory Citizenship Statuses Diagram

We have prepared a venn diagram showing all of the various types of citizens so that you can properly distinguish them. The important thing to notice about this diagram is that there are multiple types of “citizens of the United States” and “nationals of the United States” because there are multiple definitions of “United States” according to the Supreme Court, as we showed earlier in section 1.1.

FEDERAL STATUTORY CITIZENSHIP STATUSES

“The term ‘United States’ may be used in any one of several senses. 1) It may be merely the name of a sovereign occupying the position analogous to that of other sovereigns in the family of nations. 2) It may designate the territory over which the sovereignty of the United States extends, or 3) it may be the collective name of the states which are united by and under the Constitution.” [Numbering Added] [Hooven & Allison Co. v. Evatt, 324 U.S. 652 (1945)]

US1: Context used in matters describing our sovereign country within the family of nations.

US2: Context used to designate the territory over which the Federal Government is exclusively sovereign.

US3: Context used regarding sovereign states of the Union united by and under the Constitution.

1. "United States” is described in 8 USC §1101(a)(38), (a)(36) and 8 CFR §215.1(f) and includes only federal territory and possessions and excludes all Constitutional Union states. This is a product of the separation of powers doctrine that is the heart of the United States Constitution.

1.11.2 How to describe your citizenship on government forms

This section provides some pointers on how to describe your citizenship status on government forms in order to avoid being confused with a someone who has a domicile on federal territory and therefore no Constitutional rights. Below is a summary of how we recommend protecting yourself from the prejudicial presumptions of others about your citizenship status:

1. Keep in mind the following facts about all government forms:
   1.1. Government forms ALWAYS imply the LEGAL/STATUTORY rather than POLITICAL/CONSTITUTIONAL status of the party in the context of all franchises, including income taxes and social security.
   1.2. "Alien" on government forms means a STATUTORY alien domiciled outside the federal zone, which we also call the “statutory United States”. It includes both people domiciled in a constitutional state and those domiciled in a foreign country. "Alien" is always relative to domicile and not nationality.
   1.3. The Internal Revenue Code does NOT define the term “nonresident alien”. The closest thing to a definition is that found in 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B), which defines what it ISN’T, but NOT what it IS. If you look on IRS Form W-8BEN, Block 3, you can see that there are many different types of entities that can be nonresident aliens, none of which are included in the definition at 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B). It is therefore IMPOSSIBLE to conclude based on any definition in the Internal Revenue Code that a specific person IS or IS NOT a “nonresident alien.”
   1.4. On tax forms, the term “nonresident alien” is NOT a subset of the term “alien”, but rather a SUPERSET. It includes both FOREIGN nationals domiciled in a foreign country and also persons in Constitutional states of the Union. A “national of the United States”, for instance, although NOT an “alien” under Title 8 of the U.S. Code, is an “alien” under Title 26 of the U.S. Code. Therefore, a “nonresident alien” is a “word of art” designed to confuse people, and the fact that uses the word “alien” doesn’t mean it IS an “alien”. This is covered in:

   Flawed Tax Arguments to Avoid, Form #08.004, Section 6.7
   http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

2. Anyone who PRESUMES any of the following should promptly be DEMANDED to prove the presumption with legally admissible evidence from the law. ALL of these presumptions are FALSE and cannot be proven:
   2.1. That you can trust ANYTHING that either a government form OR a government employee says. The courts say not only that you CANNOT, but that you can be PENALIZED for doing so. See:

   Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007
   http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

   2.2. That nationality and domicile are synonymous.
   2.3. That “nonresident aliens” are a SUBSET of “aliens” within the Internal Revenue Code.
   2.4. That the term “United States” has the SAME meaning in Title 8 of the U.S. Code as it has is Title 26.
   2.5. That a Fourteenth Amendment “citizen of the United States” is equivalent to any of the following:
      2.5.1.8 USC §1401 “national and citizen of the United States”.
      2.5.2.26 CFR §1.1-1 “citizen”.
      2.5.3.26 USC §3121(e) “citizen of the United States”.
      All of the above statuses have similar sounding names, but they rely on a DIFFERENT definition of “United States” from that found in the USA Constitution.
   2.6. That you can be a statutory “taxpayer” or statutory “citizen” of any kind WITHOUT your consent. See:

   Why Domicile and Becoming a “taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002
   http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

4 Adapted from Why You are a “national”, “state national”, and Constitutional but not Statutory Citizen, Form #05.006, Section 13.1: http://sedm.org.
3. The safest way to describe oneself is to check “Other” for citizenship or add an “Other” box if the form doesn’t have one and then do one of the following:

3.1. Write in the “Other” box

“See attached mandatory Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001” and then attach the following completed form:

Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

3.2. If you don’t want to include an attachment, add the following mandatory language to the form that you are a:

3.2.1. A “Citizen and national of _____ (statename)"

3.2.2. NOT a statutory “national and citizen of the United States” or “U.S. citizen” per 8 USC §1401

3.2.3. A constitutional or Fourteenth Amendment Citizen.

3.2.4. A statutory alien per 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(A) for the purposes of the federal income tax.

4. If the recipient of the form says they won’t accept attachments or won’t allow you to write explanatory information on the form needed to prevent perjurying the form, then send them an update via certified mail AFTER they accept your submission so that you have legal evidence that they tried to tamper with a federal witness and conspired to commit perjury on the form.

5. For detailed instructions on how to fill out the Department of State Form I-9, See:

I-9 Form Amended, Form #06.028
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

6. For detailed instructions on how to participate in E-Verify for the purposes of PRIVATE employment, see:

About E-Verify, Form #04.107
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

7. To undo the damage you have done over the years to your status by incorrectly describing your status, send in the following form and submit according to the instructions provided. This form says that all future government forms submitted shall have this form included or attached by reference.

Legal Notice of Change in Domicile/Citizenship Records and Divorce from the United States, Form #10.001

8. Quit using Taxpayer Identifying Numbers (TINs). 20 CFR §422.104 says that only statutory “U.S. citizens” and “permanent residents” can lawfully apply for Social Security Numbers, both of which share in common a domicile on federal territory such as statutory “U.S. citizens” and “residents” (aliens), can lawfully use such a number. 26 CFR §301.6109-1(b) also indicates that “U.S. persons”, meaning persons with a domicile on federal territory, are required to furnish such a number if they file tax forms. “Foreign persons” are also mentioned in 26 CFR §301.6109-1(b), but these parties also elect to have an effective domicile on federal territory and thereby become “persons” by engaging in federal franchises. See:

8.1. Who are “Taxpayers” and Who Needs a “Taxpayer Identification Number”?, Form #05.013
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

8.2. Why It is Illegal for Me to Request or Use a “Taxpayer Identification Number”, Form #04.205-attach this form to every government form that asks for a Social Security Number or Taxpayer Identification Number. Write in the SSN/TIN Box (NONE: See attached form #04.205).

8.3. Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Form #06.002-use this form to quit Social Security lawfully.
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

9. If you are completing any kind of government form or application to any kind of financial institution other than a tax form and you are asked for your citizenship status, TIN, or Social Security Number, attach the following form and prepare according to the instructions provided:

Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm
10. If you are completing and submitting a government tax form, attach the following form and prepare according to the instructions provided:

http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

11. If you are submitting a voter registration, attach the following form and prepare according to the instructions provided:

Voter Registration Attachment, Form #06.003
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

12. If you are applying for a USA passport, attach the following form and prepare according to the instructions provided:

USA Passport Application Attachment, Form #06.007
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

13. If you are submitting a complaint, response, pleading, or motion to a federal court, you should attach the following form:

Federal Pleading/Motion/Petition Attachment, Litigation Tool #01.002
http://sedm.org/Litigation/LitIndex.htm

14. Use as many of the free forms as you can from the page below. They are very well thought out to avoid traps set by the predators who run the American government:

SEDM Forms Page
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

15. When engaging in correspondence with anyone in the government, legal, or financial profession about your status that occurs on other than a standard government form, use the following guidelines:

15.1. In the return address for the correspondence, place the phrase “(NOT A DOMICILE OR RESIDENCE)”.

15.2. Entirely avoid the use of the words “citizen”, “citizenship”, “resident”, “inhabitant”. Instead, prefer the term “non-citizen national”, and “nonresident foreigner”.

15.3. Never describe yourself as an “individual” or “person”. 5 USC §552a(a)(2) says that this entity is a government employee who is a statutory “U.S. citizen” or “resident” (alien). Instead, refer to yourself as a “transient foreigner” and a “nonresident”. Some forms such as IRS form W-8BEN Block 3 have no block for “transient foreigner” or “non-resident NON-person”, in which case modify the form to add that option. See the following for details:

http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

15.4. Entirely avoid the use of the phrase “United States”, because it has so many different and mutually exclusive meanings in the U.S. code and state law. Instead, replace this phrase with the name of the state you either are physically present within or wish “USA” and then define that “USA” includes the states of the Union and excludes federal territory. For instance, you could say “Citizen of California Republic” and then put an asterisk next to it and at the bottom of the page explain the asterisk as follows:

* NOT a citizen of the STATE of California, which is a corporate extension of the federal government, but instead a sovereign Citizen of the California Republic

California Revenue and Taxation Code, section 6017 defines “State of” as follows:

“6017. ‘In this State’ or ‘in the State’ means within the exterior limits of the State of California and includes all territory within these limits owned by or ceded to the United States of America.”

15.5. Never use the word “residence”, “permanent address”, or “domicile” in connection with either the term “United States”, or the name of the state you are in.
15.6. If someone else refers to you improperly, vociferously correct them so that they are prevented from making presumptions that would injure your rights.

15.7. Avoid words that are undefined in statutes that relate to citizenship. Always use words that are statutorily defined and if you can’t find the definition, define it yourself on the form or correspondence you are sending. Use of undefined words encourages false presumptions that will eventually injure your rights and give judges and administrators discretion that they undoubtedly will abuse to their benefit. There isn’t even a common definition of “citizen of the United States” or “U.S. citizen” in the standard dictionary, then the definition of “U.S. citizen” in all the state statutes and on all government forms is up to us! Therefore, once again, whenever you fill out any kind of form that specifies either “U.S. citizen” or “citizen of the United States”, you should be very careful to clarify that it means “national” under 8 USC §1101(a)(21) and 8 USC §1452 or you will be “presumed” to be a federal citizen and a “citizen of the United States” under 8 USC §1401, and this is one of the biggest injuries to your rights that you could ever inflict. Watch out folks! Here is the definition we recommend that you use on any government form that uses these terms that makes the meaning perfectly clear and unambiguous:

“U.S. citizen” or “citizen of the United States”: A “National” defined in either 8 USC §1101(a)(21) or 8 USC §1101(a)(22)(B) and 8 USC §1452 who owes their permanent allegiance to the confederation of states called the “United States”. Someone who was not born in the federal “United States” as defined in 8 USC §1101(a)(38) and who is NOT a “citizen of the United States” under 8 USC §1401.

15.8. Refer them to this pamphlet if they have questions and tell them to do their homework.

16. Citizenship status in Social Security NUMIDENT record:

16.1. The NUMIDENT record derives from what was filled out on the SSA Form SS-5, block 5. See: http://www.ssa.gov/online/ss-5.pdf

16.2. One’s citizenship status is encoded within the NUMIDENT record using the “CSP code” within the Numident record. This code is called the “citizenship code” by the Social Security administration.

16.3. Like all government forms, the terms used on the SSA Form SS-5 use the STATUTORY context, not the CONSTITUTIONAL context for all citizenship words. Hence, block 5 of the SSA Form SS-5 should be filled out with “Legal Alien Authorized to Work”, which means you are a STATUTORY but not CONSTITUTIONAL alien. This is consistent with the definition of “individual” found in 26 CFR §1.1441-1(c)(3), which defines the term to include ONLY STATUTORY “aliens”.

16.4. Those who are not STATUTORY “nationals and citizens of the United States” at birth per 8 USC §1401 or 26 USC §3121(e), and 26 CFR §1.1-1(c) have a “CSP code” of B in their NUMIDENT record, which corresponds with a CSP code of “B”. The comment field of the NUMIDENT record should also be annotated with the following to ensure that it is not changed during an audit because of confusion on the part of the SSA employee:

“CSP Code B not designated in error-- applicant is an American national with a domicile and residence in a foreign state for the purposes of the Social Security Act.”

16.5. The local SSA office cannot provide a copy of the NUMIDENT record. Only the central SSA headquarters can provide it by submitting a Privacy Act request rather than a FOIA using the following resource:

Guide to Freedom of Information Act, Social Security Administration

16.6. Information in the NUMIDENT record is shared with:

16.6.2. State Department of Motor Vehicles in verifying SSNs.

16.6.3. E-Verify.
16.7. The procedures for requesting NUMIDENT information using the Freedom of Information Act or Privacy Act are described in:

Social Security Program Operations Manual (POMS), Section RM 00299.005 Form SSA-L669 Request for Evidence in Support of an SSN Application — U.S.-Born Applicant

2 Chapter 2: Application for SSN & What It Means

Definition of a term worthy of your contemplation especially for this chapter:

“Sub Silentio.”

“Under silence, without any Notice being taken [given or provided]; passing a thing sub silentio may be evidence of consent.”

Walt Disney developed a cartoon promoting the Social Security Program in the mid 1930’s and that cartoon was played in movie theatres across America. This cartoon portrayed Donald Duck considering making an application for a Social Security Number [SSN]. You can view that cartoon below:

The cartoon, just as in life, did not reference any authority by enacted federal law that mandated any American obtain a SSN by imposed duty under a law. This federally funded cartoon was one of the first national efforts to propagandize the American public to accept socialism. The Disney cartoon was successful changing the American public’s perception that government was a benefactor. The Social Security Administration gained a foothold in American life via deception and pressured from the Depression of 1929.

Most Americans were very trusting of the national government and the cartoon was a unique way to reach most of America with this new federal socialism program created under the FDR administration [The Social Security Act of 1935]. The Roosevelt administration knew Social Security could not be forced upon the American public (as it would be pronounced as unconstitutional by that approach) so the propaganda campaign with Disney was developed to influence the American Public to accept a seemingly benign and benevolent act by the national government. It begs the question as to the Depression being a contrived catalyst before Americans would “consent” to waive their birthright.

“Since few people actually double-check what they learn at school, such disinformation will be repeated by journalists as well as parents, thus re-enforcing the idea that the disinformation item is really a ‘well-known fact’ even though no one repeating the myth is able to point to an authoritative source.” This quote from an article on Wikipedia.org is a very good description as to what continues to this day when American Nationals apply for a SSN without asking for or seeking full disclosure for that application.

What was not discussed on that Form SS-5 and “information material” related to application for a SSN was profound. If the American public were given the facts about the Legislative History on the Social Security Act of 1935 Title VIII Section 801 they would have learned that they were being imposed not only with a Social Security Tax but being converted into being identified by that SSN as federal employees. The real surprise on top of that fact was the imposition of the Federal Income Tax imposed upon those who work for the federal government, and SSN created federal employees via Title VIII Section 801, as stipulated by President William H. Taft in his legislative intent of the 16th Amendment published in the Congressional Record of the United States Senate on June 16, 1909 [pages 3344-3345].

Edward L. Bernays, the famed public relations pioneer, created a classic model which eloquently describes propaganda as the “purpose of communications.” His works were used in World War I by the federal government [Woodrow Wilson administration] and impressed the German Fuhrer, Adolph Hitler, because Bernays work was the primary cause of the collapse of morale and revolts in the German home front and German Navy in 1918.
Chapter 2: Application for SSN & What It Means

The ravage of the Great Depression was the catalyst which allowed the government to subjugate the people with the ideology of Keynesian economic socialism prevalent in Great Britain. The cartoon showed that the government would provide “benefits” later on in life. Many Americans in fact think the federal government owes them money for their retirement in old age. The SSN is referred to by the national government as a [constructive] “trust” which is a type of contract.

However, the SSN is not a contract which would impose an obligation or duty upon the federal government to pay any SSN participant anything. All you need to do to verify this is to read what the United States Supreme Court stated in U.S. Railroad Retirement Board v. Fritz, 449 U.S. 166 and in Fleming v. Nestor, 363 U.S. 603 (1960) which states very clearly that SSN benefits are not contractual and that the Social Security Act is nothing by a “statutory scheme”.

Here is a direct quote from U.S. Railroad Retirement Board v. Fritz, 449 U.S. 166:

Here is what the United States Supreme Court stated in Fleming v. Nestor, 363 U.S. 603 (1960):

“We must conclude that a person covered by the Act [Social Security Act] has not such a right in benefit payments…This is not to say, however, that Congress may exercise its power to modify the statutory scheme free of all constitutional restraint.”

Thus, the Disney cartoon was a model in social engineering as a public relations work that was a direct outgrowth of Bernays’ methodology and is still used extensively by the United States government. Americans ever since have been conditioned to think that they needed the kindness of a benevolent government to provide for them in our old age. You can learn more on propaganda and its use by government at http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Propaganda.

So most, if not all, Americans today have applied for a SSN. Why? Is there a “law” that requires Americans to do so? No, there is no law mandating or requiring such because Americans are not property of the State or subject to its exclusive jurisdiction!

This is a fact as you can read for yourself in a letter from Charles H. Mullen, Associate Commissioner, Office of Public Inquiries for the Social Security Administration. His letter was dated March 18, 1999. Mr. Mullen stated as follows:

“This is in response to your letter to the Commissioner concerning Social Security numbers for children. The Social Security Act does not require a person to have a Social Security number (SSN) to live and work in the United States, nor does it require an SSN simply for the purpose of having one. However, if someone works without an SSN, we cannot properly credit the earning for the work performed.

Other laws require people to have and use SSN’s for specific purposes. For example, the Internal Revenue Code (26 USC 6109(a) and applicable regulations (26 CFR §301.6109-1(d) require an individual to get and use an SSN on tax documents and to furnish the number to any other person or institution (such as an employer or a bank) that is required to provide the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) information about payments to the individual.

There are penalties for failure to do so. The IRS also requires employers to report SSN’s with employees’ earnings. In addition, people filing tax returns for taxable years after December 31, 1994, generally must include the SSN of each dependent.
Chapter 2: Application for SSN & What It Means

The Privacy Act regulates the use of SSN’s by government agencies. They may require an SSN only if a law or regulation either orders or authorize them to do so. Agencies are required to disclose the authorizing law or regulation. If the request has no legal basis, the person may refuse to provide the number and still receive the agency’s services. However, the law does not apply to private sector organizations. Such an organization can refuse its service to anyone who does not provide the number on request.

Wow! You might be asking yourself “What did that guy really say?” This is a really interesting letter written by a federal employee and you will soon see how their words of art give you the “wrong impression” which makes their job easier by their omission of facts and definitions of the terms they use in federal context.

Perhaps we should break this narrative down somewhat to show you exactly what he stated. Please look at the underlined sections and do not make any assumptions as to the meaning of the words used by the everyday definitions that we might use but only refer to the definitions that are stated by the federal government.

Did you notice his opening statement? He stated to the American National that:

“The Social Security Act does not require a person to have a Social Security number (SSN) to live and work in the United States.”

Bet you never hear that one from your private sector employer. If that is the answer then why did he go into all the other narrative? To confuse you! That is why! He stated the truth and now he reverts to the bulk narrative to distract you from the truth.

The core issue that most people overlook is what is found in the 20 CFR header [identifying this section of the CFR] as “Employee Benefits”. Well what “Employees” is the federal government referring to in their own United States Code? You guessed it….FEDERAL EMPLOYEES. This section has nothing to do with any private sector employees but that is what you have been conditioned to believe and think.

If you read the Social Security Act of 1935 Legislative History you will find in Title VIII Taxes with Respect to Employment, Section 801 that reads:

“SECTION 801. In addition to other taxes, there shall be levied, collected, and paid upon the income of every individual a tax equal to the following percentages of the wages received by him after December 31, 1936, with respect to employment (as defined in section 811) after such date:”

Then you will read in Section 811(b) DEFINITIONS “The term employment means any service, of what ever nature, performed within the United States by an employee for his employer, except-“

Care to guess who the “employer” is that has services performed within the United States? That is correct. The “employer” that is referenced but not openly stated is none other than the national government.

Take a look at the regulation Mr. Mullen referenced in his letter:

26 CFR §301.6109-1 Identifying numbers

(d) Obtaining a taxpayer identifying number—(1) Social security number. Any individual required to furnish a social security number pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section shall apply for one, if he has not done so previously, on Form SS-5, which may be obtained from any Social Security Administration or Internal Revenue Service office. He shall make such application far enough in advance of the first required use of such number to permit issuance of the number in time for compliance with such requirement. The form, together with any supplementary statement, shall be prepared and filed in accordance with the form, instructions, and regulations applicable thereto, and shall set forth fully and clearly the data therein called for. Individuals who are ineligible for or do not wish to participate in the benefits of the social security program shall nevertheless obtain a social security number if they are required to furnish such a number pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

So ask yourself, who are the “Individuals required” that Mr. Mullen stated in the opening of his letter where there is no requirement for anyone “to have a Social Security Number in order to live and work in the United States.”

The “other people” who are required [and they are called Taxpayers by the federal government] by laws are those who are classified differently than American Nationals. The Social Security number is the key to understanding and that the SSN application is the starting point on taxation for the federal income tax.

The listing of those “other people” will be presented in the next chapter but I will give you a clue that comes again from Mr. Mullen’s letter when he stated, “The Privacy Act regulates the use of SSN’s by government agencies.” The SSN is the property of the federal government according to 20 CFR §422.103(d) and 20 CFR addresses “EMPLOYEE BENEFITS” for those who work for the national government.

By now you should start to see that those who work for the national government are those who are “engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the United States” and must use a SSN on their tax documents [tax returns] as their “employer” is the “United States”.

The subject of the last paragraph in Mr. Mullen’s letter is the Privacy Act. As far as the Act applying to the private sector, he told the truth when he stated,

“However, the law[the Privacy Act] does not apply to private sector organizations.”

Therefore, the laws referenced do not require American Nationals working in the private sector to obtain an SSN. Therefore, the SSN is not an applicable requirement upon those of us in the private sector [the 50 states of the Union].

Then why did so many apply? After the American public was initially persuaded, by federal propaganda to acquire the SSN, the reason can only be attributed to assumption of a requirement now supported by social custom. As you have just witnessed, there is no requirement by law for those in the constitutional republic [the 50 states of the Union] to secure such a detrimental nexus with the federal government [United States].

How old were you when you, a family member, or someone you trusted [as an authority figure] completed the SSN application? Was there full disclosure of all the terms, conditions, and definitions behind the SSN application?

You should seriously consider obtaining a photocopy of the SSN application that was signed to see what you agreed to on that application. But wait…. “Was it really an application or something else?”

The Social Security Application for a Social Security Number was and remains still a private law [purportedly valid] constructive trust contract between the signee of the application and the national government. Surprise hits many Americans who finally realize the truth about Social Security.

The “Socialistic Security System” is not an insurance policy as it was initially touted by the government but is merely a pseudo constructive trust in which the party who signed the purported constructive trust contract [SSN application] is the inferior party as they are not the beneficiary of the Trust but are in reality Federal employees.
All Social Security payments made by the Federal government are to its employees and if their income hits a certain threshold those Federal wages are once again “taxable.”
Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, defines

‘Constructive Trust’ to mean “a relationship with respect to property subjecting the person by whom the title to the property is held to an equitable duty to convey it to another on the ground that this acquisition or retention of the property is wrongful and that he would be unjustly enriched if he were permitted to retain the property.”

In context to contracts, the term “Constructive Contract” is defined in Black’s to mean:

“A species of contracts which arise, not from the intent of the parties, from the operation of law to avoid an injustice. An obligation created by law for reasons of justice without regard to expressions of assent [a conscious approval of facts actually known, as distinguished from mere neglect to ascertain facts] by either words or acts.”

Very serious explanations of what happens when one signs the SSN application [a purported constructive trust contract]. Is this the outcome that Justice Brandeis [Olmstead v. U.S., 277 U.S. 438 (1928)] was expressing concern over when he stated

“If the Government becomes a lawbreaker, it breeds contempt for law, it invites every man to become a law unto himself; it invites anarchy."

Did Americans waive their rights? The lack of full disclosure hints to the potential violation of rights expressed by Justice White’s lead opinion in Brady v. United States, where he stated:

“Waivers of constitutional rights not only must be voluntary, but must be knowing, intelligent acts, done with sufficient awareness of the relevant circumstances and likely consequences.” [Brady v. U.S., 397 U.S. 742 (1970)]

Each year there is produced a report on the Social Security and Medicare trust funds by the Trustees. The 2005 Annual Report shows the following list of Trustees to be:

John W. Snow, Secretary of the Treasury is the Managing Trustee
Elaine L. Chao, Secretary of Labor, Trustee
Michael O. Leavitt, Secretary of Health & Human Resources, Trustee
Jo Anne B. Barnhart, Commissioner of Social Security, Trustee
John L. Palmer, Syracuse University Professor, Trustee
Thomas R. Saving, Professor of Economics at Texas A&M University, Trustee

All this information and more are listed in “A Summary of the 2005 Annual Social Security and Medicare Trust Fund Reports” published by the federal government. Go to the internet and print out a copy for your personal review.

The Social Security Administration has Form SSA-1.996 (01-2001) Social Security Number Record Request for Extract or Photocopy [which you mail to the DERO Enumeration Unit, PO Box 33000, Baltimore, MD 21290-3000] in which you can, for $27 US, receive a photocopy of the original SSN application you signed. It is a good idea to obtain one quickly.

Once you receive that document, look at your age. Then look for the definitions, terms, and conditions of the contract. Look at the heading of the application to see if there is a disclosure that the application is really a Constructive Trust Contract with the Federal Government or something similar. No such identifier is there?

Were there any warnings about what is going to happen when you send the application in? Any reference to a law that tells you the SSN is required for you to obtain? Is there any statement telling you that you can not terminate the SSN contract? Was the application sent to SSA or to the IRS?
Chapter 2: Application for SSN & What It Means

When you review basic contract law there are several elements that should be established for any contract to be a valid contract:

1. The signer must be of legal age.
2. There must be terms, conditions, & definitions which provide full disclosure for what you are agreeing to by signing the contract.
3. For any willful and knowing intent on the part of the party signing, one must know what they are agreeing to be bound to.
4. Consideration

If any one of the elements listed above are missing or incomplete, then the contract is voidable ab initio [voidable from the date it was signed originally]. Many learned by reviewing the photocopy of their original application that they were indeed a minor at the time of signing. There was nothing stating any legal reference for requirement to submit nor was there any listed regulation stating what was being established by the SSN application. Most had no idea that the “application” was really a pseudo constructive trust contract.

Today, the SSA uses the Form SS-5 when someone wants to establish a Social Security Number. On line 3 of that form there is the question asking about your citizenship. The first choice listed is “U.S. citizen” and the last choice is “Other”.

If the government had authority over American Nationals and there was a legal requirement for all Americans to submit to acquiring a SSN, don’t you think that there would be a line choice which at least would allow you to identify American National for those who need to enter into this federal purported constructive trust contract?

Take a close look at the form and see if there is a disclaimer as to this being a contract and you are becoming a federal “employee”. Only federal “employees” can be authorized to use federal property and the SSN card issued belongs to the federal government according to 20 CFR §442.103(d).

The Social Security Commissioner should inform all applicants by listing a “Warning Statement” much like the federal government requires of the tobacco manufacturers on their cigarette packaging. People might just stop and think about what was going on if they were at least made aware of the potential danger from applying. But that would be bad for business as the government would lose customers.

It is interesting that the Social Security Administration fails to even define the term “U.S. citizen”. The SSA wants all applicants to select “U.S. citizen” which are indeed taxpayers made liable to pay the Subtitle ‘A’ federal income tax. Then they want the applicant to sign the pseudo constructive trust contract “under penalties of perjury.”

On the SSA web site there is a set of instructions “HOW TO COMPLETE THIS APPLICATION” [SSA Form SS-5 and item 3 on page 2 you will find stated

“If you select ‘Other,’ you must provide a document from the U.S. government agency that explains why you need a Social Security number and that you meet all of the requirements for a Federal benefit except for the number.”

You will also find stated on the Instructions a reference to The Paperwork/Privacy Act and Your Application in which the SSA states that under Sections 205(c) and 702 of the Social Security Act that the SSA is allowed to collect the facts they ask for on the Form SS-5 FS (12-2005). They even state “You do not have to give us these facts; however, without them we cannot issue you a Social Security number or a card. Without a number, you may not be able to get a job and could lose Social Security benefits in the future.”

Well there it is! The SSA states that “you may not be able to get a job”. That is the biggest threat of all time. How can anyone exist without one? Where does the national government establish its power and authority over its creator? What rights did American Nationals at the time the contract [the Constitution of the United States of America grant such awesome power to the national government, the creature [corporation] that was brought to life by “We The People”?

Can the “created” [the national government] become superior to its “creator” [We the People]? There is one word in that sentence however that we should take the time to explore. Did you see it? Look at the SSA statement again; you may not be able to get a job. Did they say, “You will never in your wildest dreams be able to get a job in the private sector”?

This question just occurred to me, “Is that the kind act by a government that merely wishes to protect and defend the constitution?” Do you see the assumption that they are pressing hard to get you to overlook? You can work in this country without an SSN and be responsible for your own retirement!

Why doesn’t the SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION just come out and state the statute and implementing regulation published in the Federal Register that mandates, requires, obligations, and imposes upon all American Nationals, who live in the 50 states of the Union and work in a private sector employment under a private sector employer the duty to secure a Socialistic Surveillance Number? Oops….I meant Social Security Number.

Don’t just hurry on in your reading. Take a moment. Pause and reflect on that question. After all, it is just a question that has merit. You are not threatening anyone. You are just now thinking about how all this came to pass in the first place. What kind of emotions are you experiencing just now? If you are experiencing some emotion, ask yourself “Why are you feeling those emotions?”

Perhaps that statement “Socialistic Surveillance Number” is not far off after all. “Why you ask?” On page 4 of the Instructions you will find a reference to “The Paperwork/Privacy Act and Your Application” which makes the statement

“We may use the information you give us when we match records by computer. Matching programs compare our records with those of other Federal, State, or local government agencies to determine whether a person qualifies for benefits paid by the Federal government.
The law allows us to do this even if you do not agree to it.”

It doesn’t stop there but continues by stating:

“We may disclose information as necessary to administer Social Security programs, including to appropriate law enforcement agencies to investigate alleged violations of Social Security law; to other government agencies for administering entitlement, health, and welfare programs...to the Internal Revenue Service for Federal tax administration.

We may also disclose information as required by Federal law, for example, to the Department of Homeland Security, to identify and locate aliens in the U.S; to the Selective Service System for draft registration; and to the Department of Health and Human Services for child support enforcement purposes. We may verify SSN s for State motor vehicle agencies that use the number in issuing drivers licenses, as authorized by the Social Security Act.”

Do you see even one Implementing Regulation that you can refer to that backs up the Social Security Administration statement? As a federal “employee” the national government does not have any need for using or publishing Implementing Regulations as those who work for the National government have no protections afforded by the constitution but work under private law with the federal corporation.

“The restrictions that the Constitution places upon the government in its capacity as lawmaker, i.e., as the regulator of private conduct, are not the same as the restrictions that it places upon the government in its capacity as employer. We have recognized this in many contexts, with

Most would consider such a reference as helpful so that they could on their own go check out the reference to see:
(1) if the SSA really has the power they claim, and
(2) upon “whom” does the SSA have the power they claim to do as they state?

Since you have no reference to any implementing regulation authority in their literature, “Do you really know anything factual based on the ‘federal law’ that was generically referenced?”

Give them the benefit of the doubt you say? That certainly is your choice to make. However, are you comfortable with that decision? Do you think that you might prefer to take the time and send the SSA a short letter asking for the specific implementing regulation that grants them the power “by Federal law” that they alluded to?

Tell the Social Security Administration that you just want to verify their statement with supporting authorities and you would be glad to do that for yourself if they would simply state the exact implementing regulation made by the SSA reference.

The minor effort will tell you a lot by the response you will receive. Go ahead; it only costs you a little time and a postage stamp. That way you don’t have to assume anything about their statement but will know exactly what authority by implementing regulation that grants or permits them to do as they say.

Point of warning: don’t make the inquiry and hold your breath while waiting for a response as it would be hazardous to your health. So to help maintain good health here is the entire list of authorities by regulations promulgated by the SSA at 44 USC §3507. See if you can pick out what area relates to you specifically when you work in the private sector or employed by a private sector employer.

44 USC §3507 section 2 Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 Sources of Authority: If you work in these areas then there is support by “administrative” regulation as follows:

There is one section that relates to everyone who has signed a Social Security Administration purported constructive trust contract and that is 20 CFR Employee Benefits! Still think you are not considered as a Federal Employee? Only “employees” are paid wages by the national government and thus they are identified as “Taxpayers” having an obligation under the Subtitle ‘A’ federal income tax.
Allow a brief side trip on the topic of “wages” as this subject needs to be addressed. The legal definition for “wages” is found in 26 USC §3401(a) and you need to see that this definition “excludes” earnings of “public officials”.

“(a) Wages. For purposes of this chapter, the term ‘wages’ means all remuneration (other than fees paid to a public official) for services performed by an employee for his employer, including the cash value of all remuneration (including benefits) paid in any medium other than cash; except that such term shall not include remuneration paid - -“

There is no definition found in the IRC (as of this writing) so the term was looked up in Black’s Law Dictionary, Abridged Sixth Edition, p. 426 and the term “fee” was defined to mean:

“A charge fixed by law for services of public officers or for use of a privilege under control of the government; a recompense for an official or professional service or a charge or emolument or compensation for a particular act or service.”

Look at all the plethora of words used! There was one that caught my attention and that one was “recompense” so that word was looked up in Black’s as well. Now you find the heart of all the above for “recompense” means:

“Pay; to engage for money; to give in return for goods or service; to give money in return for something.”

So “Wages” in 26 USC §3401(a) means all remuneration other than fees or money paid as “pay” for a service to the government which is paid to a public official....

You will find at 26 USC §6041 that the term “wages” as indicated on the IRS Form W-2 actually documents receipts of earnings connected with a “trade or business” which is defined at 26 USC §7701(a)(26) as “the performance of the functions of a public office”.

It is easy to understand that as the legal definitions illustrate that:

(1) Earnings connected with a public office do not constitute “wages” per 26 USC §3401(a),

(2) The only way one can earn “wages” as legally defined and documented on the From W-2 is to volunteer or agree under contract [like an IRS Form W-4] to call them “wages”, or

(3) The process of volunteering to have your earnings called “wages” is via an “voluntary withholding agreement” per 26 USC §3402(p), 26 CFR §31.3401(a)-3(a), and 26 CFR §31.3402(p)-1(a).

Here is what 26 CFR§31.3402(p)-1 Voluntary Withholding Agreements states in part:

“An agreement may be entered into under this section only with respect to amounts which are includible in the gross income of the employee under section 61, and must be applicable to all such amount s paid by the employer to the employee.”

This regulation continues at 31.3402(p)-1(b)(2) in part:

Stay with this, just a few more sections that need to be illustrated for the issue to be settled by factual statements in IRS regulations. In 26 CFR §31.3401(a)-3(a) you will find stipulated:

(a) In general.

Notwithstanding the exceptions to the definition of wages specified in section 3401(a) and the regulations there under, the term ‘wages’ includes the amounts described in paragraph (b)(1) of this section with respect to which there is a voluntary withholding agreement in effect under section 3402(p).”

(b) Remuneration for services.

(1) Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the amounts referred to in paragraph (a) of this section include any remuneration for services performed by an employee for an employer which, without regard to this section, does not constitute wages under section 3401(a).

Is your head spinning? Take a break if you need to but you probably should review the highlighted and underlined areas in the regulations.

From the legal maxim “Expressio unius est exclusio alterius” you understand that this expression indicates statutory interpretation or meanings are limited to “the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another.” Another way of saying the same thing is that the mention of one thing implies the exclusion of another. This is understood that when certain persons or things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be inferred. Under this maxim, if a statute specifies one exception to a general rule or assumes to specify the effects of a certain provision, other exceptions or effects are excluded.

The term “wages” does not include all earnings:

(1) Compensation of nonresident aliens excluded per 26 USC §3401(a)(6), 26 CFR §31.3401(a)(6)-1, 26 USC §861(a)(3)(C)(i), 26 USC §1402(b), and 26 CFR §1.872-2(f).

(2) Pay of ministers are excluded per 26 USC §3401(a)(9) and 26 USC §3121(a)(8)(A).

(3) The pay of nonresident aliens not engaged in a “trade or business” are excluded per 26 CFR §1.871-1(a).

The U.S. Supreme Court stated clearly in the Southern Pacific Co. v. Lowe, 247 U.S. 330, 335, 38 S.Ct. 540 (1918), that that not everything that comes in is income under the term “gross income”. Here is what the law of the land says:

‘We must reject in this case, as we have rejected in cases arising under the Corporation Excise Tax Act of 1909 (Doyle, Collector v. Mitchell Brothers Co. 247 U.S. 179, 38 Sup.Ct. 467, 62 L.Ed.), the broad contention submitted on behalf of the government that all receipts – everything that comes in – are income within the proper definition of the term ‘gross income’ and that the entire proceeds of a conversion of capital assets, in whatever form and under whatever circumstances accomplished, should be treated as gross income. Certainly the term ‘income’ has no broader meaning in the 1913 act than in that of 1909 (see Stratton’s Independence v. Howbert, 231 U.S. 399, 416, 417 S., 34 Sup.Ct. 136) and for the present purpose we assume there is not difference in its meaning as used in the two acts.” [Emphasis added]

The IRS Form W-4 is a Tax Class 5 Information Return under Subtitle B for Estate & Gift income. It is completely voluntary as you discovered by reviewing earlier 26 CFR§31.3402(p)-1 Voluntary Withholding Agreements. Information Returns are used to ONLY document receipt of “trade or business” earnings and NOT ALL earnings per 26 USC §6041(a) ["All persons engaged in a ‘trade or business’ and making payments in the course of such ‘trade or business’ to another person...”].

You can not earn “wages” as legally defined unless you are engaged in a “trade or business” or you have volunteered to connect your earnings to a “trade or business” by voluntarily signing and submitting the IRS Form W-4 pursuant to 26 USC §3402(p), 26 CFR §31.3401(a-3), 26 USC §6013(g) or (h), and 26 CFR §31.3402(p)-1(a).

It is “wages” and “not all earnings” that appear on information returns like IRS Forms W-2, 1099, 1098, etc as well as the Individual Master File under the classification of “taxable income” derived from “gross income” determination.

Your earnings constitute “property” and the income tax is not a direct tax on “property” but an indirect tax on “privileges” activities:

“As repeatedly pointed out by this court, the Corporation Tax Law of 1909...imposed an excise or privilege tax, and not in any sense, a tax upon property or upon income merely as income. It was enacted in view of the decision of Pollock v. Farmer’s Loan & Trust Co., 157 U.S. 429, 29 L.Ed. 759, 15 Sup.St.Rep. 673, 158 U.S. 601, 39 L.Ed. 1108, 15 Sup.Ct.Rep. 912, which held the income tax provisions of a pervious law [the Income Tax Act of 1894] to be unconstitutional because amounting in effect to a direct tax upon property within the meaning of the Constitution, and because not apportioned in the manner required by that instrument.” [U.S. v. Whiteridge, 231 U.S. 144, 34 S.Sup.Ct. 24 (1913)]

The “wages” appearing on IRS Form W-2 document the receipt of privileged earnings from a “trade or business” or a “public office” as defined by 26 USC §7701(a)(26). That is essence of why most have missed seeing this linkage to a “trade or business” and that American Nationals are not required to “volunteer” to submit a Tax Class 5 Information Return [the IRS Form W-4] to their private sector non-federal employer.

By the lack of knowledge in most corporations and small business owners, they are a party to this fraud unless those entities are engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business”. Fear of the government, it appears, rather than the rule of law are what drives most to participate in this counterfeit identification of those who do not derive their earnings from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the “United States” [government].

You already know what is meant in the IRC about the definition of “United States” being only the District of Columbia unless specified other than that.

Keep this fact in mind when you later read about the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment which only levied the federal income tax upon the “National Government”.

After the start of the Depression in 1929, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt and the Congress of the United States contracted with the international bankers who own the Federal Reserve Bank for loans to finance what was presented to the American public as a program called “The New Deal.”

In order for the Federal Reserve owners to be paid on their loan, a vehicle was constructed whereby American Nationals could be saddled with joint responsibility or co-surety for the Congressional extravagance program.

The Social Security System was devised for this purpose. The Social Security System is a Trust that binds every Social Security Account holder with a co-surety obligation for the now stratospheric debt of the United States [the Federal government].

The United States Supreme Court ruled [in Helvering v. Davis, 301 U.S. 619, 81 L.Ed. 1307, 57 S.Ct. 904] that:

The Galileo Paradigm, version 1.04

“Social Security is not insurance at all but merely welfare.”

Because of this decision, the application for and the use of a Social Security Account Number [SSN] is a silent or unspoken confession [implied from actions or statements] that the holder [user] of a SSN is one so incompetent in managing his or her own affairs that he or she must appoint the federal government as his or her guardian and seek eligibility for welfare payments.

The SSN is purported to be a Constructive Trust but we were never told that when we signed the contract with the federal government as children [or as adults for some]. As children we signed up in schools without ever a reference or explanation of any facts, definitions, explanations, terms or conditions regarding the Socialistic Security Number.

As the national government established the SSN pseudo constructive trust concept administered by the SSA, the United States [federal government] was the beneficiary so that the debts to the Federal Reserve System could be paid without our knowledge contrary to the intent of the Constitution. This was all done via private contracts so that there would never be any violation of the constitution by the federal government.

So what role do you play in order for the federal government not to violate the limitations imposed on the federal government by the Constitution? You are identified as a federal trustee and thus a federal employee in order for you to use the SSN. The “benefits” promised by the government to be paid are found in 20 CFR under the heading EMPLOYEE BENEFITS.

It is clear that the federal government only addresses their “welfare benefits” to those it considers as federal employees.

The SSN belongs to the federal government as you can see in 20 CFR §422.103(d) where there is the statement “SSN cards are the property of the SSA and must be returned upon request.” Only federal personnel are permitted to use federal property. Use of “public property” for a private purpose or benefit is a crime under 18 USC §641.

So you my friend, by application [contract] for the SSN [a purported trust contract] are:

1. Using Federal property every time you present the SSN issued for any purpose including any private sector employment,

2. Considered to be a federal employee or “officer” who is subcontracting his/her labor in behalf of the federal government,

3. Identified in IRS records and databases as a “U.S. person” (“U.S. citizen” or “U.S. resident”) as you either selected that on the application or it was inferred by 26 CFR §301.6109-1 Identifying Numbers [administrative regulation] and 20 CFR §422.104.

This unfortunate status is also known by such names as “a child of the state” or “a ward of the court”. A ward of the court is not exactly an admired description of any American as they are legally considered by the court to be either an “infant or a person of unsound mind.” Insults don’t get much lower in the minds of many people.

Your government didn’t stop there. The United States Supreme court ruled [in Fleming v. Nestor, 363 U.S. 603, 4 L.Ed. 2d 1435, 80 S.Ct. 1367 (1960) that those who have paid into the Social Security System over their lifetime have no vested interest in the Social Security benefits. No vested interest means that payment of Social Security benefits from the Social Security System are discretionary [for the federal government’s judgment] and non-obligatory.
As a result, when the Social Security Taxpayer retires, the Social Security Administration [by law and contract] has no obligation for compensating the retiree and former taxpayer whatsoever. Hopefully, by now you see why the use of terms in everyday understanding like the word “insurance” does not translate uniformly to the same definition when used by those creating laws in the federal zone.

The Social Security System is really a type of “public right” which is to say the SSN is in fact a “statutory franchise”. Participating in any government “franchise” always creates a contractual agency through the operation of a “public trust”. The one who operates in a representative capacity for the benefit of the government of that SSN public trust is called a “trustee” over “public property”. Any property identified by the SSN is “public property” managed by the “trustee” and the user of the SSN is declaring that the property is public property [property belonging to the United States] by voluntarily donating one’s prove property to a “public use” for purposes of procuring a government “privilege”. You will note, for instance, that the SSA Form SS-5 identifies itself as an application for a Social Security Card, not a number. The card is the property and the number is the license to hold such property.

The process of donating private property to public use implicitly grants the government the authority to control that use.

“Men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights – life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness’ and to ‘secure’ [not grant or create] these rights, governments are instituted. That property [or income] which a man has honestly acquired he retains full [and Exclusive] control of, subject to these limitations: First that he shall not use it to his neighbor’s injury, and that does not mean that he must use it for his neighbor’s benefit [that is why Social Security is Voluntary!] second, that if he devotes it to a public use, he gives to the public a right to control that use; and third, that whenever the public needs require, the public may take it upon payment of compensation.”

Participating in any government franchise makes one a “resident alien” for the purposes of federal jurisdiction and causes an implied surrender of sovereign immunity pursuant to 28 USC §1605(a)(2). You cannot participate in any “public right” or “public franchise” without becoming a “public officer” of the government granting the privilege. The Social Security Number is the prima facie license number which is used to track and control all those who voluntarily engage in public franchises.

Use of a SSN constitutes prima facie consent to engage in the franchise. Use of this number constitutes prima facie evidence of implied consent because it is a crime to compel use or disclosure of Social Security Number per 42 USC §408. You can withdraw from the franchise lawfully at any time if you don’t want to participate. Just use the SSA Form 521.

If the government uses the SSN trustee license number to communicate with you and you don’t object or correct them, then you once again consent to their jurisdiction to administer the program. The SSN is property of the government and NOT the person using it per 20 CFR §422.103(d). Therefore, if someone asks you for YOUR Social Security Number and you are not acting as a “public officer” but rather a private individual at that time, then you can truthfully state you do not have such a number.

For those who use the Social Security Number in transactions like real estate loans, automobile purchases, etc. then the private property becomes voluntarily donated to a “public use” to procure the benefits [interest deductions from tax liabilities on tax returns] of the “public right” or “franchise”. Now you understand how many Americans have lost their homes, automobiles, and other such items to IRS assessments, levies, and liens.

In the U.S. v. Union Pacific Railroad Company, 98 U.S. 569 (1878) decision, you will find that a “corporate railroad” is in fact a government franchise which makes the corporation into a “cestuis que trust” [pronounced like “set-ah-key”). The officers of the trust are “public officers” and “trustees” of the National Government through the operation of private law, which is the corporate charter. Here is a section that addresses this fact of franchise:

“The proposition is that the United States, as the grantor of the franchises of the company, the author of the its charter, and the donor of lands, rights, and privileges of immense value, and as parens patriae, is a trustee, invested with power to enforce the proper use of the property and franchises granted for the benefit of the public.

But in answer to this it must be said that, after all, it is but a railroad company, with the ordinary powers of such corporations. Under its contract with the government, the latter has taken good care of itself; and in rights may be judicially enforced without the aid of this trust relation. They may be aided by the general legislative powers of Congress, and by those reserved in the charter, which we have specifically quoted.

If the United States is a trustee, there must be cestuis que trust. There cannot be the one without the other, and the trustee cannot be a trustee for himself alone. A trust does not exist when the legal right and the use are in the same party, and there are no ulterior trusts.

We are not prepared to say that there are no trusts which the United States may not enforce in a court of equity against this company.”

Did you notice that the government, in relation to the franchisee, is referred to by the Supreme Court as a “parens patriae”? This describes the government’s role as “protector” over persons with a “legal disability”. That disability pertains to the obligations associated with the functions of a “public office” in the National Government.

By partaking of a “public right” or “privilege” one is abdicating their responsibility over their own life. The one who does so announces to the government that they can not govern or support their existence and therefore have transferred their own person, property, and labor to one who exercises a legal guardianship which is to say they are wards of the Socialist State.

Black’s Law dictionary defines “parens patriae” as follows:

“Father of his country; parent of the country. In England, the king. In the United States, the State as a sovereign – referring to the sovereign power of guardianship over person under disability...such as minors, insane, and incompetent persons.”

So when you complete the application [the purported constructive trust private law contract which permits the Federal government the opportunity to bypass the constitution], you in effect have told the Federal government that you are a “U.S. citizen”. Is it any wonder why the IRS considers anyone with a SSN to be anything but a “U.S. citizen” or “resident alien” individual?

This apparent deception has been the root cause of financial and Constitutional disenfranchisement of all American Nationals who use a Social Security Number.

Want more proof? Ask anyone who has presented before a United States District Court or United States Tax Court who made the claim to their constitutionally protected God-given Rights. Listen closely as they explain what the Judges told them when they raised this issue before the bench. The Court considers the Federal government to be King and the “U.S. citizen” to be the subject of the King. Constitutional discussions are not permitted.

The 13th Amendment to the Constitution prevents slavery and indentured servitude in our nation but has been skillfully circumvented by the private law contracting ability the government enjoys. The government has been extremely skilled at masking what has transpired and today most American nationals still “believe” that they enjoy the protections of the constitution but there are so few left that it has become a moot point.

Where are the people that are protected? Most readers know that Americans are now identified as “U. S. citizens” who are subject to the crown -- the exclusive sovereign jurisdiction of the United States and they are subjugated into a burdensome tax that was never permitted in Pollock v. Farmers’ Loan & Trust Company, 158 U.S. 601 (1895).

President William H. Taft stated it clearly in the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment that the Federal government was denied and deprived of the power to levy an income tax upon Americans in the states of the Union. His letter to Congress is published in the Congressional Record of the United States Senate dated June 16, 1909 on pp. 3344 to 3345 and he directed Congress to levy the Federal income tax only upon the National government.

Furthermore, Justice J. Jackson, dissenting, gave in part the following statement in this landmark case [Pollock v. Farmers’ Loan & Trust Company, 158 U.S. 601 (1895)]:

“First. That a tax upon real and personal property is a direct tax within the meaning of the Constitution, and, as such, in order to be valid, must be apportioned among the several States according to their respective populations.

Second. That the incomes derived or realized from such property are an inseparable incident thereof, and so far partake of the nature of the property out of which they arise as to stand upon the same footing as the property itself. From these premises, the conclusion is reached that a tax on incomes arising from both real and personal property is a "direct tax," and subject to the same rule of apportionment as a tax laid directly on the property itself; and, not being so imposed by the act of 1894, according to the rule of numbers, is unconstitutional and void.

Third. That the invalidity of the tax on incomes from real and personal property being established, the remaining portions of the income tax law are also void notwithstanding the fact that such remaining portions clearly come within the [158 U.S. 697] class of taxes designated as duties or excises, in respect to which the rule of apportionment has no application, but which are controlled and regulated by the rule of uniformity.”

We must understand now that the SSN Purported Constructive Trust Contract is voidable ab initio [from the date it was signed] if anyone of the following elements are incorrect or not established at the time of signing that indentured servant contract.

1) Were you of legal age?
   If you, by the state you lived in at the time of signing the SSN purported constructive trust contract, were considered to be a minor, then the SSN contract is voidable ab initio.

2) If you were not a “U.S. citizen” or resident alien, then the SSN contract is voidable ab initio per federal regulation 20 CFR §422.104(a).

3) If the SSN contract failed to provide (as contracts that are valid must) full disclosure of terms, conditions, & definitions so that the applicant or signer could know what they are agreeing to.

4) If there was no willful and knowing intent by the applicant or signer based on the above, then there could be little support by the government to ever claim you signed the SSN purported constructive trust contract with willful and knowing intent to subjugate yourself into a financial indentured servant.

You might want to send to the SSA the Form SSA-1.996 (01-2001) along with $27 to obtain a photocopy of your original SSN application. The mailing address is:
Social Security Administration

Remember; request a “photocopy” of your original application not an Extract.

Think about this for just a few moments:

If American Nationals have been converted by constructive trust contract with the Federal government into being identified as “U.S. citizens”, then there are literally very few remaining American Nationals who enjoy the protections of the Constitution.

If there are no remaining [or very few] American Nationals then the Constitution is for all practical purposes dead as there are no parties still protected by it. That is why the Leo Strauss Neo-conservatism governance philosophy is espoused and why Harvard University Professor Dershowitz advocates the uselessness of the constitution.

Summary of your true status is fairly straightforward, so let’s review:

1) Those born in Washington, DC or any of the U.S. Territories or Possessions of the “United States”, are identified as “U.S. citizens” as defined at 8 USC §1401.

2) Those who are resident aliens or those from foreign nations and who have a domicile in the “United States” are identified as “Taxpayers” and have liability for the Federal income tax per 26 CFR §1.871-1.

3) Those who work for the Federal government as a federal employee, federal officer, or elected official of the “United States” are clearly identified as a “Taxpayer” with an imposed duty and obligation to file and pay the income tax.

4) If you are a nonresident alien, an American National, who makes a living in the private sector outside the District of Columbia, then according to 26 CFR §1.871-1 you have no liability for the Subtitle ‘A’ Federal income tax. This is also confirmed by the Federal Retirement Thrift Savings Plan (T.S.P.).

5) If you use a SSN then you by 26 CFR §301.6109-1 Identifying Numbers, the IRS [generally] identifies you as a “U.S. citizen” or “resident alien”. Both of those as you know by now are “Taxpayers” and have a liability for the Subtitle ‘A’ Federal income tax.

6) Those who are “U.S. persons”, including “U.S. citizens”, or “U.S. residents”, are identified as such by the use of a Social Security Number pursuant to 26 CFR §301.6109-1. 20 CFR §422.104 says these are the only persons eligible to participate in the Social Security constructive trust contract agreement. The Social Security franchise agreement also says that these same persons are subject to the income tax as well and for most people, this is the main method for volunteering to participate in the tax. Their earnings are considered by the Federal government to be Foreign Earned income [Form 2555] if earned outside the “United States” per 26 USC §7408(d).

7) Title 8 Section 1401 defines the term “U. S. citizen”, which is used exclusively by the “Socialistic” Security Administration, Immigration & Naturalization, and the Internal Revenue Service, as “one who was born within the ‘United States’ and subject to the exclusive jurisdiction thereof.”

8) Any “assumption” you make that ends up on a government form, like the Form SS-5 and voter registration, places on public record by the government your citizenship status as a “U.S. citizen”. Such incorrect labeling must be rebutted in order to correct the misapplication created by various public records that ask for your citizenship status. Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 803(8), all such public records are automatically admissible as evidence in court to prove that you are subject to the foreign laws and foreign jurisdiction of the U.S. Congress.

9) Those forms fail to define the term “U.S. citizen” as the term is defined by the government. The “assumption” remains “valid” until you rebut and reclaim your correct status as an American National.

10) If you were born in one of the 50 states of the Union [the Republic] you are an American National [a nonresident alien to all federal jurisdiction] and thus not “subject to” the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal government.

11) If you are an American National [a nonresident alien to all federal jurisdiction] and you do not work for the Federal government in any capacity and do not participate in the “trade or business” franchise or receive government payments, you are not under any obligation to file or pay any Subtitle ‘A’ Federal income tax per the Federal Retirement Thrift Savings Plan (T.S.P.) and 26 CFR §1.871-1. You are legally classified as a “Non-Taxpayer” by being “neither the subject nor the object of Federal revenue laws.”

12) The term “United States” geographically defined, in the Internal Revenue Code regarding Subtitle ‘A’ income taxes, relates only to the Federal government and the exclusive [sovereign] geographical jurisdiction thereof.

13) The regulation supporting the Applicability of Revenue Laws stated at 26 USC §7851(a)(1)(A) is found at 27 CFR Part 24 for Wine production only. This is found easily on Cornell University Web site under parallel authorities for 26 USC §7851.

14) The Legislative powers of Congress are exclusive within the geographical areas of its jurisdiction. Congress has limited jurisdiction regarding its Legislative powers toward the 50 states of the Union [The Republic] arising from limitations placed against it by the Constitution. This was intentional by the founding fathers to prevent the encroachment by the Federal government bureaucrats into areas that were reserved for the people only.

15) The term “United States of America” geographically defined refers to the 50 states of the Union in which the Federal government has very limited jurisdiction and the Federal income tax is not applicable within the 50 states but those who live there can volunteer to pay that tax by subjecting themselves by filing a Form 1040 and using a SSN.

16) “States” in regard to the Federal Zone are considered to be: Guam, Puerto Rico, U.S. Virgin Islands, American Samoa, etc. and any land ceded over to the Federal government formerly within the area of the 50 states of the Union.

17) “States” in regard to the Republic are the states of the Union such as: Florida, Texas, California, Wyoming, etc. Except for Louisiana, all states have counties within their sovereign borders. The two letter designation for Federal States such as “FL, TX, CA, WY…” are not states of the Union but creations of Congress under the Buck Act and they do not have “counties ” but instead have zip codes. Federal “States” as used in Acts of Congress and Union states are two mutually exclusive groups of political entities that are foreign and sovereign in respect to each other. This is no accident, but a product of the separation of powers doctrine that is the heart of the United States Constitution.

18) If you have signed the purported constructive trust contract [application for an SSN] then you have identified yourself as a “U.S. citizen” and by implication a “Federal Employee” [a Federal Trustee of the constructive trust contract] and you are identified by the all capital letters name vis-à-vis the upper and lower case real name you use. All funds paid in the future related to the SSN retirement are structured under 20 CFR Employee Benefits as Federal “wages” which carries a tax liability for the Federal income tax on those payments in retirement from your Federal “employer”.

19) Taxpayers who are liable for the Special Laws [those not positive laws and apply only to a limited group] found in the IRC are stated by the Federal government to be:

a. Federal Workers – Federal Officers, Federal Employees, & Elected Officials of the United States

b. U.S. citizens

c. Resident Aliens

d. Those who operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the Federal government meaning those who use the SSN generated by the Federal government via the constructive trust contract.

20) The Federal government knows full well that contracts are only valid if:

a. The party signing the contract is of legal age. They can not be a child as they are not of legal age.

b. There must be full disclosure of the definitions, terms, and conditions related to the constructive trust contract in order for anyone signing to know exactly what they are agreeing to be bound by.

c. There must be willful and knowing intent on the part of the signer of a contract. There can be no willful and knowing intent without full disclosure of the definitions, terms, and conditions being clearly and completely disclosed.

d. If any of the above are in error or not present at the signing of the constructive trust contract then such a contract has no validity and is voidable ab initio.

21) A child cannot lawfully enter into a contract of any type as minors are restricted from doing so due to their immaturity. As many Americans were children [not of legal age] when the purported constructive trust contract was signed, then that “constructive trust contract”, the SSA Form SS-5, cannot be considered valid but only voidable ab initio [voided from the beginning date on the contract].

22) The SSN is the cause of much confusion and financial distress placed upon Americans by the Federal government. The SSA was created by the Federal government and operates as the “twin sister” of the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.). It was created with private contract law as the basis of its implementation. Private law contracts permit the Federal actions to be legal and not an infringement of the restrictions found in the constitution.

23) The constitution has precluded the Federal government from levying the Federal income tax directly by Congressional Legislative acts supported by the U.S. Supreme Court in cases like Pollock v. Farmers’ Loan & Trust, 157 U.S. 429 (1895). This is also supported by the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment written by former President of the United States [and later a Supreme Court Justice] William H. Taft, on June 16, 1909 and published in the Congressional Record of the United States Senate on pages 3344-3345.
24) The Social Security Number is a Trust and the user of that number is a Federal Trustee called a “public officer”. Public officers are federal “employees” and the federal income tax was levied upon those who derive income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” [the performance of the functions of a public office] in the United States [the District of Columbia]. All federal workers have imposed upon them the federal income tax.

25) All property that has the SSN attached to it is considered to be “public property” which is to say property of the federal government. To be more precise, it constitutes “private property donated to a public use to procure the benefits of federal franchises”. This “public use” property can lawfully be attached by assessment, lien, or levy…just by the mere statute.

“Sub Silentio”. Do you see the significance of it in what you just read? If you don’t challenge the SSN, then you consent to all the ramifications “imposed without notice”.

“The modern banking system manufactures money out of nothing. The process is perhaps the most astounding piece of sleight of hand that was ever invented.

Banking was conceived in inequity and born in sin. Bankers own the earth.

Take it away from them but leave them the power to create money, and with a flick of the pen, they will create enough money to buy it back again. Take this great power away from them and all great fortunes, like mine, will disappear, for then this would be a better and happier world to live in.

But if you want to continue to be the slaves of bankers and pay the cost of your own slavery, then let bankers continue to create money and control credit.”

[Sir Josiah Stamp, Director Bank of England, Second richest man in Britain in the 1920s]
Chapter 3: Federal Franchises & Implicit Consent

Quote to Contemplate:

“I believe there are more instances of the abridgement of the freedom of the people by gradual and silent encroachments of those in power than by violent and sudden usurpations.”

[James Madison, Fourth President of the United States]

It is said that the heart of a nation dies a slow death as trust is diminished. Trust in government and the hope of America is fading right before our eyes. The institutions in this nation were once viewed as just and right.

Indentured servitude [slavery] was once an obvious and dominant issue of concern in the history of this nation. Today a far more offensive form of slavery exists. It cares not about skin color or ethnicity of its subjects. In fact it really cares nothing at all about it subjects but to the extent it can dominate and control them. Today’s slavery is subtle but is felt by most without the understanding as to the origin of the suffering and abuse it has caused all Americans.

This form of slavery established itself in the form of a corporation and the franchise agreements that the federal corporation grants via its “privileges”. The offering of a franchise agreement to Americans in a moment of national depression was just the moment to offer the greatest Franchise Scheme of all times. It was the Social Security Act of 1935 which appeared as originating from a benevolent government. Officially, this abuse of our trust started in 1913, with the creation of the Federal Reserve System and the simultaneous presumption of a federal income tax liability for all Americans via the 16th Amendment.

Most people have heard the phrase “Death & Taxes” as the answer to the two things no one can avoid in life. Reasonable taxes are not the issue and they do help support the general purpose of the government which is to provide for national defense. The current levels exceed anything that is considered reasonable and necessary.

Franchising is the real business of national government and is its true profit center

Federal income taxation operating as a franchise is a deception that was birthed by evil, corrupt, and self serving men who were elected to positions of trust which they grossly violated. The heart of the special laws that make up the Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle ‘A’. It is simply an excise tax upon those who purportedly derive income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business”. The definition of “trade or business” used by the national government in the IRC is defined to mean “the performance of the functions of a public office” which is to say one who works for the national government.

A Franchise is a special privilege conferred by government on individual or corporation, and which does not belong to the citizens of country generally of common right. In England, a franchise is defined to be a royal privilege in the hands of a subject. Today we understand a franchise to be “some special privilege conferred by government on an individual, natural or artificial, which is not enjoyed by its citizens in general.” [State v. Fernandez, 106 Fla. 779, 143 So. 638, 86 A.L.R. 240]

In America, a franchise is essentially a privilege which can not be legally exercised without a grant by the legislature. A corporation is a franchise granted existence and privilege by the legislature. The most widely known franchise privilege today is the right of suffrage. “In a popular sense, the political rights of subjects and citizens are franchises, such as the right of suffrage.” [Pierce v. Emery, 32 N.H. 484; State v. Black Diamond co., 97 Ohio St. 24, 119 N.E. 195, 199, L.R.A. 1918E, 352] So the act of voting is a “privilege” of the franchise.
Now do you understand the real reason why the government wants Americans to vote? Look at the voter’s registration form and you will find that you are to check off your citizenship status and the intended choice for you to select is “U.S. citizen.”

Thus when anyone “votes” they are exercising a franchise right which is according to Webster’s Dictionary “a special privilege granted to an individual or group.” So if you vote you are exercising the power of the federal corporation franchise granted by a constitutional or statutory right. For the “enjoyment” of this “privilege” you get the joy of being taxed for exercising the exclusive privilege granted by the national government.

“Excises are taxes laid upon the manufacture, sale or consumption of commodities within the country, upon licenses to pursue certain occupations and upon corporate privileges....the requirement to pay such taxes involves the exercise of privileges, and the element of absolute and unavoidable demand is lacking...

...it is therefore well settled by the decision of this court that when the sovereign authority has exercised the right to tax a legitimate subject of taxation as a exercise of a franchise or privilege, it is no objection that the measure of taxation is found in the income produced in part from property which of itself considered is nontaxable...

Conceding the power of Congress to tax the business activities of private corporations...the tax must be measured by some standard...”
[Flint v. Stone Tracy Co., 220 U.S. 107 (1911)]

It has been a colossal scheme by those elected to “serve” in the national government to dupe those who are truly “Non Taxpayers” to voluntarily subject their lives and their finances to the benefit of the elected.

The Non-Taxpayer base was recognized by those “elected to serve” to be the location of where the wealth of the nation truly lies.

“Revenue Laws relate to taxpayers [officers, employees, instrumentalities, and elected officials of the Federal Government] and not to non-taxpayers [American Citizens/American Nationals not subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Government and who did not volunteer to participate in the federal “trade or business” franchise]. The latter are without their scope. No procedures are prescribed for non-taxpayers and no attempt is made to annul any of their Rights or Remedies in due course of law.”
[Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972)]

Those “elected to serve” in the National Government could not annul any of our Rights but in due course they created the “Statutory Scheme” we know of today as the Social Security Act of 1935 in order to subjugate an entire nation into financial slavery. Those in power have an insatiable thirst for more power and control.

Try asking any politician if there is or should be a maximum or cap on the amount of an individual’s earnings beyond which taxation would be unjust. The most likely answer from government will be the same as always—silence! After all, they could imagine yet another emergency or situation that might erase the maximum if they were so restricted.

Under the Statutory Franchise Scheme, there is no maximum taxation percentage or ceiling beyond which taxation would be considered abusive. If you want the “benefits” of the franchise you must simply pay what is requested or demanded. Perhaps it is now time to define some of the elements of a franchise so that you will understand the multitude of arms it possesses as well as how the IRS and the various federal administrative [non Article III] courts use the franchise against Americans.
The lowest common denominator is the Social Security Number. You should seriously consider rescinding the SSN as voidable ab initio as soon as possible. The SSN represents a constructive trust [supposedly a contract that does not meet the standards for a valid contract nor by Clark v. United States, 95 U.S. 539] and identifies you as a federal trustee [federal worker] who is engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the United States [the District of Columbia].

The Social Security Number via 20 CFR declares that all federal “employees” using the SSN incur the obligation to pay a federal income tax on the privilege granted by the federal corporation for those who elect to use federal property under the franchise scheme. See the exhibit section on Legislative History of the Social Security Act of 1935, Title VIII Section 801. You probably never knew about this document and it was never presented as part of the full disclosure required to make a contract valid.

By consenting to the franchise agreement expressed by sending in a completed SSN application [Form SS-5] you have just allowed the following presumptions to be made by those in the National Government:

1. You have consented to engage in a “trade or business” [26 USC §7701(a)(26)] under the federal statutory scheme of the SSA.

2. You have consented to be obligated for the Social Security Tax, Medicaid/Medicare tax, as well as the Federal Income tax in exchange for the privilege of hoping to receive payments of some level with some pecuniary value at retirement. All of the amounts and age of receiving payments is subject to change without notice or even may be eliminated by the Congress according to the United States Supreme Court.

a. Income Tax On Employees: TITLE VIII Section 801 “In addition to other taxes, there shall be levied, collected, and paid upon the income of every individual a tax equal to the following percentages of the wages…”

b. “…railroad benefits, like social security benefits, are not contractual and may be altered or even eliminated at any time.” [United States Railroad Retirement Board v. Fritz, 449 U.S. 166 (1980)]

c. “We must conclude that a person covered by the Act [Social Security Act] has not such a right in benefit payments…This is not to say, however, that Congress may exercise its power to modify the statutory scheme free of all constitutional restraint.” [Fleming v. Nestor, 363 U.S. 603 (1960)]

3. You have consented by the franchise agreement to have your domicile identified in the District of Columbia per 4 USC §72 and 26 USC §7408(d).

4. You have consented by the franchise agreement to be identified as a statutory “U.S. citizen” pursuant to 8 USC §1401(a) if you are a domestic national or a statutory “permanent resident” pursuant to 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(A) if you are a foreign national.

5. You have consented by the franchise agreement to become a registered “voter” rather than an “elector”.

6. You have consented by the franchise agreement to serve as a jurist in any trial you are summoned to participate in. Under 18 USC §201(a)(1) it shows that all persons serving as federal jurists are “public officials”. As an American National, you were not qualified to serve as a jurist in a federal court, but as a “U.S. citizen” and federal “employee”, you are because your new effective domicile is on federal territory.

7. You have consented by the franchise agreement when you open a bank account with any bank offering FDIC insurance of the bank to subject your deposits to any claim made by the IRS or the national government with no recourse. 31 CFR §202.2 says all FDIC insured banks are “agents” of the national government and therefore are “public officers”.

For those of you who attend a church or have joined a church, you will find that most all churches are established under 26 USC §501(c)(3). The “benefit” of donating money in the offering plate is not obedience as a giver, or as one who tithes, or a closer walk with God but rather under the franchise agreement it is to secure yet another “benefit” which is a “tax deduction” for your generous contribution to yet another division of the federal franchise.

Churches that register under this IRC statute become government “trustees” and “public officers” that are part of the national government. Consider this fact in light of what is referred to in the media today as “separation of church and state” and you just might want to discuss this with your pastor, priest, or rabbi. A good starting point for that discussion is the following:

What Pastors and Clergy Need to Know About Government and Taxation, Form #12.006
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

Hosea 4:6 rings out again, “My people are destroyed for a lack of knowledge.”

Virtually every variant of a government issued “benefit”, “license”, or “privilege” franchisees use identifies them as a “trustee, transferee, fiduciary, public officer, public official, alien, or resident” of the national government with a domicile on federal territory. The benefits derived by the application/license for the benefit under the federal statutory franchise scheme results in the creation of a “Res”.

The “Res” is everything that may form an object of rights and includes an object, subject-matter or status. The term is particularly applied to an object, subject-matter, or status, considered as the defendant [the nom de guerre or ALL CAPS NAME] in an action, or as an object against which, directly, proceedings are taken. The “Res” is the subject matter of a trust, will or legislation.

“Res” comprises actions or consequences of choices and contracts/agreements that you make for the purpose of procuring “benefits” of all kinds. Remember that all law relates either to persons, to things, or to actions.

Once the creation of the “Res” [via the application or license] is completed, the “Res” is located within the national government’s legislative jurisdiction [on federal territory such as the District of Columbia].

This is where 4 USC §72 and 26 USC §7408(d) take effect. Thus, you are a RES-IDENT or resident. This is commonly referred to by many as the “straw man”.

Signing up for government entitlements is equivalent to giving them a blank check because you do not determine the cost of their “service”, but rather the government does. You then become the servant and the national government becomes your “Master” as in the days of slavery.

The national government has successfully used Leo Strauss’ Neo Conservative governance philosophy to establish itself as the Master. Then it uses propaganda to create fear and uncertainty in the minds of those born as sovereigns in the constitutional republic. For those who have the time, research the Great Depression and you will find that the Federal Reserve was instrumental in creating the economic calamity. The Federal Reserve contracted the money supply, and then the people became distressed and worried about their economic future. They began to worry about their old age and the economics of retirement when so many were out of work.

Take the time to review the following outline as it will hopefully improve understanding of the elements addressed so far.

Participation in any franchise of the national government virtually leaves you without standing or remedy in any federal court!

“These general rules are well settled; (1) The United States, when it creates rights in individuals against itself [a “public right” should be read as “franchise” and the word of art helps the court disguise the nature of the transaction], is under no obligation to provide a remedy through the courts.”

[United States ex rel. Dunlap v. Black, 128 U.S. 40, 9 Sup.Ct. 12, 32 L.Ed. 354]

Review the ten planks of Karl Marx’s Communist Manifesto and see the results of the Social Security Act of 1935 from that vista. The goal was to have the people orchestrated to call out to the government to be the savior of the people.

Government is known throughout history to be a risky evil at best and a usurper of all that is good with dictatorial control at worst. In the process of those 1930 era Americans procuring the “privilege” to be free of anxiety about old age, they surrendered their sovereignty over their person and gave much of their labor to the government. Thus the national government secured its “moral” authority to tax and diversifies the variety of their taxes on the American wages to a massive level today.

Americans soon became conditioned to their new servitude. The precepts of government with restrictions by the constitution were circumvented and the majority of the populace never fully understood. The educational institutions knew all about this and remained silent. Today, the Ivy League schools in America are the breeding grounds for the next generation of government socialist Neo Conservative cadre stepping into positions of the elite aristocracy that fully controls and runs this nation today.

Chapter 3: Federal Franchises & Implicit Consent

As you saw with the United States Supreme Court cases describing the Social Security Act as a “Statutory Scheme” with the holder of any SSN really having “not such a right in benefit payments” there is no question that the SSN is not a true contract. It is one that can be rescinded and with SSA Form 521.

How can there be any contract when there is no consideration granted by the national government? Thus, the SSN franchise agreement is voidable from the date it was signed by the applicant and there is nothing binding the applicant. It appears from USSC decisions that most if not all the federal franchises prohibit the franchisee any right or claim for benefits payment.

Federal franchise agreements are nothing more than private law because they only affect those who consent to participate in the franchise. The national government bestows upon itself the ability to regulate those who participate by:

1. Maintaining jurisdiction over the franchise,
2. The signer of the franchise agreement cannot enjoy any of the “benefits” without a surrendering to the government in disputes any governance of the issues in question,
3. The signer must settle any disputes in a federal court under the control of the government so that the outcome is always in favor of the government and at the disadvantage of the franchisee, and
4. The signer who may at the signing actually be a nonresident alien for the purpose of the franchise agreement becomes a “resident” for purposes of federal jurisdiction so that jurisdiction can not come into dispute.

When the franchise agreement is functioning as a trust, that trust has its “residence” or “domicile” identified within the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government.

“Thus, the Court has frequently held that domicile or residence, more substantial than mere presence in transit or sojourn, is an adequate basis for taxation, including income, property, and death taxes. Since the fourteenth Amendment makes one a citizen of the state wherein he resides, the fact of residence creates universally reciprocal duties [such as contractual duties] of protection by the state and of allegiance and support by the citizen. The latter obviously includes a duty to pay taxes, and their nature and measure is largely a political matter. Of course, the situs of property may tax it regardless of the citizenship, domicile, or residence of the owner, the most obvious illustration being a tax on realty laid by the state in which the realty is located.”

[Miller Brothers Co. v. Maryland, 347 U.S. 340 (1954)]

A franchisee who selects or consents to have a “domicile” or “residence” within the federal jurisdiction [the District of Columbia] has in effect sought the primary government service which is protection. As the USSC stated, there is an exchange for the promise of protection by the government and conversely the franchisee is legally obligated to give their “allegiance and support” which makes the national government the Master.

In the Mid Ages, those who swore allegiance to the Crown were acknowledging that they were subservient to the sovereign. This is not a good condition today as most of the fears that cause the impulse for “protection” are nothing more than fabrications by the national government.

“Yet, it is to be remembered, and that whether in its real origin, or in its artificial state, allegiance, as well as fealty, rests upon lands, and it is due to persons. Not so, with respect to Citizenship, which has arisen from the dissolution of the feudal system and is a substitute for allegiance, corresponding with the new order of things. Allegiance and citizenship differ, indeed, in almost every characteristic. Citizenship is the effect of compact; allegiance is the offspring of power and necessity. Citizenship is a political tie; allegiance is a territorial tenure. Citizenship is the charter of equality; allegiance is a badge of inferiority. Citizenship is constitutional: allegiance is personal. Citizenship is freedom; allegiance is servitude.
Citizenship is communicable; allegiance is repulsive. Citizenship may be relinquished; allegiance is perpetual. With such essential differences, the doctrine of allegiance is inapplicable to a system of citizenship; which it can neither serve to control, nor to elucidate. And yet, even among the nations, in which the law of allegiance is the most firmly established, the law most pertinaciously enforced, there are striking deviations that demonstrate the invincible power of truth, and the homage, which, under every modification of government, must be paid to the inherent rights of man.....The doctrine is, that allegiance cannot be due to two sovereigns; and taking an oath of allegiance to a new, is the strongest evidence of withdrawing allegiance from a previous, sovereign...."
[Talbot v. Janson, 3 U.S. 133 (1795). Quote from the syllabus, not the opinion.]

Take the time to look up the word “Domicile” and you will see that what makes your stay “permanent” in the eyes of the government is your consent to the jurisdiction of the government. Many perpetual travelers who have rescinded the SSN franchise agreement know that one can have many “residences” but they can have only one legal “domicile” because any allegiance must not be divided.

Sovereignty is very interesting but few know much about it today. When you consider the USSC decision in Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886) you find the following narrative:

“Sovereignty itself is, of course, not subject to law, for it is the author and source of law; but in our system, while sovereign powers are delegated to the agencies of government, sovereignty itself remains with the people, by whom and for whom all government exists and acts and the law is the definition and limitation of power.”

The concept behind the Franchise idea is now clear. Every law is territorial insofar as it can act only upon the geographical area under the exclusive control of any government. For the national government that means the District of Columbia and U.S. Territories & Possessions.

The only way for the national government to extend its reach beyond the constitutional boundaries was by private law. This is a tool that claims an informed and mutual consent of the franchisees who sign up for the “benefits” of the federal statutory socialism scheme.

An excellent comparative that most people are familiar with is opening a bank account. In order to open a bank account you are requested to sign a banking agreement. After you contract with the bank by signing the bank account agreement, you then become a “resident” of the bank.

Review the following to see what has transpired once you become a bank “resident”.

1) You now have an account number which is a type of identity in the bank’s computer system and their records have your account listed there. They will always ask for your account number when dealing with you on transactions.

2) The bank might issue you an ATM card with a PIN so that you can access your account at your leisure.

3) The account agreement gives you the “privilege” to demand “services” from the bank. In reality, you hired the bank to perform a “service” that you wanted or felt that you needed.

The Galileo Paradigm, version 1.04
Copyright Adele Weiss http://famguardian.org/
4) The account agreement gives the bank the legal right to demand certain behaviors out of you. This could amount to the bank’s demand that you pay all account fees and not overdraw your account or to maintain a minimum balance to avoid those fees.

5) The account agreement created legal obligations between you and the bank. The contract established the legal relations between you and the bank. If either party violates the terms of the contract, then the other party has legal recourse to sue for violation of the contractual terms of agreement. If litigation results, it must be within the boundaries of the contract and in the forum [court] that the agreement specifies.

Think about what you just read and you will see that the government operates with an identical process created by the legislation behind the Social Security Act of 1935. The only difference between the bank and the government is that while the bank delivers financial services, the national government delivers “social” and “protective” services.

You can’t participate in the “privileges” associated with the Social Security Account without also being a “resident” of the “United States”. That is part of the terms of the agreement even if you did not recognize it. Contracts can be explicit [written] or implicit [implied by your consent to be bound by evidence of your behavior]. It is the implicit ones that bite you the hardest, right?

CALIFORNIA CIVIL CODE
DIVISION 3. OBLIGATIONS
PART 2. CONTRACTS
CHAPTER 3. CONSENT
Section 1589

1589. A voluntary acceptance of the benefit of a transaction is equivalent to a consent to all the obligations arising from it, so far as the facts are known, or ought to be known, to the person accepting.

Unwritten consent is the hardest to grasp as it is connected directly with Implied Consent. Take a look at the definition for implied consent:

“That manifested by signs, actions, or facts, or by inaction or silence, which raise a presumption that the consent has been given. For example, when a corporation does business in a state it impliedly consents to be subject to the jurisdiction of that state’s courts in the event of tortious conduct, even though it is not incorporated in that state.

Most every state has a statute implying the consent of one who drives upon its highways to submit to some type of scientific test or tests measuring the alcoholic content of the driver’s blood. In addition to implying consent, these statutes usually provide that if the result of the test shows that the alcohol content exceeds a specified percentage, then a rebuttable presumption of intoxication arises.”

A breach of a contract occurs, whether it is in the course of personal business or that of a government, one gives their silent consent to the violation in the absence of any rebuttable. The net effect is the surrender of any rights which might have been usurped or violated.

“Supposing this not to be a tax inspection purposes, has Congress consented to its being laid? It is certain that Congress has not expressly consented. But is express consent necessary? There is nothing in the Constitution which says so. There is nothing in the practice of men, or in the Municipal Law of men, or in the practice of nations, or the Law of nations that says so. Silence gives consent, is the rule of business life. A tender of bank bills is as good as one of coin, unless the bills are objected to. To stand by, in silence, and see another sell your property, binds you. These are mere instances of the use of the maxim in the Municipal Law. In the Law of Nations, it is equally potent. Silent acquiescence in the breach of a treaty binds a Nation. (Vattel, ch.16, sec. 199, book 1. See book 2, sec. 142, et seq. as to usucaption and prescription, and sec. 208 as to ratification.)

Express consent, then, not being necessary, is there any thing from which consent may be implied? There is length of time. The Ordinance was passed the 24th of January, 1842, and has been in operation ever since. If Congress had been opposed to the Ordinance, it had but to speak, to be obeyed. It spoke not—it has never spoken; therefore, it has not been opposed to the Ordinance, but has been consenting to it.

[Padelford, Fay & Co. v. Mayor and aldermen of City of Savannah, 14 Ga. 438, WL 1492, (1854)]

When or if, you participate in a government franchise you must be aware that you have surrendered your sovereign immunity. The national government is a type of sovereign and when you engage in commerce with it and you have a disagreement, then you must understand what the USSC stated:

“…the sovereign cannot be sued in its own courts, or in any other, without its consent and permission; but it may, if it thinks proper, waive this privilege, and permit itself to be made a defendant in a suit by individuals, or by another state. And as this permission is altogether voluntary on the part of the sovereign, it follows that it may prescribe the terms and conditions on which it consents to be sued, and the manner in which the suit shall be conducted, and may withdraw its consent whenever it may suppose that justice to the public requires it. The principle is fundamental, applies to every sovereign power, and, but for the protection which it affords, the government would be unable to perform the various duties for which it was created.”

[U.S. v. Lee, 106 U.S. 196 (1882)]

The basic way to identify the characteristics of one who is a “sovereign” is that:

1. their sovereignty is derived by rights of sovereignty is extended to all persons and things not privileged that are within a limited geographical area,
2. the right to grant “consent”,
3. the right to be left alone,
4. a sovereign can only surrender a portion of their sovereignty through explicit [written contract] or implicit behavior indicating consent.

Contracts are a real threat and a keen individual understands the subtle deception inherent in implicit acts of behavior [even by silence] creating consent. Your right to ownership, property, life, liberty granted by the Creator can be taken away if one consents.

Bouvier’s Maxims of Law, 1856;

At this moment, you should now understand why you want to own nothing in your own name. Make any evidence of tangible assets to be invisible to others who would like to impugn your sovereign immunity. One who enjoys the protection by the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act [see 28 USC Part IV, Chapter 97] has no legal domicile or residence within the jurisdiction of the national government and does not consent in any form to the civil jurisdiction of the national government.

Here is a short list of specific acts that would qualify a sovereign as one who has surrendered a portion or most of their sovereignty:

(1) Commercial activity within the Forum or State [see 28 USC §1605(b)(2)] which causes a nexus between the sovereign American National [Nonresident Alien to federal jurisdiction] and the national government.

(2) Being identified as a “citizen” or “domiciliary” of the Forum or State [See 28 USC §1603(b)(3)]. Look at the forms you sign indicating you are a “U.S. citizen” and now you see the quagmire you stepped into.

(3) Rights in property in the Forum or State acquired by succession or gift or rights in immovable property situated in the Forum or State are in issue. [See 28 USC §1605(b)(4)].

(4) Foreign state has waived its immunity either explicitly or by implication notwithstanding any withdrawal of the waiver which the foreign state may purport to effect except in accordance with the terms of the waiver. [See 28 USC §1605(b)(1)].

(5) Contracts between a private party and a foreign state [See 28 USC §1605(b)(6)].

There are many others and you can read them for yourself in 28 USC §1605. The national government frequently by guile causes many Americans to unwittingly destroy their sovereignty and eliminate protections under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act. Primary among them is how they will define or describe your citizenship and domicile.

Most of the franchise language is somewhat vague or is written using “everyday” words that in the franchise agreement have an entirely different meaning than what is commonly used by the people.

This allows the national government to then operate on their presumption that you are one of their citizens and have a legal domicile in the District of Columbia. Look at the Form SS-5 SSN Application to see how many types of “citizenship” are listed and concentrate on the definitions for each of the terms the national government uses on their form. Did you find the definition for “U.S. citizen” on their form? The national government would never get anyone to sign up if they did and clearly stated the ramifications of such an identity on their form or the instructions.
Chapter 3: Federal Franchises & Implicit Consent

You are only offered as a primary choice “U.S. citizen” so that they can presume you are a statutory federal citizen under 8 USC §1401(a). Care to guess where the domicile of that kind of citizen is legally stated by the national government to be located at? You should now understand the significance of the deception in terms and the reason for the lack of any proper definition to provide full disclosure to the potential franchisee.

The SSA franchise license number [the SSN] also assumes that you are engaged in commerce within the federal legislative jurisdiction known as the District of Columbia simply by the fact that you referenced a number related to a trust or franchise granted by the national government. A TIN does the same as a SSN on any federal form in regard to identifying federal legislative jurisdiction.

A bank account that has a SSN or TIN attached to it is now presumed by your bank to be private funds properly donated to a “public use” in order to procure a privilege from the government. Budd v. People of State of New York, 143 U.S. 517 (1892). The “benefit” could be merely a “tax deduction” associated with a public office referenced by Title 26 as a “trade or business” or “social insurance” provided by the “Statutory Scheme” [as the USSC stated in Fleming v. Nestor, 363 U.S. 603 (1960)] via the Socialistic Security Administration.

This is the core reason for those well intended individuals to be both attacked and incarcerated by the national government. They did not understand the franchise, the franchise agreement, the ramifications of having a federal “domicile” and engaging in a “trade or business”. Furthermore, they have no one to blame but themselves for this deficiency, because all citizens are presumed to know the law, even though they are not taught it in the “public” (government) schools or even the colleges:

[Floyd Acceptances, 7 Wall (74 U.S. 169) 666 (1869)]

If they had realized the potential for personal harm [physically, emotionally, and financially] they probably would have rescinded the franchise agreement with the Socialistic Security Administration by using SSA Form 521 to start the termination of any further use of the federal franchise trust.

At any time one uses [writing it down or making reference to it on any form] it is evidence used by the courts to make their conclusion that you voluntarily consented to participate in the federal franchise agreement. You should have proof of your legal objection which documents your not granting consent to:

(1) being identified as a “U.S. citizen”,
(2) having a federal domicile [this is related to jurisdiction which is critical in court/legal matters],
(3) engaging in a “trade or business”, and
(4) conducting commerce with the national government.

As franchises are established by contracts, it is well understood that the national government can not compel anyone to contract or define the terms and conditions of a contracts. What the national government has done with the Socialistic Security franchise was to hide the requirement for consent as most Americans do not know the true voluntarily nature of that federal franchise. Based on contract law, the SSN application is not a contract by USSC criteria.

For those under attack, judges refuse to require evidence of consent when the national government’s jurisdiction to enforce the terms of the franchise is challenged in a court of law. Under the “innocent until proven guilty” concept, the government must presume all parties are exempt from a government franchise or the party being a franchisee until the national government could produce evidence of such consent by the party being ligitated against.

Then IRS attempts to penalize “nontaxpayers” when they refuse to act like “taxpayers” by presumption. Such presumptions must be challenged or else the implication of implicit consent will prevail.
Chapter 3: Federal Franchises & Implicit Consent

Nonresident aliens [American Nationals] domiciled outside the “United States” [District of Columbia] and who are not engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” [performance of the functions of a public office] must document these facts carefully within their administrative record as there is no governmental agency or bureau [IRS] form to use for this purpose. It is imperative as this kind of documentation must be created and then made into a public record [by having it recorded at your local County Recorder’s Office] so that you can provide proof of your claim.

In your documentation you should address the following:

(A) That you are not a “taxpayer” but a “non taxpayer” as they both exist and have been stated by the USSC,

(B) That you have rescinded the SSN application as voidable ab initio [from the date the application was signed and in many cases by those who were of minor age without any full disclosure of any terms, conditions, or consequences of such an act],

(C) That you are not one who uses a SSN as it represents a franchise trust agreement engaged in a “trade or business” and reflects the holder to be one who is a public office holder [federal trustee] for the franchise,

(D) That you are not an “individual” which is defined in 5 USC §552(a)(13) as one who is “federal personnel” and a federal “employee”.

Summary of the Elements of a Government Franchise

All federal franchises are created by legislation and have the following characteristics.

(1) Franchise agreements are “private law” in that only the parties, who either implicitly or explicitly consent, can have it provisions enforced against them.

(2) Statutes that create the federal franchise rarely identify it as a franchise as it is implied by the franchise agreement.

(3) The franchise agreement describes the “statutory rights” or more commonly referred to as “public rights” that exist between the parties.

(4) The two most widely recognized federal franchises are Internal Revenue Code, Subtitle ‘A’ and the Socialistic Security Act [See 42 USC Chapter 7].

(5) Any disputes relating to the federal franchise agreement must be litigated in federal courts.

(6) The United States [meaning the national government] cannot be sued in a foreign court without its express consent provided in legislative form.

(7) Non Taxpayers [those who are not franchisees to any federal franchise] do not have any “public rights” as federal franchise agreements are “foreign law” and their estate is a “foreign estate” relative to the special laws that make up the federal franchise.

(8) If a Non Taxpayer were to inadvertently submit or consent to the federal jurisdiction then they would be bound by it. Any United States Tax Court resolution attempts must be made by written correspondence without ever paying [or promising to pay] the filing fee or to submit an amended petition to the United States Tax Court. They must rebut all IRS claims to having any nexus to the federal franchise only.

(9) Those who are not engaged in the federal “trade or business” franchise are viewed by the IRC §7701(a)(31) as a “foreign estate”.

(10) The IRS may attempt to cite IRC statutes or case law pertaining to franchisees and if you are not a franchisee this amounts to abusing the special laws for political purposes in order to prejudice your rights. This is a presumption that you consented to participate in their federal franchise and the claim must be challenged or they will assert unlawful domain over your life, liberty, and property by exploiting your ignorance to enslave you.

(11) The IRS will not be able to prove explicit consent to the federal franchise agreement prior to their use of enforcement statutes [as such rarely exists]. If that is the case, a violation of due process has resulted because of the presumption of consent. In litigation matters, for a court to act on presumption of consent to the federal franchise means that court is engaging in involuntary servitude against the party whose consent was never proven, in violation of the 13th Amendment, 42 USC §1994, and 18 USC §1589. In addition, that court would be unlawfully interfering with your right to contract or not to contract as well as misrepresenting private law as if it were public law. The judge’s Oath of Office to protect and defend the Constitution would also be called into question.

(12) For those who have not consented to engage in the federal franchise agreement, the IRC is in fact foreign law and the party is a nonresident alien in respect to the IRC jurisdiction.

(13) Courts litigating disputes under the franchise agreement must satisfy the requirements of the Minimum Contracts Doctrine of the USSC.

   a. “In International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945), the Supreme Court held that a court may exercise personal jurisdiction over a defendant consistent with due process only if he or she has “certain minimum contracts” with the relevant forum “such that the maintenance of the suit does not offend traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice”. Unless a defendant’s contacts with a forum are so substantial, continuous, and systematic that the defendant can be deemed to be “present” in that forum for all purpose, a forum may exercise only specific jurisdiction.

   b. In this circuit, we analyze specific jurisdiction according to a three-prong test:

      i. The non-resident defendant must purposefully direct his activities or consummate some transaction with the forum or resident thereof; or perform some act by which he purposefully avails himself of the privilege of conducting activities in the forum, thereby invoking the benefits and protections of its laws;

      ii. The claim must be one which arises out of or relates to the defendant’s forum-related activities; and

      iii. The exercise of jurisdiction must comport with fair play and substantial justice, i.e. it must be reasonable.

      [Yahoo! Inc. v. La Ligue Contre Le Racisme Et L’Antisemitisme, 433 F.3d. 1199 (9th Cir. 01/12/2006)]

(14) Governmental agencies and federal courts frequently disguise the nature of the franchise as voluntary and avoid discussion of the mandatory requirement for your consent in order to unlawfully enlarge their jurisdiction and enslave people by:

   a. Referring to everyone as a franchisee. This is best illustrated by the IRS addressing everyone as a “Taxpayer” when in fact only those who partake of the privilege are taxpayers.
b. Reference case law of previous lower courts against you which pertains only to franchise participants and is non applicable to one who is not a franchisee of their federal franchise agreement.

c. The abuse of “words of art” in order to mislead and disguise the nature of their activity. Such words as “trade or business” or “public right”.

d. Avoiding the subject of your consent and the lack of full disclosure on franchise agreements in order to expand jurisdiction over Americans.

(15) The use of federal franchise forms with private sector employers who do not understand or cooperate under fear and duress by the national government for any “non compliance” with the federal statutory franchise scheme.

(16) Failure to provide any forms for non resident aliens who are NOT participants to use to correct any “error” on the part of the national government.

Americans are, by a large percentage of the population, not engaged in federal employment as the definition of “trade or business” addresses. Americans were never informed about the nature of the federal franchise established by the SSN application or that they are a federal trustee. The hidden and misapplication of common uses of those words have become convenient to purposefully mislead the average American who has a very different understanding of those terms in everyday use.

So if you were to derive your income by performing some of the corporate functions of a public office, participate in federal franchises, or operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the national government then there would be no question of taxable liability and you should pay your tax.

But my question to you is “Why are you still reading this book?” You should not continue to read this information as it most definitely does not apply to you or your federal franchise status as a “taxpayer”.

This book is ONLY for those who are lawful “Non Taxpayers” referenced by the Federal Court decision in Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972) who need such information to assist their efforts to correct the misapplication of the federal franchise manipulations that have been so prevalent since 1935.

Chapter 4: Title 26 Taxpayers & Non-taxpayers: Who Are They?

Quote to Contemplate:

“Waivers of constitutional rights not only must be voluntary, but must be knowing, intelligent acts, done with sufficient awareness of the relevant circumstances and likely consequences.”
[Justice J. White, lead opinion, Brady v. United States, 397 U.S. 742 (1970)]

Taxpayers should and must, accept their responsibility to file and pay any obligation imposed upon them. Otherwise, they are nothing but a “Tax Protestor”. Everything stated within Title 26, the Internal Revenue Code [IRC], is absolutely and positively correct. There can be no misunderstanding that the IRC is fully functioning and applicable toward all who are identified as Taxpayers under those municipal special laws.

For anyone to question the validity of the District of Columbia municipal laws is silly and “frivolous”. For anyone to interfere with those who have a lawfully imposed obligation [Taxpayers] to pay the federal income tax means that they are foolish. They are also disrespectful of the Federal government and don’t understand what they are doing.

“Tax Protestors” may be sincere but are sincerely wrong in what they are doing. That is why so many wind up in problems and disarray. Make no mistake; this information does not address those who have such an imposed obligation.

“Non-Taxpayers” are those to whom the District of Columbia’s federal revenue laws [Subtitle “A” Income Tax specifically] do not apply. Guess who are the “Taxpayers” that have “taxed income” and a “taxable liability” for the Subtitle “A” Federal Income Tax? Take a look at 26 USC §6331(a) Levy and Distraint Section 6331(a) states,

“Levy may be made upon the accrued salary or wages of any officer, employee, or elected official of the ‘United States’ or the District of Columbia…”

Surprising to many, there are four (4) distinct subcategories of Taxpayers as identified by the Internal Revenue Code when discussing the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax.

1. It is obvious to most that Federal Workers are Taxpayers. Federal Workers include Federal Officers, Federal Employees, and Elected Officials of the United States [District of Columbia]. Those who work for the Federal government do so by privilege and privileges are taxable by the government.

2. The second subgroup of Taxpayers are “U.S. citizens” [8 USC §1401 federal statutory creations of Congress]. U.S. citizens have no benefit of the constitution and are subject to the jurisdiction of the District of Columbia.

3. The third subgroup of “Taxpayers” are “Residents” [aliens] as they are foreigners who move to this country to work. The IRC is fully applicable here to these subgroups and that is stated in the IRC and 26 CFR.

4. The fourth subgroup of Taxpayers is somewhat unique and previously camouflaged by the verbosity of legalese found in tax laws. I’m standing on my opinion soapbox making that statement based on what I have learned. This subgroup consists of those who by “contract” with the Federal government have been identified as Taxpayers. Private contracts with the Federal government are lawful and happen routinely. Those individuals who by valid contract, operate in a representative capacity for the benefit of the Federal government, have agreed [elected] to become Taxpayers and have their income treated like a “U.S. citizen” by residence in the District of Columbia.

This is seen by 26 USC §7408(d) which identifies those Taxpayers who do not reside in, or have their principle place of business within, any United States judicial district are treated for income tax purposes as residing in the District of Columbia.

26 USC §7408(d) Citizens and residents outside the United States:

“If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in, and does not have his principal place of business in, any United States juridical district, such citizen or resident shall be treated for purposes of this section as residing in the District of Columbia.”

So by this clear definition of United States being only the District of Columbia, read the above section by substituting the words “United States” to its federal definition as the District of Columbia. Therefore the statute reads somewhat more clearly when you see it as:

“If any citizen or resident of the “District of Columbia” does not reside in, and does not have his principal place of business in, any “District of Columbia” juridical district, such citizen or resident shall be treated for purposes of this section as residing in the District of Columbia.”

This fourth subcategory inadvertently consists of those who use a Socialistic Surveillance Number [federal property] and operate in a representative capacity for the benefit of and in behalf of the Federal government pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b). But that can be corrected with some work.

As previously mentioned those who use a SSN are identified by IRS regulations such as 26 CFR §301.6109-1 as being “generally identified” as “U. S. citizens” or resident aliens. By the purported constructive trust contract, they are further identified as Federal employees. That direct linkage to those previously identified in the IRC as Taxpayers is why all IRS correspondence references the SSN or refers it as a Taxpayer Identification Number [TIN].

As a rose is still, by any other name, a rose. Such is the same for those who are “Taxpayers”. Those who fit any of the four subcategories of “Taxpayer” above are for purposes of the IRC, still “Taxpayers”!

Well it doesn’t stop there. All four subgroups of “Taxpayers” have an extra tax obligation if they reside in one of the 50 states of the Union that also taxes these subgroups. The additional tax burden is the result of an agreement between the various state legislatures which imposed a tax upon Federal Taxpayers as a result of the ACTA agreement between them and the Secretary of the Treasury.

The few states of the Union that are not party to the ACTA and have no state income tax [at the time of this writing] are: Florida, Tennessee, South Dakota, Washington, Nevada, Texas, and New Hampshire. Some think these states are good places to live and work.

Under the auspices of the Buck Act codified in 4 USC §105-106, the Federal government gave the states of the Union its blessing [for the states which took that option granted by the Federal government] and permitted them to tax all Federal Taxpayers who “reside” within their sovereign jurisdiction.

You will find in 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B) the definition of Nonresident alien to mean:

“An individual is a nonresident alien if such individual is neither a U.S. citizen nor resident of the United States [within the meaning of subparagraph A].”
Subparagraph A deals with the definitions of 26 USC §7701(a) which defines a United States Person at §7701(a)(30)(A) to mean “a citizen or resident of the United States.” By now you know what the federal term “United States” means, right? Yes, you are correct. It means only the District of Columbia.

This is further supported by 4 USC §72 [in agreement with Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17 in the Constitution] that all public offices are exercised in the District of Columbia and not elsewhere.

4 USC §72 Public Offices; at the seat of Government

“All offices attached to the seat of government shall be exercised in the District of Columbia, and not elsewhere, except as otherwise expressly provided by law.”

The only “exception” mentioned in 4 USC §72 to lawful public offices exercised outside the District of Columbia is found in 48 USC §1612(a) Jurisdiction of District Court in the U.S. Virgin Islands. There is noticeable by its absence any reference to the 50 states of the Union as well it should be per Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17 in the Constitution.

The part that is interesting is that it tells you what a “nonresident alien” is “not” rather than what it “is”. Did you catch that one? The definition in the IRC does not tell you who or what a “nonresident alien” is but rather what they are not. Boy, the legalese these lawyers use is slicker than a greased watermelon in a tub of cold water with seven sweaty kids trying to get at it.

So what is the “Nonresident alien” in context to having a taxable obligation? The Federal Retirement Thrift Investment Board OC 96-21(7/2004) document states in its publication entitled “Tax Treatment of Thrift Savings Plan Payments to Nonresident Aliens and Their Beneficiaries” [FRTSP] the following about the liability for the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax.

“A nonresident alien is an individual who is neither a U.S. citizen nor a resident of the United States.”

That is identical to 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B) so we know that there is consistency in the information.

Then on page 2 of the FRTSP document you see stated, “In general, the following rules apply…” Keep in mind that these are the rules about the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax. The Federal document then addresses those parties who are liable for, and must pay, as well as those who have no liability. That is the unique aspect of this particular Federal document as most never tell you that kind of information until you spend years researching as most don’t know where to look.

Here is what is stated about “nontaxable liability” for the U.S. [Federal] Income tax [Subtitle “A” of 26 USC]. We will overlook those who are identified in this publication as having a “taxable liability” as that is already established by earlier chapters and merely confirmed again.

I recommend that you get in a comfortable chair and take a big sip of something cool and refreshing before you continue reading. This is going to be that pleasurable! Are you ready? OK….

“A nonresident alien participant who worked for the U.S. government in the United States may be liable for U.S. income tax.”

Do your recall 4 USC §72 where the seat of government public offices are only located? Do your recall the definition of “United States” in 26 USC §7408(d)?
You have to admit this shows that anyone who works for the Federal government is a “Taxpayer” if they work [principle place of business] for the government in the United States [the District of Columbia]. Does that describe you as a nonresident alien [American National] who is working in the private sector [non federal employment]? I thought not!

“A nonresident alien participant who never worked for the U.S. Government in the United States will not be liable for U.S. income tax.”

Did you read that slowly? Did that say what we thought it said?

Allow me to paraphrase just for simplicity purposes only. If you are a nonresident alien [American National] who never worked for the U.S. Government [in the United States a.k.a. the District of Columbia] then you will not be liable for U.S. income tax which is identical to saying that you will not be liable for Subtitle ‘A’ Federal income tax.”

Are you still sitting in that chair? I got so excited I could not sit still when I first read this powerful admission by the Federal Government itself. Perhaps from my frisson I misread that statement so I read it once more and the thrill grew in its intensity. It is an understatement to say that this is not very good news to the previously uninformed. But let’s continue some other sections in this Tax Treatment of Thrift Savings Plan Payments to Nonresident Aliens and Their Beneficiaries.

This is awesome proof right from the Federal Government! How about that!!

So the FRTSP document is stating that “a nonresident alien will not be liable for U.S. income taxes if the family member who was a participant in this retirement plan never worked for the U.S Government in the United States.” If this is true, and it is certainly presented as fact and truth by the Federal Government publication, then the extrapolation is rather simple.

Your head is probably spinning with excitement about reading this, right?

Calm down and see if this sinks in quickly. You are one who is a nonresident alien if you are neither a U.S. citizen nor resident in the United States (the District of Columbia). Do you work for the U.S. Government [now] in the United States [the District of Columbia]?

If you do work for the federal government then you are warned again that this information does not apply to your current federal employment status and you must disregard all that you just read as it does not apply to you in any way, shape, or form.

It is therefore only possible for all your earnings to be without taxable liability and even more so if you are not a participant or beneficiary under the FRTSP as all your income is derived from private sector employment “outside the United States” [Washington, DC], then you “will not be liable for U.S. income tax” either.

Still stunned? This is not my opinion but facts established by Federal government publication you have read in the FRTSP and at 26 CFR §1.871-1(a). My opinion has no merit in this discussion – only the law does!
Now take a close look at an IRS regulation found at 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) which addresses “Classification and manner of taxing alien individuals”. The regulation starts off by stating alien individuals are divided generally into two classes. The regulation section states:

“Resident alien individuals are, in general, taxable the same as citizens of the United States; that is, a resident alien is taxable on income derived from all sources, including sources within the United States.”

Now is where the facts are explained but you have to watch the wording so that you don’t miss the Federal government’s admission that nonresident aliens [American Nationals] do not have any imposed liability for the Federal income tax if they do not work for the Federal government within the United States.

26 CFR §1.871-1(a) also states plainly that:

“Nonresident alien individuals are taxable only on certain income from sources within the United States and on the income described in section 864(c)(4) from sources without the United States which is effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States.”

Did you catch the key word in that sentence? “Nonresident alien individuals are taxable ONLY…” is the part you should focus on.

So they are taxable “ONLY” on income from sources within the “United States”. What income is dominant from within Washington, DC? You are correct! Federal income is taxable from one being employed there is primary but it includes any other income from within that exclusive sovereign jurisdiction established under Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17. As a matter of fact, there isn’t even any such thing as “employment” outside the “United States” [District of Columbia] per the regulations:

Introduction

PART 31—EMPLOYMENT TAXES AND COLLECTION OF INCOME TAX AT SOURCE
Subpart B—Federal Insurance Contributions Act (Chapter 21, Internal Revenue Code of 1954)
General Provisions
§ 31.3121(b)-3 Employment; services performed after 1954.

(a) In general.

Whether services performed after 1954 constitute employment is determined in accordance with the provisions of section 3121(b).

(b) Services performed within the United States [District of Columbia]. Services performed after 1954 within the United States (see §31.3121(e)–1) by an employee for his employer, unless specifically excepted by section 3121(b), constitute employment. With respect to services performed within the United States, the place where the contract of service is entered into is immaterial. The citizenship or residence of the employee or of the employer also is immaterial except to the extent provided in any specific exception from employment. Thus, the employee and the employer may be citizens and residents of a foreign country and the contract of service may be entered into in a foreign country, and yet, if the employee under such contract performs services within the United States, there may be to that extent employment.

(c) Services performed outside the United States—

(1) In general.
Except as provided in paragraphs (c)(2) and (3) of this section, services performed outside the United States (see §31.3121(e)–1) do not constitute employment."

More specifically, you will find that the ONLY income has a further qualifier to be that income “within or without the United States which is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.”

Ask yourself, “What kind of “trade or business” function comes to mind when you think of the District of Columbia? You are correct; mainly those who operate in a public office exercising some of the sovereign power of the federal government.

Are you overwhelmed? You might want to jump over to Chapter 5 for a moment to better understand why the Federal government wrote the IRC and the FRTSP the way they did. It is because of the limitations and restrictions placed against the Federal government as the Federal government was denied and deprived of authority to impose such a tax by the Constitution itself. The Constitution was upheld back in 1895 by the United States Supreme Court in the Pollock decision.

Continuing with the current discussion, another way of expressing what “effectively connected” means would be that income actually derived from being employed “with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States” is taxable under the IRC.

So you would have to be employed in the conduct of the “performance of the functions of a public office” within the United States [the District of Columbia]. “Trade or business” is defined at 26 USC §7701(a)(26) to mean “the performance of the functions of a public office [Federal employment].”

You will find stipulated in 26 USC §162 “Trade or Business expenses” the following proof that this is truly illustrating federal employment and not anything else but federal employment when you read the following:

26 USC §162

(a) In general

There shall be allowed as a deduction all the ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year in carrying on any trade or business, including—

(1) a reasonable allowance for salaries or other compensation for personal services actually rendered;
(2) traveling expenses (including amounts expended for meals and lodging other than amounts which are lavish or extravagant under the circumstances) while away from home in the pursuit of a trade or business; and
(3) rentals or other payments required to be made as a condition to the continued use or possession, for purposes of the trade or business, of property to which the taxpayer has not taken or is not taking title or in which he has no equity.

For purposes of the preceding sentence, the place of residence of a Member of Congress (including any Delegate and Resident Commissioner) within the State, congressional district, or possession which he represents in Congress shall be considered his home, but amounts expended by such Members within each taxable year for living expenses shall not be deductible for income tax purposes in excess of $3,000. For purposes of paragraph (2), the taxpayer shall not be treated as being temporarily away from home during any period of employment if such period exceeds 1 year. The preceding sentence shall not apply to any Federal employee during any period for which such employee is certified by the Attorney General (or the designee thereof) as traveling on behalf of the United States in temporary duty status to investigate or prosecute, or provide support services for the investigation or prosecution of, a Federal crime.

So now we all know the name of who the ONLY “employer” that has positions available that are related to a “public office”, don’t we? You are right! It is the Federal government. Those who work in the private sector do not hold any “public office”.

There is another sentence in 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) that starts with “However” so whenever you see a “However” you should take the time to read it. So we now take a look at the “However” sentence. It addresses those Nonresident aliens who wish to “elect” to be “treated as U.S. residents.” Can you believe this?

Here is the statement, read it for yourself right from 26 CFR §1-871-1(a):

“However, nonresident alien individuals may elect, under section 6013 (g) or (h), to be treated as U.S. residents for purposes of determining their income tax liability under Chapters 1, 5, and 24 of the code.”

If a nonresident alien ONLY has a taxable liability for the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax if they derive their income from being “employed” by the Federal government within the District of Columbia [from their functioning in the capacity of performing some federal function as a public office holder in the District of Columbia], then why would they pay a tax that is never owed?

Why would anyone “elect” to pay such a penalty on income not within the United States and not from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business? Well…some might just want to donate or gift their hard earned money to the Federal government. No problem there if they freely choose to do that, is there? The thought did arise, “Could that be the case for most Americans?” Not likely is my best guess.

There are many descriptive adjectives that come to mind about those who might even consider “electing” to be treated as one who owes a tax when they never had any obligation imposed at all but not a single adjective comes to mind that reflects one who has any common sense at all.

So what is the easiest way to get someone to “elect to be treated as U.S. residents for purposes of determining their income tax liability”?

What if a nonresident alien individual who had no taxable liability, based on the above facts presented in federal law, was given a federal contract to sign without full disclosure, or willful and knowing intent, and no consideration? Better yet, get the nonresident aliens to sign what appears to be a contract when they were children so that they would never question authority as they were too immature to think about such. Can you think of any such situation? If not, you might re-read chapter 2.

Does that sound remotely possible? What am I thinking! Of course not, the Federal government would never stoop to such low levels of deception, evil, or chicanery to create such a dolus. Well I guess I was not looking where I was walking and ran into something the day I came up with that thought. Surely I must have hit my head on a low hanging tree branch to think that kind of thought. That could not be possible, could it?

That does, however, beg the question about the SSN contract and the IRS regulation 26 CFR §301.6109-1 Identifying numbers which show that the IRS “generally identifies a SSN as a number belonging to a U.S. citizen or resident alien”, doesn’t it? So the best avenue to take is the one in which you determine if the SSN purported constructive trust contract was indeed one that you prefer or to borrow a word “elect” to keep.

Do you think this would have been a good reference for the Federal government to show those who sign a Form SS-5? Today there are “warning labels” all over cigarette packs. The signer of Form SS-5 might have appreciated the Federal government providing the definition for a “U.S. citizen” found at 8 USC §1401(a).

What about some “non-legalese” language explanation so that the average reader would have no doubt about what is being stated? What about the idea of “waiver” of your God-given Constitutional rights when signing a SSN application?
We are told by 26 USC §6013(g) and (h) that the one who makes the choice of “electing” to be treated as U.S. residents for purposes of determining their income tax liability as taxable is none other than the nonresident alien individual who is married to a “U.S. citizen”. You know that the term nonresident alien means American Nationals living in the 50 states of the Union and working in the private sector because there is no other group of people left to describe.

Now the problem begins. If you as a nonresident alien individual [American National] did not willfully and knowingly understand the implications by “electing” to have your income treated as taxable, then the SSN pseudo contract is voidable ab initio. That is where the IRS gets very quiet and does not want to discuss the matter. At least that is what I have heard from those who receive letters from the IRS.

The IRS routinely sends form letters and opens their greetings by identifying the recipient of the letter as “Dear Taxpayer”. “Taxpayers” include those who operate by a constructive trust contract and have mistakenly identified [without knowledge and willful intent as a child] themselves as a “U.S. citizen” or resident alien.

The IRS always starts with the “presumption” of taxable liability leaving the unaware reader to try and figure out what is really happening to them. This is done by referencing the SSN or sometimes calling it a TIN. They assume you are a “taxpayer” because someone sent them a usually false “information return”, such as IRS Form W-2 or 1099, containing the trustee license number, thus creating a presumption of “constructive consent” to the terms of the Socialist Security franchise agreement.

If the reader does not rebut the “presumption”, then the IRS moves directly to the issue of collection of a tax instead of documenting to the reader, with enacted Federal Law, that they are “liable for the tax.” All IRS correspondence follows this same tactic. Remember it well.

Interesting enough is the fact that the IRS does not have the authority to bestow the status of “Taxpayer” on anyone. Botta v. Scanlon, 288 F.2d. 504, 508 (1961) held:

“A reasonable construction of the taxing statutes does not include vesting any tax official with absolute power of assessment against individuals not specified in the statutes as a person liable for the tax without an opportunity for judicial review of this status before the appellation of ‘taxpayer’ is bestowed upon them and their property is seized…”

The term “Taxpayer” is defined in 26 USC Section §7701(a)(14) to mean “any person subject to any internal revenue tax” and in 26 USC §1313(b) to mean

“any person subject to a tax under the applicable revenue law.”

So by the mere statement of the word “Taxpayer” one does not know which “tax” or which “applicable revenue law” the IRS might even be referring to but the IRS makes the “assumption” that you owe a tax.

Refer back to “Applicability of Revenue Laws” in 26 USC §7851(a)(1)(A) Subtitle A Income Tax. The IRS statute shows that the Subtitle “A” Income Tax ends upon the date of enactment of Title 26. Can anyone be made liable for a law that doesn’t exist? The regulation behind that statute is found at 27 CFR Part 24 which relates only to Wine Production per Cornell University Law Website which listed it as the parallel authority. There is no regulation found in 26 CFR to support the Applicability of Revenue Laws for the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax. Why is that? There must be an answer!

There are no Implementing Regulations published in the Federal Register imposing any Income Tax liability upon American Nationals. So when an American National receives a letter (mistakenly) from the IRS stating “Dear Taxpayer” the IRS has no authority to make such a claim and should never use the appellation of “taxpayer” to describe you unless you are identified as one listed in the four subgroups of “Taxpayers” described earlier. Look to see if there is a SSN on the letter. That is how you know why the IRS uses “Dear Taxpayer”.

There could be another chapter written just on the term “person” used in the above “definitions” but I will leave that for more academic purists to address. Suffice it to say, there does not exist any “applicable revenue law”, which has been imposed upon American Nationals who work in the private sector and thus do not derive their income “by being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business” [the performance of the functions of a public office – working for the Federal government] within the United States [the District of Columbia per 26 USC §7408(d) & 7701(a)(39)] and who have never made such an election!

American Nationals who don’t participate in federal franchises are not “subject to” the jurisdiction of the federal government. There are no “applicable revenue laws” [regarding Subtitle A Federal Income Tax] that makes the income or earnings of American Nationals a “taxed income” or “wages” upon which income taxes are levied.

Consider what the federal courts have said about the two groups, Taxpayers and Non-taxpayers in Economy Plumbing & Heating v. U.S., 470 F.2d. 585 (1972) page 585.

“Revenue laws relate to taxpayers and not to non-taxpayers. The latter are without their scope. No procedure is prescribed for non-taxpayers and no attempt is made to annul any of their Rights or Remedies in due course of law.”

Let’s review this one more time. You have just seen that Revenue Laws [for the Subtitle A Federal Income Tax] relate only to “Taxpayers”. Such revenue laws do not relate to “Non-Taxpayers” as they are outside the scope of the revenue laws. You never hear any comments from the IRS telling Americans about the existence of those who are lawful “non-taxpayers” because they don’t want to inform you that your participation is voluntary and that you can unvolunteer. In all their publications there is not one dedicated to this area.

You also read that Congress will not “assume” to deal with “Non-Taxpayers”. No attempt should or can be made to annul any of the “Non-Taxpayers” Rights or Remedies.

Now substitute the phrase “American Nationals” in the position of “Non-Taxpayers” and see how this court decision would read if the court had taken the full and complete step for clarity in their statement. IF the court had stated in this manner it would have really cleared up any confusion.

“Revenue laws [pertaining to the federal income tax] relate to employees, officers, elected officials of the federal government, U.S. citizens, resident aliens, and those who operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the federal government and not to American Nationals.”

[Substitution added for clarification]

“American Nationals are without their scope. No procedure is prescribed for American Nationals and no attempt is made to annul any of their Rights or Remedies in due course of law. With American Nationals, Congress does not assume to deal and American Nationals are neither of the subject nor of the object of the revenue laws.” [emphasis added]

Notice the segment phrase “Rights and Remedies” and to whom they refer. You got it. Rights and Remedies only apply to American Nationals not engaged in government franchises and domiciled outside of federal exclusive jurisdiction. “U.S. Citizens” have no constitutional protection of God-given Rights. “United States Citizens” are born in and subject to the exclusive [sovereign] jurisdiction of the federal government. In that exclusive federal jurisdiction the constitution has no effect of law at all as it is the sovereign domain of Congress.
Chapter 4: Title 26 Taxpayers & Non-taxpayers: Who Are They?  4-10

Worth repeating is the fact that if a Federal tax law were to be made applicable to American Nationals who are not franchisees, public officers, federal “employees”, or federal instrumentalities, it must meet the three phase criteria:

1) A Statute in an enacted Title of the United States Code [26 USC].

2) An Implementing Regulation for the specific Statue in the enacted Title of the USC being published in the Code of Federal Regulations [26 CFR].

3) The publication of the same 26 CFR Implementing Regulation in the Federal Register and evidenced by a volume, date, and page number.

Even if this is somewhat repetitious, this is very significant to your understanding of what constitutes valid proof that American Nationals [Nonresident aliens] are not made liable for any Federal Income Tax unless they “elect to be treated as U.S. residents for purposes of determining their income tax liability”. If the criteria, definitions, and imposition of enacted Federal Tax Law do not describe American Nationals, then we are considered by the government to be “Non-Taxpayers”.

By the Federal government’s own legal definitions [and evidence from other federal documentation and Federal Law in the Exhibits], American Nationals not engaged in federal franchises are without their scope. The Federal government is in no way to attempt to annul any Rights or Remedies in due course of law. American Nationals are neither the subjects of nor the object of the revenue laws if the three phase criteria listed above are not presented by the “proponent of the rule or order”.

Clearly, American Nationals not engaged in federal franchises are “Non-Taxpayers” according to 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) in regard to the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax. Thus, as an American National, none of us can be considered “tax protesters” in the manner the IRS refers to in their literature. There simply is no income tax imposed upon American Nationals to protest!

The Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment written by former President W. H. Taft states that fact. So does the USSC in the Pollock decision. So does 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) and FRTSP for those who are “nonresident aliens” to the federal jurisdiction.

An intense search of the Internal Revenue Code for those identified as being “Taxpayers” with “Gross Income” under Subtitle “A” are provided below. As a result, one can not earn “gross income” under IRC §61 unless they fit into one of the following categories:

Summary List of Identified Taxpayer Categories:

Should you locate others, feel free to add them to this list.

1. DOMESTIC TAXABLE ACTIVITIES: Activities within the “United States” defined in 26 USC §7701(a)(9), (a)(10), & 7408(d) to mean only the District of Columbia.

   a. Federal “Employees”, Agencies, and “Public Officials” meaning those who are federal “public officers”, “federal employees”, and elected officials of the national government. This is one reason why 26 USC §6331(a) lists only federal officers, federal employees, federal instrumentalities, and elected officials as ones who can be served with a levy upon their compensation, as they perform the functions of a public office in the District of Columbia.

   b. Federal Benefit Recipients: These people are receiving “social insurance” payments such as in 26 USC §871(a)(3). When they signed up for these programs, they became “federal trustees”, “employees”, and instrumentalities of the U.S. government. They are described as “federal personnel” in the Privacy Act, 5 USC §552(a)(13). The Constitution does not authorize these benefits to be offered to anyone domiciled outside of federal territories and possessions.

c. Those who operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the federal government via contract. This includes those who have a valid Taxpayer Identification Number, which constitutes a constructive trust contract with the federal government and use that federal property [SSN] as per 20 CFR §422.103(d). They are identified as federal trustees and/or federal employees as referenced in 20 CFR “Employee Benefits” under the Social Security Act of 1935. This Act was declared by the United States Supreme Court in Fleming v. Nestor, 363 U.S. 603(1960) as a “…statutory scheme free of all constitutional restraints.” That means that Congress created a deception purposely to ensnare Americans into a quasi federal employee status to their detriment. This was a wicked perversion to draw into its federal jurisdiction those who were protected from slavery and indentured servitude via the 13th Amendment.

2. FOREIGN TAXABLE ACTIVITIES: Activities in the states of the Union or abroad.

a. Domiciliaries of the federal zone abroad and in a foreign country pursuant to 26 USC §911 who are engaged in a trade or business.

i. Statutory U.S. citizens who are federal statutory creations of Congress and defined specifically at 8 USC §1401 to be those who were born in a U.S. territory or possession or state of the Union AND who have a legal domicile there.

ii. Statutory “Residents” [aliens] who are foreign nationals and have a legal domicile within the District of Columbia or a federal territory or possession. They are defined in 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(A) and 8 USC §1101(a)(2) as those from other nations in the world who choose to work and live in our nation.

b. States of the Union. Neither the IRS nor the Social Security Administration may lawfully operate outside the federal zone.

i. 4 USC §72 limits all “public offices” to the District of Columbia. It says that the “public offices” that are the subject of the tax upon a “trade or business” must be exercised ONLY in the District of Columbia and NOT ELSEWHERE, except as expressly provided by law such as 48 USC §1612 illustrating the federal territory of the U.S. Virgin Islands.

ii. 26 USC §7601 limits IRS enforcement to internal revenue districts. The President is authorized to establish internal revenue districts pursuant to 26 USC §7621, but he delegated that authority to the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to “Executive Order 10289”. Treasury Order 150-02, signed by the Secretary of the Treasury, says that the only remaining internal revenue district is in the District of Columbia. It eliminated all the other internal revenue districts.

iii. 26 USC §7701(a)(9), (a)(10), & 7408(d) define the term “United States” as the District of Columbia. Nowhere in the code is the tax described in Subtitle “A” expanded to include anyplace but the District of Columbia a.k.a. the “United States”.

iv. The U.S. Supreme Court said Congress enjoys NO LEGISLATIVE JURISDICTION within the states of the Union and the Internal Revenue code is “Legislation”.

1. “It is no longer open to question that the general government, unlike the states, possesses no inherent power in respect of the internal affairs of the states; and emphatically not with regard to legislation.” [Carter v. Carter coal Co., 298 U.S. 238, 56 S.Ct. 855(1936)]

2. “The difficulties arising out of our dual form of government and the opportunities for differing opinions concerning the relative rights of state and national governments are many; but for a very long time this court has steadfastly adhered to the doctrine that the taxing power of Congress does not extend to the states or their political subdivisions.” [Ashton v. Cameron County Water Improvement District 1, 298 U.S. 513, 56 S.Ct. 892 (1936)]

v. The U.S. Supreme court said Congress cannot establish a “trade or business” in a state of the Union and tax it. A “trade or business” is the main subject of Subtitle “A” of the Internal Revenue Code.

1. “Thus, Congress having power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes, may, without doubt, provide for granting coasting licenses, licenses to pilots, licenses to trade with the Indians, and any other licenses necessary or proper for the exercise of that great and extensive power, and the same observation is applicable to every other power of Congress, to the exercise of which the granting of licenses may be incident. All such licenses confer authority, and give rights to the licensee.

But very different considerations apply to the internal commerce or domestic trade of the States. Over this commerce and trade Congress has no power of regulation nor any direct control. This power belongs exclusively to the States. No interference by Congress with the business of citizens transacted within a State is warranted by the Constitution, except such as is strictly incidental to the exercise of powers clearly granted to the legislature. The power to authorize a business within a State is plainly repugnant to the exclusive power of the State over the same subject. It is true that the power of Congress to tax is a very extensive power. It is given in the Constitution, with only one exception and only two qualifications. Congress cannot tax exports; and it must impose direct taxes by the rule of apportionment and indirect taxes by the rule of uniformity. Thus limited, and thus only, it reaches every subject, and may be exercised at discretion. But, it reaches only existing subjects. Congress cannot authorize a trade or business within a State in order to tax it.” [License Tax Cases, 72 U.S. 462, 18 L.Ed. 497, 5 Wall 462, 2 A.F.T. R. 2224 (1866)]

Are you starting to think?
Americans know best what they can do with their money they have been voluntarily donating for so many years. Is there any question about what the law says about taxable liability and those who are “Taxpayers”? Has any American National [Nonresident alien] ever presumed they had to file and pay a Federal Income Tax without first verifying that there were parties made liable? Probably not, right?

But will all those who do not understand the laws as you do, think you are correct? Will private sector employers abide by the law that you now have to show them? Just because there is truth does not mean that there are those who will seek to subvert it or keep it quiet. The status quo is a challenge and most people are resistant to change even when the facts are laid before them.

That is why education is so important. People must be informed and talk about these matters. Hence the reason why I wrote this book and made it available for free.

What is wrong with abiding by the law as it is written?

Why would those in government who have taken an Oath of Office fail to not support the law as written and your position on it if you were to bring it to their attention?

Think back to the comments on propaganda when you read the following statement:

“It is not a matter of what is true that counts, but a matter of what is perceived to be true.”

5 Chapter 5: Private Sector Employers & Tax Class 5 Forms

Quote to Contemplate:

“Private employers, states, and political subdivisions are not required to enter into payroll deduction agreements. Taxpayers should determine whether their employers will accept and process executed agreements before agreements are submitted for approval or finalized.”

When American Nationals start a new job with a Non-Federal Employer they are routinely presented with the IRS Form W-4 to complete and turn in as part of the paperwork for employment. The majority of new employees have completed this form without ever really understanding what is really taking place. It is now time to take a closer look.

The IRS Form W-4 is a Voluntary Withholding Agreement [contract]:

1. The title of the form deceptively says “Employee Withholding Allowance Certificate” rather than “voluntary withholding agreement” used within the Treasury regulations.
2. Deceptively says nothing about “voluntary” or “contract”
3. Deceptively says nothing about who exactly is “agreeing”.
4. Deceptively says nothing about who from the government is agreeing. A valid contract requires TWO parties, not one.
5. Does not mention that you are not required to withhold and can suffer no adverse consequences as a “nontaxpayer” for refusing to withhold.

In response to the above types of deliberate IRS deception on their forms, most Americans therefore simply overlook the Voluntary part. According to 26 CFR §31.3402(p)-1 Employment Taxes and Collection of Income Tax At Source you will find that the agreement is only between the “employer” and the “employee”. So employment taxes are directly related to collection action for the non-enacted Subtitle “A” income tax at the Source.

Most American Nationals are unaware that the IRS Form W-4 is a Tax Class 5 form. A Tax Class 5 form is identified in the IRS Document 6209 as “Estate and Gift Taxes”, not income taxes. Consequently, these forms control “gifts” to the U.S. government pursuant to 31 USC §321(d). As it is a type of contract you should review Chapter 18 and the discussion on the basics structure of what makes a Contract valid as well as what the criteria for a valid Contract with the Federal Government must have before it becomes binding upon the our government.

Examples of Tax Class 5 Forms are: the IRS Form 1099, W-2, 1098, as well as the W-4. Tax Class 5 forms are “information returns” established under Subtitle “B” in the Internal Revenue Code for Estate & Gift taxation. You already know that the federal income tax is structured under Subtitle “A” of the Internal Revenue Code. Think about that difference for a moment.

All the Tax Class 5 forms used by American businesses related to American Nationals who work and live in the private sector are not established with any culpability on the part of the individual or company that created those “information returns”. Yet the IRS uses them to proclaim that the party identified in the “Name” section on the form sent to them is a “Taxpayer” arising from the SSN associated with the “Name” of the party on the form.

Many American Nationals [nonresident aliens to all federal jurisdictions] have these Tax Class 5 forms fraudulently and falsely created and filed by those operating in the private sector without any “penalty of perjury” requirement placed upon them. Those who created the “information return” and when the income of the nonresident alien is from “sources outside the United States and not effectively connected with a trade or business in the United States” should realize an interesting fact stated by the IRS in its IRS Publication 519 [Income Subject to Tax] on page 26. Their “income is not taxable according” to the IRS under those conditions.

In the event such a gross mistake has taken place contrary to your true status as a nonresident alien defined at 26
USC §7701(b)(1)(B) [meaning an American National] then it would be a beneficial idea to inform the IRS of the error arising from the party who created the Tax Class 5 “information return” form. Instructions should be given to the IRS to ignore the “information return” created in error and that no harm can be created against the individual or company who created it as there was no requirement for the return to be created under penalty of perjury.

The letter to the IRS should remove the information from being inputted into any IRS record or database for use against you. Now consider the IRS Form W-4 as a contract that is really not a contract at all but a method to entrap the individual who signs such a document in their private sector employment. Perhaps President Franklin
D. Roosevelt stated it best when he stipulated that:

“Governments never do anything by accident; if the [federal] government does something you can bet it was carefully planned.” [Emphasis & Clarification added]

Did you notice the use of the word “voluntary” in the title of IRS Form W-4? Voluntary indicates a free will choice without duress or compulsion. This means you can also volunteer “not to sign the IRS Form W-4” or why did the government use the “carefully planned” word “voluntary”. Compelled association is not “voluntary” and private sector employers can not lawfully make a voluntary choice on your behalf or establish consent based on your own passive inaction. Neither can the federal government. Consent has to be expressly given by the individual for such association to be fully “voluntary”. Do you think many private sector employers know this and will hire you without a W-4 being signed? Do you think the IRS will ever tell them the truth about this constructive fraud in their publications? NOT!

The foundational assumption here is that the non-federal employer is so accustomed to doing what they have “always done” that they tend to balk or elevate some concern about this new employee or mature employee presenting something new in this area. In the background of the mind of those in Human Resources, there is some fear of what is going to happen to them, their own job, and the company if they abide by this employee’s request. Their minds find easy resistance to the employee’s request because of the assumptive question that is all too familiar, “After all, isn’t everyone a taxpayer?”

You see here, yet again, how We the People tend to casually use generic non-specific common words in our everyday speech while the government is always precise in their choice of words used and always assumes the legal “word of art” definition rather than the common definition.

Private sector employers should instead have those in Human Resources ask the right kind of questions of those in the IRS rather than make assumptions that “the earth is still flat”, which is to say “that everyone owes a federal income tax”. But is it the role and duty of the private sector employer to make those determinations?
The Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.) [IRM] quote above shows that any decision is to be made only by those who are indeed “Taxpayers”.

That is why the IRM states that “Taxpayers should determine” and should be reminded that Private employers “are not required to enter into payroll deduction agreements.” This would probably save the company lots of money and permit them the opportunity to reallocate personnel to handle tasks that are directed to the profitability of the company.

Chapter 5: Private Sector Employers & Tax Class 5 Forms

5-3

Before we get deeper into this Administrative Regulation we need to review the Subtitle in 26 USC that this regulation is derived from. The withholding of income of Taxpayers is established under 26 USC Subtitle C Employment Taxes. Section 3402 pertains to Income Tax collected at Source.

Stated under the heading “Requirement for Withholding” in §3402(a)(1) you read,

“Except as otherwise provided in this section, every employer making payment of wages shall deduct and withhold upon such wages a tax...”

Remember, you must not “assume” that words used within the law like “employer” have the same definition as that used in common speech by most American Nationals and private sector employers. You will find some interesting aspects to the definition of “employer” in 26 USC §3121 (h) shortly.

For a moment reflect back on who were those identified as Taxpayers. If you remember they were:

1) Federal Workers include Federal Officers, Federal Employees, and Elected Officials [all Public office holders] of the United States [District of Columbia].
2) “U.S. citizens” [8 USC §1401 federal statutory creations of Congress].
3) “Resident Aliens”
4) Those who use a Socialistic Surveillance Number [federal property] and by doing so are operating in a representative capacity for the benefit of and in behalf of the Federal government. SSN users are generally identified as “U.S. citizens or resident aliens” as well as “Federal employees” acting as Federal Trustee for the constructive trust established by the application for a SSN.

If anyone in these groups works in the private sector, they are obligated to request of the non-federal employer to see if they will by the Taxpayer’s request make a “determination whether their employer will accept and process executed agreements before agreements are submitted for approval or finalized.”

So where do you think American Nationals stand as nonresident aliens [as defined by the Federal government] when they tell their private sector employer that they are “nonresident aliens” to the federal jurisdiction? Even if American Nationals show the private sector employer the definitions of statutory “U.S. citizen” in 8 USC §1401 and “Nonresident alien” within 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B) along with the Federal Retirement Thrift Savings Plan (T.S.P.) pamphlet and 26 CFR §1.871-1, do you really think the average uninformed Human Resource individual who usually has never even looked at the Internal Revenue Code or Treasury Regulations will readily accept these facts? This is where the IRS benefits from the ignorance about the law and fears arising from a paradigm shift in their routine which causes immediate cognitive dissonance in Corporate America.

Now do you understand why Galileo had such a problem when he presented his information to the group in charge? Admiration starts building when you consider what he did and the price he paid. Eventually, acceptance of the paradigm change will occur, as it did with the earth is flat mentality, but in the meantime there are many mistakes made by “well intended” people who probably have never read the history of the federal income tax in order to understand the basics and the motivator of fear to resist change.

Another good idea is for the reader to spend some time perusing the Constitution again and see if you really think it has value in today’s society. There are many bureaucrats who are questioning the rationale for it every day.

So the applicability of revenue laws that are assumed need to be carefully and regularly studied by private sector employers as well. Basic to all legal processes, a law must be implemented before it has any legal effect which is documented by an effective date of enactment. If you look for the effective date of enactment of this Subtitle “C”, which is located at 26 USC §7851(a)(3), you will find the semantic gamesmanship of the federal attorneys at work again.
Thus Subtitle “C” has no effective date of enactment. Therefore, the only jurisdiction within which Subtitle “C” has effect is within the United States [the District of Columbia] as statutes can provide full force and effect of law within the United States [ditto DC].

When you compare the verbosity in the Subtitle “C” ambiguous enactment date you can easily get confused, as the language is not clear. Look back at 26 CFR §31.3402(p)-1 and the title heading for this regulation. The heading reads, “Part 31 – Employment Taxes and Collection of Income Tax At Source”. Now things start to clear somewhat. Did you notice the reference to Section 3121 Definitions.

What have you learned about the non-enacted Subtitle “A” income tax and the Applicability of that tax to American Nationals?

You are correct: Subtitle “A” income tax does not apply to American Nationals if their income is not derived from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the United States, according to 26 CFR §1.871-1.

The special laws in Subtitle “A” Income Tax have no effective date of enactment published in the Federal Register proving it is not applicable within the 50 states of the Union because of the requirement imposed on the Department of the Treasury by 44 USC §1505 and 26 CFR §601.702(a)(2)(ii).

So why does a private sector nonfederal “employer” stick the IRS Form W-4 in the face of their private sector nonfederal workers expecting them to make the choice for deductions from their paycheck for a tax that they never owed and were never legally made liable for in the first place? Oh, that troublesome word “assumption” rises up yet again. Time to look at the Statute in 26 USC from which the regulation originated. In 26 USC §3402 Income Tax Collected At Source you learn yet again that the Subtitle “C” Employment Tax is referring to the income tax [Subtitle “A” income tax].

As you probably have surmised, each Subtitle has its own definition section so take a look at 26 USC §3121 Definitions. In 26 USC §3121(d) you find the definition of “Employee” and a variety of defined terms that may look like you are included. However, you no doubt remember the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment and the identified “parties” to whom the federal income tax made applicable.

That’s right the “parties” made liable for the federal income tax in the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment drafted by President Taft are Federal “employees, officers, and elected officials of the United States”.

Now ask yourself, “Are you one of the identified persons called “employee” from the Legislative Intent of the federal income tax?” If you are, you have been repeatedly noticed to stop reading this material as you were told in the Disclaimer that this information does not apply to you. Pay the taxes you owe and get on with things that pertain to issues that do apply. Otherwise, keep reading.

Just to be certain; take a look at the definition for “employer” found in 26 USC §3121 (h) American Employer where you find stated,

“For the purposes of this chapter, the term American employer means an employer which is:

(1) the United States [federal government] or any instrumentality thereof;
(2) an individual who is a resident of the United States,
(3) A partnership, if two-thirds or more of the partners are residents of the United States,
(4) a trust, if all the trustees are residents of the United States, or
(5) a corporation organized under the laws of the United States or of any State.”

The Galileo Paradigm, version 1.04
Copyright Adele Weiss http://famguardian.org/
Item 4 relates to Federal Trustees or those who use the SSN and operate in a representative capacity in behalf of and for the benefit of the Federal government. It would have been clear to Americans what was going to happen to them if this statute section was written so that you could easily understand facts. Then their game would be over in a New York minute with no money or control. By statute Federal Trustees [for tax purposes] have their “residence” located in Washington, DC per 26 USC §7701(a)(39).

This might, to the unaware, seem to suggest that the corporation you work for meets the definition of “American Employer”. However, notice that the corporation must be “organized under the laws of the United States or of any State.” Guess we now must look at the definitions for “United States” and “State” to be certain beyond doubt that the IRS is referring to your Non-federal employer that you work for.

For the definitions of “United States” and “State” in Chapter 21 of Subtitle “C” you will find in 26 USC §3121 (e) State, United States, and citizen defined. In this section you find:

“For the purposes of this chapter:

(1) State – The term “State” includes [consists of; to the exclusion of all others] the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa. [emphasis added]

(2) United States – The term “United States” when used in a geographical sense includes [consists of; to the exclusion of all others] the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa. An individual who is a citizen of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico (but not otherwise a citizen of the United States) shall be considered, for purposes of this section, as a citizen of the United States.” [emphasis added]

Do you see any reference listed about a “state of the Union” in the Federal statutory definition? Our everyday use of the word “state” is far different from the Federal government’s everyday “carefully planned” use of their word of art “State”. Pay particular note to the upper and lower case use by the Federal government in their expression of this word. The upper case denotes “States of the United States” which include [consist of to the exclusion of all others] U. S. territories like Guam, Puerto Rico, American Samoa, etc.

By now you have noticed the frequent use by the IRS of the word “includes” in their definitions sections. On occasions the IRS will use the word “means”. Remember that words are the art of how government employees, officers, and elected officials conduct their strategy. Keep in mind the definition of the word “definition” as found in Black’s Law Dictionary. No matter what semantics the IRS might try, the definition of a word is a “specific inclusion of all pertinent parts and the exclusion of all non-essential parts”. The 50 States are noticeably excluded from these definitions.

So if your employer is a corporation organized under the laws of “the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa” then you work for an “American Employer” which is really to say a corporation organized [“subject to”] in the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Government. Those who do so are Federal workers and lawfully owe the tax on their income.

What is really interesting is why the authors of this federal municipal legislation chose the words “American Employer”. Now you see yet again why “assuming” will take you down the wrong path as the Federal Government doesn’t use the same definitions for the common everyday terms we American Nationals use.

While we are taking such a close look at federal regulations, we need to go back to 26 CFR §31.3402(p)-1 Employment Taxes and Collection of Income Tax at Source, which is an Administrative Regulation. In the first paragraph labeled (a) you will see the parties who make up this agreement.
Chapter 5: Private Sector Employers & Tax Class 5 Forms

The IRS is noticeably absent from being identified as a party to the agreement.

“In general: An employee and his employer may enter into an agreement under section 3402(b) to provide for the withholding of income tax...”

Now do you understand the “assumption” that the government is expecting you to make? Are you an “employee” working for an “employer” as defined in 26 USC §3121? Most American Nationals are certainly not! Sadly you won’t see the distinction stated on the W-4, and this omission is deliberate and motivated by greed of your public dis-servants.

“Now do you see why the IRS sticks their nose in W-4 determinations?” The legal jurisdiction for the IRS to operate in is only the Federal Zone [the District of Columbia]. Filling out, and signing the W-4 under penalties of perjury has identified and declared those who do so into identifying themselves to be an “employee, officer, or elected official of the United States” who works for an “American Employer”.

The IRS is however careful to make any written statements to reflect the wording that “Your income appears to create a taxable liability.”

It is interesting and worthwhile to note that the “appearance” of a taxable liability is not the same thing as “actually being made liable” and thus having a taxable liability. FDR’s comment about everything the government does is by the use of words and these words are so carefully planned that they now stand out in bold relief.

Any federal document that you “assume” or are expected to sign under penalties of perjury should be signed with the words “All rights reserved, UCC §1-308 Without Prejudice”. This little phrase above your signature will keep you out of a world of trouble.

This is a reference to the Uniform Commercial Code, Section 1-308 which relates to the Performance or Acceptance under Reservation of Rights.

“A party who with explicit reservation of rights performs or promises performance or assents to performance in a manner demanded or offered by the other party does not thereby prejudice the rights reserved. Words, such as, ‘without prejudice, under protest, or the like are sufficient.”

The use of the UCC statement means that whenever you sign any legal document [like the W-4 we are discussing] in which you write over your name the phrase “All rights reserved, UCC §1-308 Without Prejudice” you are reserving your God-given constitutionally protected rights. This statement enables you to always assert your Seventh Amendment right of access to the Common Law and the Constitutional protections. This UCC statement is a wonderful protection tool, so use it every time you sign any document, especially a Federal or State government document.

There is a solution that should be considered. You need to create a letter to terminate any inaccurate or non-required W-4 agreement previously submitted and attach a Form W-8 BEN found on http://www.sedm.org.

About IRS Form W-8BEN, Form #04.202
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

The basic components to correctly writing the letter are found under 26 CFR §31.3402(p)-1 (b) Form and duration of agreement. The W-8 BEN removes you from being misidentified. Some approaches to writing this letter are found in the following document:

Federal and State Tax Withholding Options for Private Employers, Form #09.001

The Galileo Paradigm, version 1.04
Copyright Adele Weiss http://famguardian.org/
The letter and the IRS Form W-8BEN need to be given to your private sector employer and then sent to the IRS informing them that your private sector nonfederal employer is fearful of the IRS and demanded that you submit to the IRS Form W-4 [with implied duress] in order to maintain private sector employment.

Your declaration that the previously submitted IRS Form W-4 is invalid due to it being signed under duress is sufficient to making that contract voidable ab initio and no penalty of perjury can be applied against you if you were forced by coercion just so that you can make a living “outside the United States” and its special laws which are only applicable within the “United States” [the District of Columbia per 26 USC §7701(a)(9), (a)(10), (a)(39) & 7408(d)].

The reason you can terminate the W-4 agreement by letter is found 26 CFR §31.3402(p)-1(b)(2) of the regulation, which states,

> “An agreement under section 3402(p) shall be effective for such period as the employer and the employee mutually agree upon. However, either the employer or the employee may terminate the agreement prior to the end of such period by furnishing a signed written notice to the other.”

Most employers are interested in maintaining good employee relations. Simply submit your letter to your employer requesting termination of the W-4 and include a copy of the Administrative Regulation 26 CFR §31.3402(p)-1 to back up the validity of your request.

If your employer balks, because of fear and uncertainty at this point, politely ask your employer to send your letter to the IRS, covering the proper aspects for the termination, in order to get the IRS to approve your right to terminate based on the federal regulation.

Keep in mind that private sector nonfederal employers have been the focus of IRS intimidation. Additionally, a private employer might have concerns arising from the over-regulation of business by the federal government. This is especially true with the W-4 as it is perceived to be mandatory for everyone, and company payrolls have been set up with that idea in mind.

The law simply requires a statement of fact from the employee as to whether the employee does or does not want his or her wages withheld for the payment of an income tax. These statements with your employer are private and should remain in the company files.

However, the IRS many times asks private sector employers to send the exempt forms to the IRS in order for the IRS to immediately send the private employer a letter instructing them to withhold with zero exemptions. This is fine for those who are “Taxpayers” by law but the problem arises when presumption is made that all “employees” must have a SSN in order to work in the private sector when companies have no legislative power to create laws that the Federal government can not create and impose upon Americans.

There is no law requiring Americans to obtain or secure a SSN and such could not exist if the Constitution is still functioning.

An IRS letter to a non-federal employer would better protect that private sector employer if the letter contained a statement based on an oath by the IRS agent indicating that the payment of money for an income tax was actually owed by the employee. The IRS rarely signs any document with an oath that is made under penalties of perjury upon the IRS agent directly, even though 26 USC §6065 requires it. All IRS correspondence also uses “pseudonyms” to identify IRS agents, which means that the name of the agent isn’t even real in most cases, and yet the IRS demands that the private employee uses their full legal birthname on all IRS Forms. Sounds like a double standard, doesn’t it?
The IRS frequently applies the wrong law to private employers and does so primarily through unchallenged presumption that is unlawful.

“It is apparent,” this court said in the Bailey Case (219 U.S. 239, 31 S.Ct. 145, 151) “that a constitutional prohibition cannot be transgressed indirectly by the creation of a statutory presumption any more than it can be violated by direct enactment. The power to create presumptions is not a means of escape from constitutional restrictions.”

The majority of private sector employers “read their company” into the Internal Revenue Code as “employers” and the officers of the company believe that they might be quasi agents of the federal government. That is not atypical when assumptions are made without proof.

Private sector nonfederal employers who transfer money from their employees to accounts with the IRS without an oath or certification authorizing such a transfer are abetting the denial of due process and engaging in criminal theft and money laundering under the color of law on behalf of the federal government. The private sector employer is also subjecting the company to potential litigation by their employee for conversion of that employee’s non taxable income.

Only the “employee” may authorize any transfer of their earnings via the W-4 claiming allowances. The federal courts have established this fact in U.S. v. Malinkowski, 47 F.Supp. 352 (1972) in which the court stated:

“The Employer is not authorized to alter the W-4 Form and disallow the employee’s claims.”

How is it possible that “penalties of perjury” could apply if anyone could change it for you without your approval? You are not liable for money to be withheld in the first place by your private sector employer if your wages are not derived from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the “United States”.

Further proof that the IRS can not lawfully instruct the employer to delete, modify, alter, or disregard the employee’s W-4 statement under oath arise from the Code of Federal Regulations, according to 26 CFR §31.3402(f)(5)-1(b)(1):

“An alteration of a withholding exemption certificate is any deletion of the language of the jurat or other similar provision of such certificate by which the employee certifies or affirms the correctness of the completed certificate, or any material [instructions or suggestions to influence] defacing of such certificate,”

The other interesting fact is that the above regulation obligates only federal officers and employees, not private persons who do not participate in federal franchises. When any private sector employee submits the W-4, or a substitute form for the W-4, the private sector nonfederal employer should be diligent and require the IRS agent to provide the company with a certification from the Secretary of the Treasury or the Commissioner of Internal Revenue before withholding money earned by the employee. The private sector employer is walking on thin ice without obtaining a proper certification [oath] if they cause a withholding to take place.

The oath equalizes all persons to the level of the comprehension of the truth no matter what the subject might be.

Our Constitution would be only mere sheets of paper without the solemn oaths of the federal officers, federal employees, and elected federal officials who carry out the work they perform in strict adherence to enacted federal law and the constitution.
Chapter 5: Private Sector Employers & Tax Class 5 Forms

The IRS will not provide a certification or oath that the federal income tax is owed and therefore must be withheld against the private sector employee. The IRS will merely attempt to have the private sector employer act to collect the tax without the authority of any law or oath. IRS agents can only act within their authority.

However, under Color of Law, private sector nonfederal employers in effect are offering the IRS assistance inappropriately. This only occurs when the private sector employee informed their private sector nonfederal employer they are a non-taxpayer as their income is not derived by being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the United States. Thus, the IRS has no authority or jurisdiction to act against that fact.

An IRS agent’s oath, when coupled with constitutional or statutory authority and the delegation of authority order which documents it, is what constrains and determines the power that they possess. You can be certain that the IRS agents would act immediately to collect the tax if the authority to exercise such a power existed. Without the power or the authority, IRS agents rely on intimidation and letters, which give the appearance of authority under color of law.

If a person is not liable for the federal income tax, then that person is also not required to agree with his private employer to have any part of his or her pay withheld to pay for a tax or sign the W-4 form. 26 USC §3402(n).

The stated purpose of a completed W-4 is “so your employer can withhold the correct amount of federal income tax from your pay.” If the private sector worker owes no federal income tax, the correct amount of tax to withhold would be “none.”

“Why would any private employee ever agree to have money withheld from their paycheck when there is no federal income tax liability?”

The only answer I have been able to find in the Code of Federal Regulations was at 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) pertaining to one who is not liable but "elects" [volunteers] to make their income taxable as that of a U.S. resident alien pursuant to 26 USC §6013(g) and (h) because they are married to a statutory “U.S. citizen”. The method of “electing” or volunteering is made by signing the IRS Form W-4.

Based upon enacted federal tax law the private sector employee [American National] is not liable for the federal income tax, and that person is not required to complete an IRS Form W-4 due to lack of requirement to pay the tax.

Section 3401(c) demonstrates that Chapter 24 Subtitle “C” is devoted entirely toward federal employers and federal employees because all these government employees are subject to liability for the federal income tax and withholding by the usual operation of the tax.

In 26 USC §3401(c), you will find another reference to “Employee” as it states,

“For purposes of this chapter, the term ‘employee’ includes an officer, employee, or official of the United States [meaning the federal government], a State [US Territory or Possession], or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term ‘employee’ also includes an officer of a corporation.”

Another method to confirm that the term “employee” only refers to “federal employees” is to read a Notice of Levy.

On occasions, private employers receive these notices from the IRS when the IRS wants to take the money that belongs to the private employee. These Notices of Levy will always start with §6331(b) and if the private sector employer is not paying attention they fail to notice that §6331(a) is omitted.

If you look at 26 USC §6331(a) you will find the reference statement:
Chapter 5: Private Sector Employers & Tax Class 5 Forms

‘Levy may be made upon the accrued salary or wages of any officer, employee, or elected official, of the United States [meaning the federal government], the District of Columbia, by serving notice of levy upon the employer [the federal agency per 26 USC §3401(d)] of such officer, employee, or elected official.” [Emphasis & Clarification added]

The IRS simply does not have any power or authority to force withholding on private sector workers who are American Nationals. This is because the government of the United States is without jurisdiction within the non-federal states of the union [the 50 States] arising from the Constitutional restrictions placed upon the federal government.

The IRS routinely, falsely, and maliciously pressures the private sector employers to ignore the lack of liability of a private employee's from a W-4 signed under duress to remain employed. That fact centers on the declaration by the signer of the IRS Form W-4 that they are a “Taxpayer” and use a SSN to prove that they are a sub contracted federal employee who is a “Taxpayer”. Pressure by the IRS is not a legitimate function of tax collection. An agent’s duty is to collect taxes from a list, certified by the Secretary of the Treasury or Commissioner of Internal Revenue or the person voluntarily executing a Form 1040 or W-4.

The IRS will focus their intimidation efforts via written anonymous correspondence alluding to claims for collection of a tax owed by a “Taxpayer” even when the SSN application [purported constructive trust contract] was voidable ab initio but has not been pursued by the American National due to a lack of knowledge. The IRS will back away from providing any enacted federal tax law to prove the liability exists against the private sector employee who is an American National. They will also avoid personal liability for their fraudulent demands by using “pseudonyms” to disguise their true legal identity and evade being prosecuted for their violations of law. See:

Notice of Pseudonym Use and Unreliable Tax Records. Form #04.206
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

Any private sector employer who causes an American National to provide a “properly executed withholding agreement” when by 26 CFR §1.871-1 their income is “not derived from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business within the United States” is the equivalent of imposing, assessing, and collecting a tax.

Private sector nonfederal employers have no authority to impose a federal income tax on any of their employees. If a private employer withholds wages, the employer is taking money from the employee without a requirement to do so by law and the IRS admits this as fact in their Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.).

The Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.14.10.2 (09-30-2004) Payroll Deduction Agreements states the following:

“Private employers, states, and political subdivisions are not required to enter into payroll deduction agreements. Taxpayers should determine whether their employers will accept and process executed agreements before agreements are submitted for approval or finalized.

Most, if not all, private sector non-federal employers have never seen this IRM reference. The language is clear for all to read and comprehend. If you work for a private sector non-federal employer they are not required to enter into payroll deduction agreements.

The Subtitle C Chapter 24 Withholding of Income Tax at the Source only applies to those employed with the federal government or those subject to the special laws who work in the private sector but are correctly identified as having been made liable for the Federal income tax.
Private sector employers should not coerce their American National private sector employees, who are not made liable to pay the federal income tax, to complete an IRS Form W-4 contract. Not only is it a real windfall for the Federal government but inappropriate burden forced against one’s will in violation of the Bill of Rights. Any payment for a tax that is not owed is a voluntary contribution via self-assessment. If the payment is coerced it can only be considered theft. Every federal tax in existence must be “assessed” or determined based on lawful authority by regulation published in the Federal Register.

Only the individual private sector nonfederal employee non-resident alien [American National] has the right to make the choice to elect to have their hard earned income treated as taxable like the income of a U.S. resident alien under 26 USC §6013(g) or (h).

IRS agents are ministerial officers, and as such, can only collect taxes from persons or entities that have been certified to owe them. The W-4 can supply such a certification when the employee who certifies the W-4 states he or she owes a tax, enters a Social Security Number to document their income comes from a trade or business in the United States. If there is no IRS Form W-4 with such references, then the IRS must seek a certification from the Secretary of the Treasury or the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.).

Keep in mind, there is no enacted Federal law that mandates, requires, imposes any American National to obtain a SSN in order to live and work in the 50 states of the Union. Private sector employers should make that inquiry of the SSA directly to prove that as fact to their own satisfaction.

As previously mentioned, the Withholding is an agreement between an employee and an employer for the purpose of allowing the employer to withhold the correct amount of federal income tax. The IRS Form W-4 is a type of contract used for federal employees.

A private employer has no authority to alter, ignore, or disregard the non-resident alien [American National] employee’s sworn certificate [oath] in which the employee states that he or she has no federal tax liability, regardless of what the IRS may state.

The reason that the W-4 can not be altered, ignored, or disregarded is because of Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution which states the prohibition against the federal or state governments from passing any law impairing the obligation of any contract.

Congress was given all the power it would ever have in Article 1, Section 8 of the Constitution. Again, there is no authority granted to the federal government or state government to impair the obligation of any contract.

If the private employer blindly follows the instructions of an IRS letter with no delegation of authority or proof of regulation supporting such action, then that employer is potentially exposing the company to criminal liability for altering a federal document that has been signed under penalty of perjury.

When the private employer starts withholding of an employee’s “wages” based solely upon an anonymous or unsigned IRS letter suggesting that the employer “should change the W-4 to read 0 allowances and cross out Exempt” the employer has just created some problems for everyone and possibly committed a criminal act. This is done in the absence of any IRS regulation authority induced by fear of reprisal by the IRS and /or other federal agencies. The private sector nonfederal non-resident alien employee is in essence a “sacrificial lamb” as most private sector nonfederal employers do not want to deal with these matters. Furthermore, even if the private employer does decide to honor the IRS request, they can only lawfully withhold on “wages”, which can only be earned by those who explicitly consent pursuant to 26 CFR §31.3401(a)-3(a) and 26 CFR §31.3402(p)-1. Any percent of ZERO “wages” is still zero. This fact is routinely overlooked by those who are victimized by the tax scam.
Chapter 5: Private Sector Employers & Tax Class 5 Forms

There is not a single law that allows a private employer to blatantly disregard the requirement for an IRS employee’s oath on every IRS correspondence pursuant to 26 USC §6065. What good would the Oath be if there were? The IRS has simply told the employer to disregard the law as those who use SSNs are identified as federal indentured servants devoid of any protections by and under the constitution in regard to their earnings. By such action the private sector nonfederal employer is liable, not the IRS, as they are the party operating only on a suggestion when no law is presented. Thus, the IRS is not liable for any problems created by the private sector employer.

No federal or state court would ever rule that a private employer had the power to alter or disregard what an employee had declared under penalty of perjury. This is a major reason why a number of employers allow their American National employees to use a statement of non-liability, or a substitute form that you design instead of the W-4.

Most American National workers would never sue their private sector employer. Part of the reason is job security is diminished by such in most situations not to mention that most Americans today live paycheck to paycheck and are heavily in debt even with two-income families and really have no financial resources to support litigation expense. The IRS knows this all too well and uses that to their advantage in these situations when they can not help but know that there is no authority by regulation to do as they request.

If you are an employer, be wary of all IRS letters that present no authority behind their request which are deceptively written to suggest that the private sector nonfederal employer take it upon themselves to alter, obliterate, ignore, or disregard a W-4 that has been executed under penalty of perjury. Private sector nonfederal employers should refuse to be fooled by letters that ask you to “please” do something or that you “should” do something that is in disobedience of the law.

Any action by an employer based on such an IRS letter makes the action of the employer a voluntary act. The law is absolutely clear that those persons who deal with the government must ascertain the authority of the government representative they are dealing with. Remember, each sub-contracted IRS agent would be liable if they directly stated that the private sector employer, must do anything. If the private sector employer acts on the IRS request, then they ‘act at their own peril’ [Heckler v. Community Health Services, 467 U.S. 51, 81 L.Ed. 42, 104 S Ct 2218]

“*So why hasn’t all this gone to court before now?” Three simple answers come to mind immediately. Money, Time, and Fear are good for starters. The courts have judges that have a lot to lose if they don’t bend to the system of today. The truth [justice] is not the issue but instead it is procedure, gamesmanship, and censorship of incriminating evidence by those with an economic agenda within the government. Who can play the game the best wins while those who can not or are not well versed in it lose….every time!

The federal government will not reimburse the employer’s costs if the employee sues for altering the W-4 or disregarding it completely. Under no circumstances should anyone alter or disregard any person’s statement made under penalty of perjury. Employers should always require an oath from any IRS official who makes demands or suggestions that will place the employer in jeopardy. Ever look at someone’s face when you tell them this? Not pleasant is it?

Most people just want to be left alone and live their lives quietly and peacefully. Their energy needs to be focused on family matters and earning a living. That is why the system has prevailed to this point.

It is very understandable that our public (government) institutions of education do not present these facts either. They purposely remain ignorant in an age of enlightenment. The earth is flat...the earth is flat....I don’t want to know anything else!
Now consider how important it is to notify one’s private sector “employer” of the intent to terminate the W-4 agreement mistakenly created when you determine that:

1) The SSN is voidable ab initio due to the SSN application being:

   a. Signed as a child and you were not of legal age,

   b. There was no full disclosure of the terms, conditions, and definitions used by the government so that you could understand what you were agreeing to be bound by, and

   c. There was no willful and knowing intent to enter into a constructive trust contract in which you would be identified as:

      i. A U.S. citizen [a Federal statutory creation of Congress under 8 USC §1401] who is not one that enjoys constitutionally protected Rights.

      ii. A Federal Employee operating in a representative capacity as a Federal Trustee for the SSN [purported] constructive trust for the benefit of the Federal government.

2) You are not deriving your income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the United States per 26 CFR §1-871-1.

American Nationals who make such determinations need to send the Notice of Termination not only to the Non-federal employer but the Notice of Termination should be sent to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue in Washington, DC.

There is another reason. If under 26 CFR §31.3402(p)-1 Employment Taxes and Collection of Income Tax At Source you have previously signed an IRS Form W-4 agreement, then by definition of “American Employer” under 26 USC §3121 (h) you are considered by the IRS as to be working for the Federal Government, federal agency, or “a corporation organized under the laws of the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa.”

Many who use a SSN are reporting that there is little hope that the amount they once expected to receive will be of any real value due to the governments’ debasing the currency and converting it into a fiat currency. Some even think that there might not be any money left after the funds dry up. At any time, Congress can rescind the trust and leave the trustees with nothing at all because there is no guarantee anything will be paid to all who have contributed.

Many American Nationals who understand the dilemma are now seeking to completely unravel themselves from the former mistaken “presumptions” imposed upon them by the Social Security Application [purported constructive trust contract under private law] Form SS-5 as a statutory “U.S. Citizen”.

In order to do so, American Nationals must send their Notice of Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee status and include a Legal Notice of Domicile Change to that of being identified as an American National [non-resident alien to all federal jurisdictions] who does not earn a living from holding any public office in DC. See:

1. Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Form #06.002
   http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm
2. Legal Notice of Change in Domicile/Citizenship Records and Divorce from the United States, Form #10.001
   http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

This step is a rebuttal of any “assumption” by the IRS that American Nationals was liable for the non-enacted Subtitle A Income Tax as an identified party as stated in the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment.
Chapter 5: Private Sector Employers & Tax Class 5 Forms

Hopefully, you now understand why the IRS Form W-4 had no stated definition of the terms defined in 26 USC §3121 “employee and employer”.

The collection of the Non-enacted Subtitle “A” Income Tax “from whatever source derived” [as stated in the 16th Amendment] now becomes crystal clear. Any American National who meets 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) non-liability can only volunteer to pay the tax by “electing” to have their income treated as that of a U.S. resident alien.

The fact is that Americans still today make the “presumption” as to being a statutory “U.S. Citizen” [who has no Constitutional Protections of any God-given Rights]. They continue to make the “assumption” as to being an “employee” of an “American Employer”. Americans who work in the private sector and do not derive any income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the United States have made the “presumption” that the Subtitle “A” Income Tax was applicable toward your income.

Think before you act on any matter. Ask questions about signing anything under penalties of perjury and ask for definitions of terms and conditions presented in any document or correspondence. Ask if you are signing a private law contract. Ask if there is an enacted Federal law that requires you to do so. Then get the requesting party to provide a copy of it so that you can go to Cornell University Law Website and confirm it as factual or applicable toward you.

http://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/

Correct any private sector nonfederal employer that presents you with a Tax Class 5 forms to sign your rights away. Stop making any assumption about what documents like Form SS-5, IRS Form W-4, & Form 1040 mean and why are you required to sign them under Penalties of Perjury. Is it any wonder the IRS classifies such non-filers as “Tax Protesters” and threatens them as they do? Correct any incorrect W2 or 1099 sent to the IRS.

What does the Law State about the IRS Form W-4 & Withholding for Federal income tax

The United States Supreme Court stated that no one can withhold the payment of a worker without his consent in Antelope, 23 U.S. 66, 10 Wheat 66, 6 L.Ed. 268 (1825) when the Supreme Court stated:

“Every man has a natural right to the fruits of his own labor, is generally admitted; and no other person can rightfully deprive him of those fruits, and appropriate them against his will...”

This has not been overturned since 1825 because it is supported by the constitution. Let’s explore this fact established by the constitution and upheld by the United States Supreme Court as the law of the land by reviewing a definition in Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition. The word that we should explore in the context of the IRS Form W-4 Withholding with a private sector employer if the American National chooses not to fill out such a form or to modify it in order to protect their “payments for the fruits of their labors” is none other than “duress”.

Duress is defined in Black’s Law Dictionary, Abridged 6th Centennial Edition as:

“A contract entered into under duress by physical compulsion is void. Also, if a party’s manifestation of assent to a contract is induced by an improper threat by the other party that leaves the victim no reasonable alternative, the contract is voidable by the victim.”

Black’s continues to expand the definition for more clarity with:

“Any unlawful threat or coercion used by a person to induce another to act [or to refrain from acting] in a manner that he or she otherwise would not [or would].”
“Subjecting a person to improper pressure which overcomes his will and coerces him to comply with demand to which he would not yield if acting as a free agent. Application of such pressure or constraint as compels a man to go against his will and takes away his free agency when he refuses the unjust demands of another.” Includes any conduct which overpowers will and coerces or constrains performance of an act which otherwise would not have been performed.”

Any private sector employer who might compel anyone, under duress, to sign an IRS Form W-4 Withholding Certificate impairs that individual’s right to contract freely without coercion would be tantamount to inducing financial slavery or at least financial indentured servitude. Duress arises when one is forced to incorrectly identify themself as a federal employee, threatened with loosing their employment, as well as being told that they can not refuse to sign the IRS Form W-4 per company policy.

If the private sector nonfederal employer increases pressure by stating that the “employee” must abide by some law imposing such an obligation without ever producing the law, that too is duress. Think about that. Why would you ever need to sign anything if you were required to adhere to withholding by some law without your consent? Who is the Master and who is the Slave in that consideration? Can that which was created ever become superior to the creator? The results of the Tower of Babel answer that question.

If the private sector nonfederal employer claims to be acting as an agent of the Federal government, such as a voluntary “withholding agent” as defined in 26 USC §7701(a)(16), then that employer is violating Article 1 Section 10 of the Constitution. This fact is further supported by the United States Supreme Court in Sinking Fund Cases, 99 U.S. 700 (1878) where the Court stated:

“Independent of these views, there are many considerations which lead to the conclusion that the power to impair contracts, by direct action to that end, does not exist with the general [Federal] government.”

One can certainly understand that if such power is not delegated to the Federal government the private sector nonfederal employer has no such power either.

The definition of “wages” in the IRC is found at 26 USC §3401 and relates to the IRC definition of “wages” in context to its “Employee” definition at 26 USC §3401(c) and at 26 CFR §31.3401(c)-1, which states:

“For purposes of this chapter, the term “employee” includes [consists of to the exclusion of all others; comprises; is limited to] an officer, employee, or elected official of the United States, a State, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing. The term “employee” also includes an officer of a corporation.” [Emphasis & Clarification added]

Those who live in the Republic see clearly that the IRC definition of “employee” is limited to just those it states which again are Federal workers only. This is a common error by those in the Republic who use words that look the same and are spelled the same but have entirely different meanings than the same words when used by the government.

How can this be the case you ask? The legal term “Expressio unius est exclusio alterius” basically states that what is not specifically included with the law itself must have been excluded and was implicitly presumed on purpose to have been excluded. Formal definition in Black’s Law Dictionary states it in this manner:

“A maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another.”
Chapter 5: Private Sector Employers & Tax Class 5 Forms

If an American National is using Federal property and operating in a representative capacity in behalf of the Federal government [using a SSN] then this explains why the withholding of “wages” requires a voluntary IRS Form W-4 to be signed. Failure by the private sector employer to obtain consent, except by duress, is best addressed by the United States Supreme Court in Plessy v. Ferguson, 61 U.S. 537, 542 (1896) where the court stated:

“Slavery implies involuntary servitude—a state of bondage; the ownership of mankind as a chattel, or at least the control of the labor and services of one man for the benefit of another, and the absence of a legal right to the disposal of his own person, property, and services in their entirety. This amendment was said in the Slaughter House Cases, 16 Wall, 36, to have been intended primarily to abolish slavery, as it has been previously known in this country, and that it equally forbade Mexican peonage or the Chinese coolie trade, when they amounted to slavery or involuntary servitude and that the use of the word ‘servitude’ was intended to prohibit the use of all forms of involuntary servitude, of whatever class or name.”

The prohibition of slavery and involuntary servitude in our nation established under the 13\textsuperscript{th} Amendment does not contain an exemption in the case of “taxation”. Paying for government services that people do not want and do not need is therefore the same type of slavery as Mexican peonage, Chinese coolie trade, or the African slave trade once prevalent in our nation in the past. Any private sector employer with “employees” outside of the definition in 26 USC §3401 does not work for an “employer” defined Federal employer in 26 USC §3401(d) as they are not engaged in the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.

This is further supported by 26 CFR §1.871-1 where Nonresident aliens [American Nationals] have no liability for the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax because their income is not “derived from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.” American Nationals working for a “private employer” have no duty to withhold or report any payments for the fruits of their labors according to the above Federal Regulation.

Resistant employers should be presented with a notarized Affidavit of Duress, along with the IRS Form W-4 [Exempt] and W-8BEN, in the presence of one or two witnesses to document your duress. Send a copy of all this paperwork to the IRS and SSA to prove you did not willingly submit to the federal employment contract [IRS Form W-4]. See:

Federal and State Tax Withholding Options for Private Employers, Form #09.001
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

Only “employees” who operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the Federal government can fill out and submit the voluntary IRS Form W-4. Private sector Employers should be reminded of the Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.14.10.2.2 concerning Payroll Deduction Agreements where it is stated:

“Private employers, state, and political subdivisions are not required to enter into payroll deduction agreements. Taxpayers should determine whether their employers will accept and process executed agreements before agreements are submitted for approval and finalized.”

Only IRC defined “employees” can fill out the IRS Form W-4 Employee Withholding Allowance Certificate. “Private sector employees” can be foolish and fill out this form but should not unless they are truly IRC defined “employees”. 26 CFR §31.3401(a)-3(a) identifies the IRS Form W-4 Employee Withholding Allowance Certificate as an “agreement” which is to say a “contract” in reality. Black’s Law Dictionary defined “agreement” to mean a “contract”.

A “contract” is considered to be a private law agreement between the Federal government and the signer of the “contract”. Such a “contract” is enforceable anywhere and at anytime. Those who do not sign benefit from not being coerced to abide by the voluntary “contract”.
Any contract signed under duress, threats, intimidation, or deception resulting in one doing that which by free choice would not do means that such a contract is voidable. The American Jurisprudence 2d, Duress, §21 (1999) states:

“Like other voidable contracts, they remain ‘valid’ until it is avoided by the person entitled to avoid it. However, duress in the form of physical compulsion [or psychological angst], in which the party signing is caused to appear to assent when he has no intention of doing so, is generally deemed to render the resulting purported contract void ab initio [from the beginning date it was signed].” [Emphasis added]

Look as hard as you can but you will not see where the IRS Form W-4 identifies itself as a “contract”. This is an intentional deception on the part of the IRS to mislead you into thinking that your voluntary consent is not required when the opposite is quite true.

Those who do not sign and submit the IRS Form W-4 “agreement” or “contract” voluntarily earn no “reportable” “wages” that appear on the Form W-2 created by the private sector employer each year. This is supported by 26 CFR §31.3401(a)-3(a).

If the IRS were to instruct the private sector employer to withhold on the income of any American National who does not derive any income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the United States and does not operate under a constructive trust contract for the benefit of the Federal government the withholding must be zero because the individual American National does not earn “wages” as legally defined in 26 CFR §31.3401(a)-3(a).

Simply put, there is no reason a person who has no Subtitle “A” Federal income tax liability to have any of their income withheld for any reason. Please see the exhibit for 26 CFR §31.3402(p) – 1(a).

What does the Law state about the Form W-2 Filing Information Returns? You find the answer at 26 USC §6041 Information at Source - this is the only legal authority for preparing information returns on Tax Class 5 forms such as IRS Form W-4, W-2, 1099, 1098 and so on.

26 USC §6041 Information at Source shows that:

(a) Payments of $600 or more

All persons engaged in a trade or business and making payment in the course of such trade or business to another person, of rent, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensations, remunerations, emoluments, or other fixed or determinable gains, profits, and income (other than payments to which section 6042 (a)(1), 6044 (a)(1), 6047 (e), 6049 (a), or 6050N (a) applies, and other than payments with respect to which a statement is required under the authority of section 6042 (a)(2), 6044 (a)(2), or 6045), of $600 or more in any taxable year, or, in the case of such payments made by the United States, the officers or employees of the United States having information as to such payments and required to make returns in regard thereto by the regulations hereinafter provided for, shall render a true and accurate return to the Secretary, under such regulations and in such form and manner and to such extent as may be prescribed by the Secretary, setting forth the amount of such gains, profits, and income, and the name and address of the recipient of such payment.

If anyone knowingly files a false information return they can be civilly prosecuted for fraud under 26 USC §7434. The penalty is the greater of $5000 or whatever false tax liability results plus attorneys fees and costs. They can also be criminally prosecuted pursuant to 26 USC §7207 and be fined $10,000 and sentenced to one year in prison.
The only legal duty for filing an IRS Form W-2 Information Return to the IRS under 26 USC §6041 is if the earning generated applied only to a “trade or business” activity.

You will find in 26 USC §7701(a)(26) that a “trade or business” is defined as “the performance of the functions of a public office.” This is not defined anywhere else in the IRC to include anything other than the taxable activity resulting from the performance of the functions of a public office.

One who holds a “public office” must be a “public officer” and Black’s Law Dictionary defines ‘public officer’ to mean:

“A person who is acting as a government employee or a government contractor.”

On Form W2 Box 1 you find listed “Wages, tips, other compensation”. We already know what “wages” are and that they relate only to Federal workers under 26 USC §3401. The term “compensation” is a new term that is not defined in the IRC but is referenced in 26 USC §911(d)(2) as “compensation for personal services”.

Researching for the definition of compensation for personal services it was discovered that 26 CFR §1.469-9(b)(4) defines “personal services” to mean:

“Work performed in connection with a “trade or business”.

That was a long trip of circular logic to return to the starting point found in 26 CFR §1.871-1 and 26 USC §7701(a) (26) to mean that “personal services” [and the compensation for that] is nothing more than “Work performed in connection with the performance of the functions of a public office”.

So the Form W2 is strictly for those Federal workers and those who operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the Federal government. All other uses of Form W2 are false information returns that can be civilly prosecuted for fraud under 26 USC §7434 if it was issued related to someone who was NOT involved in:

“Work performed in connection with the performance of the functions of a public office.”

The IRS can only lawfully penalize the following “persons” in connection with information returns:

(b) Person defined

The term “person”, as used in this subchapter, includes an officer or employee of a corporation, or a member or employee of a partnership, who as such officer, employee, or member is under a duty to perform the act in respect of which the violation occurs.

Also, it is a crime to compel the use or disclosure of a Social Security Number on a withholding or reporting form per 42 USC §408(a)(8) & 5 USC §552(a).

42 USC §408(a)(8) discloses, uses, or compels the disclosure of the social security number of any person in violation of the laws of the United States; shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be fined under title 18 or imprisoned for not more than five years, or both.

So what does all this mean to the private sector employer who has hired an American National [a non-resident to federal jurisdiction] who will not earn any income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” in the “United States” that does not desire to fill out or submit an IRS Form W-4 or have a Form W2 generated by the private sector employer?

Perhaps it is finally the moment for the private sector “employer” to stop and consider what the law truly states and to no longer make assumptions for starters. Review again Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.14.10.2 which states private companies are not required to withhold or deduct from the income of their employees.

If the company you work for is truly a “private employer” [meaning that they are not part of the Federal government and have no contracts or agreements or franchises with the Federal government that may have converted them into being classified as a “public office” or being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” in the “United States” a.k.a. the District of Columbia] then that private employer must adhere to the guidelines in the IRM which is to say the company should abide by the law and not initiate any withholding as no taxable liability exists.

Even if the private sector employer decided to become a voluntary withholding agent for the IRS, they may not lawfully compel their workers [employees] to file an IRS Form W-4 contract/agreement. If nonresident alien employees are “required” by potential loss of employment to file an IRS Form W-4, then the conflict arises.

This entire chapter was predicated on a USSC decision that “We The People” have the duty [obligation] described in the USSC decision American Communications Association v. Douds, 339 U.S. 382, 442, (1950):

“It is not the function of our Government to keep the citizen from falling into error; it is the function of the citizen to keep the government from falling into error.”

The worker is identified as a Nonresident alien [an American National] not engaged in a “trade or business”. It is a crime against this person to:

1. Compel the use of or force disclosure of a Social Security Number, especially one that has been rebutted because of it being voidable ab initio.
   a. Compelled use is a violation of 42 USC §408 and 5 USC §552(a).

2. Compel the signing of an IRS Form W-4 “voluntary withholding agreement”.
   a. Duress used to generate a signature is not “voluntary”.

3. Ignore the employees’ wishes by continuing to deduct and withhold.
   a. This is in direct violation of Federal law to deduct and withhold when the employee is not deriving their income from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business [26 CFR §1.871-1].

Finally, the private sector employer may not lawfully issue a Form W-2, and especially in the case of a nonresident alien worker not engaged in a “trade or business” and who does not participate in the Social Security franchise because:

1. Putting any number other than a “Zero” in Block 1 for “Wages, tips, and other compensation” as that creates the identification with the IRS as income being derived from the conduct of a “trade or business” within the United States.
   a. If the employee did not submit an IRS Form W-4 or did so under duress then the reporting is a false information report under 26 USC §7434 and contrary to 26 CFR §31.3401(a)-3(a).

2. To use a Social Security Number on any government form or to send the form against the will of the employee is a violation of the Privacy Act [5 USC §552(a)] and 42 USC §408. It also incorrectly identifies that party as being a federal employee earning wages from being engaged in the performance of the functions of a public office in the District of Columbia.
3. To identify the earnings of any worker with a “public office” or a “trade or business” by filling out an information return against them when they are in fact not a government “employee” or worker or “officer” and did not voluntarily sign an IRS Form W-4 creates a violation of 26 USC §6041.

4. Any such Form W2 information return created, under the above conditions, is a false information return because:

a. The W2 contains a nonzero amount in Block 1 which creates the false documentation that the earnings of the employee [American National/Nonresident alien to federal jurisdiction] are derived from a “trade or business”.

b. The employee does not have a Form W4 on file or one signed without having done so under duress. Thus there are no “wages, tips, compensation” derived according to 26 CFR §31.3401(a)-3(a).

c. The employee is not engaged in a “public office” and does not desire to associate his or her private earnings with the government as an “Federal employee” or “contractor” or “public officer” because the employee would be committing perjury on a Federal form if he or she were to signed and submitted an IRS Form W-4.

5. Any such information return filed by the private sector company against the employee violates 26 USC §7434 because it is false information being transmitted. This has the potential to subject the company to civil liability for filing false information returns under section 7434 and criminal liability pursuant to 26 USC §7207.

6. Under this structure outlined above, the only party violating the law is the private sector employer [private company] as they have done so by:

a. Refusal to read and heed the written law and to abide by it.

b. Are relying on sources that are not credible according to both the IRS and Federal courts.

c. Have repeatedly tried to distract attention away from the law by using slanderous threats, intimidation, or unsubstantiated false allegations all while ignoring the law.

It should be a simple thing, if it were a perfect world, for the private sector “employee” to present the information stated and decline to sign an IRS Form W-4. Then go about their job activities without fear of retribution by the private company merely due to the employee standing up for what is right and correct.

Many companies, sad to say, will, if forced to choose between agreeing to abide by the law or what is considered the norm without any facts will violate the law. To their embarrassment, many will hold fast to their old paradigm by maintaining a work environment that places their private sector non-taxpayer workers with no choice but to involuntarily surrender their life, liberty, property, and rights to socialist thieves in the government. The need to secure gainful employment and the goading threats leaves the worker no choice but to seek work elsewhere in most situations. Of all the things the Dept. of Justice should be focusing on, this pernicious evil is the most important to eradicate because it is the essence of slavery it self and violates the Thirteenth Amendment.

The constitution fails to provide recourse except by the expense of time and a large financial investment to secure our Rights in the face of those who will fight to keep the status quo albeit via a perpetual state of duress.

By now you have a good understanding that if you are an American National, a nonresident alien, who is not engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” in the “United States” then you are not engaged in any privileged activity and have no source of income that makes you “taxable” or “liable” for the federal income tax.

This chapter is perhaps best brought to a close by revealing some statutes and regulations in regard to this taxation. Keep in mind that even though you are not one subject to this federal municipal tax, the Internal Revenue Code does have a surprising amount to say about those like us who have no liability. The IRS would look very foolish to claim the Internal Revenue Code is bogus…or as they say “frivolous and without merit”.

Thus, the IRC states that Nonresident Aliens [American Nationals] who have no earnings “effectively connected with a trade or business in the United States” are “free” from taxation by the following provisions of the IRC and Treasury Regulations.

26 USC §861(a)(3)(C) -- Income from sources within the United States:

(a) Gross income from sources within United States

The following items of gross income shall be treated as income from sources within the United States:

(3) Personal services

Compensation for labor or personal services performed in the United States; except that compensation for labor or services performed in the United States shall not be deemed to be income from sources within the United States if—

(C) the compensation is for labor or services performed as an employee of or under a contract with—

(i) a nonresident alien, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, or

(ii) an individual who is a citizen or resident of the United States, a domestic partnership, or a domestic corporation, if such labor or services are performed for an office or place of business maintained in a foreign country or in a possession of the United States by such individual, partnership, or corporation.

26 USC §864(b)(1) -- Definitions and special rules:

(b) Trade or business within the United States.

For purposes of this part, part II, and chapter 3, the term “trade or business within the United States” includes the performance of personal services within the United States at any time within the taxable year, but does not include—

(1) Performance of personal services for foreign employer

The performance of personal services—

(A) for a nonresident alien individual, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, or

(B) for an office or place of business maintained in a foreign country or in a possession of the United States by an individual who is a citizen or resident of the United States or by a domestic partnership or a domestic corporation, by a nonresident alien individual temporarily present in the United States for a period or periods not exceeding a total of 90 days during the taxable year and whose compensation for such services does not exceed in the aggregate $3,000.

26 USC §1402 -- Definitions:

(b) Self-employment income

The term "self-employment income" means the net earnings from self-employment derived by an individual (other than a nonresident alien individual, except as provided by an agreement under section 233 of the Social Security Act) during any taxable year; except that such term shall not include—

26 CFR §31.3401(a)-(b) -- Remuneration for services of nonresident alien individuals:

(a) In general.

All remuneration paid after December 31, 1966, for services performed by a nonresident alien individual, if such remuneration otherwise constitutes wages within the meaning of §31.3401(a)– l and if such remuneration is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, is subject to withholding under section 3402 unless excepted from wages under this section. In regard to wages paid under this section after February 28, 1979, the term "nonresident alien individual” does not include a nonresident alien individual treated as a resident under section 6013 (g) or (h).

(b) Remuneration for services performed outside the United States.

Remuneration paid to a nonresident alien individual (other than a resident of Puerto Rico) for services performed outside the United States is excepted from wages and hence is not subject to withholding.

26 CFR §1.872-2(f) -- Exclusions from gross income of nonresident alien individuals:

(f) Other exclusions.

Income which is from sources without [outside] the United States [District of Columbia, see 26
USC 7701(9)(a) and (a)(10)], as determined under the provisions of sections 861 through 863; and the regulations thereunder, is not included in the gross income of a nonresident alien individual unless such income is effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by that individual. To determine specific exclusions in the case of other items which are from sources within the United States, see the applicable sections of the Code. For special rules under a tax convention for determining the sources of income and for excluding, from gross income, income from sources without the United States which is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States, see the applicable tax convention. For determining which income from sources without the United States is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States, see section 864(c)(4) and §1.864–5.

26 CFR §1.871-1(a) -- Classification and manner of taxing alien individuals:

(a) Classes of aliens.
For purposes of the income tax, alien individuals are divided generally into two classes, namely, resident aliens and nonresident aliens. Resident aliens are, in general, taxable the same as citizens of the United States; that is, a resident alien is taxable on income derived from all sources, including sources without the United States. Nonresident alien individuals are taxable only on certain income from sources within the United States and on the income described in section 864(c)(4) from sources without the United States which is effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States.

“A power over a man’s subsistence amounts to a power over his will.”

Chapter 6: The 16th Amendment & the Legislative Intent behind It

6 Chapter 6: The 16th Amendment & the Legislative Intent behind It

Quote to Contemplate:

"An unconstitutional act is not law; it confers no rights; it imposes no duties; affords no protection; it creates no office; it is in legal contemplation as though it had never been passed."

[Norton v. Shelby County, 118 U.S. 425 (1886)]

To some readers this chapter may appear somewhat dry. Take heart, it has been condensed so that you can get to the key points quickly. You will be amazed how much you will understand on this one page alone. Time is precious, so let’s get started.

In Article 1 Section 9 of the Constitution of the United States [ratified 1789] you find a complete list of what Congress cannot do. That is a real relief for Americans to see that there indeed is a strong limitation placed against the Federal government so that we Americans might continue to enjoy our liberties, pursuing a quiet life, minding our own business, and enjoying the pecuniary results of our labor.

The one that is of interest to this discussion is found in Clause 4, which reads,

“No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the Census or Enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken."

So Congress was granted the authority to directly tax [via apportionment] the states of the Union based on the Census. In that structure, Congress can not tax Americans directly in spite of their attempt to do so in the Income Tax Act of 1894. If there is the effort by Congress to use Direct Taxation, each state would receive a bill based on each State’s percentage of the total population.

The Federal Government rarely uses this method. The reason is due to the limitations for a one-time charge. You see, once the various states of the Union would pay their proportioned share, the Federal Government could not come back for more money on that particular project.

Under Article 1, Section 8, Clause 1,

“The Congress shall have the power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.”

Ever hear of the Income Tax Act of 1894?

The United States Supreme Court [USSC] is certainly aware of it and has via the Pollock Decision declared this Act of Congress to be UNCONSTITUTIONAL as it amounted to a Direct Income Tax upon American Nationals.

President Taft had some interesting comments on that USSC decision to our favor!

Here we find the second method of taxation that the Constitution provides the Congress. Duties, Imposts and Excise taxation and these taxes are to be uniform throughout the States of the Union. These types of taxes are considered to be indirect taxation as they are charged on the cost of products, commodities, services, etc which are in many cases not billed directly to the consumer or American Nationals.

Congress has no limitations, to my knowledge, from the Constitution that prohibits Congress from creating an amendment to the constitution about laws that apply only the District of Columbia. There is also no
Chapter 6: The 16th Amendment & the Legislative Intent behind It

1 constitutional requirement for the Congress to tell Americans the jurisdictional application of each and every law Congress passes. Think about that for a moment as that is a great tool that Congress can use to create all the “assumptions” about their laws that in fact only apply to the District of Columbia.

Then in 1913, along comes the famous “INCOME TAX AMENDMENT.” There are those who contend that former Secretary of State Philander Knox, as a lame duck bureaucrat, fraudulently ratified this amendment. There is really no need to go into discussion on this issue because it really doesn’t matter to American Nationals. However, you might find it worthy of study. The documentation I have seen appears to support the claim by researchers as to the improper ratification by Secretary Knox.

So here it is. Article XVI –

“The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumeration.”

So we see here that Congress granted itself the power to lay and collect taxes on incomes. Is that the end of the story? Not by a long shot! Once you read the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment you will better understand.

As you have already noticed, the 16th Amendment is rather vague in that there is no identification of the “parties and jurisdiction” to which the Income Tax Amendment is applicable. For all these many years, American Nationals have rarely, if ever, looked at the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment.

The Legislative Intent declares the reason for the creation of the Amendment or any law being created. The purpose of the Legislative Intent behind laws is to show future legislators, following the passage of time, what the thoughts and considerations were as a reason for creating the law.

The Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment clearly identifies the parties upon whom “wages are income” and thus taxable and the geographical jurisdiction to which the amendment is applicable. This document also shows you why the IRS claims all prior arguments about the federal income tax are considered “frivolous and without merit” by the United States District courts. This will be covered in detail in a later chapter.

On June 16, 1909, former President William H. Taft sent his letter to Congress requesting that the Congress create a new piece of legislation. That document has been published in the Congressional Record and is the backbone of the creation of the 16th Amendment.

When a Judicial Court needs to understand any law, one of the first steps taken is to review what the legislature was seeking to achieve and the reasons behind the law being created. So now is the right time to take a closer look at the Legislative Intent.

President Taft stated in the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment,

“I therefore recommend to the Congress that both Houses, by a two-thirds vote, shall propose an amendment to the Constitution conferring the power to levy an income tax upon the National Government…”

What a hoot! He directed the Congress to place an income tax upon the “employees, officers, and elected officials of the “United States”. Sadly, for many years we Americans have been voluntarily giving our hard earned money by self-assessing [electing to have our income treated as taxable] for the Income Tax by filling out the Form 1040, using a Socialistic Surveillance Number, and mailing the Form and our money to the IRS.
The “assumption” of having “taxed income” was thus converted into an obligation by that voluntary act. Read 26 CFR §1.871-1 again as to how we can “elect” to inflict damage on ourselves.

Think about what the title for the Form 1040 shows, U.S. Individual Income Tax Return. That’s right, the “United States” [Federal Zone] Individual Income Tax Return. If you volunteered to pay a tax that only “United States Citizens” must pay then you have become a “Taxpayer”. If you happen to be an American National who works for the Federal Government as an “employee, officer, or elected official of the Federal Government” then you must pay the Income Tax because of the imposed liability.

Additionally, President Taft stated in the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment the inclusion of another party to be taxed by stating,

So President Taft identified the “parties” to whom “wages are income.” These “parties” as you can easily see are the real “Taxpayers” for the Subtitle “A” income tax as expressed via the 16th Amendment. The Constitution is null and void in the Federal Zone [the exclusive sovereign geographical jurisdiction of the federal government].

As the Congress only has to create a Statute in order for it to be considered a law in the Federal Zone, the parties made liable and those individuals who were born in the “United States” who are subject to the exclusive [municipal] jurisdiction of the “United States” were made liable for the passage in 1913, of the Income Tax Amendment.

Why do you think the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.) name starts with the word “Internal”? When a tax law is specific to the Federal Zone alone, the name really makes sense. The IRS is the “Revenue Service” for collection of the Income Tax that is applicable “internally” to the Federal Government and those subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Government.

The effect of the Buck Act created the “overlay of zip codes” over the geographical 50 States of the Union. This resulted in the creation of a quasi extension of the Federal Zone by the use of Zip Codes.

This is one key reason the IRS has offices outside of the Federal Zone and is operating similar to a State within the sovereignty of each of the 50 states. The Constitution has strictly forbidden this action but the sovereign states have been silent on stopping the Federal Government. For those who are academically inclined, check it out. You will be startled by your discovery here.

These tangents are important but there is the need to keep on track. It is vitally important for you to understand the difference in Citizenship status. It is an imperative necessity that you stop “assuming” the term “U.S. Citizen” means a citizen of the 50 states of the Union.

A “U.S. Citizen” has been made liable by virtue of being subject to the jurisdiction of the United States [meaning the Federal Zone] and is a 14th Amendment Statutory citizen without constitutional protections enjoyed by American Nationals.

President Taft referenced that American Nationals are completely excluded from the imposition of the Federal Income Tax. The Legislative Intent discloses yet further truth by the statement, “and it is now proposed to make up the deficit by the imposition of a general income tax, in form and substance of almost exactly the same character as, that which in the case of Pollock v.
Farmer’s Loan and Trust Company (157 U.S., 429) was held by the Supreme Court to be a direct tax, and therefore not within the power of the Federal Government to Impose [upon American Nationals] unless apportioned among the several States according to population."

[Emphasis & Clarification added]

Did you see that? This is a direct statement by the President of the United States!

President Taft admitted that the Federal Government does not have the power to impose a Federal income tax upon American Nationals who live in the Republic and do not work for the Federal government. You should reread that last paragraph again until it sinks in.

The IRS has to know who the real “parties are that have been made liable” and the geographical jurisdiction in which the 16th Amendment is applicable. Even though the IRS seems to have failed to acknowledge the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment, the law is still the law.

The proper “parties” to which the income tax was directed toward does not include American Nationals and the jurisdictional restrictions for the applicability of the income tax does not include the 50 states of the Union. See the following for exhaustive proof:

Federal Jurisdiction, Form #05.018

http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

There is no lawful “taxable liability” for the income tax upon American Nationals unless the Federal Government employs them. American Nationals represent the group called “Non-Taxpayers” of the federal income tax that the Supreme Court stated in Economy Plumbing & Heating v. US.

Alexander Hamilton, First Secretary of the United States Treasury and a Founding Father of the Constitution of the United States of the America, best described the foundational intent of the Constitution regarding the Federal Government’s ability to tax. He stated in his Federalist Paper No. 15, December 1, 1787, > “Except as to the rule of apportionment, the ‘United States’ has an indefinite discretion to > make requisitions for men and money; but they have ‘no authority’ to raise either, ‘by > regulations extending to the individual citizens of America.’

>
> The consequence of this is that in theory their resolutions concerning those objects are law, > constitutionally binding on the members of the Union, yet in practice they are mere > recommendations which the States observe or disregard at their option”.

By now you certainly understand that the term “United States” used by Hamilton means the Federal government. He clearly shows what interests governments the most; Men and Money! Men, and now women, for staffing the military and money to control the lives of those they seek to dominate.

Look at his comment about the fact that he understood the Congress will make “requisitions for men and money” while he tells all that the Federal government has > “no authority to raise either by regulations extending to the individual citizens of America.”

Not much “grey area” here for the Congress of today to squirm around, is there?
Chapter 6: The 16th Amendment & the Legislative Intent behind It

Hopefully, the facts are very clear that the 16th Amendment does not create an Income Tax Liability upon American Nationals.

So now you can review and think about your own personal tax situation, or lack of it, in light of the established legal facts:

1) The Constitution provides the Federal Government with the ability to tax American Nationals by two basic methods, a direct apportioned tax and via a uniform excise tax on certain imported commodity items and a variety of services.

2) The Income Tax Act of 1894 was declared by the United States Supreme Court as being unconstitutional as a direct income tax upon American Nationals.

3) The Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment by President Taft identified the parties made liable for the Income Tax as being “employees, officers, and elected officials of the federal government.”

4) U.S. Corporations were made liable by enactment of the 16th Amendment.

5) As the Federal Zone consists of U.S. Territories, those people born in the Federal Zone [U.S. citizens per 8 USC §1401] and subject to the jurisdiction thereof were made liable for the Federal Income Tax.

6) American Nationals were specifically excluded by the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment from being made liable as they were “therefore not within the power of the Federal Government to Impose”.

7) As a result of the 16th Amendment, the Federal government calls American Nationals “nonresident aliens” as stated in 26 CFR §1.871-1 and that their income is not taxable or made liable under Title 26 if that American National does not derive their income by being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business [working for the Federal government] within the United States.

8) American Nationals become liable by “electing” to have their income treated as being made liable for the Federal Income Tax by self-assessment. This occurs by completing, making out a payment, using Federal property called a Social Security Number, and mailing the Form 1040 to the “Internal” Revenue Service. Such an act is considered a “voluntary act” even if you did not have knowledge of the truth.

After 90 years of American Nationals “voluntarily” paying a tax that was “assumed” to be in existence and lawfully imposed upon those living in the Republic and working in the private sector, finally we uncover the facts that reveal the truth.

There does not exist any Federal Law imposing the non-enacted “Subtitle A Income Tax liability” for American Nationals. No longer are you destroyed for a lack of knowledge.

Footnotes about the Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States:

“This amendment did not confer any new power of taxation on Congress and did not extend the power of taxation to subjects previously exempted. Its whole purpose was to exclude the source from which income tax is a direct tax which must be apportioned among the states, and thus remove the occasion which might otherwise exist for an apportionment.
[American Jurisprudence 2d, Sixteenth Amendment, §17, pp. 317, 318 (1999)]
Ask yourself, “Who were the subjects previously exempted?”

Then, and only then, will you realize who those parties were that the Income Tax Amendment, the 16th Amendment, did not extend the power of taxation to.

Suggestion: Read the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment written by President William H. Taft, on June 16, 1909 which is published in the Congressional Record of the United States Senate on pages 3344-3345 to find that answer.

“The source of the taxing power is not the 16th Amendment; it is Article 1 Section 8 of the Constitution.”

[Penn Mutual Indemnity Co. v. Commissioner, 32 T.C. 1959, CCH at p. 659]

“The decision of the Supreme Court in the income-tax cases [Pollock v. Farmers’ Loan & Trust Company (157 U.S. 429) was held by the Supreme Court to be a direct tax, and therefore not within the power of the Federal government to impose unless apportioned among the several States according to population] deprived the National Government of a power, which by reason of previous decisions of the court; it was generally supposed that government had.

I therefore recommend to the Congress that both Houses, by a two-thirds vote, shall propose an amendment to the Constitution conferring the power to levy an income tax upon the National Government without apportionment among the States in proportion to population.”

[President of the United States William H. Taft, Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment, Congressional Record of the United States Senate, June 16, 1909, pages 3344-3345]
7 Chapter 7: Congressional Jurisdictions

Quote to Contemplate:

“In other words, whilst confined to its constitutional orbit, the government of the United States is supreme within its lawful sphere.”

“The laws of Congress in respect to those matters [Federal income taxation] do not extend into the territorial limits of the states, but have force only in the District of Columbia, and other places that are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government. Constitutional restrictions and limitations are not applicable to the area of lands, enclaves, territories and possessions over which Congress had exclusive legislative authority.”
[Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

This subject matter should initiate with a brief historical review. The Constitution of the United States of America [ratified in 1789] established three power divisions of the national government. In general, the Executive power division deals with the administration or proper execution of the laws passed by Congress. The Judicial power division functions in the role of construing law or applying it to a particular set of facts based on obligation originating from enacted federal law.

The most important power division of the United States is the Legislature [Congress]. These are the elected officials of the United States that American Nationals can vote for to represent us in the affairs of the government. Congress, through elected men and women, has the important job of creating the laws of our great nation.

Sometimes that job is very perplexing and compounds things that create results far beyond that which was intended. There is such a thing as housekeeping that might be helpful to all American Nationals if Congress were to organize the laws it passes into two separate jurisdictions. Have a set of books [laws] for the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress and a separate [distinct] set of books for just those in the 50 states of the Union. I have a strong feeling that the laws toward the 50 states of the Union will be a shorter read as most of the laws Congress passes probably are applicable only within the “United States”.

Here’s an idea! Tell Congress to create a library of current laws that apply only to the 50 states of the Union. Then mandate that Congress always identify on any legislation which jurisdiction each law applies toward so as to eliminate any potential for confusion on part of the public. That library of laws applicable to the 50 states will be small compared to those applicable in the municipal district identified by Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17.

Congress is where every law originates and so does the confusion sometimes. From this point forward, every time you see the term “United States”, I am referring exclusively to the federal government and/or the District of Columbia.

Many American Nationals are unaware that Congress has two jurisdictions in which a law may or may not apply. The laws that Congress passes, or enacts, may apply to the Federal Zone only or to the 50 states of the Union. This is an important distinction that should not be overlooked when considering the aspects of federal jurisdiction questions.

“It is clear that Congress, as a legislative body, exercise two species of legislative power: the one, limited as to its objects, but extending all over the Union: the other, an absolute, exclusive legislative power over the District of Columbia. The preliminary inquiry in the case now before the Court, is, by virtue of which of these authorities was the law in question passed?”
[Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 6 Wheat. 265; 5 L.Ed. 257 (1821)]
Chapter 7: Congressional Jurisdictions

The Federal Zone currently consists of: Washington, DC, the U.S. Territories [like Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa], military enclaves [like Air Force bases], and insular possessions [like federal buildings we see in our cities].

A quick review about the people who were born in or live in the Federal Zone, they are called statutory “U.S. Citizens.” They have no constitutional protections of any God-given rights as they are subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States. They carry an ID card proving they are “U.S. Citizens.”

The United States of America [USA] consists of the 50 states of the Union [the Republic]. This is the jurisdiction where Congress passes the fewest laws. Surprised? The simple reason for this is because the United States doesn’t have any lawful jurisdiction to do as they choose inside the borders of the 50 states [non-federal land] because of Article 1, Section 2, Clause 3 and Article 1, Section 9, Clause 4 of the Constitution.

Congresswoman Zoe Lofgren, from the 16th District of California, stated in her letter to a constituent dated October 30, 2000:

“You assertion that Congress has exclusive legislative authority over Washington DC and limited legislative authority over the states [meaning the 50 States of the Union] is correct.”

SOURCE: SEDM Exhibit #04.003; http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm

The clarification had to be added, as even these guys may not be totally clear to some readers. This will become more evident as you continue.

Interestingly there is another statement by Zoe Lofgren in which was stated,

“There is no Constitutional requirement to identify the source of authority when passing a particular law...evaluations of Constitutional authority must be done on a case by case basis.”

Get real! Did you see what the Congresswoman Lofgren just told you? Just because there is no Constitutional Requirement for the Congress to show the public what the source of authority [meaning the proper jurisdiction that is applicable] they are going to make it deliberately difficult for the public try and figure it out!

Do you have any idea how many laws Congress created last year? Guess who has to determine if a law applies to American Nationals? You do! So you come home tired each evening [unless you work nights] and each of us know have the additional burden of not only trying to understand every law that is passed but we are left with trying to figure out if that law is applicable to the jurisdiction of the 50 states of the Union. That’s the game…but there is help via the Federal Register!

By the way, this would be a great issue to bring up to your Congressman when they are seeking your vote during the next election. Part of their well paid job should be to clearly identify the “jurisdictional authority” in order to make it simple for those of us who have to work for a living to know if a law applies to us.

Now I will quietly step down from my soapbox and continue. However, I will keep it handy just in case.

Wouldn’t it be great if there were a web site, which published every law that is applicable to American Nationals? Then one would only have to select the Legislative Intent of the law to learn the specifics of the enacted law. For readers who are not attorneys, the Legislative Intent of the law specifically identifies the law’s purpose, the parties, and jurisdiction of the newly enacted law in a very specific manner.

Hopefully, you are still reading. This takes a little getting use to for most people so don’t give up or get lost. Let’s summarize what you have just read.
1. Only Congress has lawful authority to create or enact federal laws as stated in Article 1 Section 1 of the Constitution of the United States. Courts and Court decisions do not have such constitutionally granted authority.

2. Congress has never been granted the authority by the Constitution to delegate Legislative authority to federal agencies or Secretaries of federal agencies [like the Secretary of the Treasury] to create their own implementing regulations.

3. Congress has two jurisdictions in which legislative powers can have an impact: The Federal Zone and the 50 states.

4. Federal Zone Citizens are “United States Citizens” and Citizens of the 50 states of the Union are “American Nationals” [non-resident aliens to the federal zone].

6. Congress has no obligation to tell American Nationals if the law they pass applies to the 50 states of the Union.

7. The Legislative Intent of a law tells us the purpose of the law, the parties involved, and the jurisdiction to which it applies.

8. The two key issues of any federal law are:
   a. Who are the Parties that the law applies to or is imposed upon?
   b. What is the Jurisdiction in which the law is applicable?

Soon we will be talking in more detail about your money and the real control over it you were probably not aware of prior to starting this journey.
8 Chapter 8: Congressional Publication: How Our Laws Are Made

Quote to Contemplate:

“When government fears the people, there is liberty. When the people fear the government, there is tyranny.”

[Thomas Jefferson, President of the United States]

Do you like getting something free from time to time? The U.S. Government Printing Office has a short publication that you should write to your Congressman and request one of their Legislative Assistants send a free copy to you. The booklet title is “How Our Laws Are Made” and was a product of the 105th Congress, 1st Session. The Document number you will need to give the Congressman is Document 105-14 and it was published in 1998.

Most of the publication is fairly clear but admittedly somewhat dry in its presentation. However, I draw your attention to page 44 SECTION XIX Publication of the booklet. This is where the real meat of the booklet starts to tell the reader the impact of all that has occurred earlier in creation of a law.

This part may be dry but it is important, as you will soon discover. The underlined segments are the key points and you will find them summarized later. Now you need to go get a glass of wine or your other favorite liquid to enjoy with your reading so that you won’t dry out.

8.1 Enacted Law

Let me quote directly from Congress the most important facts in their publication.

“One of the important steps in the enactment of a valid law is the requirement that it shall be made known to the people who are to be bound by it. There would be no justice if the state were to hold its people responsible for conduct before it made known to them the unlawfulness of such behavior. In practice, our laws are published [in the Federal Register] immediately upon their enactment so that the public will be aware of them.”

[Clarification added]

Time for an editorial I think. Did you notice the phrase “enactment of a valid law”? By Congress using that phrase the implication is that an “invalid law” might exist and be inadvertently “assumed” to be a “valid law”?

You will start thinking like an attorney when you read the “words of art” that are used by those in government to express their acts and intent. Words are the only tools that those in government have to work with every day and the words that they use can and do mean something entirely different from our everyday definitions.

The government has the ability to define the terms they use in any manner they choose. That is why they publish their “definitions”. As you have already seen, it is never safe to “assume” that the common meaning of a word is the same meaning used by the government. In reality the government’s definitions of words are many times far different from ours.

“If the President approves a bill, or allows it to become law without signing it, the original enrolled bill is sent from the White House to the Archivist of the United States for publication.” It is then assigned a number, and paginated for the Statutes At Large volume covering that session of Congress.

So laws that apply to some group referred to as certain “kind of people” must be published in the Federal Register. Common sense would say that the “kind of people” being referenced here can only be American

Nationals. This is logical as publication in the Federal Register is required under the Federal Register Act, 44 USC §1505, if the Congressional Act [law] is applicable to that group or “kind of people”.

Remember, there is no requirement for the Federal government to publish any of their laws in the Federal Register for the “kind of people” called “U.S. citizens” as their geographical jurisdiction is considered to be within the “United States”.

26 CFR §601.702(a)(2)(ii) Effect of Failure to Publish in the Federal Register states:

“Except to the extent that a person has actual and timely notice of the terms of any matter referred to in paragraph (a)(1) of this section which is required to be published in the Federal Register, such person is not required in any manner to resort to, or be adversely affected by, such matter if it is not so published or is not incorporated by reference therein pursuant to paragraph (a)(2)(i) of this section.

Thus, for example, any such matter which imposes an obligation and which is not so published or incorporated by reference shall not adversely change or affect a person’s rights.”

This regulation, in context to How Our Laws Are Made on page 44, is only applicable toward the “kind of people” called American Nationals. It does not apply to those who are “U.S. citizens”.

What if there were no American Nationals? How silly a question, right? Think back to the SSN purported constructive trust contract. Oh NO! Do you see it? If all American Nationals use a SSN and are identified in the IRS records and databases as a “U.S. citizen” or “resident alien”, then are there any American Nationals left?

Do you now understand the importance of correcting the misidentification created by documents that have previously asked you if you are a “U.S. citizen”? Do you understand the need to correct any erroneous tax class 5 information returns so that the error does not go unchallenged?

8.2 Slip Law

“The first official publication of the statute is in the form generally known as the ‘slip law’. The heading indicated the public or private law number, the date of approval, and the bill number. The heading of a slip law for a public law also indicated the United States Statutes At Large citation.”

“The Office of the Federal Register, National Archives and Records Administration prepares the slip laws and provides marginal editorial notes giving the citations to laws mentioned in the test and other details. Each slip law includes an informative guide to the legislative history of the law consisting of the committee report number, the name of the committee in each House, as well as the date of consideration and passage in each House, with a reference to the Congressional Record by volume, year and date.”

8.3 Statutes At Large

“The United States Statutes At Large, prepared by the Office of the Federal Register, National Archives and Records Administration, provide a permanent collection of the laws of each session of Congress in bound volume. The Statutes At Large are a chronological arrangement of the laws exactly as they have been enacted. There is no attempt to arrange the laws according to their subject matter or to show the present status of an earlier law that has been amended on one or more occasions [repealed or revoked]. The code of laws serves that purpose.”
8.4 United States Code

“The United States Code contains a consolidation and codification of the general and permanent laws of the United States arranged according to subject matter under 50 title headings, in alphabetical order to a large degree. The Code is declared to be prima facie evidence of those laws [in the Statutes At Large]. Its purpose is to present the laws in a concise and usable form without requiring recourse to the many volumes of the Statutes At Large containing the individual amendments.” [Clarification added]

Black’s Law Dictionary defines the word “Prima facie” to mean

“at first sight; on the first appearance; on the face of it; so far as can be judged from the first disclosure; presumably: a fact presumed to be true unless disproved by some evidence to the contrary.”

So Congress is telling us that Title 26 can be “assumed” to be a “valid law” unless we are sharp enough to dig for the truth to disprove Title 26 as being a “valid law”. The Index to the United States Code tells us clearly that Title 26 is possibly an “invalid law” vis-à-vis being a “valid law”. Time to stop and think about this one!

“Twenty-two of the 50 titles have been revised and enacted into positive law, and two have been eliminated by consolidation with other titles. Titles that have been enacted into positive law are legal evidence of the law and the courts will receive them as proof of those laws.”

A “positive law” as defined in Black’s is a “law actually and specifically enacted or adopted by proper authority for use by the government.” So over half of the Titles in the USC are not positive law but Congress expects you to “assume” the Titles are “valid law”. 26 USC [Internal Revenue Code] is not positive law.

The Title Index to the United States Code identifies which Titles are enacted as positive law and those Titles, which are not enacted into positive law. You will easily find that Title 26 of the United States Code has not been enacted into positive law. When a question arises, one is required to refer back to the Statutes At Large, the only government publication that shows all “enacted valid laws” for our nation, to find out if the law referenced by the non-enacted Title has been stated as a “valid law”.

Looks like the possibility of an “invalid law” toward American Nationals might be published in the United States Code and if we are not careful we carelessly make the “assumption” that all Titles are “valid law”. This is the reason that Congress has told us that many of the Titles in the United States Code are not real law at all. 26 USC is only “assumptive” evidence that an “enacted valid law” might exist.

At this juncture, a brief comment on regulations is necessary. There are three (3) types of regulations and only one has the full force and effect of law. There are Administrative Regulations, Procedural Regulations [created by the IRS] and Legislative or Implementing Regulations.

The Legislative or Implementing Regulations created by Congress are the only regulations that have the full force and effect of the law. Implementing Regulations are then published in the Code of Federal Regulations for their respective Title in the USC. Cheryl Kordick [Chief Assistance Section, IRS, Washington DC] stated this fact in her letter dated January 24, 1998.

In order for a federal tax law to be “applicable” to American Nationals you will need to obtain the following three references. Make a note that there must be an “enacted law” in order for the Statute to be in effect. The Implementing Regulation must be published in the Federal Register as Congress stated in their booklet on how laws are made.
Chapter 8: Congressional Publication: How Our Laws Are Made

a) The enacted Statute in Title 26 of the United States Code [26 USC].
b) The Implementing Regulation for the specific enacted Statute published in Title 26 Code of Federal Regulations [26 CFR].
c) The publication in the Federal Register of the Implementing Regulation as evidenced by the volume, date and page number in the Federal Register.

Wow! That was like eating a bag of popcorn with nothing to drink. This is probably one of those times where you know you read something important but find yourself trying to figure out what you just read. Perhaps I better develop the summary I previously mentioned so that you don’t have to read that material again. Don’t forget to contact your Congressman and obtain your own copy of this very important and powerful publication. That way your Senator or Congressman will provide you for free what the U.S. Government Printing Office will charge you for. If you are still a college student, free is preferred!

The summary of this chapter will hopefully give you something to think about before you charge into even more exciting information in the following chapters. In order to keep in theme, I call this summary the “Popcorn Summary”:

1. Congress tells us that when they enact a “valid law” that Congress has the requirement to “immediately notify” the people who are to be bound by it.
2. Once a “valid law” is enacted, the Office of the Federal Register enters the new law as a “slip law”, which contains the legislative history including the Legislative Intent for the creation of the law.
3. The Federal Register enters the law into the Congressional Record and it too contains the Legislative Intent of the law.
4. The Office of the Federal Register then enters the enacted “valid law” into the Statutes At Large but only on a chronological basis.
5. All enacted “valid laws” are published in the Statutes At Large.
6. The “valid law” is then published in the United States Code based on subject matter content.
7. The United States Code also contains some Titles that might have “invalid laws” as only 22 out of 50 USC Titles are enacted into positive law.
8. Congress tells us that The United States Code is “declared to be prima facie [a fact “assumed” to be true unless disproved by some evidence to the contrary] evidence of those “valid laws”.
9. The Title Index of the United States Code identifies Title 26 [the Internal Revenue Code] as not being enacted into positive law.

Take another look at the first item in the “Popcorn Summary” where Congress tells American Nationals that they [Congress] have the requirement to “immediately notify” us. How does Congress immediately notify us? Didn’t expect a pop-up question did you? Well, time is up for your answer as the buzzer just went off. You know the answer: by the federal government being required to publish the “enacted valid law” in the Statutes At Large, in the United States Code, and in the Federal Register.

Here is a 100-point toss up question to quickly ponder. Do you remember when the 16th Amendment was passed? There is that buzzer again. Try about 90 years ago and then ask yourself if that fits well with you about being “immediately notified”. The 16th Amendment was ratified in 1913, and Title 26 has yet to be enacted into

There are researchers who have documentation that prove the states of the Union did not properly ratify the 16th Amendment in 1913 but I will not spend time there. You need to know that there remains an area of contention with some individuals on the ratification of the 16th Amendment but that issue is separate from the intent of this work.

positive law. Congress has told us the truth all along but we American Nationals have “assumed” the wrong conclusion. After all this, now you find that persistent child in you asking, “Why”?
9 Chapter 9: Title 26: Special Law v. Positive Law

Quote to Contemplate:

“\textit{The Constitution is a written instrument. As such, its’ meaning does not alter. That which it meant when it was adopted, it means now.}”

\[\text{[South Carolina v. United States, 199 U.S. 437, 448 (1905)]}\]

Now we are ready to find the answer to “\textit{why Title 26 is not positive law.}” By the very definition of “\textit{positive law}” one can readily see that it is mostly a euphemism for saying the law is actually and specifically enacted for use by the government outside the “United States”. If you ask the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.) when 26 USC was enacted into positive law, the IRS will tell you August 16, 1954.

If you look closely at the 26 CFR §1.0-1, you will notice the date of August 16, 1954. On the surface this doesn’t seem like much of an issue. That is until you look more closely at the Implementing Regulation published at 26 CFR §1.0-1.

Code of Federal Regulations, \textbf{26 CFR §1.0-1 (a) states:}

\textit{“Enactment of Law. The Internal Revenue Code of 1954 which became law upon enactment of Public Law 591, 83d Congress, approved August 16, 1954, provides in part as follows:”}

No gray area here. You can easily see that the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 was enacted on August 16, 1954, just like the IRS letter states. \textit{Looks like Subtitle “A” enactment is valid after all.... right?}

Yes it does, when the jurisdiction in question is the District of Columbia. However, we should pause here in regard to the question that addresses the jurisdiction of the 50 states of the Union. We need to read a little more of this regulation.

\textit{Have you ever noticed when a person tells a lie, and they are not good at hiding truth, they tend to get nervous, start sweating, or get real quiet? Well, this is where the IRS breaks out in a cold sweat and gets real quiet when asked to explain the rest of the regulation!} When anyone actually reads 26 CFR §1.0-1(a), the IRS must certainly hope the reader does not read beyond the first paragraph of the legislative regulation.

The Blue Man Group has a great stage act in which they show the audience billboards with lots of information on them and they keep flipping to the next one before you can finish reading the first one. The trick is to keep you distracted so you can’t read all the information before you. Too bad for the IRS, we have plenty of time for you to closely read 26 CFR §1.0-1. If you make a trip to Las Vegas you have to see that show!

Back to work. Hope you are sitting down.

Check out the narrative in the fourth paragraph on 26 CFR §1.0-1, which starts with \textit{“In general, the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 are applicable with respect to taxable years [basically calendar years] beginning after December 31, 1953, and ending after August 16, 1954.”}

That last sentence in the Implementing Regulation just begs to put this one in bold relief. This is even better than the Blue Man Group! \textit{The Congress enacted the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 on August 16, 1954, and then about 2.4 nanoseconds later [or sometime during the day] terminated the enactment you just read on the very same day!}

The IRS does the best “Texas Two Step” you will ever see, when you stick this enacted federal law in front of them and ask them to explain the “ending of the enactment”. They scurry from the truth in their attempt to boot scoot away.

Well, the IRS is also famous for spouting those Statutes in 26 USC [6001, 6011, & 6012] giving the reader the impression that the IRS agent knows the law and that the reader has “taxed income” and therefore a “taxable liability”. Even though a Statute has no full force and effect of law by itself, the IRS isn’t required to provide or publish implementing regulations in the Federal Register for those who are federal workers, statutory “U.S. citizens”, resident aliens, or those who operate in a representative capacity for the benefit of the federal government by exercising some of the sovereign power of the government pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).

Remember when you read a great book but you were so interested in finding out how the author finished the story? What did you do at least once? That’s right; you jumped to the back of the book. If you have ever seen a copy of a recent version of the Internal Revenue Code it has around 9,500 pages all written in small print.

So guess what I did? You got it; I jumped to the back of the book when I found in the index the section of the Code that deals with “The Applicability of Revenue Laws”. The specific section, on page 9,442 in my edition of the Internal Revenue Code, in 26 USC §7851(a)(1)(A) Subtitle A states, “Chapters 1, 2, 4 and 6 [these are the chapters that make up Subtitle A] of this title shall apply only with respect to taxable years [basically calendar years] beginning after December 31, 1953, and ending after the date of enactment of this title.”

Does this look familiar? Look back at 26 CFR §1.0-1. Nothing has changed in the status of Subtitle “A” [Federal Income Tax] as it died on August 16, 1954, the very same day it was created.

If I am wrong, then ask the IRS to produce the “volume, date, and page number as to the publication of this regulation in the Federal Register for it to be applicable toward American Nationals who do not work for the government. This is a requirement of the Department of the Treasury according to 44 USC §1505 and 26 CFR §601.702(a)(1).

Here is yet another problem for the IRS. 26 USC tells us that Subtitle “A” is “applicable” but the “applicability stops or ends” on the day 26 USC is enacted into positive law. Slick use of words, this event happened on August 16, 1954 per 26 CFR §1.0-1.

Contrast 26 USC §7851(a)(1)(A) expression of date of enactment wording with 26 USC §7851(a)(4) Subtitle “D” & 26 USC §7851(a)(5) Subtitle “E” where you find the statement of the effective date of enactment somewhat less cloudy as they both stated.

“Subtitle ‘D’ of this title shall take effect on January 1, 1955…”
“Subtitle ‘E’ shall take effect on January 1, 1955…”

Not much grey area there about when they were enacted or that they too “ended after the date of enactment” verbiage. The government does express itself with clarity when they have nothing to hide. Ask the IRS for the volume, date, and page number in the Federal Register for the publication of the Implementing Regulation for the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax. The response is silence because it is not published there.

A real basic question for the IRS arises, “How can a ‘law’ be a ‘law’ if it has never been enacted into law?”

For years the IRS has been using circular logic and semantic gamesmanship to mislead, misdirect, threaten, use enforcement via liens and levy, avoid clear direct responses, and to generally confuse a great number of people.

“Assumptions” of facts seem to gain strength over people when the “assumption” has been ongoing for a long period of time and especially when all they can get out of the government is silence deliberately designed to mislead and injure those asking the questions. Many have asked how the wealthy, with all their powerful attorneys at their call, have not made this discovery. First you have to know the right question to ask to get the information you need. Perhaps this question is best answered by considering why most people, centuries ago, thought the world was flat. Those in authority told the masses the world was flat. It was common knowledge.

Those who made scientific analysis, and chose to speak up, drew attention to the facts as they found them. They challenged the common “presumption of fact” and were harassed, intimidated, lost their livelihood, and in some cases lost their lives. Has mankind really evolved since the Dark Ages or do those in power [at whatever point in history] always resist the changes that inevitably arise from those who prove the former “presumptions” to be invalid? Truth brings light to those who embrace it.

"Believing is easier than thinking. Hence so many more believers than thinkers."
[Bruce Calvert]

“There is nothing so powerful as truth, and often nothing so strange.”
[Daniel Webster]

There has to be at least one reader who feels sorry for the IRS’ predicament. Maybe the attorneys on staff just didn’t read 26 CFR §1.0-1(a). No, I don’t think so. They know the law and these attorneys know how to use the tools of their trade very well. It is interesting that they wrote this statute in such a convoluted manner as to tell the truth but in doing so, requiring the reader to really dig to understand what they were saying.

Want proof that these attorneys can write the enactment of a law clearly and straightforward? Read again the way Subtitle D enactment was written in 26 USC §7851(a)(4). “Subtitle D of this title shall take effect on January 1, 1955.” Subtitle E is written just as clearly. Could it be that the IRS attorneys were hoping that American Nationals would make yet another “assumption” that Subtitle A was really enacted?

But this is not all. At the beginning of this chapter you read the three statutes [6001, 6011, & 6012 which are found in Subtitle F enforcement] that the IRS always states as their standard response to anyone who asks if they are liable for the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax.

As mentioned earlier, a Statute by itself has no full force and effect of the law toward American Nationals. Statutes absent regulations, in fact, may only lawfully be enforced directly against federal employees, officers, and instrumentalities. See:

Federal Enforcement Authority within States of the Union, Form #05.032
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

A Statute by itself is like a corvette up on blocks with no tires. It still looks fast but until the tires are attached it isn’t functional. The tires of a Statute are the regulations. How can that be, you ask?

The problem for the IRS arose when the United States Supreme Court dumped this case decision in their lap. In the case California Bankers Assn. v. Shultz, 416 U.S. 21 (1974), you will find stated by the USSC,

> “we think it important to note that the Act’s civil and criminal penalties attach only upon violation of regulations [Implementing Regulations] promulgated [published in the Federal Register] by the Secretary; if the Secretary were to do nothing [not publish the regulations in the Federal Register], the Act itself would impose no penalties upon anyone.” [Clarification added]

No doubt you can see the difference between how the IRS talks about the law and what you are finding in this material to be specific laws that you can read for yourself and draw your own conclusions.
Your attention is now directed to the specific Implementing Regulation, which requires the IRS to publish any obligation upon American Nationals in the Federal Register. Consider 26 CFR §601.702(a)(1) Publication in the Federal Register. Requirement, which reads in part:

“the Internal Revenue Service is required under 5 USC 552 (a)(1) to separately state and currently publish in the Federal Register for the guidance of the public the following information:

(iv) Substantive rules of general applicability adopted as authorized by law”

Take a closer look at this Implementing Regulation and you will find a powerful benefit that the IRS probably would prefer that you don’t know about. The Regulation is found in 26 CFR §601.702(ii) Effect of Failure to Publish and is worth a second look.

“Except to the extent that a person has actual and timely notice of the terms of any matter referred to in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph which is required to be published in the Federal Register, such person is not required in any manner to resort to, or be adversely affected by, such matter if it is not so published or is not incorporated by reference therein pursuant to subdivision (i) of the subparagraph. Thus, for example, any such matter which imposes an obligation and which is not so published or incorporated by reference will not adversely change or affect a person’s rights.”

If there were an Implementing Regulation imposing taxable liability for Subtitle “A” Federal income tax upon American Nationals, then the regulation must be published in the Federal Register or then no liability would exist for American Nationals.

The answer to this conundrum has been provided by Office of the Federal Register, Attorney Michael L. White, in his legal opinion letter date May 16, 1994. Federal Attorney Michael White stated the results of his search of the Federal Register Archives in his legal opinion letter as follows,

“Our records indicate that the Internal Revenue Service has not incorporated by reference [as required by Implementing Regulation 26 CFR §601.702(a)(1)] a requirement to make an income tax return.” [Emphasis added]

[Sedm Exhibit #05.005;
SOURCE: http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm]

So there you have it straight from the Office of the Federal Register, an agency under the National Archives, stating that 26 CFR §1.0-1 imposing the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax has not been published in the Federal Register. As a result of that regulation not being published in the Federal Register it “will not adversely change or affect a person’s rights.”

You might be further interested to note that Federal Attorney Michael White also stated when asked about the IRS having published the implementing regulations for 6020 [Substitute for Returns], 6201 [Assessments], 6321 [Liens], 6331 [Levies], and many others statutes in the IRC, that “There does not exist in the Parallel Table of Authorities and Rules, a finding aid compiled and published by the Office of the Federal Register as part of the CFR Index, any corresponding entries for Title 26 [for provisions regarding Subtitle “A” income tax].” [Clarification added]

Could you imagine the IRS response, if they were forced to explain “why” Federal Attorney Michael White arrived at his conclusions? It would be the sound of silence.

Simply put, the Federal Register has been researched by federal employees and there is not present any Implementing Regulation, which imposes the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax upon American Nationals.
Chapter 9: Title 26: Special Law v. Positive Law

Why isn’t there an implementing regulation published in the Federal Register, you ask? The answer resides in the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment. The only “parties” that have a Subtitle “A” Federal income tax liability are “employees, officers, and elected officials of the United States, federal corporations & like entities, statutory creations of Congress called “U.S. Citizens”, residents [aliens], and those who derive income from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business [performance of the functions of a public office] in the United States [like those who use an SSN].” 44 USC §1505(a) and 5 USC §553(a) specifically exempt these groups from the requirement for publication of enforcement regulations in the Federal Register.

Now do you understand the truth as to “Why” 26 USC isn’t enacted into Positive Law? Perhaps it would be a good idea to provide a summary of the facts according to enacted Federal Law, Implementing Regulations, and Legal Opinion Letter from a Federal official.

Summary regarding why 26 USC is not positive law:

2) 26 CFR §1.0-1, also states emphatically the fact, “In general, the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 are applicable with respect to taxable years [basically calendar years] beginning after December 31, 1953, and ending after August 16, 1954.” [Emphasis and Clarification added]

4) In the section of Title 26 pertaining to “The Applicability of Revenue Laws”. [26 USC §7851(a)(1)(A)] and addressing Subtitle A [Federal Income Tax] specifically you will find stated, “Chapters 1,2,4 and 6 [these are the chapters that make up Subtitle A] of this title shall apply only with respect to taxable years [basically calendar years] beginning after December 31, 1953, and ending after the date of enactment of this title.” [Clarification added]

5) The United States Supreme Court stated in California Bankers Assn. v. Shultz, that civil and criminal penalties attach only upon violation of regulations [Implementing Regulations] published in the Federal Register and that if such required regulations were not published in the Federal Register then “the Act itself would impose no penalties upon anyone.”

6) Federal Law as stated in 26 CFR §601.702(a)(1) requires the IRS to publish in the Federal Register under 5 USC §552 (a)(1) “to separately state and currently publish in the Federal Register for the guidance of the public the following information: (iv) Substantive rules of general applicability adopted as authorized by law…”

7) Federal Law as stated in 26 CFR §601.702(ii) Effect of Failure to Publish states, “…any such matter which imposes an obligation and which is not so published or incorporated by reference will not adversely change or affect a person’s rights.”

8) The Office of the Federal Register has stated in a legal opinion letter that, “Our records indicate that the Internal Revenue Service has not incorporated by reference [as required by Implementing Regulation 26 CFR §601.702(a)(1)] a requirement to make an income tax return.” [Clarification added]

9) The Office of the Federal Register has also stated in their legal opinion letter that there does not exist in the Code of Federal Regulations under 26 CFR any enforcement authority for the IRS to use “Assessment, Liens, or Levy by distraint” for applicability toward the Subtitle A Federal Income Tax.

Chapter 9: Title 26: Special Law v. Positive Law

10) American Nationals not engaged in federal franchises are free from any type of penalty or enforcement actions arising from not filing and paying the Subtitle A Federal Income Tax because there are no implementing regulations imposing such a requirement.

11) 26 USC is “special law” designed only for the federal judicial district, Washington, DC. It is fully applicable there and for those who have legal domicile in that internal revenue district per Treasury Order 150-02.

12) The only occasion where federal statutory law may be enforced directly against an individual absent proof of an implementing enforcement regulation is the cases specifically identified in 44 USC §1501(a) and 5 USC §553(a). The specifically exempted groups include:

a. A military or foreign affairs function of the United States. 5 USC §553(a)(1).

b. A matter relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or contracts. 5 USC §553(a)(2).

c. Federal agencies or persons in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees thereof. 44 USC §1505(a)(1).

Therefore, American Nationals, nonresident aliens to all federal jurisdictions, have no imposed duty to file an income tax return or to pay the Subtitle “A” federal income tax. All such duties are imposed exclusively by statute and there is no implementing regulation, and therefore apply only to the three groups specifically exempted from the requirement to publish implementing enforcement regulations identified above.

“Federal income tax regulations governing filing of income tax returns do not require Office of Management and Budget control numbers because requirement to file tax return is mandated by statute, not by regulation.”

Did you get that? The federal court above essentially just admitted that the only persons lawfully required to file income tax returns are federal instrumentalities, agents, and officers ONLY in the conduct of their official duties? Thus, a “trade or business” within the “United States” [District of Columbia]. That is unless they “elect” to have their income treated as that of a resident alien or they actually derive income from being engaged in a “trade or business” in the “United States” (government).

Let there be no misunderstanding of what 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) plainly tells all who read it. Keeping in mind the definitions for

(1) “nonresident alien” individuals [26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B)],

(2) “United States” [26 USC §7701(a)(9), 7701(a)(39), & 26 USC §7408(d)], and

(3) “trade or business” [26 USC §7701(a)(26)] then you can clarify this regulation by the substitution of defined terms.

This would read accordingly:

“Nonresident alien individuals [American Nationals those who are not U.S. citizens or resident aliens] are taxable only on certain income from sources within the United States [the District of Columbia] and on the income described in section 864(c)(4) from sources without the United States[the District of Columbia] which is effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business [the performance of the functions of a public office by working for the federal government] in the United States [the District of Columbia].”
A shorter more clarified version would read:

“American National individuals are taxable only on certain income from sources within the District of Columbia and on the income described in section 864(c)(4) from sources without the District of Columbia which is effectively connected for the taxable year from the conduct of federal employment in the District of Columbia.”

As good as this is there is the most powerful federal law that implodes the IRS “presumptions” and proves once and for all the American Nationals have never had any taxed income because American Nationals were never made liable for the Subtitle “A” income tax since it’s creation.

That law being referred to is the 16th Amendment and the supporting Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment created by President Taft that confirms this as fact once again.

Until later, keep thinking about this question: “How can a “law” be a “law” if it has never been enacted into law?”

“A great industrial Nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the Nation and all our activities are in the hands of a few men.

We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated Governments in the world – no longer a Government of free opinion, no longer a government of conviction and vote of the majority, but a Government by the opinion and duress of small groups of dominant men.”

[Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States]
Chapter 10: Fears & Concerns about the IRS

10 Chapter 10: Fears & Concerns about the IRS

Quote to Contemplate:

“The IRS is prohibited by an Act of Congress from giving any individual any document from which that individual could determine if he owed a tax to the IRS or how much he owed.”

Many Americans, who have made inquires of the IRS as to their being made personally liable for the Subtitle A Federal Income Tax, have received letters or brochures from the IRS, such as IRS Publication 586A - The Collection Process, stating “Dear Taxpayer” or ...

“Our legal right to ask for information is found in the Internal Revenue Code Sections 6001, 6011, and 6012(a) and respective regulations. They say that you must file a return or statement with us for any tax for which you are liable. This is so we know who you are, and can process your return and papers. You must fill in all parts of the tax form that apply for you.”

As a reminder, “A Statute [like those presented Internal Revenue Code Sections 6001, 6011, & 6012(a)] without an Implementing Regulation has no full force and effect of the law” per USSC decisions like California Bankers Assn. v. Shultz, 416 U.S. 21 (1974) toward American Nationals who are not engaged in a “trade or business” in the District of Columbia nor have “elected” to have their income so treated.

Also, the IRS statement is only applicable within an internal revenue district as described in 26 USC §7601(a) and Treasury Order 150-02. You will find that 26 USC §7601 authorizes the IRS to “Canvass of districts for taxable persons and objects” and states the following:

“General rule. The Secretary shall, to the extent he deems it practicable, cause officers or employees of the Treasury Department to proceed, from time to time, through each internal revenue district and inquire after and concerning all persons therein who may be liable to pay any internal revenue tax, and all persons owing or having the care and management of any objects with respect to which any tax is imposed.”

Remembering that there must exist a regulation published in 26 CFR Part 1 for the full authority of the IRS to do as they purport in their collection activities, you will find it very interesting to review the regulation supporting 26 USC §7601.

The regulation found in the CFR, which can easily be located on Cornell University Law Website [http://www.law.cornell.edu], is 27 CFR Part 70. This regulation is first of all for use by only ATF as 27 CFR are the regulations for use only by ATF. The IRS is not permitted to use them per 1 CFR §21.21(c) which prohibits cross-referencing to regulations in another title of the CFR. Secondly, 27 CFR Part 70 pertains to Procedure & Administration within ATF only. Care to guess what is meant by” each internal revenue district”? The District of Columbia is the answer according to Treasury Order 150-02.

Keep in mind that “canvassing” is not applicable toward those American Nationals who “are not engaged in the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.” Four important notes to draw to your attention about the above statement are:

1) The IRS will always focus on “The Collection Process” and will skillfully try to avoid dealing with the specifics as to what exactly imposes liability upon American Nationals for the Subtitle “A” Federal Income Tax. You know, “electing” or engaging in a “trade or business” in “DC”.

The Galileo Paradigm, version 1.04
Copyright Adele Weiss
http://famguardian.org/
2) The Code sections mentioned above fall under Subtitle F, which pertain to enforcement, and you will soon see that Subtitle F Statutes only go into effect one day after the date of enactment of 26 USC. When you review 26 CFR Part 1 for IRS enforcement regulations – there are none!

3) The IRS talks about “respective regulations” but makes no reference to the exact regulations and they do not tell the reader if the “regulations” are Administrative, Procedural, or Implementing. The important distinction is that Implementing Regulations have the full force and effect of the law while the Administrative and Procedural do not.

4) Skillfully, the IRS avoids telling you directly that you, as an American National, are made liable for the Subtitle “A” Federal Income Tax.

Notice the IRS also avoids telling the reader the Form that they are required to file for the tax. You are to “assume” the IRS is referring to the Subtitle “A” income tax. The Government no doubt has a form for everything they do especially when it comes to collecting money. Without the form being identified, the IRS wants to put the burden on you because they are attempting to compel you to “assume” you have such a responsibility.

An illustration is found in the IRS response to the questions about what tax you are liable for and what form is required to file the tax. The filer “determines the source of income, the type of form to file, and the particular tax they are liable for”.

How can anyone be so bold and make such statements against the IRS, you might ask? It has been a common occurrence that you have to push the IRS to even respond, and to respond truthfully, not to mention that they make direct threats in their literature. If you don’t know the federal law, you better take their threats seriously.

The IRS 586A literature states, “If you do not file a return, do not provide the information we ask for, or provide fraudulent information, the law provides that you may be charged penalties and, in certain cases, you may be subject to criminal prosecution.” Can you see the “presumption” the IRS hopes you make? Do you have any doubt that this sentence includes a direct threat to your person? Intimidation is a powerful motivator. By the way, what “law” is the IRS referring to? “Why” doesn’t the IRS tell you the specific Statute and Implementing Regulation that requires American Nationals who do not engage in a “trade or business” nor elect to have their income treated as that of a resident alien to do as the 586A brochure declares and enacted Federal Regulations require of the IRS? Why don’t they identify which “you” they are talking about? “Taxpayers”, “Nontaxpayers”, or “All Americans”? Why don’t they cite the statute imposing the liability for the tax? Because there ain’t no stinking liability statute!

"..liability for taxation must clearly appear[from statute imposing tax].”
[Higley v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 69 F.2d. 160 (1934)]

"While Congress might have the power to place such a personal liability upon trust beneficiaries who did not renounce the trust, yet it would require clear expression of such intent, and it cannot be spelled out from language (as that here) which can be given an entirely natural and useful meaning and application excluding such intent.”
[Higley v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 69 F.2d. 160 (1934)]

"A tax is a legal imposition, exclusively of statutory origin (37 Cyc. 724, 725), and, naturally, liability to taxation must be read in statute, or it does not exist.”
[Bente v. Bugbee, 137 A. 552, 103 N.J. Law. 608 (1927)]

"...the taxpayer must be liable for the tax. Tax liability is a condition precedent to the demand. Merely demanding payment, even repeatedly, does not cause liability."
[Terry v. Bothke, 713 F.2d. 1405, at 1414 (1983)]
If the IRS would answer these very pertinent questions, then American Nationals would know with certainty if they had a federal income tax liability. The IRS can’t produce the enacted Statutes and Implementing Regulations because they don’t exist, as you will soon discover!

[IRS Publication 519, p. 26]

Read nonresident alien as American National per the definition for nonresident alien at 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B) as “one who is neither a U.S. citizen or resident.”

Remember, an “assumption” remains valid if you do not rebut the “assumption”. You can show the IRS you know the laws by demonstrating “wages that are income” apply only to those “parties” who have a taxable source of income. As an American National not engaged in federal franchises and not domiciled in the “United States”, you have no “taxable liability” for the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax if you do not derive those funds by being engaged in “the performance of the functions of a public office” in the “District of Columbia.” Correct understanding of what the IRS states in their literature and letters must be carefully determined by enacted federal law.

Perhaps this is why in a letter dated October 27, 1998, from Commissioner Charles O. Rossotti via Joseph H. Cloonan, in which Deborah Gasurd signed the letter for him, made basically the same statement but without as much clarity. See:

SEDM Exhibit #05.022
http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm

By the way, it is noticeable if you have frequent correspondence with those in management levels within the federal government, that they use this daisy chain method of plausible deniability in which someone else signs their correspondence in order to reduce or eliminate any personal risk exposure regarding their government subcontracted employee status.

Anyway, Director Cloonan, in behalf of Commissioner Rossotti, stated in his letter to an American National from Louisiana,

‘Our system of taxation is dependent on taxpayers’ belief that the ‘laws’ they follow apply to everyone…’

Wait just a New York minute! Did you see that statement clearly?

To rephrase slightly, the entire tax system [for Subtitle “A” Federal Income Tax] is dependent on taxpayers “belief” that they are following the “law”. A “belief” is far from a mandatory obligation. Talk about a “GRAND ASSUMPTION”, this is it! Sounds more like a “religion” than an exercise in the science of law, now doesn’t it? In fact, it IS a religion, as you can see for yourself in the following document:

Socialism: The New American Civil Religion, Form #05.016
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

Now consider what the IRS actually does on a District level. The IRS has a personnel section referred to as a Non Filer Group that artificially generates a 26 USC §6020(b) Substitute for Return [SFR]. Only Forms 940, 941, 942 and others for excise taxes is authorized by this statute and Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 Rev3 shows that there is no authority for the IRS to create a SFR for a Form 1040 or 1040A. But they still do it! See the following authorities for proof:

Why the Government Can’t Lawfully Assess Human Beings With an Income Tax Liability Without Their Consent, Form #05.011
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

Jerry Oliver, a former IRS subcontracted employee, stated in a taped interview with Irwin Schiff that the IRS creates “dummy returns”. The reason being, according to Mr. Oliver, is that “when a natural person does not file a return the IRS cannot assess a tax.” All taxes the IRS claims a natural person owes must be self-assessed before the IRS can act. The IRS even admitted in a GAO report to Congress the following amazing facts:

“In its response to this letter, the IRS officials indicated that they do not generally prepare actual tax returns. Instead, they said the IRS prepares substitute documents that propose assessments. Although the IRS and legislation refer to this as the substitute for return program, these officials said that the document does not look like an actual tax return.”

[Government Accountability Office (GAO) Report GAO/GGD-00-60R IRS Substitute For Returns; SOURCE: http://famguardian.org/PublishedAuthors/Govt/GAO/GAO-GGD-00-60R-SFR.pdf]

According to Mr. Oliver, the IRS Non Filer Group incorrectly creates these dummy returns when they get information from private sector nonfederal employers on IRS Form 1099s and W2s.

“The IRS agents take a Form 1040, according to Mr. Oliver, and stamp ‘Prepared by Examination Division’ and the Form has nothing but zeros on it or the Form is left completely blank. Then the IRS Non Filer Group creates a fraud by entering into the computer wage information [from and erroneous tax class 5 information return] so that they can create a report showing that there is money owed to the IRS by a taxpayer.” [Emphasis & clarification added]

The computer is designed to only handle legal taxes and the fraud occurs when the IRS Agents in the Non Filer Group identify a person as a nom de guerre. The IRS does this even though there is no law or Delegation of Authority allowing the IRS to do this and even though the IRS Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.1.11.6.8 does not authorize it.

Mr. Oliver further stated in his interview, “During the orientation program for new IRS employees they are shown the Mission Statement that indicates taxes are only liable for those who voluntarily comply and self-assess.” [Emphasis added]

The most alarming part in Mr. Oliver’s interview was his statement that:

“Each IRS employee working in the Non Filer Group is fully aware that they are committing a fraudulent act upon a natural person by their actions in behalf of and under the direction of the IRS.”

At this point, a Freedom of Information Act [FOIA] Request [allowed under 5 USC §552] must be sent to the IRS Automated Collection Section if you receive an IRS Collection Notice like a IRS CP504 letter or IRS CP71C letter. This will provide the proof that the actions taken were fraudulent. In the FOIA Request four basic questions can be asked to document the hypothesis presented above.

Ask for the following documents to be provided by the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.) Chief of Automated Collection Section:
1. A copy of the formal Assessment and IRS Form 4340 Supporting Document for the year in question, which only identifies the American National [you] as having been assessed. The Assessment Documents must have been signed and dated by an IRS Assessment Officer under Penalties of Perjury against the IRS Assessment Officer in order for the assessment to be a valid document. [The IRS may try to get away with sending a RACS report, which lists no specific individual but only dollar amounts for the region. Tell the IRS that a RACS report will not be an acceptable or appropriate response document.]

2. A copy of the Substitute Tax Return [IRS Form 1040A] for the year in question showing the name of the IRS employee who completed the document [with the date of completion] and showing the dollar amount for the liability claimed by the IRS employee who created the document under enacted federal tax law. Ask them for the exact statute and enforcement regulation in 26 CFR Part 1 that makes a direct reference to Form 1040 which is the form they claim they have authority to create. See the section in exhibits that document there is no reference to SFR authority for a FORM 1040.

3. A copy of the Delegation of Authority from the Secretary of the Treasury authorizing the identified IRS Agent to complete the Substitute for Return for a FORM 1040 for the year in question on behalf of the IRS.

4. Ask the IRS for an identification of the enacted federal tax law consisting of the specific Statute section in 26 USC and the specific Implementing Regulation section located in 26 CFR imposing the tax the Substitute for Return tax upon American Nationals.

The typical response letter to your FOIA Request will come from an IRS Disclosure Officer. Remember, the FOIA Request was sent in response to a “Collection Notice”, which routinely includes a “threat by the IRS” for enforcement action. Don’t worry about the “threat” if you have rebutted the presumption created by the purported constructive trust contract [the SSN application] indicating that you are a “U.S. citizen” and a “Federal employee” which allows the “assumption” that you are a “Taxpayer”. You will soon see that the IRS has no lawful basis for using any Subtitle F enforcement action for a Subtitle “A” income tax.

If you want a powerful tool to uncover the above types of fraud within the IRS’ administrative files that you can use in a court setting, see the following:

Master File (M.F.) Decoder

http://sedm.org/ItemInfo/Programs/MFDecoder/MFDecoder.htm

Also, the IRS tries to protect itself by stating in the “Collection Notice” something similar to:

> “This means we may file a federal tax lien against your property or levy (seize) your wages, bank account or other assets. If you believe the amount we say you owe is not correct, please call us.”

What was your immediate psychological response when you read that IRS statement? Did you feel anxious? Did you start to have doubts?

Good thing you recognized the intimidation attempt that is made by that statement. Did you notice that the IRS did not reference any enacted federal tax law for those threats that were made? Do you think this can lawfully be done to anyone who does not derive any income from being engaged in the conduct of a ”trade or business” in the ”United States”?
Chapter 10: Fears & Concerns about the IRS

Did you see any reference to the use of those threats regarding a lawful imposition for the Subtitle “A” income tax imposed upon American Nationals? How are you starting to feel now? The lie exists and ...truth is the greatest enemy of the State after all.

Take a second look at the threat in the “Collection Notice” comment. See the fourth word in that sentence? The IRS used the word “may”. We all know that the word “may” is a permissive word, which implies a general idea that the IRS “might” do something. Think about it, the IRS said they “might” file a federal tax lien and so on. If you were obligated under enacted federal tax law there would be no softening of a threat but a belligerent direct statement of their intentions.

A good magician will always misdirect the obvious in order for you to see the illusion that he or she is trying to present. Thus you are amazed with the magician’s “ability” to make items disappear or whatever the illusion is intended to portray. The IRS uses intimidation to try and get you to focus on their objective, which is also an illusion.

The IRS will always focus on “collection efforts” and rarely, if ever, get drawn into a discussion on any obligation via enacted federal tax law for the Subtitle “A” Income Tax. The reason is simple, those the IRS seek must be a “Taxpayer” because they are using that “Socialist Surveillance Number” and SSN user claims in that situation to the IRS are “frivolous and without merit.”

In a recent letter from such an IRS Disclosure Officer, the federal employee stated, “Regarding items 1, 2, and 3 of your request, it appears that the documents you are requesting, to the extent they may or may not exist, would be under the jurisdiction of the Ogden campus Director.”

There is no direct reference to in their response letter for what items 1, 2, and 3 addresses.

Are you having fun looking for the phrases that the IRS uses in their illusion? At first you might have to focus to lock onto the choice of words in any IRS response.

It would be interesting to ask any Disclosure Officer to explain exactly “How is it possible for the IRS to send out a “Collection Notice” without ever knowing for certain as “to the extent they [Assessment and IRS Form 4340 supporting documents] may or may not exist”? “ Why is that question important, you ask? Just keep reading, as the IRS will now start to get very uncomfortable when trying to apply their special municipal laws outside the United States [the District of Columbia].

Fraud is a factor when the IRS sends out a “Collection Notice” along with “Threats for enforcement” and there is obviously no valid Assessment [signed and dated under penalties of perjury by an IRS Assessment Officer] against the particular American National [who made no “election” or did not derive income from being engaged in the performance of the functions of a public office] who has not rescinded the SSN application as one that was voidable from the date it was signed as it is not a valid contract.

Enacted Federal Tax Law only permits assessments under the Statutes At Large, Revised Statutes of 1874; Section 3182 for Excise Taxable events identified in 27 CFR.

This Title of the United States Code of Federal Regulations only applies to the Federal Agency ATF. If the IRS sends any conveyances or “Collection Notices” without any basis found in enacted federal tax law, then such a conveyance can only be considered a fraudulent action for the extortion of the truth and extortion of the money. This is a serious criminal offense pursuant to 18 USC §1956.

As you can tell, it doesn’t take long for the subject to get real serious. Time to show you something that the Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.) tells each IRS Assessment Officer before any “Collection Notice” can be sent to any individual.
The Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 3(17)(63)(14).1 states,

“All tax assessments must be recorded on the Assessment Certificate. The Assessment Certificate must be signed by the Assessment Officer and dated. The Assessment Certificate is the legal document that permits collection activity…”

So as you can tell by what you just read, in order for any assessment to be valid the IRS must first complete the assessment on a form [along with the IRS Form 4340 Supporting Documents]. Then the IRS Assessment Officer must sign and date the Assessment document [under penalties of perjury by the way] in order for the assessment to be a “valid assessment.”

The last sentence in the IRM reference really says it all.

“The Assessment Certificate is the legal document that permits collection activity.”

Easy to see that if you use the Freedom of Information Act [FOIA] Request [if you ever receive such a “Collection Notice”] then there must be an Assessment Certificate [along with Supporting Documents] in the IRS Regional Office to justify mailing the “Collection Notice”. If the IRS were to send a “Collection Notice” without such an Assessment Certificate then not only would such an action be fraudulent, but it would clearly show that there never was any lawful permission to send a “Collection Notice” in the first place.

We need to review just a few more sections in the Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.) so that things get even clearer for everyone. The Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 3(17)(46) 2.3 [regarding Certification] states,

“All assessments must be certified by signature of an authorized official on the Assessment Certificate. A signed Assessment document authorizes issuance of notices and other collection action…” “These assessments will require immediate preparation of the Assessment document from RACS…”

No gray area in that IRM section, is there? The IRS tells their own employees that “A signed Assessment document authorizes issuance of notices [Collection Notices] and other collection action [threats for use of enforcement action].” Read that last sentence one more time, as I really want this to sink in firmly.

Furthermore, the Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.) states in the same section last referenced,

“The Assessment document is used to officially assess tax liabilities. The completed form is retained in the Service Center case file as a legal document to support the assessment made against the taxpayer.”

[Note: The “Assessment document” in prior years was “IRS Form 23C” but that has been changed.]

Now I would like you to consider the statement made by yet another IRS Disclosure Officer. When the Disclosure Officer stated in her response letter made under the FOIA Request regarding the first item #1, she stated,

“There are no SRAs [Assessment document Form 23C & Form 4340 Supporting Documents] on file which identifies you or any other taxpayer by name. The information you are seeking is not available at this time.”

Is that a smile starting to form on your face? Do you really think she wanted to make that statement? If the Assessment document IRS Form 23C and IRS Form 4340 Supporting Documents existed the IRS is required by The Freedom of Information Act [enacted federal law] to provide a copy. But there are none on file as she stated.
Then the obvious question arises. How can the IRS lawfully send out the IRS CP71C or IRS CP504 letter conveyances or “Collection Notices” if these assessment documents don’t exist? What would you call the act of anyone or any business issuing you a bill for something you never purchased [or signed a contract to purchase]? A bogus claim or fraudulent act comes to mind for many people. Keep in mind we are discussing this matter in context to those who rebutted the purported constructive trust contract as being voidable ab initio for any of the three reasons [or all] that are required for a contract to be valid.

Keeping on track, the IRS Disclosure Officer did provide with her FOIA response letter a copy of the “Substitute for Return”. The “Substitute for Return” was a Form 1040 that was created by the IRS Non-Filer Group of federal employees. However, the Form 1040 showed “no dollar amount, had no signature of any IRS employee and basically just wrote the particular individual’s name and SSN on the top of the form! That was it. The Form 1040 for all practical purposes was completely blank. It would be interesting to see the result for a taxpayer if they were to send them such a Form 1040. Would the IRS consider it a “valid return”?

Also, no lawful authority was provided for anyone in the IRS to create the “blank Form 1040” document. “Why” you might ask? The answer is that the IRM only refers to the Non-Filer Group having the authorization to complete Forms 940, 941, 942, etc for such specific taxes owed and that there is no authorization for that group of IRS employees to complete a Form 1040 or 1040A. See Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.1.11.6.8:

Internal Revenue Manual
Section 5.1.11.6.8: IRC 6020(b) Authority (03-01-2007):
1. The following returns may be prepared, signed and assessed under the authority of IRC 6020(b):
   A. Form 940, Employer’s Annual Federal Unemployment Tax Return
   B. Form 941, Employer’s Quarterly Federal Tax Return
   C. Form 943, Employer’s Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees
   D. Form 720, Quarterly Federal Excise Tax Return
   E. Form 2290, Heavy Vehicle Use Tax Return
   F. Form CT–1, Employer’s Annual Railroad Retirement Tax Return
   G. Form 1065, U.S. Return of Partnership Income.
2. Pursuant to IRM 1.2.44.5, Delegations of Authority, Order Number 182 (rev. 7), dated 5/5/1997, revenue officers GS-09 and above, and Collection Support Function managers GS-09 and above, have the authority to prepare and execute returns under IRC 6020(b).

Regarding the Substitute for Return Authority [IRC §6020(b) & Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 Rev 3], the IRS Disclosure Officer gave a statement but one that is not a statement of the truth,

“There is no delegation of authority required for the preparation of these particular substitutes for returns. Thus, there are no documents responsive to your request.”

She did not specify the Form 1040 directly in her statement. Words are very carefully chosen and when you focus on what is really being said the facts simply jump out at you! Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 Rev 3 is very specific as to authority limitations on SFR creation.

Try calling the IRS on their 800 number if you receive a “Collection Notice”. Ask the Collection Section for the type of tax that the IRS is claiming you were made liable. They will dance all around your question and try to get you to focus on questions that they might have instead. The bottom line is that you will only be able to get them to tell you something like a 1040 tax or a 1040A tax. Ask them if that is the same tax as the Subtitle “A” income tax. They avoid stating that at all costs but if they were to tell you that it related to Subtitle “A” tell them you want that statement in writing.
Oh, the fun just continues. Take a look at the statement by the Disclosure Officer to document that the “Collection Notice” was based upon the Subtitle “A” income tax. She stated,

“For your information, we wish to point out that once the account is established on the master file, the taxpayer’s liability is then determined under the deficiency procedures provided under Internal Revenue Code sections 6211, 6212, and 6213.”

Check with your Congressman or U.S. Senator and ask them if an IRS internal document called the Individual Master File [IMF] has lawful authority to impose an obligation for the Subtitle “A” Income Tax or can an obligation only be imposed as a result of legislation passed by the Congress?

You know the answer; the Master File cannot impose liability, only Congress can impose such an obligation but under the limitations as provided for by the Constitution of the United States [ratified 1789]! So how do they do it? The SSN and the franchise that it connects you to is the answer!

Getting back to the Disclosure Officer statement, “the taxpayer’s liability is then determined under the deficiency procedures provided under Internal Revenue Code sections 6211, 6212, and 6213.” It is time to take a closer look at those sections in 26 USC and find out what these sections really pertain to.

1. First of all, these IRC sections basically refer to “income taxes imposed by Subtitle A”.
2. Secondly, a statute without an implementing regulation has no full force and effect of the law.
3. Thirdly, 26 USC §7851(a)(1)(A), 26 CFR §1.10-1, and 26 USC §7851(a)(6)(A) prove that Subtitle “A” is non-enacted and thus non-existent as a “valid law.” The regulation for 26 USC §7851(a)(1)(A) is 27 CFR Part 25 which is applicable only for Wine Production!
4. Fourthly, the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment [written by President Taft on June 16, 1909] documents the “parties and jurisdiction” in which the income tax was intended to be imposed upon and specifically states that American Nationals were excluded from the imposition of such a tax as declared by the U.S. Supreme Court.

So what are your impressions about the use of the Freedom of Information Act Request? Very powerful and a very informative piece of legislation that, when used properly, can document the lack of authority for the “Collection Notice” attempts by the IRS as there does not exist any statute or regulation allowing the IRS to create a SFR for a Form 1040.

It even documents that the IRS is acting fraudulently when such conveyances are mailed without a valid Assessment Certificate and Implementing Regulation existing prior to any notices being mailed to American Nationals who have rebutted the purported constructive trust contract as being voidable ab initio.

Section §7214(a)(2) & (a)(7) of Title 26 addresses “Offenses by officers and employees of the United States.” Any unlawful acts by revenue officers or agents are punishable. If any officer or agent were to:

make or sign any fraudulent certificate, return, or statement against you and who knowingly demands or attempts to collect any sum of money not authorized by enacted federal tax law.

That agent could face dismissal from office or be discharged from employment.

That is why you, an American National living in the Republic and working only in the private sector, need to send the IRS the letter documenting your rebuttal to the purported constructive trust contract as being voidable from the date it was signed by you as a child. See:

Furthermore, the lack of full disclosure along with the lack of any willful and knowing intent to enter into a financial indentured servant contract with the Federal government makes the SSN contract voidable ab initio.

Additionally, the IRS officer or agent could be fined up to $10,000 or imprisoned for up to 5 years or both upon conviction. Therefore, if the IRS is operating properly under color of law, then the IRS should readily forward you complete copies of their documents, like the Substitute for Return and Assessment documents they created, and be in compliance by providing you with the documents made by the FOIA request.

However, you must remember that the IRS will, more than likely, not provide you the documents they created in which they used to make a claim of your owing a tax without lawful authority unless you send the IRS a FOIA request. FOIA is the best tool you can use to document the fraudulent offenses, by the IRS officers or agents, as to their actions exceeding lawful authority. Look up “Color of Law” and “Color of Office” in your copy of Black’s Law Dictionary. You will better understand the IRS violations you have just read.

You might want to reference 26 USC §7214(a)(2) & (a)(7) in any FOIA request to show the IRS there is a statute that can be used against them directly for such fraudulent acts. A Statute by itself can be very effective against an “officer, employee, or elected official of the federal government” [which is not effective by itself against American Nationals].

Before we head off into the next chapter, take a second look at the Rossotti letter responded to by Mr. Cloonan in which someone else signed the letter. This is somewhat comical as you start to understand how the IRS and the government play their semantic games but also disappointing to learn how those in government really value enacted law.

In the Rossotti letter you will read something else that is definitely interesting. In paragraph 8 of the delegated response by Director Cloonan [in behalf of Commissioner Rossotti] he clearly states,

“The law itself does not require individuals to file a Form 1040.”

Excuse me! You know he really did not want to say that. Your wheels must be turning by now! The obvious question arises from the Commissioner’s response that since “the law does not require individuals to file a Form 1040” then why all the “Collection Notices”?

As you read previously, the IRS Non Filer Group creates a Substitute for Return document that is used to supposedly validate the IRS claim that you owe a tax. Can such actions condoned by the IRS be considered as anything but a fraudulent act against American Nationals? A Substitute for Return is diametrically opposed to the Commissioner’s delegated statement.

Let me ask you another 100-point toss up question:

“What other form do those who file and pay the Subtitle ‘A’ Federal Income Tax regularly use?”

I see you picked up the points as the majority of “taxpayers” routinely use the Form 1040.

That was an easy 100 points, right? So review the paragraph at the beginning of this chapter where the IRS brochure states, “If you do not file a return…” Then, in review of statement by the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.) [indirectly] telling everyone that absolutely no one is required by law to file a Form 1040 does create confusion.

What is going on? Why can’t they get their act together? The answer lies in the Constitution which prohibits the Federal government and any of its bureaucrats from exceeding the scope of their authority under “color of law.”
Questions to think about in context to the law:

1) How can any American National owe a Federal income tax if they are not required to file a return?

2) How can any American National [nonresident alien] owe a federal income tax when 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) states they only have a taxable liability if their income is derived by being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the “United States”?

3) How can any American National not engaged in a federal franchise owe a Federal income tax if such an obligation [Implementing Regulation] is not published in the Federal Register?

4) How can the IRS create a SFR for an IRS Form 1040/1040A when the former IRS Commissioner stated in a delegated response letter that “The “law” itself does not require individuals to file a Form 1040.”

5) Can any American National really be obligated for the federal income tax when the IRS merely makes a “request” via a Collection Notice [which has no valid assessment behind it]?

6) When the IRS prepares a Substitute For Return, why don’t they clearly identify it simply as an optional and voluntary “proposal” instead of an outright legal liability?

If:

2. You do not maintain a domicile on federal territory, then you are not a statutory “U.S. citizen” by federal definition at 8 USC §1401 and you are not a resident alien by the federal definition in 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(A)
3. You have rescinded the SSN application as being voidable ab initio.

. . . then “How do they make the claim that you are a “Taxpayer”? By the erroneous tax class 5 information returns that are sent in annually!

The SSN [purported] constructive trust application and promoting and exploiting your own ignorance are the only remaining ways that they can use the label of “Taxpayer” against you. By now you understand all too well what that SSN really does to your identity and the financial injury it inflicts upon you. You also know that what you don’t know really can hurt you very badly because the government will use it as a way to maliciously exploit and enslave you.

Perhaps you now understand why the IRS management hesitates to sign their names directly to any IRS correspondence. Perhaps it is from the same concern that causes the IRS only to make references to those who are “Taxpayers” lawfully but perpetuate the illusion that “every American National owes the Federal income tax” when such is far from the truth.

Where and when did this mindset establish itself in our country? I recommend that you read Petrodollar Warfare by William R. Clark. His book discusses in detail the situation on oil, Iraq, and the future of the dollar. Leo Strauss, a German political philosopher left Nazi Germany in 1938, because he was an ethnic Jew, and settled into a teaching position at the University of Chicago. He taught a philosophy of governance which promotes:

“. . .this openly advocates an end-justifies-the-means mentality, allowing deception, violence, and the abrogation of international law”.

The Galileo Paradigm, version 1.04
Copyright Adele Weiss http://famguardian.org/
Here is a direct quote from Strauss in his thoughts on government and the wise “elites” need for secrecy, in his publication Natural Right and History and Persecution and the Art of Writing. It is openly odd from one who was so fearful of persecution in his own country that he left it only to bring that mindset to America and work to instill it in the fabric of the leadership of this country.

“Because mankind is intrinsically wicked, he has to be governed. Such governance can only be established, however, when me are united – and they can only be united against other people. Those who are fit to rule are those who realize there is no morality and that there is only one natural right – the right of the superior to rule over the inferior... The people are told what they need to know and no more.” [Natural Right and History and Persecution and the Art of Writing, Leo Strauss]

Therefore, secrecy is a paramount goal of government if one accepts Strauss’s Neoconservative Philosophy. Strauss believed that society comprised three classes of people, of which only the “wise elite” were capable of governing. He proposed that the elites were required to engage in “perpetual deception” over those that were to be ruled.

Strauss advocated a “perpetual war” in a political framework by the creation of “external threats” and must be fabricated if they do not exist for the purpose of keeping the people they rule “united against other people.” Straussian governance philosophy requires people to be united under fear and hatred.

Yet consider this direct quote by President George W. Bush as quoted from Bob Woodward’s book, Bush at War.

“I’m the commander – see, I don’t need to explain – I do not need to explain why I say things. That’s the interesting thing about being president. Maybe somebody needs to explain to me why they say something, but I don’t feel like I owe anybody an explanation.” [Bush at War, Bob Woodward]

Here is another quote from a well-known historical figure. See if you can identify the man who made the quote before I reveal it...look on the cover page of the book.

“It is the absolute right of the States to supervise the formation of public opinion. If you tell a lie big enough and keep repeating it, people will eventually come to believe it. The lie can be maintained only for such time as the State can shield the people from the political, economic, and/or military consequences of the lie. It becomes vitally important for the State to use all of its powers to repress dissent, for the truth is the mortal enemy of the lie, and thus by extension, the truth is the greatest enemy of the State.”

Do you know the source of this statement? It is none other than Joseph Goebbels, German Minister for Public Enlightenment and Propaganda, 1933-1945.

Has Strauss’ philosophy become the mantra in our government today? Do those in government reflect the sentiments of President George W. Bush? Can you imagine what the long term consequences are for those who ignore the law and inflict such harm on a trusting public?

There will be references to a term that might be new to the reader so I take this time to give a short definition so that you might refer back to this definition when necessary.

The term is “Color of Law” and it is defined in Black’s Law Dictionary [Sixth Edition] to mean:

“The appearance or semblance [of lawful authority] without the substance of legal right. Misuse of power made possible only because the wrongdoer is clothed with the authority of state. It is the unlawful acts done while such official is purporting or pretending to act in the performance of his official duties but in fact is merely an abuse or misuse of power which would not have occurred but for the fact that the person committing them was an official then and there exercising his official powers outside the bounds of lawful authority."

[Emphasis & Clarification added]

By the way, should you be interested in acquiring a copy of this legal dictionary you should consider purchasing only the Sixth Edition or earlier. Editions 7 and higher show that words have been purposely deleted or omitted. Perhaps a broader audience is now using this legal reference and this was not anticipated by those who produced such publications.

One such illustration is that in all the first 6 editions one can find the definition for “United States”. In the 7th that definition is not found any longer. Perhaps this term and others that were “omitted” by the publisher will be brought back over time.

“During times universal deceit, telling the truth becomes a revolutionary [terrorist] act”.

11 Chapter 11: Who Carries “The Burden of Proof”?

Quote to Contemplate:

“Any obligation imposed upon the general public must be published in the Federal Register.”
[Federal Register Act, 44 USC Section 1501]

When one reads the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment, written by President William H. Taft on June 16, 1909 [it is published in the Congressional Record of the United States Senate, 1909, on pages 3344-3345] one sees clearly what was stated about those upon whom the federal income tax was levied.

“The decision of the Supreme Court in the income-tax cases deprived the National Government of a power... it was generally supposed that government had.”

Thus, the federal income tax was “levied upon the National Government” [those who worked for it and those identified within its “exclusive jurisdiction” such as “U.S. citizens”, resident aliens, and those who operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the federal government by using federal property such as the SSN] as recommended by then President W. H. Taft in his letter to Congress. There is no argument as to its proper application of the special laws by the government, within its proper jurisdiction, upon those who have made their election by federal employment or willful and knowing choice. For that the government can expect “We The People” to respect its sovereignty but limited jurisdiction for the proper application of its special laws found in the IRC.

To illustrate how clear the federal government writes their statutes and regulations when there is no purpose to be vague or to use circular logic one only needs to look at 26 USC §5001 which addresses the “Imposition, rate, and attachment of tax on distilled spirits.” Keep in mind that this is all inside Title 26 which is for use by the IRS and anything related to ATF should have been removed by now as ATF laws are found in Title 27. These two were bureaus and jointly used Title 26 up until around 1953 when ATF was segregated from the IRS. When you think about the statement by FDR expressing how government plans their actions and does not act precipitously, it is curious as to how Congress “forgot” to remove those statutes in Title 26 that were for ATF use only.

Here is what is stated for the Imposition of taxation on distilled spirits at 26 USC §5001:

“There is hereby imposed on all distilled spirits produce in or imported into the United States a tax at the rate of $13.50 on each proof gallon and a proportionate tax at the like rate on all fractional part of a proof gallon.”

So look for yourself in Title 26 for that same clarity for the imposition of the federal income and you will find only a reference to “gross income”. Furthermore, the term “income” is amazingly defined in 26 USC §643 in the context of ONLY “trusts and estates”, which is entirely consistent with the income tax being connected with the Social Security franchise, which is also a “trust”:

TITLE 26 > Subtitle A > CHAPTER 1 > Subchapter J > PART 1 > Subpart A > § 643
§ 643. Definitions applicable to subparts A, B, C, and D

(b) Income

For purposes of this subpart and subparts B, C, and D, the term “income”, when not preceded by the words “taxable”, “distributable net”, “undistributed net”, or “gross”, means the amount of income of the estate or trust for the taxable year determined under the terms of the Chapter 11: Who Carries ‘The Burden of Proof’?

governing instrument and applicable local law. Items of gross income constituting extraordinary dividends or taxable stock dividends which the fiduciary, acting in good faith, determines to be allocable to corpus under the terms of the governing instrument and applicable local law shall not be considered income.

To date I have not found a direct statement on the federal income tax as you see pertaining to a tax imposed on all distilled spirits.

After what you have just read the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.) should have the opportunity to respond, and respond truthfully, with any enacted Federal Law that can demonstrate American Nationals [nonresident aliens to all federal jurisdiction], who do not derive their income from being engaged in the performance of the functions of a public office, have been made liable for the federal income tax applicable in the municipality of the District of Columbia.

Perfect! It just so happens that there is an enacted Federal Law, The Administrative Procedures Act. The IRS is placed in the position of carrying the Burden of Proof. This is where the burden should lie and proof provided in the form of an Implementing Regulation published in the Federal Register as required of the Department of Treasury.

Review the exhibit section for the reference for an IRS letter from Carroll Field, an IRS Tax Law Specialist, in the Washington, DC office [dated June 26, 1998]. The IRS has the “Burden of Proof” when claiming anyone has “taxed income” and thus a “taxable liability” for the Subtitle “A” income tax. Ms. Field’s letter documents the IRS awareness of being subject to this Act of Congress.

Congress created The Administrative Procedures Act and it is located in Title 5 of the United States Code. Under 5 USC §556, the IRS carries the full burden of proof when any authority they state is challenged. In 5 USC §556(d) you will find stated.

“Except as otherwise provided by statute, the proponent of a rule or order has the burden of proof.”

The proponent is the IRS when they claim that one is a “Taxpayer”.

Years ago, I completed correcting my true “national identity” and counteracted the Social Security status with the “Socialistic” Security Administration using a state notary as a Third Party Witness. This was accomplished by asking formal questions [about American Nationals being made liable and citizenship] in a series of mailings to the IRS on the same material you are reading.

The IRS & the SSA were totally silent. They purposely chose to ignore Enacted Federal Law stated in 5 USC §556(d). As a result, the state official witnessed a formal document [as a result of the IRS failure to respond as required by enacted federal law]. The documents are entitled:

1. Affidavit of Citizenship Clarification.
2. Resignation of Compelled [Indentured] Social Security Trustee, Form #06.002
   http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm
3. Why I am not Legally Liable to File, Form #07.103
   http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

The courts have a strong admonition to any person or entity that remains silent when asked for information but avoids a response.

According to the courts in U.S. v. Prudden, 424 F.2d. 2021:
Chapter 11: Who Carries ‘The Burden of Proof’?

“Silence equates to fraud where there is a legal or moral obligation to reveal the information or where a question left unanswered would be intentionally misleading.”

Additionally, the IRS was required to provide what is called “reliable, probative, and substantial evidence” in any attempt to prove their position. Obviously, such proof of Enacted Federal Law must be provided to meet such requirements placed upon the IRS by 5 USC §556(d). The IRS certainly had a legal obligation to respond but did not.

Interesting to note, this section prevents the IRS from any use of lawful authority to impose any penalty or other coercive measure, for noncompliance, prior to providing such “reliable, probative, and substantial evidence”. The IRS carries the burden of proof according to The Administrative Procedures Act.

The section in 5 USC §556(d) relating to the IRS burden of proof further states,

“A sanction may not be imposed or rule or order issued except on consideration of the whole record or those parts thereof cited by a party and supported by and in accordance with the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence,”

A valid Federal Tax Law, which is applicable toward American Nationals, who are secured parties to the constitution and do not function in a public office for the federal government nor engage in commerce with that government, must consist of the following three elements:

1) A Statute in an enacted Title of the United States Code [26 USC].

2) An Implementing Regulation for the specific Statue in the enacted Title of the USC being published in the Code of Federal Regulations [26 CFR].

3) The publication of the same 26 CFR Implementing Regulation in the Federal Register and evidenced by a volume, date, and page number.

Such a response would most certainly meet the burden of proof criteria outlined in 5 USC §556(d) as “reliable, probative, and substantial evidence” but the IRS will remain silent.

One last thought on this issue of “Burden of Proof” to consider. The United States Supreme Court has addressed the law based on the rules of statutory construction and stated that no one may extend the meaning of a term beyond that specifically defined or enclosed within its definition.

You will find this fact stated in Gould v. Gould, 245 U.S. 151 at 153, which the U.S. Supreme Court concluded, “In interpretation of statutes levying taxes, it is the established rule not to extend their provisions by implication beyond the clear import of the language used, or to enlarge their operations so as to embrace matters not specifically pointed out.

In case of doubt they [enacted federal laws] are construed most strongly against the government and in favor of the citizen.” [Emphasis and clarification added]

The IRS’ own Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.) in section [4.2] 7.2.9.8 (5/14/99) states:

“Decisions made at various levels of the court system…may be used by either examiners or taxpayers [and by Non-Taxpayers to rebut claims made as if they were Taxpayers] to support a position… [Emphasis and clarification added]

A case decided by the U.S. Supreme Court becomes the law of the land and takes precedence over decisions of lower courts.”
If there is any doubt as to the implications, interpretations, or meaning of language used in an instrument, statute, regulation, court decision or other legal authority, then the federal laws are to be determined most strongly against the government and strongly in favor of the citizen.

This is even more powerful when the IRS has a legal obligation to reveal information or where “a question left unanswered would be intentionally misleading”.

The U.S. Supreme Court decision in Gould v. Gould “has become the law of the land and takes precedence over any lower court decision” as the IRS has openly stated.

This is why the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment [created by President William H. Taft on June 16, 1909 and published in the Congressional Record of the U.S. Senate on pages 3344-3345] documents the validity of the USSC Pollock decision in 1895 that the Federal government was denied and therefore deprived of any power or authority to levy an income tax against those in the Constitutional Republic [the states of the Union].

Anything else the IRS might attempt to do by “presumption” or semantic gamesmanship amounts to a fraudulent conveyance of the language for “extortion under the color of law”.

12  Chapter 12: Responses from the IRS: Frivolous & Without Merit

Quote to Contemplate:

“The IRS is prohibited by an Act of Congress from giving any individual any document from which that individual could determine if he owed a tax to the IRS or how much he owed.”

For years, American Nationals have been asking questions of the IRS regarding the imposition of the Federal Income Tax but many have not been aware of exactly how the IRS was responding. The IRS is certainly correct in their responses when the context is only their area of proper jurisdiction. The IRS jurisdiction is exclusively the Federal Zone [the District of Columbia]. However, think about this in light of the Buck Act and what you have learned about “U.S. Citizens” and being “subject to” the federal jurisdiction.

Consider the following internet article on the Federal Holiday that is only observed in the District of Columbia:

“The municipality of Washington, D.C., celebrates April 16 as Emancipation Day. On that day in 1862, President Abraham Lincoln signed the Compensated Emancipation Act for the release of certain persons held to service or labor in the District of Columbia. The Act freed about 3,100 enslaved persons in the District of Columbia nine months before President Lincoln issued his famous Emancipation Proclamation which presaged the eventual end of slavery to the rest of the nation. The District of Columbia Compensated Emancipation Act represents the only example of compensation by the federal government to free enslaved persons.

On January 4, 2005, Mayor Anthony Williams signed legislation making Emancipation Day an official public holiday in the District. Each year, a series of activities will be held during the public holiday including the traditional Emancipation Day parade celebrating the freedom of enslaved persons in the District of Columbia. The Emancipation Day celebration was held yearly from 1866 to 1901, and was resumed as a tradition and historic celebration in 2002 as a direct result of years of research, lobbying and leadership done by Ms. Loretta Carter-Hanes.

In 2007, the observance of this holiday in Washington, DC had the effect of nationally extending the 2006 income tax filing deadline from the 16th to the 17th of April, a delay that will recur in April 2012. This 2007 date change was not discovered until after many forms went to print.”

Here is a clear example for all to see that the District of Columbia is separate and distinct from all the other states of the Union. Emancipation Day is a “public holiday” ONLY within the municipality of Washington, D.C. just as the IRC special laws are applicable ONLY within the same municipal jurisdiction. The seat of all “public offices” are only within the District of Columbia and no where else per 4 USC §72.

Did you notice that the “public holiday” only had effect in the singular jurisdiction and only upon those who worked for the federal government? Did you notice that it affected the IRS activity on April 16th? The only jurisdiction in question was the District of Columbia [the Federal Zone] and upon those who are federal workers who were given the day off to celebrate and to file their tax returns. Now do you see the relationship to the SSN as an identifier of those who are Federal Employees having a holiday before those federal workers had to file their tax returns?

The IRS claim that arguments like filing a tax return being voluntary are “frivolous and without merit” are indeed correct. However, that is true only when the IRS is solely responding to the Federal Zone and about those who by law are “Taxpayers”. Federal Court decisions are correct when the one who is questioning the government fails to understand the distinctions of proper jurisdiction in which the responses are created.

Many have been inappropriately identified as having a federal domicile, labeled as a statutory “U.S. citizen”, and have been established in IRS records and databases as one who operates in a representative capacity [a federal trustee of the SSN trust] exercising some of the sovereign powers of the federal government [holding a public office and using federal property - - the SSN].

However, the IRS routinely and deliberately fails to tell the American Nationals that their responses are only applicable to the exclusive [sovereign] jurisdiction of the “United States”; Ah yes…the sin of omission!

The deception created by their attitude and response is totally inappropriate when the American Public is not told that the term “United States” [by IRS definition] only refers to the Federal Government’s exclusive jurisdiction and not the 50 states of the Union. The same thing is true about the term “U.S. citizen” defined by the Federal government in 8 USC §1401 and that which is used in everyday context by an unsuspecting American Public.

The bottom line is that the IRS Standard Responses are only applicable in the context of the Federal Zone toward those who are truly “Taxpayers”. It would be an act only under Color of Law by the IRS if they were to state that their responses were applicable to the 50 states of the Union and toward American Nationals who are domiciled and who work only in the private sector regarding the Federal income tax.

Perhaps now you better understand the confusion and the damage the Federal government has allowed to prevail over the American Nationals who trusted their government to tell the truth but were unaware of the waiver of their rights by presumption from applying for an SSN.

Consider this in light of the governance philosophy of Leo Strauss. This shows that perhaps this totalitarian mindset has more influence over the government elite than the Constitution.

Consider each of the following examples in light of what you just read regarding the Federal Zone vis-à-vis the 50 states of the Union. Let’s take a look at how the IRS routinely answers questions with the understanding that the IRS is referring only to the Federal Zone. The IRS fails to state that their jurisdiction does not extend into the 50 States of the Union with their standard responses and thus the lack of forthrightness to American Nationals:

1) “Concerns regarding the authority by which the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) requires an individual to file a federal income tax return.”

You can look until the moon turns into green cheese but you will not find the word “individual” defined in Title 26, the Internal Revenue Code. Not giving up, I did locate that term and its definition in 5 USC §552(a)(2) . Care to guess what it means? As soon as you see the definition you will understand why that term is not defined in Title 26.

The term “individual” as defined at 5 USC §552(a)(2) is defined as “the term “individual” means a citizen of the United States or an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence.” Hence, an “individual” is a person with a legal domicile on federal territory and who works for the federal government. What “citizens of the United States” and “permanent residents” have in common is that they are “U.S. persons” as defined in 26 USC §7701(a)(30) who have a legal domicile on federal territory and not within any state of the Union.

This one is a very basic example of “truly stated” and is an example of a half-truth due to the implied jurisdiction over the 50 states and that American Nationals are “individuals” as defined above.
“U.S. Citizens” who were born in and are subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the federal government, “employees, officers, and elected officials of the federal government”, resident aliens, U.S. corporations, those nonresident alien individuals who “elect” to have their income treated like a U.S. resident alien, and those who operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the Federal government are the only “parties” required to file a Federal income tax return.

The IRS knows, better than most, who the “parties” are that are liable for paying the Federal income tax. It is the IRS employee’s job to know the laws they practice in their profession and the applicable jurisdiction they apply toward or their Oath of Office is meaningless. As the IRS special laws only apply to those domiciled in the Federal Zone wherever they may actually be physically located, the IRS hopes you “assume” liability of a “U.S. Citizen” by not understanding the IRS gamesmanship.

The Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment completely proves that American Nationals were never made liable for the federal income tax. As such Americans have no “taxed income” or “taxable liability” and therefore are not required to file a federal income tax return further supported by former IRS Commissioner Rossotti’s statement. American Nationals are not “individuals” under 26 USC. Game, set, and match on who the “parties” are that are required to file a return.

2) “It is not the policy of the IRS to respond to letters on a point-by-point basis.”

That is not what the Administrative Procedures Act, 5 USC §552 & 556, [an Act of Congress] states. Guess which takes precedence, the IRS policy or enacted Federal Law? You already know that 5 USC §556(d) requires the IRS to adhere to federal law as stated,

“The proponent of the rule or order [the IRS] has the burden of proof and that proof must be reliable, probative, and substantive.”

This is why you must know the Federal Law well enough to stick the law in their face so that the IRS “assumption” made by this and similar statements stops them immediately.

Why doesn’t the IRS want to respond to questions on a point-by-point basis? Could it be for the same reason that IRM section 4.10.7.2.8.1 portrays to all who ever read it that you can not depend on anything the IRS creates or writes to be valid? Perhaps we now understand why the IRS states “Publications are nonbinding on the Service and do not necessarily cover all positions for a given issue. While a good source of general information, [IRS] publications should not be cited to sustain a position”.

All the IRS would have to do is show the federal law, you know, the ones that Congress told us were,

“In practice, our laws are published immediately upon their enactment so that the public will be aware of them.”

The “Public” the Congress is referring to is the “American Public” and not those domiciled in the Federal Zone. That would stop all the “assumption” that has been ongoing for over 90 years. They can’t produce a law against American Nationals who do not derive income from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business –the performance of the functions of a public office – in the United States [the District of Criminals….oops, Columbia]

3) “Letters such as his almost always reflect personal opinions and frustrations with the tax system…”
This is an interesting response. The IRS tries to misdirect the intent of the one who is asking the question. When the questions are asked on a basis of federal law, the IRS can at best only “semantically two-step” around each subject using words that makes inferences while showing the reader absolutely nothing.

The last thing the IRS wants to admit is that the “assumption game” has been discovered and to be forced to admit the truth to American Nationals.

The IRS is absolutely unable to provide American Nationals with any established or enacted federal tax law demonstrating “reliable, probative, or substantive proof” that American Nationals have any federal income tax liability. Is that Leo Strauss governance philosophy making its appearance once again? “The people are told what they need to know and no more.”

4) “The federal tax law enacted by the Congress is contained in Title 26 of the United States Code…”

This is where the IRS really starts to skate on thin ice. Notice that the IRS talks about the enacted federal tax law but completely avoids showing the reader any “enacted federal tax law”. You know – the Implementing Regulations published in the Federal Register as required of the IRS by 44 USC §1501. But wait, these guys have this game down cold. Notice that the IRS doesn’t indicate any direct reference to the enactment of Subtitle “A” income tax. So you don’t really know specifically what federal tax law is being referenced to that statement. There is no reference to which jurisdiction they are addressing in order to provide any reader with accurate and complete clarity.

The net result is yet another half-truth. You will find in Subtitles “D” and “E” [Title 26] that those subtitles are enacted into law but they don’t apply to Subtitle “A” Income Tax law. Subtitle “D” enactment applies only to “Miscellaneous Excises” and Subtitle “E” applies only to “Alcohol, Tobacco, and Certain Other Excises”. These are ATF excise taxes that should have been removed from 26 USC when ATF was established as a separate federal entity.

So it is truly stated that federal tax law [Subtitle “D” & “E”] enacted by Congress are contained in Title 26. However, the subject question related to Subtitle “A” income tax is not enacted and has never applied to American Nationals when they live and work outside the “United States” and are not engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” in the “United States”.

You might “assume” that the IRS is referring to Subtitle “A” income tax enactment but in reality, “Are they merely referring to some other Subtitle tax enactment?” They are only addressing the municipal jurisdiction of the District of Columbia.

Remember 26 CFR §1.0-1 where you find stated,

“In general, the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 are applicable with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1953, and ending after August 16, 1954.”

Also, show the IRS the statute at 26 USC §7851(a)(1)(A) Subtitle “A”, Applicability of Revenue Laws. Ask the IRS to explain to you how a “law” can be a “law” without an effective date of enactment? Ask the IRS how you could have ever been made liable for an income tax when the “law” ends on the date it becomes enacted law?
Chapter 12: Responses from the IRS: Frivolous Without Merit

Get the IRS to address that one with you. But don’t forget to ask them where in the Federal Register this Implementing Regulation has been published. Tell the IRS, if they can’t provide the Federal Register proof, then enacted Federal Law tells you that American Nationals [who do not engage in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the “United States” and do not use a SSN] have no obligation or duty to file or pay any federal income tax.

The regulation supporting 26 USC §7851(a)(1)(A) Subtitle “A” federal income tax is only 27 CFR Part 24 Wine production under ATF and cross-referencing is not permitted by the IRS under 1 CFR §21.21(c).

1) “The Constitution, Article 1, Section 6 through 9, and the Sixteenth Amendment give the Federal Government the right to levy and collect taxes.”

This is classic misdirection of the issue. See their “assumption” again. You are supposed to “assume” that the IRS is talking about Federal income taxes being applicable to American Nationals by every reference cited even for those who do not work for the Federal government in any capacity nor use a SSN.

Absolutely, the federal government has the right to levy and collect taxes. However, ask the IRS specifically what kind of taxes, who are the parties obligated to pay and what is the proper jurisdiction for each of those taxes made applicable as revenue laws?

That is where silence becomes their response. Silence indicates a species of conduct, according to federal courts, and equates to a fraud when the question is of legal or moral importance. Nothing legal than about confiscating someone’s wealth created by their labor when they owe nothing.

American Nationals would pay a direct tax by apportionment imposed only on the state legislature. American Nationals would pay an excise, impost or other duty tax. But as you already know, the 16th Amendment [the Federal Income Tax] only applies to certain “parties” and is only applicable in the “jurisdiction” of the Federal Zone to persons with a legal domicile there, wherever situated. The IRS leaves this completely unanswered and for good reason.

2) “The positions raised have been the subject of numerous court decisions that have held these positions to be contrary to existing law.”

Look at the phrase “contrary to existing law” and notice that there is not a single reference of what specific “law” the IRS might be referring to as well as the “parties” to whom the inferred law applies.

Did you notice any cites from the USSC? Do you see any reference to the types of parties making such claims in federal court? Were they “US citizens”, “resident aliens”, federal workers, or ones who use an SSN and proclaim by their ignorance that they are federal trustees of the federal SSN trust created by their SS-5 application?

This is a generic statement with no supporting reference to direct anyone to the actual law. The IRS repeatedly wants you to “assume” that they are addressing a franchisee called a “taxpayer”, as defined in 26 USC, even though you did not waive any of your God-given rights. You could not waive your rights because you filled out the application for a social security number when you were a minor...incapable of making any legal agreement. Or your parents filled it out for you. But, no one, not even your parents, can surrender your God-given rights.
Chapter 12: Responses from the IRS: Frivolous Without Merit

Are they referring to “enacted valid law” or the prima facie evidence that somewhere the law might exist? This is how the IRS truly works their wizardry in their grand game of semantic gamesmanship.

Did you notice the reference to “numerous court decisions”? Are Federal Court decisions enacted law? No, they are not enacted law. Nor are they even relevant to a person not domiciled on federal territory and not engaged in federal franchises. As you are certainly aware, Article 1, Section 1 of the Constitution states,

“All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.”

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) is used routinely by United States Tax Attorneys to stop all United States District Court procedures on Constitutional Tax questions, as these Courts have no Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

So the IRS use of the phrase “numerous court decisions” is not the same thing as stating specifically enacted federal law and USSC decisions. Additionally, federal courts have no subject matter jurisdiction regarding Constitutional tax questions they are only courts of consent as these courts have been administrative courts since 1976. What Happened to Justice?, Form #06.012
http://sedm.org/ItemInfo/Ebooks/WhatHappJustice/WhatHappJustice.htm

Where is the enacted Statute, the Implementing Regulation for the Statute and where in the Federal Register has the Regulation been published? The answer is “there is no implementing regulation published which imposes the Subtitle “A” federal income tax in the Federal Register requiring Americans to file an income tax return according to Federal Attorney Michael L. White, Office of the Federal Register.

3) “Some people believe with great fervor preposterous things that just happen to coincide with their self-interest. Certain individuals have convinced themselves that “wages are not income”, that only gold is money, that the Sixteenth Amendment is unconstitutional, and so on.”

There is that word “individual” again. Do you remember who that term refers to? The IRS by doing so is making yet another attempt to misdirect the attention of the real issue. The IRS is correct in stating that “wages are income” but only for those “parties” previously identified as well as those stated in the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment. 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) shows that a nonresident alien individual only has a taxable liability if their income is derived by being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the United States.

26 CFR §1.861-8(f)(1) Determination of Taxable Income from sources within the United States shows a defined list of all “sources” of taxable income. There is not a single reference to American Nationals or the 50 states of the Union in this implementing regulation. American Nationals are presumed “exempt” from this tax unless they choose to work for the National government or make an “election” to have their income treated as taxable like that of a U.S. resident alien. Spreckels Sugar Refining Co. v. McClain, 192 U.S. 297 (1904)

Notice again how the IRS attempts to drag the reader into misdirection by creating an issue of the Sixteenth Amendment being unconstitutional and that gold is money, and so on.
Chapter 12: Responses from the IRS: Frivolous Without Merit

4) “If an individual is required by law to file a return or pay tax, it is mandatory that he or she do so. Failure to do so could cause the individual to be subject to civil and criminal penalties; including fines, and imprisonment.”

Do you see that the IRS uses the small word “if” instead of stating clearly whom the “parties” are that are made liable in the first place for the income tax? Why doesn’t the IRS readily identify those “parties”? Well they did if you know the definition of the word “individual” and you do now, right?

The IRS again shows no “law” that they were referring to in this statement but want the reader to “assume” the fact that a law imposing the income tax exists and that the reader is required by this non-existent law to file a return or pay the tax.

When these IRS statements are addressed to nonresident aliens [American Nationals] who do not derive any income from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the United States then they are nothing more than semantic half-truths, and misdirection that the IRS routinely uses.

The IRS cannot show you any enacted federal regulation imposing the federal income tax upon American Nationals simply because none exists in either 26 CFR Part 1 or are there any implementing regulations published in the Federal Register.

Michael L. White, Federal Attorney, Office of the Federal Register confirmed this by his statement in a 1994 legal opinion letter to an American National:

“Our records indicate that the Internal Revenue Service has not incorporated by reference in the Federal Register a requirement to make an income tax return.”

Hopefully by now you understand the significance of the Federal Register and the ramifications that the IRS has utterly failed to have published in the Federal Register any requirement upon American Nationals to make an income tax return…the Form 1040!

When the IRS is asked to provide the following “reliable, probative, and substantial” proof of income tax liability for “American Nationals” via:

1) A Statute in an enacted Title of the United States Code [26 USC].

2) An Implementing Regulation for the specific statute in the enacted Title of the USC being published in the Code of Federal Regulations [26 CFR].

3) The publication of the same 26 CFR Implementing Regulation in the Federal Register and evidenced by a volume, date, and page number.

…there is no point-by-point response but rather only silence from the IRS.

The only alternative they have to justify their authority to directly enforce a statute against an American National absent an implementing regulation is to provide evidence on the record that you are a member of one of the three groups specifically exempted by the Federal Register Act, 44 USC §1505(a) and the Administrative Procedures Act, 5 USC §553(a).

1. A military or foreign affairs function of the United States. 5 USC §553(a)(1).
Chapter 12: Responses from the IRS: Frivolous Without Merit

2. A matter relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or contracts. 5 USC §553(a)(2).

3. Federal agencies or persons in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees thereof. 44 USC §1505(a)(1).

Of course, they NEVER meet this burden of proof and hence admit they are engaging in illegal enforcement and a criminal conspiracy against your constitutional rights in violation of 18 USC §241.

Worth repeating is the decision by the courts pertaining to silence on questions of this magnitude.

[U.S. v. Pruden, 424 F2d]

“The income tax is fulfilling the Marxist prophecy that the surest way to destroy a capitalist society is by steeply graduated taxes on income and heavy levies upon the estates of people when they die.”
[T. Coleman Andrews, Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service, (A section from his resignation statement)]
Chapter 13: IRS Liens & Levies: Application upon whom?

13 Chapter 13: IRS Liens & Levies: Applicable upon whom?

Quote to Contemplate:

“The United States Code does not prevail over the Statutes at Large when the two are inconsistent.”

[Stephan v. United States (1943) 319 U.S. 423, 87 L Ed 1490, 63 S.Ct. 1135]

Every year near April, there seems to be the IRS ritual to boldly dramatize the enforcement of the Subtitle “A” income tax. Major personalities who have drawn the attention of the IRS are vigorously attacked and headlined in the news media. Liens are also filed in county recorder’s offices across this nation on this individual’s property and Levy by distraint is used to attach their bank accounts, payroll checks, and other accounts.

The IRS claims Subtitle “A” Federal income tax [sometimes the IRS refers to this in their correspondence as the “1040 tax”] enforcement authority for their actions under 26 USC Section 6201 [Assessment Authority], Section 6321[Lien for taxes], and Section 6331(a) [Levy and distraint].

The Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.) then proceeds with “enforcement” actions without ever showing the “American Nationals” [who do not derive their income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the “United States”] the enacted Statute or the Implementing Regulations for the specific Statutes as published in the Federal Register. When such proof is nonexistent, there can be no enforcement for laws that do not exist.

American Nationals, nonresident aliens to federal jurisdiction should learn and challenge the creation of an information return by their private sector nonfederal employer. At the least the erroneous information return should be corrected in order to eliminate the presumption that they are engaged in the “trade or business” franchise. This may be accomplished using the following free resource:

Correcting Erroneous Information Returns, Form #04.001
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

It all starts by the IRS Form W-4 but any information return which is incorrectly identifying one as who they are not and that they are not one who with full knowledge and awareness should consider correcting that report. Otherwise the IRS will treat the information return [the Tax Class 5 W-2, 1099, 1098, etc] as originating from the named party as if they made an “election” to have their income treated as taxable like that of a U.S. resident alien per 26 CFR §1.871-1(a).

Those poor unsuspecting people merely “assumed” that the IRS had such authority and most certainly did not know to ask the IRS to meet the Burden of Proof responsibility imposed by 5 USC §556(d) before they took such damaging actions. These enforcement Sections the IRS uses are all published in 26 USC under Subtitle F [enforcement]. In 26 USC §7851 Applicability of Revenue Laws, the supporting regulation was located only in 27 CFR Part 24 for Wine production! Cross-referencing to another Title in the CFR is prohibited.

Actions inspired by the government are taken against unaware “American Nationals” who have been falsely and fraudulently reclassified as statutory “U.S. Citizens” (see 8 USC §1401) or “U.S. persons” (see 26 USC §7701(a)(30)) in part for having a Social Security Number. Hopefully you remember the regulation [26 CFR §301.6109-1] that shows the IRS generically identifies anyone with a Social Security Number in the records and databases of the IRS as being a “U.S. Citizen” or resident alien individual. See 26 CFR §301.6109-1(g).

You might recall that 26 USC is only prima facie or “presumed” evidence that a law might exist. This is confirmed by 1 USC §204. When a Title of the United States Code is not enacted into positive law the Statutes
At Large take precedence. From the Congressional publication “How Our Laws Are Made”, you no doubt understood that the Statutes At Large contain all enacted Federal Law in chronological order.

Should you ever venture into the realm of the Statutes At Large for documenting the origination of the 26 USC §§6201, 6321, and 6331(a) which the IRS uses in Subtitle A Federal Income Tax enforcement you will find that the authority is located in the Revised Statutes of 1874.

In the Revised Statutes of 1874, you will find Section 3182 [Assessment], Section 3186 [Lien for taxes], and Section 3187 [Levy and distraint] listed as enacted Congressional tax law. No recent revisions or amendments to these Statutes for tax enforcement have occurred since 1874. Are you holding your breath?

The Revised Statutes of 1874 enforcement Sections refer to the following Excise Taxable events that have been approved by Congress, for the collection of excise taxes regarding Tobacco, Distilled Spirits, and Cotton only. Noticeable by its’ absence is the use of the enacted Congressional law for the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax!

In 1953, the House Ways and Means Committee held a hearing investigating the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.). The U.S. Government Printing Office published the findings of the 83rd Congress, 1st Session, Administrative Investigation on Internal Revenue Laws.

Mr. Dwight E. Avis. Head of Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, Bureau of Internal Revenue [ATF and IRS were one organization at that time], testified under sworn oath and made the following statement.

[SEDM Exhibit #05.011; SOURCE: http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm]

Mr. Avis was a Federal Official who swore under oath that the [Subtitle A] income tax was a 100% voluntary tax [for American Nationals]. He also stated that the same rules for the liquor tax [Statutes & Implementing Regulations] would not apply to the voluntary [Subtitle “A”] income tax. Not long after this investigation, the Federal Agency known today as ATF was split away from the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.) and a separate Title was created for the laws and enforcement of ATF taxation. The sections in the Internal Revenue Code that were for ATF use were “conveniently” overlooked from being removed from the Code.

The rather purposeful negligence for ATF statutes created the problem that exists today for statutes in the IRC that only apply to ATF jurisdictional excise taxes. What all this means is that the IRS is using Statutes in 26 USC inappropriately as they are only valid for excise taxable events under the ATF enforcement jurisdiction. The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms operate under Title 27, which has been enacted into positive law.

But wait, there is even more damaging proof that the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.) claims do not apply to “American Nationals”. In 28 USC §7851(a)(6)(A) [Applicability of Revenue Laws - Enforcement] reads

“The provisions of Subtitle F shall take effect on the day after the date of enactment of this title and shall be applicable with respect to any tax imposed by this title.”

Creativity by IRS attorneys and their legal staff is certainly not lacking. In light of what you have previously read and seen as proof of existing federal tax law, the IRS legal staff says that the enforcement provisions [Assessment, Lien, and Levy by distraint] for the Subtitle A Federal Income Tax shall be applicable to this non-enacted revenue law [Subtitle A Income Tax] on the day after the enactment of Title 26 into positive law.

Supreme Court Justice Brandeis stated in Olmstead v. United States, 277 U.S. 438, 485 (1928):

[Olmstead v. United States, 277 U.S. 438, 485 (1928)]

Justice Brandeis certainly must have known more than the average “American National” about the intent of the federal government to not observe its own laws and thereby disregard the character of its own existence. For what other reason would he have deliberately made such a statement?

The IRS simply does not have any delegated authority to enforce the Special Laws of the Subtitle “A” Federal income tax upon American Nationals inside the boundary of the sovereign 50 states on non-federal land when they do not operate in a representative capacity for the benefit of, or work for, the Federal government.

Wait a minute! Have you ever heard about, or perhaps know of, someone who has had their bank account served with a Notice of Tax Levy for the Federal Income Tax?

As you have just learned, the IRS can only use enforcement regulations to enforce any Levy. A Statute by itself has no full force and effect of the law according to the USSC in U.S. v. Mersky and California Bankers Assn. v. Shultz. Furthermore, you will recall that there must be an effective date of enactment of Title 26, in order for any enforcement statutes to become effective. Title 26 has not been enacted and published in the Federal Register as required by Federal law found at 26 CFR §601.702(a)(1).

Where is all this heading you might ask? The IRS via one of their agents, who takes such action against an American National [under color of law and color of office] to get the bank to turn over their money to the IRS, does so without any lawful authority according to the Statutes At Large, Revised Statutes of 1874.

Even if the American National was an identified “party” and if the IRS lawfully had “jurisdiction within the 50 states of the Union”, the IRS routinely presents the bank with only a Notice Statement of a Federal Tax Levy. As banks are now federal agencies of the National government they will of course ignore your concerns readily. Read the Bank Secrecy Act and you will discover your exposure to such attacks, not to mention the complete lack of privacy.

Take a look at the section relating to “Surrender of Property Subject to Levy” as found in 26 USC §6332(c) “Special rule for banks”. This section reads, “Any bank shall surrender (subject to an attachment or execution under judicial process) any deposits (including interest thereon) in such bank only after 21 days after service of levy.”

The IRS should present to the bank an attachment or execution [for the Levy] based “under judicial process”. If you know of anyone is this predicament, suggest to them to ask the bank to produce the Levy document from the IRS and a copy of the execution of the Levy under judicial process for the Subtitle “A” federal income tax [1040 tax]. The IRS will not be able to produce such a document against American Nationals. They will against those who use a SSN who are identified as a statutory “U.S. person” or one who is operating in a representative capacity on behalf of the Federal government.

The United States District Courts are Administrative Courts not Judicial. The only Judicial Court that could ever issue an execution under judicial process would be The Court of International Trade. United States District Courts have no subject matter jurisdiction over constitutional taxation issues and could never extend their “authority into a jurisdiction” in which that court lacked proper jurisdiction.

US District Courts are mere territorial or tribunal courts as explained in Balzac v. People of Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922) where you find Justice W. H. Taft declaring:
“The United States district court is not a true United States court established under Article III of the Constitution to administer the judicial power of the United States therein conveyed. It is created by virtue of the sovereign congressional faculty, granted under Article IV, § 3, of that instrument, of making all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory belonging to the United States. The resemblance of its jurisdiction to that of true United States courts, in offering an opportunity to nonresidents of resorting to a tribunal not subject to local influence, does not change its character as a mere territorial court.” [Emphasis Added] [Balzac v. People of Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922)]

You will quickly learn more about the Jurisdiction of the United States District Courts in the next chapter. When you better understand this important issue of “jurisdiction” you will see even clearer why the IRS will never be able to produce an execution under judicial process.

Keep in mind that 26 USC §6332(c) is found under Subtitle F which would only be applicable when Title 26 became enacted into law.

As you remember, 26 USC §7851(a)(1)(A) told you that Subtitle A “ends upon the date of enactment of this title.” Also, remember the regulation behind the Applicability of Revenue Laws per 26 USC §7851 shows 27 CFR Part 24 for taxation due from Wine Production. There would also be a great deal of difficulty for the IRS to prove that they were acting lawfully in their unauthorized enforcement and collection actions, initiated against many “American Nationals”, for a non-enacted tax that was never legally owed by Americans.

By the sworn testimony of Dwight Avis you also see that Congress did nothing to stop the fraudulent actions of the IRS by their use of enforcement statutes that had no lawful applicability to the non-enacted Subtitle “A” income tax. Could the reason be the desire for power, money, and control? Not really sure but we all know this is going on.

With all the enforcement authorities discussed you need to understand that they originate from a “return” that would have been filed by those who are “Taxpayers”. It is curious that when researching the IRS authority for the creation of Form 1040/1040A Substitute for Returns [SFR] for “Taxpayers” who may have overlooked filing requirements you see a puzzling situation falling upon the IRS Non Filer Group.

Jay Hammer, an IRS Disclosure Officer, wrote a letter on November 2, 1993, in which he stated the following:

“Delegation orders which authorize Internal Revenue Service employees to create substitutes for return do not exist.”
[Sedm Exhibit #05.032; SOURCE: http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm]

This is quite an admission which will not be likely repeated by those in the IRS today. Did you notice his reference to Delegation Orders? Take a close look at Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 (Rev 3) and you will see something that is missing from IRS authority in regard to SFR. The following statement says it all:

“The IRM restrict the broad delegation shown in figure 23-2, for revenue officers, to employment, excise, and partnership tax returns because of constitutional issues. (You have already studied audit referrals as a means to enforce compliance on income tax returns). Generally you can file the following returns, using the authority granted by IRC Section 6020(b): 1. Form 940, Employer’s Annual Federal Unemployment Tax Return, 2. Form 941, Employer’s Quarterly Federal Tax Return

The entire Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 never references a Form 1040 SFR. Surprised?
Take a look at the more recent version of Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 (Rev 7) and you will notice that narrative is now missing. In the newer version you find “Sources of Authority” listed as 26 CFR §301.6020(b) and 26 CFR §301.7701-9.

At first glance you might be persuaded to assume that “Well, there it is!” It is not until you look up these Administrative Regulations [“301” is the clue to the regulation being administrative] vis-à-vis Implementing Regulations to learn that in 26 CFR §301.6020(b) there is no reference to any SFR authority for the Form 1040.

Also, the Implementing Regulation would be stated as 26 CFR §1.6020(b) but there is no such implementing regulation.

You will find stated in 26 CFR §301.6020(b) the following narrative in this administrative regulation:

(b) Execution of returns—

(1) In general.

If any person required by the Code or by the regulations prescribed thereunder to make a return (other than a declaration of estimated tax required under section 6654 or 6655) fails to make such return at the time prescribed therefore, or makes, willfully or otherwise, a false, fraudulent or frivolous return, the Commissioner or other authorized internal revenue officer or employee shall make such return from his own knowledge and from such information as he can obtain through testimony or otherwise. The Commissioner or other authorized internal revenue officer or employee may make the return by gathering information and making computations through electronic, automated or other means to make a determination of the taxpayer’s tax liability.”

By reading this section, can you determine “which returns” specifically are being referenced? There is no reference to a Form 1040 throughout the regulation.

Does it reference how anyone is required in this regulation to make a return? Michael L. White, Federal Attorney in the Office of the Federal Register really clarified the facts on this question.

I recommend you take the time to review this regulation and in his concluding statement of his legal opinion letter in which Mr. White stated,

“Our records indicate that the Internal Revenue Service has not incorporated by reference in the Federal Register a requirement to make an income tax return.”

[SEDM Exhibit #05.005; SOURCE: http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm]

Continuing to review the purported “Sources of Authority” in Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 (Rev 7), 26 CFR §301.7701-9 pertains to “Secretary or his delegate” does state in part:

“(c) An officer or employee, including the Commissioner, authorized by regulations or Treasury decision to perform a function shall have authority to redelegate the performance of such function to any officer or employee performing services under his supervision and control, unless such power to so redelegate is prohibited or restricted by proper order or directive.”

However, reading the entire administrative regulation fails to reference any direct statement to SFR authority for the creation of a Form 1040/1040A return. Humm? Shouldn’t a Source of Authority be specific so as to not create assumptions but to document specific reference to what it is talking about?
Then there is that delegated response letter of October 27, 1998, in which then IRS Commissioner Charles O. Rossotti, requested Joseph H. Cloonan [District Director in the Bensalem, PA office at that time] to reply directly to the question about:

“Your inquiry concerned the Authority by which the Internal Revenue Service [IRS] requires an individual to file a tax return. “

[Sedm Exhibit #05.022; SOURCE: http://sedm.org/Exhibits/ExhibitIndex.htm]

You better sit down when you review this exhibit because of the statement [delegated as if it were coming from the Commissioner himself] on page 2 of his letter which stated,

“The law itself does not require individuals to file a Form 1040.”

Do what in the middle of the street, you say?

Mr. Cloonan, on behalf of Commissioner Rossotti, knew he was writing the reply letter to an American National who did not work for the Federal government [easy to check IRS records for Federal payments for a public office]. Just as easy he knew all too well that his income was not “derived from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business within the United States” or from his operating in a representative capacity in behalf of the Federal government via a valid SSN constructive trust contract.

What could have possibly possessed him to say otherwise?

Well what does that all mean, you ask? The IRS will always tell you that they have the authority to create a SFR, which is absolutely correct as you have seen. The omission in their statement is the outright statement that they have authority by statute and regulation to create a Form 1040 return. They also readily admitted to the Government Accounting Office that an SFR is merely a “proposal” and not a valid assessment:

Government Accountability Office (GAO) Report GAO/GGD-00-60R IRS Substitute For Returns
http://famguardian.org/PublishedAuthors/Govt/GAO/GAO-GGD-00-60R-SFR.pdf

Without any authority to create a SFR for a Form 1040, the question begs to be asked:

“What authority do they really have when all their Sources of Authority fail to reference a Form 1040 return?”

Once a SFR for a Form 1040 [so far with no specific statute or regulation even mentioning the Form 1040 as Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 Rev 3 did “due to constitutional issues” which can only apply to American Nationals and not other “Taxpayers”) is created then the IRS proceeds to create Assessments under 26 USC §6201 [but there is no implementing regulation found at 26 CFR §1.6201 like there is at 27 CFR §1.6201].

A Notice of Deficiency is later created based on the “assessments” [which was established by the SFR for a Form 1040] and this eventually leads to a Lien under 26 USC §6321 [but there is no implementing regulation found at 26 CFR §1.6321 like there is at 27 CFR §1.6321] or Levy under 26 USC §6331 [but there is no implementing regulation found at 26 CFR §1.6331 like there is at 27 CFR §1.6331].

The Notice of Deficiency letter [like IRS Letters 3219, 984, 620, et al] is then sent certified mail return receipt. The recipient is given a 90 day window to appeal the matter to United States Tax Court in Washington, DC by filing an amended petition and a filing fee [today the fee is $60].

Most people today are frightened of the government. Yet this is the very government that was brought into existence to protect and defend us - - We the People - - not to convert us into their financial indentured servants.
Chapter 13: IRS Liens & Levies: Application upon whom?  13-7

While it is well known that the IRS will never admit any of this as fact, a Federal Judge who has integrity should abide by the law when the facts are clearly stated for a judicial determination. However, the question arises, “Who pays their salary?”

Interestingly enough, an American National [nonresident alien] who did not derive his income by being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” in the “United States” recently received a positive decision in his favor by the U.S. Tax Court. That Federal Tax Court Judge in Washington, DC issued a decision on the IRS Notice of Deficiency (N.O.D.) claim overturning it via a Court Order for Dismissal for Lack of Jurisdiction. A copy of the Court Order dismissing the IRS Notice of Deficiency (N.O.D.) is in the exhibit section.

As you read the Court Order, keep in mind the powerful distinction of jurisdiction of the Tax Court being exactly as Supreme Court Justice Taft stated in Balzac v. People of Porto Rico. The petitioner did not submit an amended petition and/or the filing fee as he was astute enough to recognize that if he had done so, then the United States Tax Court would have gained jurisdiction by the petitioner “electing” to have his income treated as taxable as that of a U.S. resident alien.

Those who work for the IRS are obligated to abide by United States Tax Court decisions and this is clearly stated in the Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 4.10.7.2.9.8 (05/14/99) Importance of Court Decisions as follows:

i. “Decisions made at various levels of the court system are considered to be interpretations of tax laws and may be used by either an examiner or taxpayers to support a position.

ii. Certain court cases lend more weight to a position than others. A case decided by the U.S. Supreme Court becomes the law of the land and takes precedence over decisions of lower courts. The Internal Revenue Service must follow the Supreme Court decisions. For examiners, Supreme Court decisions have the same weight as the Code.

iii. Decisions made by lower courts, such as Tax Courts, District courts, or Claims Court are binding on the Service ONLY for the particular taxpayer and the years litigated. Adverse decisions of lower courts do not require the Service to alter its position for other taxpayers.”

In summary, the Internal Revenue Service’s use of Enforcement Statutes for the Non-existent, Non-enacted Subtitle “A” Federal income tax against “American Nationals” who do not work for the National Government, hold no public office, and do not operate in a representative capacity for the benefit of the Federal government is invalid and fraudulent for the following reasons:

1) Title 26 has been around for over a half century without being enacted into law. Title 26 is merely “Special Law” that applies only to a limited group called “Taxpayers”. Those who are “Taxpayers” should and must file and then pay all taxes legally imposed upon them.

2) Congress has told us that all enacted federal law is “immediately published” in the Federal Register in How Our Laws Are Made as well as in 44 USC §1505 supporting this as fact.

3) 26 USC has not been enacted into positive law and is prima facie or “assumed law” outside the “United States”. 1 USC §204.

4) 26 CFR §1.0-1 has shown that the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 and Subtitle “A” in particular was enacted on August 16, 1954 and was terminated or ended on the same day. There simply is no enacted application toward American Nationals that has been published in the Federal Register. Under 26 CFR §601.702(a)(2)(ii) Effect of Failure to Publish in the Federal Register the law states that “no adverse effect can be imposed against a person’s rights.”

The Galileo Paradigm, version 1.04
Copyright Adele Weiss  http://famguardian.org/
5) The Office of the Federal Register has stated that there are no Implementing Regulations imposing the “Special Laws” found in Subtitle “A” income tax as there is no record of any publication in the Federal Register.

6) Michael L. White, Federal Attorney, Office of the Federal Register has openly stated in his legal opinion letter dated 1994 that there are no enforcement regulations published in the Federal Register nor is there any published requirement there requiring American Nationals to file or pay an income tax.

7) At best the Statutes [for use only by ATF but still remain in 26 USC] found in 6201 [assessment], 6321 [lien], & 6331 [levy] apply to those “parties” identified in the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment [officers, employees, and elected officials of the federal government].

8) The Statutes At Large [SAL] are the enacted law and in the Revised Statutes of 1874 Sections 3182, 3186, and 3187, lawful taxation enforcement [assessment, liens, and levy by distraint respectively] is only applicable to excise taxes under Title 27 [Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco & Firearms]. There is no authority for the IRS to cross-reference to these SAL authorities per 1 CFR §21.21(c).

9) Federal Official Dwight Avis swore under oath that the income tax was only a voluntary tax and that the enforcement regulations for ATF “just will not apply”.

10) In 28 USC §7851(a)(6)(A) under Applicability of Revenue Laws states there is no authority for the IRS to use any enforcement action against “American Nationals” until 26 USC has been enacted into positive law.

11) 26 CFR §1.871-1 shows that the income of a nonresident alien [that is the name the Federal government has given to American Nationals] is ONLY taxable under 26 USC if that income was derived from one being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business within the United States. It is a well known fact that most Americans do not work for the Federal government.

12) There is no law that requires mandates, obligates, or imposes a duty or “liability” for any American National to make application for a “Socialistic Surveillance Number”. A SSN is viewed by the government in the Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b) to settle the jurisdiction of “one who operates in a representative capacity” for the benefit of the Federal government to be the District of Columbia.

13) Therein lays the real problem with the SSN. The SSN program was the purposeful tool designed to ensnare all who sign up for the socialist program to be identified as “federal employees” and thus by being labeled so the government can declare users of the SSN that their earnings can then be identified as being derived from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” in the “United States”. This continues until the user recognizes the situation and declares the SSN application as voidable ab initio and does not meet the criteria as a federal contract under the USSC decision Clark v. United States, 95 U.S. 539.

14) If Title 26 were to ever become enacted, 28 USC §7851(a)(1)(A) tells us that Subtitle “A” income tax would end upon the enactment date.

15) Under 28 USC §7851(a)(6)(A), any enforcement attempts for the Non-existent, Non-enacted Subtitle A Income Tax should not take place. Subtitle “A” Income Tax would have already ended on the date of enactment and would not be around a day later. There would be no Subtitle “A” Income Tax to enforce.
16) A Notice of Deficiency can be defeated by proper correspondence to the U.S. Tax Court with the emphasis on jurisdiction and income not derived from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the District of Columbia per 26 CFR §1.871-1(a).

You are your own judge of the facts and the law presented is for your educational understanding. What is the law presented telling you? Do you understand the difference between those who are legally identified as “Taxpayers” and those who are just as legally defined as “Non Taxpayers”? If there is no law, then you become liable only by your own “presumption” of a law that does not exist. This is further explained in the free pamphlet below:

Reasonable Belief About Income Tax Liability, Form #05.007
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

All Americans are encouraged to be law abiding and I applaud that as well. One must first know what the law declares and that is not an easy task but is one that Americans should embrace if we are to be a lawful nation. Then it is an imperative to consider following the Supreme Court statement addressed to all of us:

“It is not the function of our Government to keep the citizen from falling into error; it is the function of the citizen to keep the government from falling into error.”

[American Communications Association v. Douds, 339 U.S. 382, 442, (1950)]
Chapter 14: Federal Courts & Subject Matter Jurisdiction

Quote to Contemplate:

“In the interpretation of statutes levying taxes, it is the established rule not to extend their provisions by implication beyond the clear import of the language used, or to enlarge their operation so as to embrace matters not specifically pointed out.

In the case of doubt, they are construed most strongly against the government and in favor of the citizen.”

[Gould v. Gould, 245 U.S. 151 (1917)]

The Constitution of the United States of America [ratified 1789] very clearly outlines the three structures comprising the federal government and their responsibilities. In Article I, Section 1 of the Constitution states,

“All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the ‘United States’, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.”

Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17, establishes Territorial courts called United States District Courts. Under 4 USC §110(e) you will find the jurisdiction of the U.S. District Courts and as such have no authority within the 50 states of the Union.

This is also upheld by the USSC decision in Balzac v. People of Porto Rico, 258 U.S. 298 (1922) which is worth repeating the statement made by Supreme Court Justice [former President] William H. Taft:

“The United States district court is not a true United States court established under Article III of the Constitution to administer the judicial power of the United States therein conveyed. It is created by virtue of the sovereign congressional faculty, granted under Article IV, § 3, of that instrument, of making all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory belonging to the United States. The resemblance of its jurisdiction to that of true United States courts, in offering an opportunity to nonresidents of resorting to a tribunal not subject to local influence, does not change its character as a mere territorial court.” [Emphasis Added]

As such, only the Congress has the authority to create or enact law and the United States District Courts have no constitutional authority to create law.

This is important to distinguish this fact because the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.) repeatedly cites or refers to Federal Court decisions in their responses to Income Tax questions as if the Courts were permitted to create law. Keep reading and you will see the importance of this paragraph but do so in context to “jurisdiction” in so far as to the Constitution.

Article 3, Section 2 describes the jurisdictional authority for the District Courts of the United States, which have the authority to function within the 50 states of the Union. In Article 3, Section 1 of the same Constitution, we find that:

“Judicial power of the ‘United States’ is vested in the Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish.”

The key here is that the courts are “ordained and established” by the Congress. This means that Congress can change their structure because the Congress has the Constitutional authority to do so.
Congress made such a change in the structure of the Judiciary Branch of the government in 1976. Congress passed Public Law 94-381 changing the jurisdiction of the Federal District Courts.

United States District Courts are now Administrative Courts under the Legislative Branch of the federal government and as such have no legal authority to hear or consider the law. More details to this surprising change in jurisdiction of the federal courts are discussed in Senate Report 94-204.

On the surface this doesn’t seem like much of a big deal. The United States District Courts are Administrative “Franchise” Courts and cannot hear or consider constitutional law, but only statutory law limited to federal territory and property. United States District Judges should have an Oath of Office that applies only to the “Territorial office” they hold. The only Article III courts are found in 28 USC §251(a). United States District Courts are charged with hearing matters relating to federal territory, property, and franchises arising under Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution.

The Constitutional Judicial Court known as the Court of International Trade located in New York City per 28 USC §251(b), however, is an Article III constitutional court that can only hear matters occurring outside of federal territory or relating to parties domiciled outside of federal territory.

As a result, all United States District Courts are “At Law courts” and are not “In Law Courts” and as such the Federal District Courts are only franchise courts of consent. That’s right, for the Court’s judgment to be valid you must consent. Hence, the term they use when you appear in their tribunal:

appearance. A coming into court as a party to a suit, either in person or by attorney, whether as plaintiff or defendant. The formal proceeding by which a defendant submits himself to the jurisdiction of the court. The voluntary submission to a court’s jurisdiction.

In civil actions the parties do not normally actually appear in person, but rather through their attorneys (who enter their appearance by filing written pleadings, or a formal written entry of appearance). Also, at many stages of criminal proceedings, particularly involving minor offenses, the defendant’s attorney appears on his behalf. See e.g., Fed.R.Crim.P. 43.

An appearance may be either general or special; the former is a simple and unqualified or unrestricted submission to the jurisdiction of the court, the latter is a submission to the jurisdiction for some specific purpose only, not for all the purposes of the suit. A special appearance is for the purpose of testing or objecting to the sufficiency of service or the jurisdiction of the court over defendant without submitting to such jurisdiction; a general appearance is made where the defendant waives defects of service and submits to the jurisdiction of court. Insurance Co. of North America v. Kunin, 175 Neb. 260, 121 N.W.2d 372, 375, 376, [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 97]

But you are not forced to consent if you find yourself in such a Court and you hold the first chair position and not your hired attorney. All attorneys are Officers of the Court and the attorney’s first and foremost duty is to the Court and not to their clients. All former impressions are merely “assumptions”.

The Court of International Trade is an “In Law Court” and is the only court to hear or read the law when Constitutional questions like taxation arise as stated in 28 USC §255(a)(1).
All the Judges in this court have Oaths of Office. This court works in conjunction with the State Courts in every county [referred to as parishes in Louisiana] across the 50 states of the Union. It might be of interest to ask those senators in the Senate Judiciary Committee to identify which courts are Article III, their geographical location, and who are the Judges. Think about this before going on. Are there any Article III courts?

Another major mistake is to “assume” that all State Courts are Constitutional “Judicial Courts”. According to Caha v. United States, 152 U.S. 211:

“The laws of Congress in respect to those matters, do not extend into the territorial limits of the States, but have force only in the District of Columbia, and other places that are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the national government… It is the State’s responsibility to protect the People and their Property. It is of no concern of the National Government that has no jurisdiction within a State.” [Emphasis & Clarification added]

A “nontaxpayer” must file any case paperwork in a State Judicial Court to address your Constitutional tax question involving illegal enforcement of the Internal Revenue Code. The IRS routinely files tax liens in the county jurisdiction. As the Federal Government and the IRS have no legal jurisdiction within the sovereign State, the Notice of Federal Tax Lien against American Nationals is an incorrect Lien on a jurisdictional basis and even more so when American Nationals who do not work for the Federal government and do not operate in a representative capacity have never been made liable for the federal income tax.

Notice what the U.S. Supreme Court just told you in Caha v. United States? The Federal Government has no “jurisdiction” within any State of the Union. Only in a State Judicial Court can you seek protection of your Rights and utilize the Remedies that are afforded you as an “American National”.

By now you must have noticed that the emphasis has been on the phrase “State Judicial Courts”. Most Americans are not aware that all State Courts wear two hats, if you will, and primarily function as Administrative “Franchise” Courts.

Should you ever have a Constitutional issue, like a Federal Tax Lien, to take before a State Court you must invoke the Judicial Court by bringing forth the State Court Judge’s Oath of Office and request a three-judge court. By invoking the three-judge judicial court, the Judge must adhere to his or her Oath of Office, which includes the phrase “to protect and defend the Constitution of the United States of America”.

Consider contacting the Senate Finance Committee on defeating Notice of Federal Tax Liens against American Nationals who have no nexus with the government by a valid SSN or conduct commerce with the federal government. There should be some lawyer who does not have an ABA Number and sworn allegiance to the Court to help if that is a factor. Now let’s return to the United States District Courts that the IRS references exclusively in their correspondence. As previously mentioned, these courts are Administrative Courts and they are Courts of Limited Jurisdiction.

United States District Courts have no “subject matter jurisdiction” over constitutional issues and the court cases cited by the IRS are lacking subject matter jurisdiction over “American Nationals “unless they are unaware of the IRS deception to reference their decisions. Such decisions of United States District Courts, referenced by the IRS, on Constitutional issues are simply VOID FOR LACK OF SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION.

United States District Courts have no Subject Matter Jurisdiction, in Constitutional Tax Issues, is found in documents from these very courts.

I direct your attention to 2001 WL 306496 (S.D. Cal.), case number 00-CV-2293-J (LSP) on February 6, 2001. The U.S. District Court Judge answered the question on Federal Jurisdiction of Tax Questions presented by the federal governments.
“Motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction must be granted pursuant to 28 USC §2201(a), which expressly declares an exception to federal court jurisdiction in controversies ‘with respect to Federal taxes’ when the plaintiff request declaratory relief.”

The Federal Government’s attorney further proved that United States District Courts have no subject matter jurisdiction over constitutional tax issues by stating,

“Because federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction [only having authority in U.S. Territorial jurisdictions], the plaintiff must demonstrate that the court has been authorized to preside over the case either by statute or the constitution. “

The United States District Court Judge agreed with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) and accepted the defendant’s motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to Section 2201(a).

The reason the United States District Judge further accepted the motion to dismiss by the United States Attorney is found in Scheuer v. Rhode, 416 U.S. 232, 236, 94 S.Ct. 1683, 1686 (1974).

This Supreme Court decision stated:

“In passing on a motion to dismiss, whether on the ground of lack of jurisdiction or failure to state a cause of action upon which relief can be granted, the allegations of the complaint should be construed favorably by the pleader.”

The United States Attorney was the pleader on Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) and the court granted the motion.

Once subject matter jurisdiction has been challenged, the court shall go no further. In Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(h)(3) states:

“Whenver it appears by suggestion of the parties or otherwise that the court lacks jurisdiction of the subject matter, the court shall dismiss the action.”

United States District Courts are the only court decisions that the IRS has ever cited, and again, the Federal District Courts have no subject matter jurisdiction over constitutional taxation issues. U.S. District Court decisions are ones that the IRS will have to abide by per Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 4.10.7.2.9.8 acknowledgment of the obligation imposed upon the Service. Truly it is worth repeating.

Jurisdiction is a very important factor in authorities granted by statutes and regulations. State courts have made concurrent statements which buttress the conclusion of the U.S. Supreme Court such as in City Street Improv Co. v. Pearson, 181 C 640, 185 P. (1962) where the court stipulated:

“Jurisdiction is essential to give validity to the determinations of administrative agencies and where jurisdictional requirements are not satisfied, the action of the agency is a nullity [absolutely no authority or legal effect]…”[Emphasis & Clarification added]

Judicially invoked State Courts are the proper “courts with original subject matter jurisdiction” on constitutional tax issues as they are adjunct courts of the Court of International Trade and provide remedies for injuries made by defendant parties.

So when the IRS references United States District Court decisions, those court decisions carry no constitutional legal weight. This is confirmed in their own Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 4.10.7.2.9.8. Those United States District Court decisions on Constitutional questions are merely opinions that you have the Right to reject if you chose not to consent to them.
Chapter 14: Federal Courts & Subject Matter Jurisdiction

The reasons you can reject these court decisions cited by the IRS is that these courts have no “subject matter jurisdiction” over the income tax question. Such a question is a Constitutional question, which can only be lawfully addressed by a three-judge court in a State Judicial Court arising from challenges to the IRS when made by defendant parties [American Nationals].

Summary:

1) Congress has the Constitutional authority to change the jurisdiction of the courts. In 1976, Congress changed the “jurisdiction” of the United States District Courts from “In Law Courts” to “At Law Courts” via P.L. 94-381 & Senate Report 94-204.

2) United States District Courts cannot hear [consider] the law, as they are Administrative Courts by consent. These Judges have authority only in U.S. Territories per Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17 of the Constitution of the United States.

3) The Court of International Trade is the only Judicial Court allowed to hear and consider Constitutional Law per 28 USC §255(a).

4) As the Federal Government has limited “jurisdiction” within the 50 states, only State Judicial Courts can protect the Rights and Property of “American Nationals”.

5) “It is the State’s responsibility to protect the People and their Property”, not the federal government’s responsibility.

6) The Federal Government openly admitted in United States District Court that the Administrative Federal District Courts have no “Subject Matter Jurisdiction” and the United States Attorney validated his motion to dismiss the case based on the Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1).

7) If the IRS ever attempts to file a Notice of Federal Tax Lien, there is a method of attacking such using the Uniform Commercial Code at the State level. Another process could be contacting the Senate Finance Subcommittee on Taxation & IRS. Identify yourself properly as one who is not a party so identified and that the SSN has been voidable from the date it was signed and was never a valid contract as there was no full disclosure of any terms, conditions, implications, or definitions. On top of that you were more than likely a child at the signing of the application and there was no consideration granted to you by the SSN application. Therefore, you could never have been one who waived their God-given constitutionally protected rights and that subcommittee should protect you from such misapplication of the law.

8) A State Court can become a State Judicial Court by tendering a certified copy of the State Judge’s Oath of Office and requesting a three-judge court. Only State Judicial Courts afford “American Nationals” protection of their Rights and provide Remedies from injuries by the Fraudulent Filing of a Tax Lien by the IRS. “The National Government has no jurisdiction within a state.”

9) The United States District Courts would never accept a motion to dismiss if the government had lawful jurisdictional authority to impose the non-enacted [and thus non-existent] Subtitle “A” income tax upon American Nationals.

10) An IRS created Notice of Federal Tax Lien is a fraudulent act against American Nationals because Americans have never been made liable for the Subtitle A income tax as seen in the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment by President Taft.

11) IRS created Notice of Federal Tax Liens is a fraudulent act against American Nationals because the Federal Government does not have exclusive [sovereign] jurisdiction within the 50 states of the Union.
12) American Nationals have the right to sue the federal government and the IRS employee for the fraud in a State Judicial Court as this court is the court of competent jurisdiction and is authorized to provide remedies for the violation of constitutionally protected God-given Rights of American Nationals.

“We are grateful to the Washington Post, The New York Times, Time Magazine, and other great publications whose directors have attended our meetings and respected their promises of discretion for almost forty years.

It would have been impossible for us to develop our plan for the world if we had been subjected to the lights of publicity during those years. But, the world is now more sophisticated and prepared to march towards a world government. The supranational sovereignty of an intellectual elite and world bankers is surely preferable to the national auto-determination practiced in past centuries.

[David Rockefeller, speaking in Baden-Baden, Germany, 1991]
Chapter 15: If Everyone Stopped Paying ‘How Would the Government Survive?’

15 Chapter 15: If Everyone Stopped Paying “How Would the Government Survive?”

Quote to Contemplate:

“The individual, unlike the corporation, cannot be taxed for the mere privilege of existing.

The corporation is an artificial entity which owes its existence and charter powers to the State; but the individual’s rights to live and own property are natural rights for the enjoyment of which an excise tax cannot be imposed.”

The information you have read so far is probably very different from what you previously took for granted. In fact, it would be perfectly normal for some to ask the question, “How would the Federal Government generate any money to operate with if everyone [without a taxable liability] stops their Income Tax Withholding and no longer files a Form 1040?”

No doubt the bureaucrats in the Federal Government would smile at your expression of concern for the welfare of the State. In fact, the most likely expression by the Federal Government would be laughter all the way to the bank. When you read preliminary information pertaining to the Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) below you will understand this statement more easily.

Don’t forget that the Constitution of the United States of America [ratified 1789] provides the federal government with a wide range of Excise Taxes, Duties, and Custom fees. The founding fathers provided graciously for the welfare of the Federal State with the authority to use this plentiful resource to cover expenses for constitutional obligations.

By the 16th Amendment, the Federal government can tax all those who work it. These include statutory but not constitutional “U.S. citizens” (8 USC §1401), statutory but not constitutional “resident aliens” (26 USC §7701(b)(1)(A)), and those who by [purported] constructive trust contract operate in a representative capacity in behalf of and for the benefit of the Federal government by using Federal property. This would include those using federal property such as the Social Security card or associated number. The U.S. Supreme Court confirmed that there was really no need for the Sixteenth Amendment because the national government always had the jurisdiction to tax the only proper subjects of the Amendment anyway. It was just a subterfuge to deceive people.

“The Sixteenth Amendment, although referred to in argument, has no real bearing and may be put out of view. As pointed out in recent decisions, it does not extend the taxing power to new or excepted subjects, but merely removed all occasion, which otherwise might exist, for an apportionment among the states of taxes laid on income, whether it be derived from one source or another.”
[Stanton v. Baltic Mining Co., 240 U.S. 103 (1916)]

Today, there exist so many different types of excise taxes that it boggles the mind. Some of the more common and noticeable excise taxes are those you see every month on your long distance telephone bill.

Ever stop to think about the number of gallons of gasoline you purchase in a year’s time? The Federal Government has an excise tax on every gallon of gasoline sold in this country. As gasoline prices continue to rise due to the devaluation of our fiat currency that brings in even more into their coffers. Many of the excise taxes are hidden in the price you pay for services or products. That way you never [or at least rarely] notice them.
Chapter 15: If Everyone Stopped Paying ‘How Would the Government Survive?’

The Federal Government has so much money that there never was a need for the income tax in the first place according to Beardsley Rummel, former Chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. This is even more factual when you realize that American Nationals were never made liable for the income tax as previously discussed in the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment. Another element related to the overflowing amounts of new money being created that the M3 Money Supply is now a secret as it is no longer being reported. The printing presses could be run 24/7 for all we know.

How is that possible you ask? You can find the source of all federal revenues listed in the Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) [CAFR]. The Federal Government continues to this day making large amounts of money via investments of these funds. So do the State, County, and City governments all across this nation.

In 1981, the United States mandated that all local governments prepare a CAFR. At present, there exists around 54,000 separate government entities; cities, counties, school districts, and state governments that also produce their own CAFR. Collectively, this group of 54,000 reporting entities shows a grand total of over $60 Trillion.

Depending upon the city, county, or particular state you look at, the ration of the annual budget to the reality of the total wealth ranges from a low of 8:1 to as high as 40:1. Don’t forget, this “budget” game continues anew each and every year.

This is a massive operation, a multi-trillion dollar organized syndicate of composite government wealth, instituted by the Federal Government itself. The CAFR shows the revenues or the wealth of the government. The reason the CAFR has rarely been mentioned to the public is that it shows the ridiculous amount of money the government has confiscated from the trusting public it was intended to serve and protect.

To illustrate the point, take a look at the State of Texas. In the Texas CAFR there is a section devoted to the Tex Pool Fund. Back around 1996, The State of Texas had accumulated over $2 Trillion in that fund. It is mainly invested in the stock market and other investment vehicles. In that publication on page 158, the Tex Pool Fund’s assets and liabilities were displayed. The real story is found under the Tex Pool Fund’s Total Asset Additions of about $2 Trillion.

Viewed in proper context, the $2 Trillion is 10 times as much as the State of Texas Total Assets [which amounted to around $200 Billion in 1996]. This means that the Tex Pool Fund Total Assets were in excess of 50 times the annual revenues of $40 Billion for the State of Texas [in 1996]. The State of Texas could have given each citizen and resident in 1996 a check for over $100,000 each before running out of money.

According to Walter J. Burien, Jr., in a published article dated February 2001,

The various levels of governments own and control over 53% of all stocks listed on all the various stock exchanges.

Now you know who the “Institutional Investors” are…the governmental investments made from their CAFR funds.

You have to admire that man for his revealing work. However, as he has been hounded and pressured so much by those in powerful positions within many levels of government, he has “gone off the radar” in fear for his life and well-being of his family. At least this was what has been reported on the Internet.

The federal government is more skillful at non-disclosure of the total financial assets than a single state like Texas would be. You know the reasons, national security and so forth. What you need to understand is that, here in your own country, you have government control under the pretense of a free market system in which the government is rapidly gaining ownership of virtually every engine of business via stock ownership.

Is it any wonder that Gorbachev saw the light? What about the comment that Yeltsin made after his meeting with Clinton when he said, “I like the man. He is a socialist.”

Walter J. Burien, of Prescott, Arizona, further stated in his article:

“If every American gave every penny of the money they earned to the Federal Government for 10 years, it still would not equal the sum our collective governments have amassed in their investment accounts”.

You can visit Walter Burien’s website at:

http://www.cafrman.com/

Concerned for the survival of the federal government? I don’t think so. By the way, why are all the levels of government like large cities, counties, states and the feds accumulating so much of our money in reserve by their heavy taxation schedules? Do they tell the American public what they are doing with this entire surplus? Beardsley Rummel was right, “Are taxes really necessary anymore? “

You better be thinking about your own economic survival. The money is so massive and the control so pervasive that perhaps now you understand the laughter and arrogance of those in elected office and in bureaucratic positions of authority.

With the average American currently paying over 64% of their income in some form of tax or another, Sweden might be looking good to some people. At least they offer “free” medical coverage from their heavy taxation. With the Federal [state and local] governments securing the massive amounts of money reflected in their CAFR accounting, what is the notion behind the government wanting Americans to “pay their fair share?”

Americans pay numerous lawful taxes, as you have learned. Tax levels seemingly continue to increase annually. Americans should support their governments’ at the various levels so that they can function in their service to all Americans. However, at what price level and what accountability level should it cease as taxation for paying their bills to the now offensive levels of today which is far beyond their purported budgetary requirements?

How can that be accomplished? That is a good question and one far beyond my expertise. If there is not some discipline and accountability developed soon by those in positions of delegated authority, then history shows us the outcome. The life span of nations and civilizations wanes when those governments abuse their design in an attempt to subjugate their own people who only want to live a quiet life, keep what is theirs, and to mind their own business.
16 Chapter 16: Assumptions & Is the Earth Really Flat?

Quote to Contemplate:

“They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety.”

[Benjamin Franklin]

Stated in the Introduction, this subject matter causes many people studying the income tax to experience a wide range of emotions…from fear to anger to disbelief. If you really understand the fullness of what has been presented to you, I trust you are sitting down.

As a reminder, you need to prove the validity of the documentation presented. Take no one’s word for anything from here on out. When each of us is confronted with the opportunity to do what is right, or give in to temptation, we each must face the decision squarely. Any decision should be made on accurate and quality information.

Thomas Jefferson made the statement,

“Men by their constitutions [nature] are naturally divided into two parties: (1) Those who fear and distrust the people and wish to draw all powers from them into the hands of the higher classes, (2) Those who identify themselves with the people, have confidence in them, cherish and consider them as the most honest and safe, although not the most wise depository of the public interest. In every country these two parties exist; and in every one where they are free to think, speak and write they will declare themselves.”

Jefferson’s comments reflect that principle which is the natural order of organized societies. People are inclined to either relinquish power into the hands of the “higher classes” [the “elite” according to Leo Strauss] of that particular society or to have power residing in the hands of the common citizenry. However, there is the realization that “the people” may not always be the most prudent or most effective managers of that power, because their level of commitment and energy varies from time to time.

There are many Americans who have become very concerned about what the Federal government is causing to take place inside the 50 states of the Union. By what lawful authority does the federal corporation [IRS] extend their activities in jurisdictional conflict to the restrictions placed upon the Federal Government by direct jurisdictional violation [Article 1, Section 8, Clause 17] of the Constitution of the United States of America?

Is the IRS acting outside the exclusive sovereign jurisdiction of the “United States” [meaning the federal government] and, as such, only functioning by the unconstitutional creation of a “state within a state”? This indeed would be a direct violation Article 1, Section 2, Clause 3 and Article 1, Section 9, Clause 4 of the Constitution as well.

Perhaps the IRS was really functioning in their intended capacity when you freely made the “presumptions” by applying for a “Socialist Surveillance Number”. If American Nationals with knowledge and willful intent subjugated themselves to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Government then there is absolutely nothing to argue.

Those who did so told the Federal Government exactly who they were and then swore to it under penalties of perjury. Should American Nationals be disturbed by the actions of the IRS? Perhaps yes in one sense but overall I say, “No”.

The reason being is that it is the responsibility of each American National to know and understand the Enacted Federal Law.
Chapter 16: Assumptions & Is the Earth Really Flat?

When an American National understands what has transpired without knowledge and willful intent to be identified a “U.S. Citizen” via the SSN application [which is to say be identified as a federal employee with all their income being claimed as originating from the performance of the functions of a public office in the United States] then that is another matter altogether. Contracts must provide terms, conditions, and definitions so that the party signing is fully aware of what the contract comprise. Americans need, in regard to the later situation, to consider correcting that misapplication or identifying label established by the voidable ab initio contract. Again, that is an individual choice.

Only if you desire to continue in the semantic gamesmanship by that label should you be happy and secure with such a declaration. Each American must decide on their own as to a rebuttal of the former “assumptions” that were previously presented to the Federal government. Each American National must understand the situation fully before taking steps to correct it. A good start is to obtain a copy of the original SSN application and look it over well for your age at signing and to review the “contract” for the full disclosure of terms, conditions, and definitions provided by the Social Security Administration. Then compare that application against the USSC decision in Clark v. United States, 95 U.S. 539.

Our founding fathers left all Americans their profound convictions and greatest confidence in the ability of the People to control the government and not the other way around. As expressed by the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States as the supreme law of the land, our founding fathers were rightfully concerned about the nature of government witnessed throughout world history.

Jefferson eloquently and succinctly expressed his foundational desires about the new government being created when he stated:

> “I know of no safe depository of the ultimate powers of a society but the people themselves; and if we think them not enlightened enough to exercise their control with a wholesome discretion, the remedy is not to take it away from them, but to inform their discretion by education.”

This is a far cry from the governance philosophy of Neo Conservatism professed by Leo Strauss and functioning in government centers today. Jefferson was more eloquent than I could ever hope to be but our paths are identical. Americans may not have the fullness of knowledge necessary but it can be acquired. Americans do not need elitists ruling over us or government to possess the attitude that it is the source of all. Socialism or fascism is not the answer. For if it is, the Constitution suddenly has become recycle material.

Hopefully, the “education” presented in this writing has caused you to consider your options under the light of knowledge. Perhaps you are now thinking about matters related to governmental authority related to taxation in a different light. Maybe you stimulated you own desire for more information. Share your knowledge with others!

Such a journey will not be easy. Life is not easy. But you will grow stronger in your ability to stand up for yourself over time. Learn the facts and apply what is just, true, and honorable. Respect your fellow American. Teach your children as this information will never see the light of day in a classroom in our lifetime. Make the effort to help your family become more critical thinkers about this subject and others as well. Learn to ask numerous questions of those who are currently your elected “elite”.

Only you can restore your identity as an American National, one who is a sovereign American as expressed by the United States Supreme Court in Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 as > “Sovereignty itself is, of course, not subject to the law for it is the author and source of law; but in our system, while sovereign powers are delegated to the agencies of government, sovereignty itself remains with the people, by whom and for whom all government exists and acts.” [Emphasis added]

No one else can do that for you. You, and only you, can do that for yourself. There are research tools you can use to accomplish this task. If you are interested in the steps to re-confirm your American National vis-à-vis a “U.S. citizen” or “federal employee” identity then take the time to ponder the questions to ask the government as is your Right under the First Amendment to the Constitution to Petition the government.

One should not expect the IRS to lie down and not challenge your alternate position. It will take a period of time to correct your rightful American National status BEFORE they assume “nontaxpayer” status. Then if the IRS refuses to operate according to Enacted Federal Tax Law, you will know that there indeed is something very wrong with the actions of your government.

Do not “assume” that the transition will be simple or easy but it will be worthwhile and provide you with years of benefits that you should never have sacrificed in the first place. Never forget that the IRS is used to having their way with the unaware. There is little to no accountability in their jobs. From comments shared by others in their personal experience with the IRS in attempts to correct the errors, the IRS acts with an attitude of superiority and does not reflect the role of a servant of “We The People”. Their job is to do their job. They will not to assist or inform you of the law and your Rights. They are there to look out for number one and we will give you a hint: You are not number one.

However, the subcontracted IRS agents should retire when presented with the forceful evidence presented in this book or face jeopardy if they don’t under the Westfall Act [28 USC §2679(d)(1)].

After all, those who work for the Federal government [the National government] took an Oath of Office “to protect and defend the Constitution” which we Americans are secured parties to. That same Constitution places limitations against the government. We should all desire to live a quiet and peaceful life free from government interference but that is getting harder to accomplish. Without an SSN, there would be no contact with the IRS at all. The SSN is the lowest common denominator as it is the root cause of the entire problem. Eliminate this and you eliminate any connection with the government.

In the meantime, you must protect yourself and your assets. Re-consider your current banking relationships.
Close all your bank accounts and reopen them without numbers according to the following:

About IRS Form W-8BEN, Form #04.202
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm
---

There are many banking locations around the world that afford privacy and full banking resources. There are banks that have been around longer than this nation have existed and your money is protected from the federal corporation’s control.

Should you desire privacy in banking, the Internet is a great place to start your search. Do not “assume” your money and property will be respected by the Federal corporation. You may have to fight for it as there are many instances of unfair practices that the federal corporation has taken in the past.

Avoidance of “ownership” is really a good thing. After all, do you really own anything in this life? If you did then you could take it with you when you die. All of us are only stewards of what God has blessed us with; we are not the owners of anything.

Consider the fact that you need to stop using any SSN in all financial activities and that will go a long way to giving you a quiet and peaceful life. After all, there is no law which requires Americans to obtain that Federal property by contract with the Social Security Administration. Go ahead, ask the SSA yourself to see if there is a single statute and implementing regulation published in the Federal Register which requires American Nationals [non-resident aliens to all federal jurisdictions] to secure and use federal property for your private purposes.
If you own property [possess legal title] that ownership is recorded in your name. You should consider protecting such a major asset by such lawful instruments like Quit Claim Deed filings because of the litigious society in which we live. Perhaps a foreign investor would like to take ownership and you simply enjoy the house as a tenant. Consider renting your home and if you own an automobile a lease might be the most direct and simple solution until the IRS understands the validity of your position based on Enacted Federal Tax Law.

For some Americans this is an issue in and of itself. Again, life is not easy but neither should anyone be careless in protection of what is of value. Most people have insurance of many types without the expectation of incurring a loss. Consider these steps as insurance to protect what is legally and lawfully yours so that you do not find yourself in a situation of having to function without them. Make yourself as judgment proof as possible. Be proactive in your strategy in advance of implementing a decision to rebut all claims of your being anything other than an American National.

Lastly, consider the effort to write the Social Security Administration and ask the pointed questions about your children being “required” to obtain a Social Security Number. Ask the SSA to provide you with the Enacted Federal Law [ask for Implementing Regulations and where they are published in the Federal Register] which impose such a requirement upon American Nationals.

Keep the letter as a document for making copies for future use when other unaware people try to convince you contrary to Enacted Federal Law. Create your children’s own offshore retirement plan [with their future earnings] that they would otherwise have paid the SSA over their lifetime. Think… 40 years of funds being compounded and 100% theirs and all of it available at any time that it is needed. If you do, it might be an even wiser step to not keep those funds in a U.S. dollar denominated account as it is heavily discounted by many nations. By 2012 it is expected that Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) to not accept the dollar as payment for oil purchases. Think, and protect your hard earned assets as best you can.

Require the SSA to prove their position via 5 USC §556 and ask the SSA to document any requirement with the following documentation:

1) A Statute in an enacted Title of the United States Code,
2) An Implementing Regulation for the specific Statue in the enacted Title of the USC being published in the Code of Federal Regulations,
3) The publication of the same CFR Implementing Regulation in the Federal Register and evidenced by a volume, date, and page number.

Seek answers to questions as to the nature of the application such as, “Is the SSN application a contract?” Ask, “Is the SSN a constructive trust?” Ask if the SSN identifies you in the IRS records and database [as a holder or user of that number] as a “U.S. citizen or resident alien?” Ask yourself, “Did I willingly and knowingly, with full knowledge of the consequences, at any time waive my God-given Rights?”

If you don’t have a copy of the original SSN application, you should seek that from the SSA by asking for a “photocopy” [NOT an extract] of the original application. The cost is currently $27 payable to the SSA [subject to change]. The form to use is found in the exhibit section of this book.

If you signed that SSN application as a minor, ask the SSA “Is it lawful for a child to enter into a valid contract?” It is our Right to ask questions of the government. You must understand and not assume what you use to think is valid without proof or confirmation.

The Constitution, without question, was designed to provide the people with the ultimate power in governing their nation. The source of that power originates to this day from our Creator and each man and woman experiences the gift of His grace equally.

That being the case, the Constitution clearly guarantees the individual’s rights and greatly restricts the federal government. Keep in mind that contracts can surrender that Right and permit subjugation. Your right to contract, in fact, is the most dangerous right you have because it can literally destroy all your other rights and leave you entirely without remedy, because the government cannot lawfully interfere with the exercise of that right. The lawful barriers that limits and restricts the power of the Federal government from attempts at encroachment and usurpation of powers not lawfully delegated by the People must not be left unchallenged.

The reality in your country today is that even with the presence of the unambiguous and restrictive language found within our Constitution, there are those who do not identify with the People. Diversity in opinion is vital and protected. However, there are those in your country with the intellectual disposition who continually strive and thirst to seize control of the powers delegated to and retained by the People.

Eternal vigilance is required for there are those who no longer accept the foundational precepts that “We The People” are capable of governing. The idea that the “higher classes” can and should be the final answer for all social and national problems while trampling the unalienable rights of the People is unacceptable in your form of government.

Those who profess social engineering, Keynesian economics of wealth redistribution, socialistic welfare, and other “advanced” theories of “new governance” must be exposed for what they really are: frauds and usurpers. In reality, Socialism simply does not work well and is characteristically ephemeral. Socialism is simply communism in slow motion and a milder form. The failure of communism in the Soviet Union is proof that collective rather than individual sovereignty simply does not work.

Consider the statement from Professor Alan Dershowitz of Harvard University on his position regarding the Constitution. Decide for yourself if the government should be free to ignore the letter, intent, and spirit embraced in the Constitution.

Professor Dershowitz of Harvard University has been attributed to proclaim,

“We have no unalienable rights, all rights are subject to modification, the Constitution is merely a piece of paper and government should not be limited by the Constitution because it can do good things for people.”

Voices like Professor Dershowitz proclaim that the nature of men and government has changed so radically over the last two centuries that the “higher classes” can now solve every social and national problem without regard for the unalienable rights of “We The People”.

The statement by Dershowitz tells us that the Constitution is nothing more than an antediluvian piece of paper that has no meaning in our “advanced” civilization. Do you hear a chuckle? Leo Strauss must be thrilled to hear what his colleague is espousing. Is it time to “Sieg Heil” or to just go quietly into the night in an effort to hide from fear.

The concentration camps of Nazi Germany were the result of massive silence by a once trusting German public. Arising from fears for “security best provided by government” caused everybody to line up in single file, raise their arm and “Sieg Heil”...“Sieg Heil”.

What do you say? Do you have the time to care anymore? Do you still believe that the government is a government of the People, by the People, and for the People? Does it really matter anymore that your God-given constitutionally protected unalienable rights are declared to be “out-dated” by those in educational institutions of higher learning and simply an antiquated hindrance to be ignored by those in the government? Read the Constitution. Read the laws. Study and apply what is good, true, and correct.

Perhaps that end day of your nation will come, as the hearts of many have grown cold. Many American Nationals cannot even tell their children, from their own memory, what the first ten Amendments to the Constitution guarantees for Americans.
However, until that day occurs when American Nationals choose to use the Constitution as kindling material, the public servants are still required to work within the limitations imposed upon them and not to willfully disregard the unalienable rights expressly stated to belong to the People. Such is the case with regard to the limitation of authority over the individual American Nationals’ labor and compensation.

The Constitution of the United States has been declared by the United States Supreme Court to restrict and completely limit the Federal government from the imposition of the Federal income tax upon American Nationals. Lest you forget, I am only talking about those American Nationals who do not work for the Federal government, are Nonresident aliens under 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B), do not participate in a “trade or business”, and who do not use a SSN as it is voidable ab initio.

Those who are lawful Taxpayers are “Taxpayers”. They should and must pay their obligations as such is the law. One must learn the difference and never be misled again.

The Constitution of the United States is a massive jurisdictional barrier against the ability [“and therefore not within the power of the Federal Government to Impose”] of the national government in regard to the imposition of the income tax upon American Nationals who do not derive any income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” in the “United States”.

The method that has been used by the Federal government to bypass the constitutional restrictions is the purported “constructive trust contract” to secure a “Socialistic Surveillance Number”. If the purported “constructive trust contract” was not valid under contract law parameters, then it can only be voidable ab initio.

17 Chapter 17: Limitations Placed by Law against the IRS & Summons

Quote to Contemplate:

“Income from sources outside the United States that is not effectively connected with a trade or business in the United States is not taxable if you receive it while you are a nonresident alien”
[IRS Publication 519, Income Subject to Tax, Page 26 : IRC Definitions: Trade or business
7701(a)(26), “United States” 7408(d) & 7701(a)(39), Nonresident Alien 7701(b)(1)(B)]

Some readers may know what an IRS Summons looks like and what it addresses. At first glance, it appears authoritative and threatening. Below is an example of such a summons:

From copies others have shared, the correspondence appears to give the impression that it is a command for you to obey. It could be true and then for some it could be only an attempt under Color of Office and Color of Law to be valid.

There is that thing called “Presumption” once more that tells us we should make a review of the facts before “agreeing” to be influenced by the mere appearance of some formal looking document. Then, if there is substance based on the law, there is only the proper option to respond to the Summons in a proper manner.

The area in the Special Laws [the IRC] where you can locate the subject of Summons is found in 26 USC §7601 through 7609. These statutes are found in Subtitle F which was formerly used by ATF prior to being created as a federal agency in the 1950s. Today there is no authority for the IRS to use ATF authorities. Remember about the need for regulations to support the statutes? They must be present when such is directed to those who do not work for the federal government. Take note to see if the Summons is backed by a federal court order or merely signed by a local IRS agent.

You have probably guessed by now where this is headed. You guessed it all right; the use of SUMMONS is only applicable for ATF excise tax matters and has absolutely nothing to do with any tax under the domain of the IRS. If it were otherwise, there would most certainly be implementing regulations in 26 CFR Part 1 and they would be promulgated in the Federal Register.

The only regulation authority for 26 USC §7601 thru 7609 is 27 CFR Part 70 Procedure & Administration for Alcohol and Tobacco Tax and Trade Bureau, ATF.

Title 26 > Subtitle F > Chapter 78 > Subchapter A > §7601 (a) reads as follows:

“The Secretary shall, to the extent he deems it practicable, cause officers or employees of the Treasury Department to proceed, from time to time, through each internal revenue district and inquire after and concerning all persons therein who may be liable to pay any internal revenue tax, and all persons owning or having the care and management of any objects with respect to which any tax is imposed.” [Emphasis added]

At this point you know who the particular groups are that make up “all persons therein who may be liable to pay any internal revenue tax”, don’t you? “Taxpayer” is the answer, of course. You have to go to the regulations in 27 CFR Part 70 to see again that this is addressing those who are involved in the manufacturing and distribution of Alcohol Tobacco and Firearms taxation.
Chapter 17: Limitations Placed by Law against the IRS & Summons

Noticeable by its absence is any reference to the IRS having authority to canvass each internal revenue district regarding the Form 1040 tax [Subtitle “A” Federal income tax]. But even if it truly means the IRS, then the only area the IRS can canvass in their search is an internal revenue district. Where is that district? How many districts exist for the IRS to canvass? All good questions, wouldn’t you agree?

Also missing in this statute is the identification of what is meant by the internal revenue district under the Treasury Department. The answer for that is found in Treasury Order 150-02 which now shows that the only internal revenue district is the District of Columbia [Washington, DC] and by extension the U.S. Territories and possessions.

Thus, the IRS Summons by statute and regulation [27 CFR Part 70] is only for the IRS to canvass within the District of Columbia and U.S. Territories and possessions. This is not my opinion but rather what the statute, regulation, and Treasury Order 150-02 clearly state. As you are already aware, the IRS can not cross reference to implementing regulations found in other titles of the CFR per 1 CFR §21.21(c).

On January 25, 2005, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit [Schulz v. IRS, Case No. 04-0196-cv] held:

“absent an effort to seek enforcement through a federal court, IRS summonses apply no force to taxpayers, and no consequence whatever can befall a taxpayer who refuses, ignores, or otherwise does not comply with an IRS summons until that summons is backed by a federal court order. A taxpayer can not be held in contempt, arrested, detained, or otherwise punished for refusing to comply with the original IRS summons, no matter the taxpayer’s reasons, or lack of reasons for complying.”

Did you quietly notice the statement by the Federal Court of Appeals that the IRS summonses apply no force to taxpayers? Did you notice the court also stated that no consequence whatever can befall a taxpayer who refuses, ignores, or otherwise does not comply with an IRS summons?

Did you notice that those facts just stated remain valid and do not vary until a summons is issued by a federal court order?

Why did the Federal U.S. Court of Appeals say what they said? Because they know the IRS Summons is completely bogus and amounts only to a mere request! How can that be you ask? You read the answer already. The Summons is only permitted for use by the ATF for excise taxation related to their area of responsibility. The IRS is completely devoid of any authority but the Court of Appeals felt that might be too strong against the IRS so they stated IRS summonses apply no force to taxpayers.

Look for the Implementing Regulations that would permit the IRS to canvass outside the only internal revenue district published in the Federal Register. You will find nothing published.

Additionally, if that is all true for “Taxpayers” then it is equally true of those who have NO LIABILITY, meaning American Nationals [Nonresident aliens per the IRC §7701(b)(1)(B), for the federal income tax per 26 CFR §1.871-1.

All IRS Summons can be ignored by anyone receiving them as they are only a request without any substance in law and lack any support for its use according to the U.S. Court of Appeals. But is that what is stated on the Summons or is that fact hidden from the public?

So what is going on in our government that it would not command the IRS to stop this abusive violation under Color of Law by those in the IRS? The government will not even command their own agencies to abide by the law so that these issues would never arise again or have to ever cause anyone to engage in litigation to get the facts straight.
You are nearing the completion of this book in which you have information to consider from the reading and studying of the documented enacted federal tax law attached. As a reader, you may feel a need to correct the misapplication of citizenship status and the voidable contract that is the SSN application by elements of contract law not provided or missing at the time of your application.

No one has to “volunteer” any of their hard earned money. Only “Taxpayers” are liable parties and if you are correctly identified as a “Nontaxpayer” [one who has no defined obligation lawfully imposed] then you are settled in this matter. The emotions that you must be feeling at this point are natural. Only you can decide if you are going to make your decision on an emotional basis or one based on facts derived from enacted federal tax law….or to rest quietly and do nothing. The choice is yours.

To many, this might be such radical information to your current paradigm that there simply could be no other answer but to throw all this information into the nearest garbage can. The years of conditioning, fearful emotions from potential government threat and distrust of what you have read must be weighed carefully by each reader. Not everyone is capable of proceeding.

Just as in the American Revolution, the majority of the colonists [then British subjects to the sovereign jurisdiction of the British Crown] chose not to fight against the Crown. Samuel Adams made the following statement to those colonists,

“If ye love wealth better than liberty, the tranquility of servitude better than the animating contest of freedom, go home from us in peace. We ask not your counsel or your arms. Crouch down and lick the hands, which feed you. May your chains set lightly upon you, and may posterity forget that ye were our countrymen.”

[Samuel Adams]

Fortunately, American Nationals today are the beneficiaries of numerous sacrifices provided by the gallant forefathers in the face of such opposition. Remember, they were considered to be “terrorists” in that time in history. As a free people, Americans do not have to sacrifice our life, liberty and sacred honor as did those in the early days of the establishment of a new country.

However, their sacrifices still today stir up many Americans when thoughtful reflections on their valor are considered. Make no mistake; this book is not about taking such drastic actions as your forefathers did but rather to stand up for what, based on the law, is true, correct, lawful, and proper. Demand this from your government during open debates and petition them in open letters in your local media.

The federal government was intended to be the servant of “We The People” and not the other way around.

“When a people fear their government, tyranny prevails”

[Thomas Jefferson]

Thus, it is time to remind the government that American Nationals are not indentured servants or “subject to the jurisdiction of the United States” but sovereign men and women with Constitutional protections of our God-given Rights. It is the sworn duty of each elected official to protect and defend the Constitution of the United States [ratified 1789]. One such Right is that the federal government has no constitutional or jurisdictional authority to impose the federal income tax upon American Nationals.

If you understand what an American National means and how they are different from statutory “U.S. citizens” then you are further ahead than most. When your income is not derived by being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” in the “United States”, then you must prepare yourself for the IRS to make “presumptions” against your proper identification, domicile, and income.
Chapter 17: Limitations Placed by Law against the IRS & Summons

You need to give yourself plenty of time to become comfortable with the documentation and learn it thoroughly. Consider rescinding that SSN if you have not done so. Secure an affidavit, your sworn statement in writing, and have it notarized stating your status as an American National and dispel any identification of your having ever been identified as a “U.S. citizen” by any form or governmental document [like a driver license or voter registration]. You would do well to avoid identifying on any form or document a domicile, residence, legal address, permanent address in the “United States”. Consider establishing your domicile elsewhere and merely maintain a mailing address if that is convenient to your thinking. The following form may prove helpful for establishing your proper citizenship and domicile consistent with this book. You can attach it to any government form you submit:

Affidavit of Citizenship, Domicile, and Tax Status, Form #02.001

This is the perfect time to discuss “what you need to do if you receive a letter from the IRS.” Earlier, I mentioned the statement by the Congress addressing the enactment of a “valid law”. Take another look and you should understand the significance.

All you need to do is to focus on directing questions to the IRS for them to produce “reliable, probative, and substantial evidence” that a law exists making American Nationals liable for any federal tax in the first place.

The Congressional statement in How Our Laws Are Made reads:

“One of the important steps in the enactment of a valid law is the requirement that it shall be made known to the people who are to be bound by it. There would be no justice if the state were to hold its people responsible for conduct before it made known to them the unlawfulness of such behavior. In practice, our laws are published [in the Federal Register] immediately upon their enactment so that the public will be aware of them.” [Clarification added]

Letters from the IRS generally start with a standard reference statement asking for a response from you. An excellent response would address the statement made by Congress, President Taft in 1909, and a reference to The Administrative Procedures Act [5 USC §556(d)], which placed the Burden of Proof requirement directly upon the IRS.

The letter in response would also include an American National statement such as:

“I am an American National by birth/naturalization. An American National is a nonresident alien [defined at 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B) as one who is neither a “US citizen” nor “resident alien”]. I do not work for the Federal government in any context either directly or indirectly and my income is not derived from being engaged in the conduct of a ‘trade or business’ within the ‘United States’.”

The IRS has only one concern in mailing their Letters and it centers on collection activities as that is their main function. The reason an individual receives a letter is due to their continued use of the SSN. The IRS understands what that SSN is all about. But now so do you, the choice is yours to make.

Obtain your proof from the SSA that there is no law [Statute and/or Implementing Regulation] imposing any obligation upon American Nationals to secure a SSN in order to live and work in our nation. Request a photocopy of your original SSN application and put it under the scrutiny as to it being a valid contract or one that is merely voidable ab initio. Your only obligation is to follow the enacted federal law in areas where applicable. You have the same right to challenge the IRS as you would a credit card company in the event the charges listed on your statement were incorrect.

Stay on target; don’t play the IRS game that only addresses collection. Make the IRS show you the enacted federal tax law. Correct the misapplication that is “assumed” by the IRS when you use a SSN. By now, you certainly realize that the IRS can only make threats and try to intimidate you into believing that, as an American National, you might have a liability somewhere in the law. The law takes precedent and you must know it.

Never forget the fact that a:

“Tax liability is a condition precedent to the demand. Merely demanding payment, even repeatedly, does not cause liability.”

[Boathke v. Flour Engineers & Contractors, 713 F.2nd. 1405 (1983)]

Thus, the IRS makes enforcement threats and they do. However, they do so without any authority by Implementing Regulations published in either 26 CFR Part 1 or the Federal Register against American Nationals. The law shows the IRS proceeds under Color of Law but devoid of any real authority by Implementing Regulations to collect or enforce.

Consider the following limitations placed against the IRS and think about it in context to what you are reading.

Jurisdiction for the application of the Special Laws in the IRC

1. You should be aware of Treasury Order 150-02 and 26 USC §7601(a) in regard to IRS Summons authority which only permits IRS employees to canvass internal revenue districts for taxable persons and objects.

2. The only internal revenue district stipulated in Treasury Order 150-02 is the District of Columbia as per the limitations placed by Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17. So IRS employees are restricted by the IRC to the District of Columbia and to journey outside that venue is in direct violation of their limited authority.

3. You should be willing to inform the IRS that you are not domiciled within any internal revenue district by statute [the District of Columbia]. Inform them should they disagree by asking the IRS employees to please provide a positive law statute and implementing regulation which expands upon the definition of “United States” which specifically includes the states of the Union.

4. Please take the time to look up the regulation behind 26 USC §7601 and you will find it to be 27 CFR Part 70. Thus, 7601 can only be used by ATF. Those with the IRS must operate only within their title in the Code of Federal Regulations as per 1 CFR §21.21(c) as the IRS can not cross-reference to authorities promulgated for other federal agencies. These are not my opinions but the statutes and federal orders that the federal government has instructed which those in the IRS must adhere to.

U.S. Supreme Court decisions

5. The IRS routinely quotes U.S. District Court decisions as if they applied to everyone but those courts are quick to tell you that their decisions apply only to the parties involved in that litigation and that the outcome of the case is not to be universally applied to all. Not everyone is a “Taxpayer” or else “decisions” would apply universally.

6. Should the IRS employees try to misdirect your attention to U.S. District Court decisions then direct them to their own Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.). You will be able to show them Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 4.10.7.2.9.8 (05/14/99) Importance of Court Decisions as follows:
“Decisions made at various levels of the court system are considered to be interpretations of tax laws and may be used by either an examiner or taxpayers to support a position.

6.1 Certain court cases lend more weight to a position than others. A case decided by the U.S. Supreme Court becomes the law of the land and takes precedence over decisions of lower courts. The Internal Revenue Service must follow the Supreme Court decisions. For examiners, Supreme Court decisions have the same weight as the Code.

6.2 Decisions made by lower courts, such as Tax Courts, District courts, or Claims Court are binding on the Service ONLY for the particular taxpayer and the years litigated. Adverse decisions of lower courts do not require the Service to alter its position for other taxpayers.”

Requirement of Implementing Regulations

7 Those in the IRS routinely make reference in their letters about statutes which supposedly create liability and statutes which supposedly create penalties and interest from violation of liability.

8 You should read another United States Supreme Court decision, California Bankers Assn. v. Schultz, 416 U.S. 21 (1974) where Justice Rehnquist in his lead opinion stated in part “...we think it important to note that the Act's civil and criminal penalties attach only upon violation of regulations promulgated by the Secretary; if the Secretary were to do nothing, [meaning not publish implementing regulations in the Federal Register] the Act itself would impose no penalties on anyone.” [Emphasis & Clarification added] Penalties, clearly and only attach upon violation of Legislative Regulations.

9 This requirement for the Treasury Department to publish Implementing [Legislative] Regulations for use by the IRS in the Federal Register is found in 26 CFR §601.702(a)(1) and supported by 5 USC §552(a)(1) and 44 USC §1505.

You should read also 26 CFR §601.702(a)(2)(ii) “Effect of failure to publish” where it is stated in part:

“...which is required to be published in the Federal Register, such person is not required in any manner to resort to, or be adversely affect by, such matter if it is not so published or is not incorporated by reference therein...”

You will find the concluding comment on Effect of Failure by the IRS to publish any implementing regulation in the Federal Register to be:

“Thus, for example, any such matter which imposes an obligation and which is not so published or incorporated by reference shall not adversely change or affect a person’s rights.”

These are United States Supreme Court determinations and the Code of Federal Regulations which is imposed against the IRS. These are not my opinions but the law that all IRS employees are required to adhere to. Again, the IRS must adhere to USSC decisions as such are the law of the land.

Take a moment to review some of the “regulations” behind many of the IRC statutes that those in the IRS routinely cite as “authorities for their actions”. Cornell University Law Web site shows that IRC Statutes 6694, 6700, 7402, 7407, 7408 which the IRS choose to reference have the following authorities by Implementing Regulation published in 26 CFR to be “There are no corresponding CFR parts for which provides authority.”

Thus, the United States Supreme Court decisions come back to haunt any IRS agent who tries to exceed the Scope of Authority under Color of Office and Color of Law. Simply put, the IRS has no authority for use outside the District of Columbia toward American Nationals who do not work for the Federal government and do not derive their income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business in the United States”. Let them clearly know that you have no association or nexus to that federal jurisdiction should that question arise in your private affairs.

There is one Statute and Regulation that might be of interest to review at this time. You need to read 26 USC §7851 (a)(1)(A) for Subtitle A federal income tax which addresses “Applicability of revenue laws” in light of the implementing regulation which grants its authority was only stated to be 27 CFR Part 24 pertaining to Wine Production.

Without question, this is only ATF jurisdiction and most Americans certainly have no manufacturing involvement whatsoever in those excise taxable events. This is not my opinion but what the federal regulations state for authority for 26 USC §7851.

When you demonstrate that you are operating on the basis of enacted federal tax law it will be difficult for you to be intimidated easily. The IRS more than likely will proceed mainly by an occasional letter without great risk of exposing the truth to the entire general public. If you make your documents a public record, they will not want to take the chance that exposure of the truth to a wider audience via litigation against those who have done so as those public records are admissible in a court proceeding.

The IRS has never responded to anyone with a Statute, Implementing Regulation, and the publication of any Implementing Regulation in the Federal Register, which imposes the non-enacted Subtitle “A” income tax [or the non-enacted Subtitle “C” Chapter 24 Collection of Income Tax at Source] upon American Nationals who are not made liable per the discussion present earlier. It is important and proper for you to respond to each letter the IRS may send you. However, your focus is always in addressing the “Imposition of Tax Liability” in all written correspondence back to the IRS.

Remember, you are not protesting any lawful taxation authority by the Federal government. Instead, you must understand that you are defending your Right to be left alone in matters that do not apply to you in any context to the special laws in the IRC.

Understand clearly that in order for you, an American National, to be made liable there must be an enacted federal tax law or a valid private law contract with the Federal government before any collection request has any validity. Reminding the IRS that they carry the “Burden of Proof” brings their strategy to a standstill. They lose and you win.

A standard response letter has been included which can be useful in replying to any IRS Letters. There are several other processes that have been successful in documenting via the Administrative Procedures Act that are helpful in gaining IRS admissions that as an American National, you have no taxed income, taxable liability or any taxable source of income.

Should you desire to correct your citizenship and identification status, free documents are available from a disinterested third party at the following web address:

http://sedm.org

One aspect that should be stated in regard to anyone who may assist you in responding to the IRS, only depend on an educational provider until you know enough about how the IRS operates inside its jurisdiction. Learn how to respond to IRS letters for yourself. This information is a good start on that journey. Then force yourself, if necessary, to fully understand the enacted federal law on this subject.

Once you feel comfortable, which could take several years; you can then stand on your own two feet. Everyone is different, so you have to make your own evaluation as to your comfort level. Then if anyone broaches the subject you can present an informed and educated discussion about the facts rather than the emotional assumptions that most still entangle their financial lives around.

Should you choose to proceed, eventually the IRS will send an IRS CP515 letter stating you are a “Taxpayer” and demand you pay a tax or explain to them why you are not required to file. Understand that the IRS will test your mettle and knowledge of enacted federal law. Their game has gone on for such a long time that even many working for the IRS do not know as much federal law as you have just read.

It is helpful to take a lot of time to get educated in order to feel comfortable with the information presented here and elsewhere. However, ultimately, you must take complete and personal responsibility for your own choices. We all have to live with the consequences of our choices so make decisions based on knowledge not presumption.

Additionally, you might want to be proactive in regard to your current citizenship status and document yourself as an American National before undertaking any other action. Many are proclaiming to the government that they have uncovered the fallacy that they were considered by the government to be a statutory “U.S. Citizen”. It is never too late to correcting that false “assumption” made by the deception presented on the Form SS-5.

Any question posed to the government should be done with a Third Party Witness as a non-interested party for verification to the process being properly followed. The various mailings will give the Federal Agency the opportunity to respond or their acquiescence will be documented as an acceptance of your Affidavit of American Citizenship. It is my understanding that the SSA has not even attempted to answer such questions directly because doing so puts the agency in a difficult position.

Most often the SSA responds with a generic letter addressing an altogether different set of issues than what you asked the SSA to respond to. As these people are adept at the art of the “Potomac Shuffle”, and not answering questions, don’t let that affect your efforts. Simply complete the various mailings and provide a Notice of Fault in Dishonor with the lack of response, then a Notice of Default when the time limits for the SSA to respond have elapsed on each mailing.

Once your status as an American National is re-established, the first approach with the IRS is to use the Administrative Procedures Act [5 USC §556(d)]. Ask the IRS to tell you what “tax” they are claiming you owe. Stress that you require the four phase criteria of a Federal Tax Law as applicable toward those who are Taxpayers.

Remember there must be implementing regulations published in the Federal Register as evidence to impose a taxable obligation upon an American National who is not a member of any of the three groups specifically exempted from the enforcement regulation requirement found in 44 USC §1505(a) and 5 USC §553(a). After 90 years of the existence of the Federal income tax, the IRS is currently unable to locate any enacted Federal Tax Law applicable against American Nationals who do not work for them or do not operate in a representative capacity by the use of a SSN “constructive trust contract”.

In your response to any IRS claim of being a “Taxpayer”, inform the IRS that you are not a “U.S. Citizen” but are instead an American National and that you have court-admissible evidence to verify your proper status. One should not let a false claim go unchallenged! The documentation of your American National status should include your rebuttal with the SSA in the form of an Affidavit and proves you are not a “Taxpayer”.

Secondly, you will need to notify the IRS and the Social Security Administration, and your employer of your corrected citizenship and Social Security Number status. The IRS and SSA response to questions about the enacted federal law in this book has only resulted in silence by the IRS and SSA from all internet reports on this effort.
With a Third-Party witness to your interrogatories directed to the IRS and SSA, there will be no avenue open for the IRS or SSA to rebut your true and lawful status regarding your lack of federal income tax liability and your rebuttal to your citizenship status being identified incorrectly as a “U.S. citizen”.

Again, the IRS will not likely take the risk of exposing the truth by pressing you too far due to your knowledge and your application of enacted federal tax law. Should the IRS continue to harass you with letters and threats, you have numerous avenues to present to the IRS for stopping and correcting their harassment actions and fraudulent claims of any taxable liability produced by your income.

Please note that if you do not understand the imperative necessity to correct your presumed “taxpayer” and “U.S. citizenship” resulting from the purported constructive trust contract [SSN application], but instead continue to insist on maintaining any of the following legal statuses, then you must stop reading and throw away this book.

Without first verifying the law presented, you are strongly discouraged from reading, quoting, or using any of these materials at any time, because ultimately, you injure yourself. Trust no one on matters of this importance. That includes what is written in this book. I will never be a party to interfering with those who have a legal obligation or who have chosen to have their income treated as if it has a Federal income tax liability.

Do not be mistaken: Those who are identified in 26 USC and 26 CFR as having a Federal income tax liability for the Subtitle “A” income tax are:

1) Federal workers who are engaged in the performance of the functions of exercising some of the sovereign power of the federal government.

2) Statutory “U.S. citizens” – those who are statutory creations of Congress per 8 USC §1401(a).

3) “Resident aliens” pursuant to 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(A) – those who are foreigners from other lands who live and work in your country.

4) Those operating in a representative capacity [or agency] in behalf of the federal government [such as those who use or hold a SSN and/or receive federal benefits] by use of a SSN and identify with 26 CFR §301.6109-1 and 26 CFR §1.871-1 as electing to have their income treated as such.

It is NOT the intent of this research nor is it implied or suggested to be such in any manner, shape, or form to imply that “taxpayers” should stop paying income taxes they lawfully owe. All those who are “Taxpayers” [made liable by the IRC] should and must pay all taxes owed. There should be no confusion about this matter. Those who are “Taxpayers” need to search the IRS website for information and completely disregard this book as it is NOT applicable to those who are “Taxpayers” as defined by IRC §7701(a)(14).

The IRS agents themselves are exposed for a potential lawsuit and they should pause and take a strong look at the following enacted federal law. However, those in the IRS realize that most Americans live paycheck to paycheck and do not possess the financial resources required to proceed legal actions against them. With little interest internally by the government to correct what is obvious to them they have become bold and arrogant in their thinking and attitudes toward those they took an Oath to protect and defend.

On the chance that even one reader may have such financial abundance here are some statutes that can be used if there is any need or interest.
Chapter 17: Limitations Placed by Law against the IRS & Summons

1) Offenses by Officers and Employees of the United States as stated in 26 USC Section §7214(a) “Unlawful acts of revenue officers or agents (2) who knowingly demands other or greater sums than authorized by law…”

2) The Westfall Act [28 USC §2679] which charges the U.S. Government with the duty and obligation instructing the “Attorney General to provide a certified statement that the defendant employee was acting within the scope of his office or employment [including jurisdiction outside the Federal Zone] at the time of the incident out of which the claim arose…”

3) 18 USC §241 Conspiracy against rights.

4) 18 USC §242 Deprivation of rights under color of law.

5) 18 USC §225 Running a continuing financial crimes enterprise.

6) 18 USC §872 Extortion by officers or employees of the United States.

7) 18 USC §873 Blackmail & Section 880 Receiving the proceeds of extortion.

8) 18 USC §876 Mailing Threatening Communications.

9) 18 USC §1018 Fraud & Section 1341 Frauds and Swindles.

10) 18 USC §1513 Retaliating against a witness, victim, or an informant

11) 18 USC §1957 Engaging in monetary transactions in property derived from specified unlawful activity.

12) 18 USC §2315 Sale or receipt of stolen goods.

13) 26 CFR §601.106(f)(1) Taking of property that is not based on law.

14) 26 USC §7214 Illegally taking more money than is required by law.

15) 26 USC §7433 Unauthorized collection actions.

16) Section 1203 IRS Restructuring & Reform Act of 1998

You can review them in detail on Cornell University’s legal education web site https://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/text/. Then you can politely suggest that the IRS agent consider his/her options carefully. Regulations are found in the Parallel Authorities for each statute.

Recognize always that the IRS has authority to function as they do but only upon those who are truly “Taxpayers”. All that is required against Taxpayers are the statutes in the IRC. There is no requirement for Implementing Regulations to be published for those who are the real taxpayers of the federal income tax. They have a job to perform and it is often a hard one for them. It is one that must be respected but fully understood that it only applies to those upon whom the obligation has been imposed and to no one else.

However, if the IRS makes false claims against American Nationals who have no federal domicile and do not derive any income from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the United States, then perhaps an alternative is to politely suggest the following to those in the IRS:
Chapter 17: Limitations Placed by Law against the IRS & Summons

“Please spend your time productively with those who are parties made liable and those with whom you do have jurisdictional authority to encourage their compliance with the Special Laws that make up the IRC.”

NOTE:

Clarification assistance is limited but occasionally available by emailing me, Adele Weiss. The email address is bedrock@runbox.com. Please allow up to 4 weeks before receiving a response. Traveling in South America, botanical research, and other commitments do take priority. Obvious information needed will for identification of your name, identification of employer being one that is not a federal employer and that you have no commercial nexus to the U.S. Federal government, phone, cell, fax, email, and street address, city, state and zip. You will also need to include the following statement in your email; otherwise there will be no reply.

If you “elect” to correspond for any assistance for educational material, there must be stated in your email the expression below as if it were your personal signed affidavit:

“I am an American National by birth or naturalization. An American National is a nonresident alien, defined at 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B), who is foreign to all federal jurisdiction(s). I do not work for the Federal government in any context either directly or indirectly and all my income is not derived from being engaged in the conduct of a ‘trade or business’ [26 USC §7701(a)(26)] within the United States [26 USC §7408(d) to mean the District of Columbia]. I have no domicile within the ‘United States’ and do not engage in commerce with the U.S. government. Additionally I acknowledge that any assistance provided is not from factual commercial speech but is based solely on personal opinions of what the law refers to. I understand any decision made arises from my own validation efforts and not from any dependency arising from presumption of factual speech or undue influence by Mr. Weiss, et al.”

Otherwise, this nation is not immune from totalitarian controls as this statement shows:

“In Germany they came first — for the Jews, and I didn’t speak up because I wasn’t a Jew. Then they came for the trade unionists, and I didn’t speak up because I wasn’t a trade unionist. Then they came for the Catholics, and I didn’t speak up because I was a Protestant. Then they came for me, and by that time no one was left to speak up.”

[Martin Niemoller]
Chapter 18: Domicile, Residence, & “Permanent Address”

Quote to Contemplate:

“The rights of individuals and the justice due to them, are as dear and precious as those of states. Indeed the latter are founded upon the former; and the great end and object of them must be to secure and support the rights of individuals, or else vain is government.”

[Chisholm v. Georgia, 2 U.S. (2 Dall.) 419, 1 L.Ed. 440 (1793)]

As you near the end of this educational expedition your commitment is admirable to complete the project. There should be more light hearted interludes in such a serious discussion to help facilitate the reader’s understanding of what may be for many, new information. Take some time to relax and watch a funny movie after you finish, as laughter is a medicant to make any stress much less intense.

The subject of this chapter might seem like something analogous to the Abbott & Costello comic routine “Who’s on first”. At first glance the terms all seem to say the same thing and that is somewhat accurate but not exactly. Unfortunately, many in Congress seem to want to compound our lives and then quietly try to remain unaccountable for their work.

Try to get a direct honest answer from any of them. The majority are very skilled at legalese and hyperbole so that when you do obtain an answer you are not sure you are any further ahead than when you started. Thus the Abbott and Costello routine persists to this day which demonstrates confusion by words that have altogether different meanings than everyday use of those words. So in some sense when you know their standup routine you know that you are in for a real laugh at their maneuvering but the impact is at your expense. What an expense it is if you don’t understand the reason!

Keep on focus with the fact that in America, “We The People” were intended to be the Sovereigns... and a public servant by any other name is still a “public servant”. Consider this USSC decision as to its impact on you:

“The words ‘people of the United States’ and ‘citizens’ are synonymous terms and mean the same thing. They both describe the political body who, according to our republican institutions, form the sovereignty, and who hold the power and conduct the government through their representatives. They are what we familiarly call the ‘sovereign people’ and every citizen is one of this people, and a constituent member of this sovereignty.”

[Boyd v. State of Nebraska, 143 U.S. 135 (1892)]

The Congress does not have power over Sovereigns. We the People, but it does over “U.S. persons” defined in 26 USC §7701(a)(30), statutory “U.S. citizens” defined at 8 USC §1401(a), and “Resident Aliens” defined in 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(A). All such entities have in common a legal domicile within the “United States”, and it is this domicile which gives rise to federal jurisdiction. This is a thin line to some but a critical distinction when one considers the definitions and the intent behind actions of those public servants in the bureaucracy that make up the Federal government.

If those elected representatives attempt to treat Sovereigns like those who are subject to its [the federal government] jurisdiction then the Sovereigns have the power and the right according to the Declaration of Independence to alter the form of self-government or to disassociate from that government in order to secure our freedoms and rights.

Here is what the Declaration of Independence states:
"But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evidences a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and provide new Guards for their future security."

The easiest and most peaceful step to take is that which many Europeans took centuries ago to depart from their form of government [disassociate]. They simply chose to leave the jurisdiction of that monarchial government.
Today, there are other nations in which one can secure liberty and privacy. By doing so you are effectively “firing” your public servants because of their poor job performance and misapplication of laws beyond their proper jurisdiction.

So with this background, look at these terms and their purpose for use by those in government. Domicile, residence, and permanent address all deal with the concept of home or fixed places of habitation of individuals.
Domicile is the legal conception of home. Domicile is the relation created by law between an individual and a particular locality or country. Domicile basically identifies the fixed location of one’s habitation, or abode, where that individual intends to remain permanently or indefinitely, and to which in a period of absence, is the location the individual intends to return.

If you identify your domicile within any “internal revenue district” or “federal judicial district” then you are one who is subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Congress. You must be very careful with questions on this matter as is it a slippery slope. Most government documents will address this question to you by alternate terms such as residence or permanent address but the intent is to have you tell them you are within their exclusive [sovereign] jurisdiction and then they control you. There will be no definitions provided by the government on their forms lest you start thinking about what you are stating. You must volunteer to be subject to that federal jurisdiction or else the government has no jurisdiction when you don’t have a physical presence there.

Why is domicile a concern? According to “Corpus Juris Secundum” [C.J.S.], “A person’s place of citizenship is his domicile, i.e. where he has his true, fixed home and principal establishment and to which whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning.”

If you identify yourself as a “U.S. citizen” [like that stated on a SSN application] then you are telling the Federal government that your domicile is in the District of Columbia in regards to federal income taxation.
Now do you get it?

Residency signifies living in a particular locality that is permanent for a limited time for personal or business reasons while “domicile” means living in that locality with intent to make it a fixed or permanent home. As such, residence and domicile as used in statutes are generally convertible terms.

So domicile is a settled principle that everyone must possess somewhere. One must have a domicile and no individual can be without one as an individual is never without a domicile. Therefore in regards to territory or national jurisdiction, Americans should understand the need and the rationale to have their domicile somewhere other than that of the federal jurisdiction. National jurisdiction is a problem when dealing with domicile by operation of law. You want to keep your options open on that one.

Governments will even go so far as to determine your domicile as the place where you sleep in order to make a determination of domicile for those who are in between residences. However factors like the physical character of the residence, time spent and things done in each place, and whether or not there is an intention to return to the original domicile are all considerations. One may, for purposes of convenience, maintain a residence at a place not intended as a permanent abode without affecting any change in his domicile.

Basically, “domicile is a matter of intention made by a freedom of choice.” This is stated in 28 Corpus Juris Secundum (C.J.S.), Domicile, §14 (2003) “Intent in General”. A test of intent with respect to a domicile is whether the place of habitation is the permanent home of a person with a range of sentiment, feeling, and permanent association with it.

Those who wrote these laws are very clever indeed! Did you notice that “domicile is a matter of intention made by a freedom of choice”? What is another word for “intention” if all this is a choice made by the individual’s free choice?

“Consent” is the word that comes to mind and if it were used in lieu of “intent” then the lawyers who wrote all this would not be able to disguise the fact that they need your “consent” to make you into a “Taxpayer” with a “domicile” that just happens to be within the “United States” which is to say the District of Columbia and we all know tt such jurisdiction is the sovereign and exclusive jurisdiction of Congress.

The First Amendment guarantees Americans the right to freely associate with those of our own choosing and that includes the right to choose our own domicile. This Amendment also guarantees Americans the right of freedom from any compelled association of domicile which includes that of the federal government.

The USSC stated in Wooley v. Maynard, 430 U.S. 703 (1977), the following:

“Just as there is freedom to speak, to associate, and to believe, so also there is freedom not to speak, associate, or believe. The right to speak and the right to refrain from speaking are complementary components of the broader concept of ‘individual freedom of mind.’”

[Religious and Political speech –truth or lies-- are protected under the 1st Amendment]

Furthermore, the USSC stated in Abood v. Detroit Board of Education, 431 U.S. 209(1977) that:

“At the heart of the First Amendment is the notion that the individual should be free to believe as he will, and that in a free society one’s beliefs should be shaped by his mind and by his conscience rather than coerced by the State.”

Understand clearly that freedom from compelled association is a vital component of freedom of expression.

“As a general constitutional principle, it is for the individual and not the state to choose one’s associations and to define the persona which he holds out to the world.”

So what does all this mean? Simply that the federal government does not have any authority to compel us to choose a “domicile” that is within its legislative jurisdiction or to have allegiance toward it because that would be an issue under the heading of “compelled association” in which there is no freedom to choose.

Americans can reject all the earthly options and simply elect to have their domicile and be subject to only that of Our Creator, the Lord God. The Bible, in fact, declares that the earth and the heavens were created and are owned by the Lord God, and all we need in order to have a “domicile” is presence somewhere within the territory of our sovereign. As a Christian, the Holy Scriptures also declare those who have accepted Christ, are in effect “Ambassadors of Christ”. We are representatives of the theocratic government established in Kingdom of Heaven. We have our domicile there and it is our choice that at some appointed time we will no longer be transient foreigners in this world but will return as intended [by our free will choice] yield this earth suit called a body and return to our permanent residence or domicile with the Heavenly Father, Our Creator.

Our Creator granted Americans our rights as no government could possibly do. The Federal government can only grant privileges like “tax deductions” and so forth. Remember who the Sovereigns are and who the public servants are. The problems in this matter arose when “We The People” granted some of our unalienable rights to entities by our own creation called state and federal governments. Having done so the government exists at the pleasure of We the People as that is the source of their authority and that government can not supersede its authority so delegated by We the People.

When any American determines that certain laws or people in which he or she is around may impair or cause injury to his/her life, liberty, and property, then Americans are entitled by the Declaration of Independence to withhold allegiance and shift their domicile to a place where better protection is provided. When one has a domicile other than the place or society in which they find themselves, then they can be considered as foreigners [transient foreigners] who are merely passing through in a relatively short period of time astrally speaking.

We the People can not delegate authority that we do not possess. The authority for the operation of the government is the Constitution, a creation of “We The People” by our collective authority. Thus, we have the authority to individually exclude injurious public servants from our legal and political life by changing our domicile and citizenship. This is the effective equivalent of our right and free choice to disassociate [divorce] our lives from the government.

There is an excellent case in the early history of our country that addressed the right to segregate from the state by one’s own choosing of his domicile to that of another place other than where one might currently be located. Pay particular attention to the last two sentences in Cruden v. Neale, 2 N.C., 2 S.E. 70 (1796):

“When a change of government takes place, from a monarchical to a republican government, the old forms dissolved. Those who lived under it and did not choose to become members of the new had a right to refuse their allegiance to it and to retire elsewhere. By being a part of the society subject to the old government, they had not entered into any engagement to become subject to any new form of majority might think proper to adopt. That the majority shall prevail is a rule posterior to the formation of government, and results from it. It is not a rule upon mankind in their natural state. There, every man is independent of all laws, except those prescribed by nature. He is not bound by any institutions formed by his fellowmen without his consent.”

[Cruden v. Neale, 2 N.C., 2 S.E. 70 (1796)]

So in regard to contracts, “consent” is defined to mean:

“A voluntary acceptance of the benefit of a transaction is equivalent to consent to all the obligations arising from it, so far as the facts are known, or ought to be known, to the person accepting.”

There is much more that needs to be learned about this subject so you are encouraged to read about this subject in greater depth that what the intent of this writing provides. One good starting point is the following fascinating article:

Why Domicile and Becoming a “taxpayer” Require Your Consent, Form #05.002

http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

Always keep in mind that you have the power. You possess your unalienable rights granted to you by Our Creator.

You are a Sovereign but you must act like one. Sovereigns are the source of all federal authority and are not subject to it except by your “consent”. Be wise and careful in what you “consent” to. Ask questions and demand definitions of those in public office for the terms they use.

Permit me a moment for some “Editorializing”. This nation is on the verge of going the way of the Roman Empire. Socialism is now rampant in government. This fully started back with FDR and has not slowed since.
Chapter 18: Domicile, Residence, & Permanent Address

The National Government engages in wars across the world and has troops scattered far beyond the intention of the founding fathers. Legislation is being discussed in Congress to mandate government service for 2 years for all “U.S. Citizens” between ages 18 - 42 years. As a nation, it is up to “We The People” to demand fiscal responsibility and to revert back to a gold backed currency. The leaders need to be held accountable more than once every election.

The Euro and other currencies will soon replace the U.S. Dollar as the preferred currency for payment of oil imports. Probably by the time peak oil arrives around 2012.

There are many bright and talented people in this country that can mimic what Brazil has done to supply their domestic gasoline needs by simply growing sugar cane. They have no adverse balance of trade from oil as they import little to none at this writing.

Fighting a war over currency conversion away from the U.S. Dollar is a waste of American lives and precious resources not to mention that Americans are losing trust in both the federal and state governments.

As with any nation, this nation should defend itself but never force its will [federal democracy] on other nations as has been the pattern. Americans individually will pay the price of the steady decline of this nation into that of a once proud force for good.

Sovereigns Americans are the ones who have the power and authority. We must now leave that “Rip Van Winkle” slumbering in our trust of government and make those bureaucrats and politicians understand who has the reins of control and that those that would make us subjects to their jurisdiction by pseudo domicile within the federal zone. Their authority is derived by consent.

Otherwise, the pragmatic thing to do is to disassociate from governments and seek privacy in other parts of the world.

Consider these statements and the impact of what it declares upon you:

“We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated Governments in the world – no longer a Government of free opinion, no longer a government of conviction and vote of the majority, but a Government by the opinion and duress of small groups of dominant men.”
[Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States]

“The Founding Fathers knew a government can’t control the economy without controlling the people. And they knew when a government sets out to do that; it must use force and coercion to achieve its purpose. So we have come to a time for choosing.”

“Public servants say, always with the best of intentions, “What greater service we could render if only we had a little more money and a little more power.”

But the truth is that outside of its legitimate function, government does nothing as well or as economically as the private sector.”

“We need true tax reform that will at least make a start toward restoring for our children the American Dream that wealth is denied to no one, that each individual has the right to fly as high as his strength and ability will take him...But we cannot have such reform while our tax policy is engineered by people who view the tax as a means of achieving changes in our social structure.”
Plutarch warned, “The real destroyer of the liberties of the people is he who spreads among them bounties, donations and benefits.”

[Ronald Reagan, President of the United States, Address to the nation, October 27, 1964]
19 Chapter 19: Reasonable Notice, SSN Application, & Contract Law

Quote to Contemplate:

“It is sufficient to say that there are certain immutable principles of justice which inhere in the very idea of free government which no member of the Union may disregard, as that no man shall be condemned in his person or property without due notice and an opportunity of being heard in his own defense.”
[Holden v. Hardy, 169 U.S. 366 (1898)]

“Reasonable Notice” is a fundamental requirement of due process of law. Many Americans are being erroneously labeled as Taxpayers, which arises from silence about the user of a Social Security Number being identified as a public officer [Federal employee a.k.a. Federal Trustee], without there ever being provided any “reasonable notice” of that fact as well as an explanation as to “how” they became a taxpayer [public official].

The application for a Social Security Number [pseudo contract for a constructive trust] was the starting point that caused the IRS to establish a “Taxpayer Account” but they will not want to tell you this. As you have learned, there would never be any correspondence with the IRS had Americans never obtained a SSN in the first place. There is no law that requires any American to apply or contract for that number. That is a real shock for many!

Then on top of all that, there is no “reasonable notice” provided telling anyone who applied for a Social Security Number that they are now considered by the IRS to be a non-compensated [financial slave] public official. No one works for free but that is what occurs when anyone is labeled as a public officer [Federal employee a.k.a. Federal Trustee] and never receives a paycheck for their service provided as that claimed by the IRS in their correspondence without stating with clarity that they are viewed as a public official who performs the functions of a public office as do all federal workers.

So when you establish that SSN Trust and become a Federal Trustee you are in effect labeled as a Federal Employee [Public Official]. Ask any of those who use a Social Security Number if they were ever given “reasonable notice” of this being the case by the IRS? Federal Trustees are Public Officials as they use Federal property, the SSN.

Were you ever given “reasonable notice” of your being labeled as a Public Official by using the SSN? As a Federal Employee, you have no protection under the Constitution in your Federal employment. Were you given “reasonable notice” that as a Federal Trustee that you in fact have abdicated your constitutional rights by the SSN contract?

You have in effect waived all of your God-given constitutionally protected rights for federal indentured servitude. Understand that is really not true. Rebut that claim.

Why not? For starters, Americans would know up front how the game is being played by the government and the rules [statutes] they use to misidentify those who are not really federal workers except by application for a Social Security Number. If Americans knew this before hand they could quickly and easily bow out of that game and the government reservoir of surplus money picked up by this deception would dry up.

When Americans eventually wake up, and challenge the Social Security System as nothing more than a false security with no promise, the game [statutory scheme] will indeed be over. Simply put, if Americans knew the basics about contract law and applied them to a “reasonable notice” of the true facts, not many Americans would continue their participation in the “statutory scheme” played on Americans by the Federal government.
Any contract or agreement between the government and a private party that adversely affects or effectively waives any or all their Constitutional rights must be fully informed as stated by the USSC:

“Waivers of constitutional rights not only must be voluntary but must be knowing, intelligent acts done with sufficient awareness [reasonable notice] of the relevant circumstances and likely consequences.” [Emphasis & clarification added]

The IRS will not provide proof that you are in effect labeled as a Federal Employee. Any admission like that amounts to financial indentured servitude or slavery in that you do not receive compensation for your “Federal employment” under the SSN contract.

All money paid to you for your labor is your property. Under eminent domain, many people think of government taking that which is yours only in terms of land or the soil within a state of the Union. The Constitution however limits the power of taking any property for a public purpose and prohibits the exercise of the power of eminent domain without just compensation.

Have Americans ever been compensated for Federal employment as a Federal Trustee? Compensation can not occur 30 to 40 years after they have taken your labor for public purposes. No employer pays their employees on that kind of cycle. The longest cycle for compensation of labor payment is a month. Some commissions are paid quarterly but certainly decades need not pass before you are compensated like what occurs when the government takes withdrawals from your paycheck with no guarantee or interest.

With no compensation for the labor provided, those relying on Social Security benefits are nothing but Federal slaves who may or may not receive compensation at their “retirement age”. Did you think the government has a contractual obligation to pay any money from Social Security in retirement years? Wait until you read what the USSC has to say on that subject and then think about eminent domain in that light.

In regard to Social Security, the payment of benefits is not a contractual obligation toward the government and there are really no benefits or rights to benefits accruing by virtue of participating in the program and no “consideration” in the truest sense of the word make the application for a SSN a true contract.

This was firmly established by the USSC where you find stated:

[United States Railroad Retirement Board v. Fritz, 449 U.S. 166 (1980)]

This fact was additionally stated by the USSC when it declared:

“We must conclude that a person covered by the Act [Social Security Act] has not such a right in benefit payments…This is not to say, however, that Congress may exercise its power to modify the statutory scheme free of all constitutional restraint.” [Emphasis & clarification added]

[Fleming v. Nestor, 363 U.S. 603 (1960)]

The “statutory scheme” is an interesting choice of words in that it refers to the National government use of statutes to craftily and secretly implement a program for their benefit and not those who contribute to it. Therefore, the SSN is a pseudo contract that does not convey mutual consideration and is unenforceable and void against those parties that received no consideration. With inflation any “benefits” will be paid in diluted funds.

Justice Miller, in his dissenting opinion, stated in Clark v. United States, 95 U.S. 539 the following which mirrors the “statutory scheme” concept by Congress by his reference to “statute of frauds”:

The Galileo Paradigm, version 1.04
Copyright Adele Weiss
http://famguardian.org/
"It seems to me that if Congress had been intending to enact a statute of frauds, they would have made some limitation of its operation to cases of future delivery of property or future performance of service…"

Consider this in light of what most Americans have been led to believe that the SSN trust is a contractual obligation of the federal government. The Social Security Act of 1935 is clearly a statutory scheme introduced by Congress on an unsuspecting public. The SSN application you probably filled out as a child was never signed by any contracting official in the legislative branch of the government so that there would be no culpability coming back on those in Congress.

Furthermore, upon reading the Legislative History of the Social Security Act of 1935, there is Title VIII which addresses Taxes with Respect to Employment and section 801 addresses Income Tax on Employees.

"Section 801. In addition to other taxes there shall be levied, collected, and paid upon the income of every individual a tax equal to the following percentage of the wages received by him after December 31, 1936, with respect to employment after such date:"

That cold chill that just went down your spine is telling you that you have been deceived by the "statutory scheme" or "statute of frauds" [if applied incorrectly to those who are not correctly and truly "federal employees"]. This is especially true when the government must have one of its federal contracting officers in the legislative branch to cause a document like the SSN application to be a contractual obligation upon the federal government. That application was never signed by such a legislative officer.

The SSN application is the root cause of the massive financial distress placed on an unsuspecting American Public. The Congress even gets away with the deception "Scott free" in that they have told Americans who do not "engage in the conduct of a trade or business in the United States" that the SSN application is not really a contract as you have seen in the United States Supreme Court decisions just referenced.

The Congress went even further to protect their selves as you will find in the 1939 Internal Revenue Code, 53 Stat 489 in that the Internal Revenue Agents are not federal employees but are merely independent consultants who operate on commission from the Office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The IRS subcontracted “employees” paychecks originate at the U.S. Department of Agriculture according to a FOIA response from the Department of Agriculture.

The IRC of 1986 is founded on the IRC of 1939 which is somewhat clearer than the Code that is used today. Take a close inspection of the wording of the Revenue Act of 1939, 53 Stat 489 [Chapter 43 - Internal Revenue Agents Section 4000 Appointment] to prove to your own satisfaction that what you have read is true about IRS agents “employment” status:

"The Commissioner may, whenever in his judgment the necessities of the service so require, employ competent agents, who shall be known and designated as internal revenue agents, and, except as provided for in this title, no general or special agent or inspector of the Treasury Department in connection with internal revenue, by whatever designation he may be known, shall be appointed, commissioned, or employed."

You can read the above statute yourself on the Family Guardian website at:

http://famguardian.org/CDs/LawCD/Federal/RevenueActs/Revenue%20Act%20of%201939.pdf

Read the “underlined” words to see the clarity of the message in this section so that you can better see that “no general or special agent or inspector of the Treasury Department…shall be appointed, commissioned, or employed.”
If the SSN pseudo contract is being used by the IRS Commissioner’s revenue agents who are subcontract consultants and if they violate any federal law or your constitutionally protected rights, then their actions are not connected in any way with the federal government directly. There is no statutory authority for IRS agents to exist and the only office so authorized is the Office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

As such all IRS agents are not direct federal “employees”. The President of the United States and his political appointees in the Executive branch cannot be held personally liable for the misdeeds, threats, and financial deprivation caused by these commissioned consultants using the title of internal revenue agent. This is the modern day version of “taxation without representation.”

For those who do receive benefit payments, they are paid to those parties as Federal employees and the government can tax even those “benefits” in order to recoup yet again money for the true beneficiary – the Federal government [those in Congress]. No wonder so many politicians love to run for seats in government. They are protected, enrich their accounts, plunder the wealth of the nation, and become part of the ruling elite while using the Leo Strauss mantra to perpetuate the dummying down of America.

Most laws passed by Congress do not extend into the 50 states of the Union but only apply within their limited geographical jurisdiction called the District of Columbia. By the Congress not having the duty or requirement to identify each piece of legislation as to the proper jurisdiction in which it applies, Congress expands its plunder by its “laws” under Color of Law for legislation that only affects the District of Columbia.

Congress can not perform its main function of protecting our rights as Americans by passing legislation that adversely affects our right to life, liberty, and property. But that is what occurs by many laws because the Congress uses “words of art” that make the impression or induces a belief system upon Americans that Congress does have the Constitutional power to make such laws when in reality those legislative acts only apply to the District of Columbia or U.S. Territories and not within the 50 states of the Union.

The Patriot Act, the draft, the income tax are all examples of legislation that only apply within Washington, DC as they do not meet the strict limitations as against the government per the Constitution. Alexander Hamilton, a prolific writer best described the foundational intent of the Constitution, regarding the Federal Government’s ability to tax and establish a military draft.

He stated in his Federalist Paper No. 15, December 1, 1787:

“Except as to the rule of apportionment, the United States (meaning the federal government) has an indefinite discretion to make requisitions for men and money; but they have ‘no authority’ to raise either, ‘by regulations extending to the individual citizens of America,’ The consequence of this is that in theory their resolutions concerning those objects are law, constitutionally binding on the members of the Union, ‘yet in practice they are mere recommendations which the States observe or disregard at their option’. [Emphasis & clarification added]

It is quite obvious that the Founding Fathers were not intent on throwing off the yoke of the English Crown and oppressing the new Americans with another form of similar taxation or permitting the government to impose a military draft upon those private citizens in the states of the Union.

Do you better understand why the Congress will not allow those in the IRS to provide “reasonable notice” of what is being established by the Social Security Act and implemented by its minions in the IRS? The government has no such power and has reverted to a “statutory scheme” in order to give the illusion [assumption] that it has the power under the Constitution and that Americans who know little about the law will blindly obey the dictates under the scheme by contract law.
The SSN trust contract is not invalid until you stand up for yourself and declare it voidable ab initio. Otherwise, the Congress gets away with their statutory scheming and enlarges it in other areas once they see most Americans are unaware or could care less about the future of this nation. Government does have an important role to play but like a child it must be told “NO” at times when it goes beyond the limits provided for it to function within.

Due Process is required before a man’s property may be seized to enforce any provision of any law or contract.

“For more than a century, the central meaning of procedural due process has been clear: Parties whose rights are to be affected are entitled to be heard; and in order that they may enjoy that right, they must first be notified.”
Windsor v. McVeigh, 93 U.S. 274;
Hovey v. Elliott, 167 U.S. 409; Grannis v. Ordean, 234 U.S. 385

“The constitutional right to be heard is a basic aspect of the duty of government to follow a fair process of decision making when its acts to deprive a person of his possessions….So viewed, the prohibition against the deprivation of property without due process of law reflects the high value, embedded in our constitutional and political history, that we place on a person’s right to enjoy what is his, free of governmental interference.”

Failure to provide “reasonable notice” or “due notice” in advance of a government action may nullify the action and make the government actor liable for Constitutional Rights violation.

“An elementary and fundamental requirement of due process in any proceeding which is to be accorded finality is notice reasonably calculated under all circumstances, to apprise interested parties of the pendency of the action and afford them an opportunity to present their objections.”

“Without proper prior notice to those who may be affected by a government decisions, all other procedural rights may be nullified.”

The waiver of one’s constitutional rights by contracting with the Federal government in their “statutory scheme” called the Social Security System must be with full disclosure to the particular individual signing that application or “contract”.

“The question of a waiver of a federally guaranteed constitution right is, of course, a federal question controlled by federal law. There is a presumption against the waiver of constitutional rights and for a waiver to be effective it must be clearly established that there was an ‘intentional relinquishment or abandonment of a know right or privilege.”
[Brookhart v. Janis, 384 U.S. 1 (1966)]

In spite of the USSC declaring that “Every citizen of the United States is suppose to know the law…” [7 Wall (74 U.S. 169) 666 (1869)] there is a big difference in knowing something and being legally required to actually obey and follow a specific law. I wonder which “United States” the USSC is really referencing. How can anyone be expected to know anything if they have not be educated in that field?

Our universities and secondary educational system do not stress any of what you have read here and thus the educational system has not demonstrated any real effort toward preparing each generation to do legal research and know the law in order to obey the law as adults. Up until the time of the internet and the mass availability of PCs, most had no idea where to begin or engage in such a study of law except by gaining acceptance to a law school. Most honest attorneys will tell you they never learned what you are reading in law school.

Even with all that we are supposed to know, it may be said that government bureaucrats can not bypass any responsibility for “reasonable notice” of the laws Americans are expected to obey. In the case of person domiciled in states of the Union, one method for providing “reasonable notice” is the requirement that any law having “general applicability and legal affect” must be published in the Federal Register.

Title 44 Section 1505 Documents to be published in Federal Register:

(a) Proclamations and Executive Orders; Documents Having General Applicability and Legal Effect; Documents Required To Be Published by Congress. There shall be published in the Federal Register—

(1) Presidential proclamations and Executive orders, except those not having general applicability and legal effect or effective only against Federal agencies or persons in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees thereof;

(2) Documents or classes of documents that the President may determine from time to time have general applicability and legal effect; and

(3) Documents or classes of documents that may be required so to be published by Act of Congress.

For the purposes of this chapter every document or order which prescribes a penalty has general applicability and legal effect.

In regard to Tax Collection, the IRS sends out a Notice of Proposed Assessment before they attempt to collect. The IRS correspondence conveniently omits any reference to the individual receiving the Notice of Proposed Assessment about the precise statute stating their authority to create a Substitute for Return [SFR] for those Americans who “elected” not to file as they had no imposed duty or obligation.

Even former IRS Commissioner Charles O. Rossotti stated in a delegated response letter dated October 27, 1998, that:

“The law itself does not require individuals to file a Form 1040."

His statement was a result of admission in the first part of his delegated response letter stating that:

“Our system of taxation is dependent on ‘taxpayers’ belief that the laws they follow apply to everyone…”

While taxpayers certainly owe the Subtitle “A” federal income tax, the belief of those who are taxpayers following their laws [rules and regulations only applicable within the District of Columbia arising from their being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business within the United States – the District of Columbia] mistakenly apply them to “everyone” else [American Nationals who are not engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the United States] in our nation and that is the heart of the problem for Americans.

It is a historical footnote that the IRS admitted years ago, in Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 (Revision 3) Effective date: 12-14-83 “Authority to Execute Returns”, that:

“The IRM restricts the broad delegation shown in Figure 23-1, for revenue officers, to employment, excise, and partnership tax returns because of constitutional issues. (You have already studied audit referrals as a means to enforce compliance on income tax returns). Generally you can file the following returns, using the authority granted by IRC section 6020(b):

1. Form 940, Employer’s Annual Federal Unemployment Tax Return
2. Form 941, Employer’s Quarterly Federal Tax Return…..”
So the IRS does have authority by statute 6020(b) for the creation of SFR for other forms but not the Form 1040. In the more recent version of Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 (revision 7) the reference to “constitutional issues” is now omitted. The IRS may do any creation of SFR they desire toward those who are real Federal employees [Public Officials] who do not file as there are no constitutional protections afforded those who are Federal workers.

What is so significant about Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 (Revision 3) is that it proves the IRS knew in 1983 that they are falsely creating, to this very day, SFR for Form 1040 against Americans who never receive any compensation for their purported federal employment. Constitutional issues only apply to American Nationals who do not work for the Federal government. Americans have been tricked into using a Social Security Number by social custom as there is no law requiring Americans to obtain one in the first place.

In order to hide that fact, the Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 (Revision 7) was issued and any references to “constitutional issues” from Revision 3 has now been conveniently omitted to avoid the damage created under Revision 3. Facts and admissions are still facts and admissions even if conveniently “omitted”.

Once an Assessment is issued, a public inspection of written documentation can be obtained per 26 USC §6110. Following the assessment [based on a false creation of a SFR for a Form 1040 against an American National who does not derive any income from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the United States], a Notice of Deficiency [NOD] is created under 26 USC §6212 inviting the recipient to go to United States Tax Court within 90 days of the date of that letter to challenge the determination and assessment made by the IRS. All of this done without reasonable notice with the SSN application!

Any true taxpayer [federal worker truly engaged in the performance of the functions of a public office in the United States] who protests the tax will automatically wind up loosing their appeal to the United States Tax Court. The special laws are valid within “that jurisdiction”.

However, some Americans who are wrongly accused or misidentified by the IRS as being taxpayer [Federal employee a.k.a. Federal Trustee a.k.a. public official] have sent the United States Tax Court Judge in Washington, DC a letter stating the problem that the IRS has failed to properly address and correct.

The result of one such American National’s effort was fruitful in that he received a Court Order of Dismissal for Lack of Jurisdiction directed against the IRS claim. The IRS Notice of Deficiency (N.O.D.) was successfully negated and the IRS claim of their being a taxpayer, the assessment, and the deficiency were effectively dismissed by the United States Tax Court.

The IRS is required by 5 USC §552(a)(1)(D) to provide reasonable notice in the publishing of their statutes. This is a requirement placed on the Federal government in Article 4 Section 3 Clause 2 of the Constitution which addresses the “rules and regulations” that apply only to the District of Columbia.

Title 5 Section 552 Public information; agency rules; opinions, orders, records, and proceedings:

(a) Each agency shall make available to the public information as follows: (1) Each agency shall separately state and currently publish in the Federal Register for the guidance of the public—

(D) substantive rules of general applicability adopted as authorized by law, and statements of general policy or interpretations of general applicability formulated and adopted by the agency;

“Except to the extent that a person has actual and timely notice of the terms thereof, a person may not in any manner be required to resort to, or be adversely affected by, a matter required to be published in the Federal Register and not so published. For the purpose of this paragraph, matter reasonably available to the class of persons affected thereby is deemed published in the Federal Register when incorporated by reference therein with the approval of the Director of the Federal Register.”

Determination of which jurisdiction is applicable for a particular law does present a challenge. Again, it would have been very helpful if Congress would identify the jurisdiction at the time the law was created. Some researchers tackling this problem look at the definition found in statutes for the particular title to answer this question.

As you have just read, the statutes that are “positive law” are published along with an implementing regulation in the Federal Register.

The two types of law presented in the USC are “positive law” and “prima facie” law. Title 1 Section 204(a) United States Code addresses these but does not set them apart for easy understanding by the reader.

“The matter set forth in the edition of the Code of Laws of the United States current at any time shall, together with the then current supplement, if any, establish prima facie the laws of the United States, general and permanent in their nature, in force on the day preceding the commencement of the session following the last session the legislation of which is included: Provided, however, that whenever titles of such Code shall have been enacted into positive law the text thereof shall be legal evidence of the laws therein contained, in all the courts of the United States, the several States, and the Territories and insular possessions of the United States.”

In order for clarification only, I have numbered the two combined statements so that you can better understand what distinction is being made by Section 204. Here they are again with clarification:

(a) United States Code –

(Item 1) “The matter set forth in the edition of the Code of Laws of the United States current at any time shall, together with the then current supplement, if any, establish prima facie the laws of the United States, general and permanent in their nature, in force on the day preceding the commencement of the session following the last session the legislation of which is included:

(Item 2) Provided, however, that whenever titles of such Code shall have been enacted into positive law the text thereof shall be legal evidence of the laws therein contained, in all the courts of the United States, the several States, and the Territories and insular possessions of the United States.”

The writer of this section could have simplified for clarity too but “that’s not their job”!

So for American Nationals [nonresident aliens], who do not work for the Federal government, only those laws that are positive laws published in the Federal Register are applicable. For those who choose to work for the Federal government, then the “special laws” or “prima facie” laws are those that apply in their service to the Federal government.

Here is an outline that is helpful and I appreciate the permission to use it granted from Sovereignty Education Defense Ministry based in Canada.

All laws of the United States or Acts of Congress only apply to the 50 states of the Union and to U.S. territories but not to the District of Columbia per 28 USC §1366.

“Construction of reference to laws of the United States or Acts of Congress”:

“For the purposes of this chapter, references to laws of the United States or Acts of Congress do not include laws applicable exclusively to the District of Columbia.”

Those in government who write the CFR regulations provide annotations at the bottom of every CFR section identifying whether that section has been published in the Federal Register. Conversely, the writers of the USC do not provide the same pertinent information. This makes it impossible for American Nationals to determine which sections of the USC may be applicable and enforceable toward them. There must be a reason for this omission or there would be clarity as found in the CFR annotations.

Therefore, no federal law may prescribe a penalty against the general public in the states of the Union until it has been promulgated in the Federal Register as mandated by 5 USC §552(a), 5 USC §553(a), & 44 USC §1505(a).

There are those who are exempt from this requirement of an implementing regulation published in the Federal Register as shown in the outline are as follows:

1. Federal agencies in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees of that Federal agency per 44 USC §1505(a)(1),

2. Military or foreign affairs functions of the United States per 5 USC §553(a)(1),

3. Matters relating to agency management or personnel or to public property, loans, grants, benefits, or contracts.
Chapter 19: Reasonable Notice, SSN Application, & Contract Law

The reason for these exemptions of regulation requirements published in the Federal Register are that those who occupy positions in these groups do not enjoy any benefits from the full protection of the Bill of Rights in regard to their employment duties within the Federal government.

“Private Citizens cannot have their property searched without probable cause, but in many circumstances government employees can.”
[O’Connor v. Ortega, 480 U.S. 709, 723 (1987)]

“Private Citizens cannot be punished for refusing to provide the government information that may incriminate them, but government employees can be dismissed when the incriminating information that they refuse to provide relates to the performance of their job.”

“Private Citizens cannot be punished for partisan political activity, but federal and state employees can be dismissed and otherwise punished for that reason.”

American Nationals who are not members of the groups referenced which are exempt from the requirement of implementing regulations published in the Federal Register can only become a target of an administrative agency, lawfully, if the statute and implementing regulation are published in the Federal Register as required under Title 5.

As such the procedural regulation found at 26 CFR §601.702(a)(2)(ii) Effect of Failure to publish, states the following:

“Except to the extent that a person has actual and timely notice of the terms of any matter referred to in paragraph (a)(1) of this section which is required to be published in the Federal Register, such person is not required in any manner to resort to, or be adversely affected by, such matter if it is not so published or is not incorporated by reference therein pursuant to paragraph (a)(2)(i) of this section. Thus, for example, any such matter which imposes an obligation and which is not so published or incorporated by reference shall not adversely change or affect a person’s rights.”

Those titles in the USC which are “positive law” are legal evidence. Statutes from titles in the USC that are “prima facie” law [the Internal Revenue Code is one] are only a presumption of law which by rebuttal may be challenged by any American National whose rights are being adversely affected by IRS misapplication of those “special laws” in a United States Tax Court.

Special Note: If you are an American National experiencing such claims by the IRS that may be rebutted, you may write a letter to the United States Tax Court in Washington, DC but you must be keenly aware of the DANGER in doing so. You must be careful not to inadvertently submit to the jurisdiction of that U.S. Tax Court by sending a $60 filing fee and/or submitting an amended petition to that United States Tax Court.

If you error and submit either of those two items to the United States Tax Court you will lose immediately as you have in effect submitted to the jurisdiction of the United States Tax Court. Those who petition and/or file the $60 fee are in effect making an “election” to have their income treated as if it were taxable like that of a U.S. resident [alien]. United States Tax Courts can not consider the petition of anyone making references to constitutional issues as they are not the court of competent jurisdiction to hear constitutional issues. That court must issue a Court Order for Dismissal [of the IRS deficiency or assessment] for Lack of Jurisdiction.

Americans must remember that the jurisdiction of U.S. Tax Court pertains only to the District of Columbia and no other geographical area. Anyone who petitions the United States Tax Court by the filing of an amended petition or the filing fee is effectively “electing” to submit to the court’s jurisdiction and to have their income treated as taxable like that of a U.S. resident [alien] under 26 CFR §1.871-1(a).
In United States Tax Court, the purpose is to attack the IRS presumption of your being a federal worker [Public Official] as it prejudices your constitutionally protected rights and such a claim is unconstitutional. Presumption may not be allowed against a party protected by the constitution. All the while, there was no reasonable notice given with the SSN application.

The 50 states of the Union were established as a Republican form of government in which each of those states act as sovereign foreign countries to the exclusive federal jurisdiction found in the District of Columbia. The passage of any laws by a legislative body requires the consent of those who established that government. All consent by those so governed is collective in nature and not based on a voluntary decision by an individual and are referred to as Public Laws.

All Public Law is limited in its scope to protections of those in the Republic and for punishment of harmful behavior. These laws apply to everyone equally and again are passed based on the consent of “We The People”. A public law is by design not one that lends itself to a voluntary choice after consent is given.

Private law sometimes referred to as “Special law” or “Administrative law” is voluntary and based on contract law. Rights can be adversely affected or enforceable based on the terms of the contract. These laws are based on private consent and affect only those who are parties to the contract.

An example of private law is the Social Security contract. Those who voluntarily choose to sign the SSN application are then subject to the terms, conditions, and/or provisions of that contract [if it is a valid contract].

This contract, as discussed previously, is one that is voidable from the beginning [the date it was signed] as in most situations there was no full disclosure of the contractual provisions which means there could not be any willful and knowing intent to enter into a valid contract by the signer.

Also, most who signed the SSN application [contract] were minors at the time. This fact alone makes the SSN contract voidable ab initio. Lastly, there was no consideration provided to those who signed the SSN application by the federal government to pay the signing party anything.

This was clearly stated by the United States Supreme Court that you read previously:

[United States Railroad Retirement Board v. Fritz, 449 U.S. 166 (1980)]

The same facts of private laws apply to the federal income tax provisions under Subtitle “A” as it is directly linked to the SSN application. Those who work for the federal government have consented to be bound by those provisions and they each hold a public office in the U.S. government and are engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the United States.

For any enforceable contract or agreement, such as the SSN application or IRS Form W-4, there must be:

1. an offer made to an individual of legal age,
2. an offer with explicit notice of all terms, conditions [like that your constitutionally protected God given rights are to be forfeited by such a contract], and definitions of terms used,
3. Willful and knowing intent on the part of the party signing the contract or agreement of those items stated in (2), and
4. Mutual consideration for both parties to the contract or agreement.
It is a violation of constitutionally protected rights for the government to assume consent to a contract agreement or private law absent proof in writing of fully informed consent to all contractual provisions waiving such rights.

If any contract or agreement was entered into without the basic elements of a valid contract being in place that contract is voidable ab initio. Reasonable notice should have been provided as to the consequences of entering into that contract.

Any contract or agreement, like an IRS Form W-4, entered into under duress in order to maintain private sector employment that contract is voidable:

“An agreement [consent] obtained by duress, coercion, or intimidation is invalid, since the party coerced is not exercising his [or her] free will, and the test is not so much the means by which the party is compelled to execute the agreement as the state of mind induced.

Duress, like fraud, rarely becomes material, except where a contract or conveyance has been made which the make wishes to avoid. As a general rule, duress renders the contract [or agreement] or conveyance voidable, not void, at the option of the person coerced, and it is susceptible of ratification. Like other voidable contracts, it is valid until it is avoided by the person entitled to avoid it.

However, duress in the form of physical compulsion, in which a party is caused to appear to assent when he has no intention of doing so, is generally deemed to render the resulting purported contract void.” [clarification added]

[American Jurisprudence 2d, Duress, §21 (1999)]

If any terms, conditions, or definitions of a contract or agreement are deliberately and knowingly concealed by one or more of the parties to the agreement at the time consent is provided and the concealed terms and conditions are the key elements for the consent being sought, then constructive fraud has occurred which may render the contract void and unenforceable.

“Where failure to disclose a material fact is calculated to induce a false belief, the distinction between concealment and affirmative misrepresentation is tenuous. Both are fraudulent. An active concealment has the same force and effect as a representation which is positive in form.

The one acts negatively, the other positively; both are calculated in different way to produce the same result. The former, as well as the latter, is a violation of the principles of good faith. It proceeds from the same motives and is attended with the same consequences and the deception and injury may be as great in the one case as in the other.”

[37 American Jurisprudence 2d, Fraud and Deceit, §144 (1999)]

Even though “Every citizen of the United States is supposed to know the law…” [Floyd Acceptances, 7 Wall (74 U.S. 169) 666 (1869)], the requirement to know the law does not excuse or waive the requirement for “reasonable notice” in the case of any contract or agreement with the government that might adversely affect a Constitutionally protected right.

In closing, if you would like to learn more about the requirement for “reasonable notice”, please consult the following free resource:

Closing thought:
“The lie can be maintained only for such time as the State can shield the people from the political, economic, and/or military consequences of the lie. It thus becomes vitally important for the State to use all of its powers to repress dissent, for the truth is the mortal enemy of the lie, and thus by extension, the truth is the greatest enemy of the State.”

[Joseph Goebbels, German Minister of Propaganda, 1933-1945]
Chapter 20: Correcting Information Returns & What To Do Next

Quote to Contemplate which is equally true for lawful Non-Taxpayers as well:

[Elkins v. United States, 364 U.S. 206, 218 (1960), 80 S.Ct. 1437, 1444, 4 L.Ed. 2d 1669 (1960)]

Most of the court quotations and IRS statements only address the word “Taxpayer” or “Taxpayers”. What about those who are “Non Taxpayers” yet are being attacked improperly and have to prove the negative. The system is designed so that once a “Taxpayer Account” is established by the IRS for those who send in the SSN application which is voidable ab initio and is not a contract by any sense; the IRS only considers one option. That option centers on the idea that everyone in America is a “Taxpayer”.

If you use a SSN, then 26 CFR §301.6109-1 says that you are considered by the IRS to be a federally defined 8 USC §1401(a) “U.S. citizen” who is also a “Taxpayer” and by such conversion of Americans into federal statutory creations of Congress, then there are no actual Americans protected by the constitution and the republic no longer exists. Where was the reasonable notice of that regulation when filling out the SSN application?

If that be so, then why did the government waste their time creating 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) and the information in the Federal Retirement Thrift Savings Plan (T.S.P.)? Those documents address those who are “Non Resident Aliens” [American Nationals are non resident to the limited exclusive jurisdiction of the District of Columbia and thereby aliens to that jurisdiction] and clearly have no taxable liability for the Subtitle “A” federal income tax.

The problem arises when any entity creates a Tax Class 5 information return which has your name on it, and possibly an SSN that was voidable ab initio, and is accepted by the IRS as “proof” that you are a taxpayer. Such well-known Tax Class 5 forms are Form W-2, Form 1099, IRS Form W-4, and IRS Form 1098.

For example, consider a Mortgage Lender who creates an IRS Form 1098 and sends it to the IRS by January 30th each year. That starts the cycle of questions by the IRS and they run to the Mortgage office [if you don’t correct their error] and request records that actually do not pertain to them. By doing so, the IRS is canvassing outside their singular internal revenue district [the District of Columbia] to which they are restricted by IRC 7601 and Treasury Order 150-02 from extending their search for taxable persons and objects.

The Mortgage Lender of course gives the IRS copies of all the information they “request” under Color of Office and Color of Law which was precipitated only by that company sending out the IRS Form 1098 information return against you in error. This is because those employed by the Mortgage Lender do not really know the facts behind the SSN.

You will find clearly stated in IRS Form 1098 Instructions (Catalog No. 27977Q) on page one under “Who Must File” the following guidelines:

“File this form if you are engaged in a trade or business and, in the course of such trade or business, you received from an individual $600 or more of mortgage interest on any one mortgage during the calendar year. You are not required to file this form if the interest is not received in the course of your trade or business.”

Then on page 2 of IRS Form 1098 Instructions (Catalog No. 27977Q) under “Nonresident Alien Interest Payer” the following guidelines are stated by the IRS:
“You must file Form 1098 to report interest paid by a nonresident alien only if all or part of the security for the mortgage is real property in the United States.”

When you take the time to read IRS Form 1098 Instructions publication you will see that the IRS fails to define any of the terms in their propaganda document aimed at the Mortgage Lender. That quote by Henry Kissinger keeps coming back into my thoughts as you think about this. What is the purpose of propaganda? You remembered didn’t you? The only purpose is deception and disinformation. The problem created against you by the IRS Form 1098 is the rescinded SSN should not be referenced on an IRS Form 1098 because it creates the false impression that the number belongs to a U.S. citizen or resident [alien].

Thus, the IRS Form 1098 with SSN identifies you incorrectly as one who operates in a representative capacity in behalf of and for the exclusive benefit of the federal government, and identifies you incorrectly as a federal trustee who is engaged in the conduct of a trade or business [meaning at IRC §7701(a)(26) “the performance of the functions of a public office”] in the United States [meaning by IRC §7701(a)(9), (a)(10), & 7408(d) to be only the District of Columbia].

Even IRS Publication 515 “Withholding of Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Entities” addresses and openly states on page 3 “TIP” that “Foreign persons [those who have a jurisdiction that is foreign to the District of Columbia - - the exclusive jurisdiction of the National Government] who provide IRS Form W-8BEN, IRS Form W-8BECI, or IRS Form W-8EXP (or applicable documentary evidence) are exempt from backup withholding and Form 1099 reporting.”

Nonresident aliens are those who are “neither a citizen of the United States nor a resident [alien] of the United States” per 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B). All 8 USC §1401(a) U. S. citizens are statutory creations of Congress. Those foreign persons addressed by the IRS Form W-8BEN are not 8 USC §1401 “citizens of the United States” vis-à-vis American Nationals who are identified in the Constitution as “citizens of the United States”. American Nationals [nonresident aliens to all federal jurisdictions] must have not identify a domicile within the United States [meaning the District of Columbia] if they submit an IRS Form W-8BEN.

One of the characteristics of a public office as defined in Black’s Law Dictionary is the “Power to exercise some of the sovereign functions of government.” Those who are identified as operating in or engaged in the performance of the functions of a public office [government] are taxpayers. Again, this is what is presumed if you do not rebut the claim established by the IRS Form 1098.

You might consider sending the Mortgage Lender a letter explaining the situation prior to the end of the calendar year. If not, you will [unfortunately] need to correct the presumption they created. I found the following form to be helpful in correcting this entity error with the IRS:

Federal Nonresident Nonstatutory Claim for Return of Funds Unlawfully Paid to the Government, Form #15.001
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

Nowhere in the entire IRC [Title 26] is the term “Trade or Business” expanded to include any activity other than a “public office”. “Expressio unius est exclusion alterius” is a maxim of statutory interpretation meaning that the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another. When certain persons or things are specified in a law, contract, or will, an intention to exclude all others from its operation may be inferred.

Based on the above, the average American domiciled within a state of the Union [on other than federal territory] does not maintain real property in the “United States” as legally defined. Your Mortgage Lender is not a “U.S. person” nor is it usually engaged in a trade or business [performing some of the sovereign functions of government] within the strict meaning of Title 26. Check with them before you assume anything!
Chapter 20: Correcting Information Returns & What to Do Next

For a Mortgage Lender to issue an IRS Form 1098 information return with your name listed as relating to mortgage loans in their portfolio can only be incorrect as it creates a prima facie presumption that you as payer of the mortgage are connected with the excise taxable “trade or business” activity, which also [falsely] makes it gross income under 26 USC §61.

If the SSN [which was voidable ab initio] also appears on the IRS Form 1098 for the payer, it also creates a prima facie presumption that me as payer is a “U.S. person” with a domicile in the District of Columbia who is a “taxpayer”.

Request your Mortgage Lender to abide by the law and adhere to the guidelines on the IRS Form 1098 Instructions (Catalog No. 27977Q) by not filing an IRS Form 1098 because it creates false prima facie information that you are one who:

1. Would be identified incorrectly as one who is engaged in the performance of the functions of a public office as one who works for the federal government and exercises some of the sovereign functions of government, which is incorrect.

2. Would be identified incorrectly as one with a domicile in the District of Columbia.

3. Would be one identified incorrectly as with real property in the “United States”.

4. Would be a likely victim of an “Substitute for Return” under IRC §6020(b) [which is not authorized for any Form 1040 by that statute, there is no regulation in 26 CFR Part 1 authorizing the IRS the power to do so, and Delegation Order (D.O.) 182 Rev 3 restricts the broad delegation for IRS agents to forms other than Form 1040 - all confirmed in a letter from Jay Hammer, IRS Disclosure Officer in November 1993] if you did not file a tax return from being identified incorrectly as one who holds a public office.

5. Would be incorrectly identified as a Taxpayer. Taxpayers are subject to the IRC and liable to file a return as they are presumed to have derived income from being engaged in the performance of the functions of a public office in the District of Columbia a.k.a the United States.

6. Would be incorrectly identified by use of the SSN which has been rescinded and/or was voidable ab initio toward identifying you as a federal trustee / federal employee and a U.S. citizen [8 USC §1401(a)] or resident [alien] as opposed to a nonresident alien defined at 26 USC §7701(b)(1)B as one who is neither a “U.S. citizen or resident [alien].”

If need be, ask your Mortgage Lender to contact the IRS to contradict the definitions of “trade or business” [26 USC §7701(a)(26)] and “United States” [26 USC §7701(a)(9), (a)(10), & 7408(d)] meanings in Title 26 presented. Also ask them to contradict 4 USC Section 72 restricting the operation of a public office outside the District of Columbia to include a sovereign state of the Union, like the state you are temporarily living in.

An interesting parallel is a quote from the Paul Newman movie “The Verdict” in which Paul played a struggling attorney trying to win his case against impossible odds that were stacked against him by those in power. His statement to the jury was the following, if I remembered his lines well enough it went something like this:

“So, most of the time in our lives we are just lost. God, what do we do? The rich are powerful and exert their control over us. The poor are powerless. We become tired of hearing the lies from those in powerful positions and over time… we consider our selves to be helpless ...as well as victims. We feel so weak... and we doubt ourselves and our beliefs. Then... we doubt our institutions... and finally... we doubt the law.”
“We The People” are supposed to be the authors of the law but is that really the case anymore? Judge Andrew P. Napolitano brings this issue home in his book and I think he is right. So what are the solutions to those who are pragmatic in their thinking?

Try to see Aaron Russo’s new movie “From Freedom to Fascism”, Aaron Russo”. It is a good overview but lacks details of the law. But the message is very clear and if you think “The Galileo Paradigm” causes you to think critically, you will be stirred and perhaps overwhelmed about what is going on regarding the future of “America the Land of the Free”.

Here is a statement credited to Todd David Schwartz with CBS that was found on the internet. He references his viewing the presentation on the film so I defer to his comment about the recommendation to see this film:

AMERICA: FROM FREEDOM TO FASCISM "FOUR STARS (Highest Rating).

“The scariest film you’ll see this year. It will leave you staggering out of the theatre, slack-jawed and trembling. Makes 'Fahrenheit 9/11' look like 'Bambi.' After watching this movie, your comfy, secure notions about America -- and about what it means to be an American -- will be forever shattered. Producer/director Aaron Russo and the folks at Cinema Libre Studio deserve to be heralded as heroes of a post-modern New American Revolution. This is shocking stuff.

You'll be angry, you'll be disgusted, but you may actually break out in a cold sweat and feel a sickness deep in your gut; I would advise movie theatre managers to hand out vomit bags. You may end up needing one.”

[Todd David Schwartz, CBS, (Thursday, 01 June 2006)]

Leo Strauss’ philosophy is alive and well in the Federal government. All dissent by We the People, those of us who are the source and authors of the authority the government uses, is being trampled upon in the government’s hope of silencing Americans.

All this in the “land of the free and the home of the brave” yet you have seen what the courts are doing. You know about the differences in federal jurisdiction from the laws but the government sees only one jurisdiction now in these matters.

History does have a way of repeating itself. I found this statement somewhat applicable so I share it with you.

“In times of oppression, if you don't translate choices of faith into political choices, you run the danger of washing your hands, like Pilate.”

[William Sloan Coffin (who spoke openly in 1968 during the height of the Viet Nam 'war')]

The Vietnam War proved to be a political war which stimulated the economy but wasted thousands of lives and caused those left behind to suffer with their loss. All wars are economic and that is particularly true of the Iraq war with the threat of the decline of the U.S. dollars for oil being converted to the Euro currency. Many educated Americans realized the truth, and today Americans are making the decision to leave America in a growing exodus. Many who left perhaps did so with Paul Newman’s statement of intense doubt about American systems and the federal government.

Their decision over time has proven them correct. They protested the only way they possibly could against such a powerful federal machine and the technology being used [which is far greater today than ever in the history of mankind] by others who made tough decisions for their time by simply leaving behind all that was the cause of their doubt and the prime factor in their feeling so helpless and lack of true security.
Most Americans desire to be free of oppression, to live a quiet peaceful life, and to mind their own business without the boot stomping from those with political agendas arising from the Straussian trained elite ruling class that now controls America.

My prayers are for those who remain in America and for their privacy and liberty. The storm clouds are massive over this country that use to be a beacon of liberty. Over 250,000 Americans leave the USA annually. They know something is wrong and prefer to be proactive. I have returned to my ancestral home for a more private life.

For those who are American Nationals without a domicile within the United States and do not derive their earnings from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the “United States”, there is a rather useful Affidavit that is available simply by signing the Declaration of Status at the end of this book, scan it into an Adobe PDF format, and send it to my European email address bedrock@runbox.com requesting the Affidavit and it will be sent at no charge.

If you would like a useful resource to help in rebutting false information returns filed against you by ignorant private employers, financial institutions, mortgage companies, and business associates, the following free resource should prove very helpful:

Correcting Erroneous Information Returns, Form #04.001
http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm

A FINAL REVIEW OF THE ENTIRE BOOK:

1) The lowest common denominator for American Nationals [nonresident aliens to the exclusive Federal jurisdiction] in the Federal income tax equation is the “Socialistic Surveillance Number”. Many are now no longer using it.

2) There is no law [statute or implementing regulation] that requires, obligates, mandates, or imposes a duty for Americans to obtain a SSN by the Form SS-5. The Social Security System is completely voluntary and is established under contract law so that it does not violate the constitutional limitations placed against the Federal government.

   a. Ask those who “require it” to provide you with the law [Statute and Implementing Regulation] which claims you must have one in order to work, bank, establish credit, etc. A battle but one that proves the point.

3) The SSN application is in fact a purported constructive trust contract between the Federal government and the applicant. It affords you indentured servitude.

4) The IRS regulation, 26 CFR §301.6109-1 Identifying Numbers, shows that the IRS “generally identifies” the holder [user] “as a number belonging to a “U.S. citizen” or resident alien.”

5) There was no reasonable notice provided to any American applying up for the SSN about 26 CFR §301.6109-1 or the Legislative History of the Social Security Act of 1935 Title VIII Section 801. Thus, the signer on the SSN application had no idea they were, in effect, waiving their God-given constitutionally protected rights. They were duped and did not in effect sign with any willful, knowing, or intelligent act by being fully aware of the ramifications and consequences by that application. The trust by We the People of our government being the servant is nothing more than an illusion just like that mouse that lives at Disney World.

6) “U.S. citizens” are defined in 26 USC as “Taxpayers” of the Federal income tax [Subtitle “A”]. U.S. citizens are defined at 8 USC §1401 as “those born in the United States [Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17] and subject to the exclusive jurisdiction [Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17] thereof;”
7) “Resident aliens” are defined in 26 CFR §1.871-1 as Taxpayers of the Federal income tax [Subtitle “A”].

8) Nonresident aliens are defined in 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B) as “those who are neither U.S. citizens or resident aliens.” That is a compound way of describing those who live in the private sector [the Republic] and work in the private sector [non Federal employment].

9) “United States Citizens” are not the same group of people who are “American Nationals. U.S. citizens are “federal citizens” [of the District of Columbia] and are “the property and franchises of the federal government.” They enjoy no protections under the Constitution as expressed by 8 USC §1401 in that they are “subject to the exclusive [sovereign] jurisdiction” [of the federal government].

10) The Constitution of the United States of America [ratified 1789] has established two jurisdictions in which their laws may or may not apply.

   a. The 10 square mile area called Washington, DC [“The Federal Zone” currently consists of Washington DC, U.S. Territories, Military enclaves and Insular possessions of the federal government as expressed by Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17], and

   b. The Sovereign States of the Union [currently The 50 states] called the Republic. This is where the Federal Register helps in identifying Acts of Congress being applicable in the 50 states. Most of the legislation of Congress does not leave the jurisdiction of the District of Columbia and those laws are not published in the Federal Register as a result.

11) The National Government has exclusive jurisdiction within the Federal Zone [the District of Columbia] and the Constitution of the United States of America is null and void in this geographical area.

12) The National Government does not have exclusive jurisdiction within the 50 states of the Union but rather only limited jurisdiction as outlined in the Constitution of the United States of America [ratified 1789]. This has been confirmed by the Congressional Research Service.

13) A Statute by itself has no Full Force and Effect of Law upon American Nationals. Demand the Implementing Regulation and Federal Register publication for proof.

14) Title 26, the Internal Revenue Code, is not positive law because it has no Effective Date of Enactment. It is special law that only has applicable jurisdiction in the municipality called Washington, DC or else those laws would have been promulgated in the Federal Register.

15) United States District Courts and the U.S. Tax Court are administrative courts [either Article I or Article IV] and are extensions of the Federal Zone. As such the United States District Courts do not recognize the “Rights of American Nationals” as the Constitutionally protected God-given Rights are null and void to these courts.

16) The only way to determine if an Act of Congress or Federal Law is applicable to the limited jurisdiction of the 50 States of the Union, and thus to American Nationals is by the following “reliable, probative, and substantial proof”:

   a. A Statute in an enacted Title of the United States Code, which is positive law.

   b. An Implementing or Legislative Regulation for the Statute being published in the Code of Federal Regulations.

   c. The publication in the Federal Register of the Implementing Regulation imposing an obligation and evidenced by the Volume, Date, and Page Number of the publication in the Federal Register.
17) American Nationals are not required by law to obtain a Social Security Number. American Nationals are not required to provide it to anyone including your non-federal employer in order to secure employment.

18) The Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment imposed an income tax upon the National Government meaning the “employees, officers, and elected officials of the federal government” and these are the “parties” to whom “wages are income.”

19) Prior to this nation being established our founding fathers determined, as stated in the Federalist Paper No. 15, December 1, 1787, [written by Alexander Hamilton]

“Except as to the rule of apportionment, the ‘United States’ has an indefinite discretion to make requisitions for men and money; but they have ‘no authority’ to raise either, by regulations extending to the individual citizens of America.”

This was a foundational precept or intent of the Constitution. It has been circumvented by contract law founded under the Social Security Administration giving rise to Federal financial indentured servitude. What the Constitution prohibited in Federal taxation “extending to the individual citizens of America” [American Nationals] the SSN has perverted.

What does that tell you about the authority of Congress to create a military draft?

20) In order to determine what the words mean that the National government uses, one must always look at each key word in the definitions sections of a Statute or administrative regulation so as not to misconstrue the Federal meaning with that of the everyday use of the word by the American Public. 26 USC §7701 is the major section in the IRC for definitions. Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition or earlier, will help you understand Federal definition of terms too.

21) The IRS has no lawful authority to use Subtitle F [enforcement statutes] in regard to the non-enacted Subtitle “A” income tax against American Nationals. There are no implementing regulations found in 26 CFR Part 1 for: 1) Substitutes for return as would be listed [if it existed] as 26 CFR §1.6020, 2) Assessment as would be listed [if it existed] as 26 CFR §1.6201, 3) Lien as would be listed [if it existed] as 26 CFR §1.6321, 4) Levy as would be listed [if it existed] as 26 CFR §1.6331.

This was further confirmed by Michael L. White, Federal Attorney, Office of the Federal Register, that there were no such enforcement authorities promulgated in the Federal Register for 26 CFR. They were present for 27 CFR but only relate to Alcohol, Tobacco, & Firearms [ATF] Federal agency use.

22) The Federal income tax applies only toward:

a. “employees, officers, and elected officials of the federal government”, public corporations established in the exclusive jurisdiction of the federal government per the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment written by former President of the United States William H. Taft on June 16, 1909 and published in the Congressional Record of the United States Senate on pages 3344-3345, and

b. “U.S. citizens” [people born in the Federal Zone and subject to the jurisdiction of the federal government] per 8 USC §1401

c. “Resident aliens” [foreigners who might live in the Republic or the United States] per 26 CFR §1.871-1, and

d. “Those who operate in a representative capacity in behalf of the National government” under private contract structure with the Social Security Administration’s purported constructive trust contract. This SSA contract uses private contract law to convert American Nationals into “U.S. citizens” or “resident aliens” and into being a Federal Trustee of the SSN contract. One first must be a Federal employee in order to use Federal property. The SSN card with the “Socialistic Surveillance Number” is Federal property per 20 CFR §422.103(d).

e. Those who derive their income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” in the “United States” by performing some of the sovereign functions of the federal government a.k.a. holding a public office. According to 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) this does not apply to Nonresident aliens [American Nationals] who do not hold a public office.

23) American Nationals [non-resident aliens] domiciled in states of the Union and not engaged in any federal franchise have no imposed liability for the non-enacted Subtitle “A” Federal income tax according to:

c. The Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment – documents the Parties & Jurisdiction made liable for the Federal income tax per Congressional Record of the United States Senate, June 16, 1909, Pages 3344-3345.

d. 26 CFR §1.0-1 Effective date of enactment & termination of 26 USC and Subtitle “A” applicability toward those American Nationals in the Republic [the 50 states of the Union].

e. 26 CFR §601.702(ii) Effect of Failure to Publish in the Federal Register as also required of the IRS by 44 USC §1505. There can be no adverse affect against the Rights of American Nationals who do not work for the Federal government and do not operate by contract with the Federal government in a representative capacity in behalf of the Federal government.

f. 26 CFR §1.871-1 Nonresident aliens [American Nationals who live in the Republic, were born there, and who work in the private sector] who do not derive their income from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” [the performance of the functions of a public office per 26 USC §7701(a)(26) from within the “United States” [the District of Columbia per 26 USC §7408(d), 7701(a)(9) & (a)(10)].

g. Federal Attorney Michael White in the Office of the Federal Register, legal opinion letter to an American National in 1994, showing that “the IRS has not incorporated by reference in the Federal Register any requirement to file an income tax return.”

h. Nonresident aliens [American Nationals] according to 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) have no liability for the federal income tax unless they choose to work for the federal government and then their income would be classified as being derived from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business [the performance of the functions of a public office per 26 USC §7701(a)(26)] or if they “elected” to have their non taxable income treated as having a taxable liability like that of a U.S. resident [alien] by filling out any number of government forms such as an IRS Form W-4 or not rebutting a Tax Class 5 Form [W2, 1099, 1098, etc] information return sent to the IRS by unaware private sector employers.
i. IRS Commissioner Charles O. Rossetti’s admission in a delegated response letter by District Director Joseph Cloonan in which was stated that “There is no law that requires anyone to file a 1040 return.”

j. 26 USC §7851(a)(1)(A) of Subtitle “A” & “Applicability of Revenue Laws” has as the regulation supporting the Federal income tax a regulation 27 CFR Part 24.

   i. This is an ATF regulation pertaining to Wine Production only.

   ii. Also, 1 CFR §21.21(c) prohibits the IRS from cross-referencing to other titles in the Code of Federal Regulations.

k. Subtitle F in 26 USC §7851(a)(6)(A) only goes into effect on the day after the date of enactment of 26 USC. The IRC ended on August 16, 1954 in so far as its applicability toward those private sector American Nationals as stated in 26 CFR §1.0-1 because:

   i. The lack of this implementing regulation being published in the Federal Register.

   ii. 26 CFR §601.702(a)(2)(ii) Effect of Failure to Publish in the Federal Register negates any IRS claim as to 26 USC Special Laws being applicable anywhere but within the United States [defined as in Article 1 Section 8 Clause 17 of the Constitution].

24) IRS Summons is nothing more than a mere “request” which can be ignored according to the U.S. Federal Court of Appeals. They are falsely created under Title 27 by those in the IRS to give the recipient the appearance under Color of Law [by the IRS agent who created it under Color of Office]. Look those terms up in Black’s Law Dictionary and add them to your legal vocabulary. The IRS has no power by Summons to force one to respond or to face repercussions if they choose to ignore the Summons. All this is factual per the U.S. Court of Appeals case cited in the previous chapter.

25) One can use the U.S. Tax Court if there is a “fabricated” IRS Notice Of Deficiency (NOD) created by the IRS. You must specify what your “Request of the Court” concerns while all along understanding that jurisdiction is the key. Jurisdiction is primary as you can easily read in the Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1).

Read the exhibit discussing Matthew A. Fogel in U.S. District Court San Diego, obtained an admission by the United States District Court that such federal courts do not have jurisdiction to hear constitutional issues. The IRS attorney filed the motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction because “federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction, the plaintiff must demonstrate that the court has been authorized to preside over the case either by statute or the constitution.”

The idea is to stay out of these Article IV courts by not submitting to their jurisdiction. In the question of the NOD, if you were to file an amended petition and/or pay the $60 filing fee you would in effect be submitting to that territorial or tribunal court’s jurisdiction.

Maintain your jurisdiction outside that of all Federal courts and by letter ask the court for a Court Order [directed to the IRS] for Dismissal of the NOD for Lack of Jurisdiction.

If you are asked on forms to state your “Domicile, Residence, Permanent Address” you are being tested to see if you understand jurisdiction…WATCH OUT! The goals on those forms are to secure you into some political jurisdiction to which you will be forced to submit.

The correct idea is to have only a “mailing address”. For federal purposes, you can honestly state that you reside in my physical body; therefore you cannot have anything other than a mailing address.
As to Domicile, my home is in Heaven as I am an Ambassador for Christ. While I am in the world presently, I am a “transient foreigner” to all “foreign” [federal] jurisdictions. I intend to return home one day to my true domicile so until that time I am merely “passing through”.

Congratulations, you have completed this important part of your educational journey in American Legal Experience. The facts of the enacted Federal tax law have spoken clearly. The Constitution of the United States of America [ratified 1789], prohibit an income tax being directly placed upon American Nationals [See USSC Pollock v. Farmers Loan & Trust decision in 1895 and the Legislative Intent for it published in the Congressional Record of the U.S. Senate on June 16, 1909].

This is not my opinion but what the laws and federal documentation show and prove. An Amendment can not erase what is basic to the contract that is the Constitution. It can only clarify or address matters not previously addressed. Otherwise the contract has been completely changed contrary to what was originally established.

The United States Supreme Court has supported the prohibiting of an income tax upon American Nationals. The Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment clearly identifies that the federal income tax is applicable to those employed by the National Government, U.S. Corporations, and United States Citizens per the 14th Amendment.

The SSN application [private law contract] includes resident aliens to the previously identified U.S. citizens as listed parties of those imposed with a taxable liability for the Subtitle “A” federal income tax per 26 CFR §301.6109-1 (a).

Those who use the SSN are newly created “federal workers” using federal [public] property and for that benefit they are taxable as they are operating in a representative capacity for the benefit of, and in behalf of, the federal government. All these players have some kind of nexus to their income being derived from being engaged in the conduct of a trade or business in the United States.

Unless you are identified by one of those groups you are “neither the subject nor the object of federal revenue laws”. So says 26 CFR §1.871-1(a) and the Federal Retirement Thrift Savings Plan (T.S.P.) for Non Resident Aliens. Nothing more needs to be said except that you must now prove all these facts to your own satisfaction and any decision is yours and yours alone. Each of us have that responsibility for our decisions.

It has been reported that Benjamin Franklin once stated,

"If a man empties his purse into his head, no one can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."

Money is one of the essentials in life and what you earn each and every day truly belongs to you if you are one who is a non resident alien to all federal jurisdictions and do not engage in the conduct of a trade or business in the United States.

The knowledge you have now obtained provides you with the foundational education, which can make a big difference in securing the needs in your life.

If the money you earn is yours and always has been, the childhood question “Why” may still arise yet again in your thoughts.

“Why has all this happened to Americans?”

It has been said that “If you tell a lie big enough and keep repeating it, people will eventually come to believe it.” Joseph Goebbels, Hitler’s minister of propaganda knew this fact all too well. So do those in the federal government. It is, however, unlikely that we will ever learn all the facts in order to answer such a simple question.

The next step of the journey is up to you. You are at a crossroad in your life. 63 million Americans no longer file or pay a federal income tax according to Commissioner Rossotti in his 1996 letter. The reasons may not all be the same but hopefully for the first time your understanding on this issue is based upon knowledge of enacted federal tax law.

Opinions will vary widely at times but the enacted law you have studied affords you the opportunity to make an informed decision about the law. The enacted federal tax law should give you the strength of conviction that your decision is valid and proper.

Share your newfound knowledge with others who are in need. This is the time to discuss the issues presented and to make decisions based on the knowledge of enacted Federal tax laws and their applicability toward you or not. You are not alone, but your decision is a singular one.

The ultimate tyranny in a society is governmental control by psychological manipulation of consciousness and presumption of "facts" not in existence, through which "reality" is defined so that those who exist within that society [the working man and woman struggling to provide the necessities of life] do not even realize that they are in prison.

Be patient with those to whom your new knowledge has not been imparted. Try to encourage them to understand what Herbert Spencer, British Philosopher, once stated,

"There is a principle which is a bar against all information, which can not fail to keep man in everlasting ignorance – that principle is 'contempt' prior to investigation."

You are no doubt proud to be an American. Also, perhaps you are grateful to those forefathers for the inheritance they provided to all American Nationals via the Constitution of the United States of America, which serves to protect our God-given Rights and limits the authority of the National Government.

However, if the Constitution is indeed dead, then that changes the political and social fabric this nation was established on. If that be the case then you better have a contingency plan to live quietly and mind our own business in another country.

Many will not do so but again that is their choice and only the singular individual can make decisions that impact their lives in such a significant manner. This author has made his decision and is no longer “passing through” the USA. Better to be proactive and wrong than to be reactive, wrong, and trying to figure a way out as the doors are closing.

Now is the time to study the material. Prove everything to your own satisfaction. My effort in writing this educational document was to be sincere and sincerely correct. However, you should take no one’s word for anything. Prove everything to your own satisfaction. Errors can occur and assumptions must be avoided. Be diligent. Do your own investigation. Go to what I call “professional education web sites” that can increase your knowledge.

The effort behind this work was to help others develop a foundation upon which to build knowledge in this field. My intent was to provide educational [nonfactual speech] research based on the law and to discuss my beliefs and opinions in a forum that may not long be permitted.
Chapter 20: Correcting Information Returns & What to Do Next

1 Repeating yet again, you must understand that you should not take my word for any of what you have read but rather take the time to see if what was presented can be validated. After that effort draw your own conclusions and make your own free will choice as how to conduct your affairs of life.

2 The truth will set you free but there will be a price to pay as liberty is not free. The law shows the truth based on legal facts but it is up to each reader to determine what truth they choose to apply to their own lives. May God richly bless you and your family.

3 I leave you with this quote to ponder in your reflections on this great subject.

4 “Government is like a fire, useful in the fireplace, but if it get out of its place, it will consume everything you own.”

5 [George Washington, First President of the United States]
Chapter 21: The Search for Individual Liberty

Quote to Contemplate:

“The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They recognized the significance of man’s spiritual nature, of his feelings, and his intellect. They know that only a part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things.

They sought to protect Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the Government, the right to be let alone, - - the most comprehensive of rights, and the right most valued by civilized men.”

[U.S. Supreme Court Justice Lewis D. Brandeis, Olmstead v. U.S., 277 U.S. 438 (1928)]

After all the reading, some authors do little to provide any practical applications to consider applying to ones’ life. So let’s change that and share some ideas that might be of interest. Try to think of other ideas once you finish the reading.

I would argue that anyone who desires to be a sovereign with privacy in America must first arrange their business affairs so that their name appears on NOTHING! That means homes, personal vehicles, and even rescinding the SSN [for those who have been using them without the understanding of what is going on] as voidable ab initio. Obviously, banking in any of the 50 states of the Union is, in this author’s opinion, a “verboten” act. That is unless you want to be identified as a “public officer” by opening an FDIC bank account. 31 CFR §202.2

Today in America one must be extremely private in their business affairs if one is to achieve the goal of functioning like a sovereign portrayed in the Declaration of Independence. One of the best ways to do that is so that the government and other curious parties consider you merely a tourist.

This author is a “PT” which is to say a “Perpetual Traveler”. Obviously, there are other terms that can express similar concept to the idea of “PT”. It could stand for “Proactive Thinker”, “Prepared Totally”, “Possibility Thinker”, “Permanent Traveler”, “Permanent Tourist”, “Practically Transparent”, or even “Prior Taxpayer”. A lot of creative expressions can define the “PT” but it basically one who is just “Passing Through”.

If you think about it, there is a strong advantage in being a “PT” so that government officials view the individual who is a “PT” as one who is merely “Parked Temporarily”, and thus that individual is not subjected to taxation of any significance, military service, or lawsuits considered worth their time when there is no tangible asset base to attack. The PT will not be persecuted for his/her beliefs or lack of them as are most citizens under a government program.

The individual who is a PT can choose to stay in one place most of the time, part of the time, or in some situations all the time. PT is a way of life, a way of perceiving your place in the earth and the time you spend in each place. The idea behind PT is for the individual to enjoy a liberty unknown to many and secure privacy by minding your own business quietly and causing no harm to your neighbor where ever you may be.

As each of us grew up in our society, we slowly became “aware” that for too long we were “unaware of our being unaware”. This understanding arose as we discovered the game of life unfolding with surprises. The rules were simple when we were children and many were standing stunned by our malentendu of what we thought life was about. The rules became more complex and political. Soon we discovered that governments really do not have our best interest but only spout their propaganda which we believed for a season in our childlike state of “unawareness”.

Chapter 21: The Search for Individual Liberty

The awakening for me came with the realities of war and military service that was thrust upon me by some force beyond my control. I followed the flow of society and its rules for too many years until the death toll and financial drain shook me out of my being “unaware”. I was exhausted and exasperated by all of it and felt the hopelessness of life expressed by Paul Newman in the movie “The Verdict”. That was when I finally started recognizing my desire for the paradigm shift to think critically and truly pursue the happiness and liberty expressed in the scriptures.

Speaking for a moment in a material sense only, we all face financial needs to maintain our existence. [Please understand my temporary focus here does not change my dominate understanding that the abundance and fulfillment in life does not come by material things as “we do not live by bread alone but by every word that comes from our Heavenly Father” …in whom I love and celebrate my true existence.]

The Constitutional Republic was begun with the simplest [and yet most complex] of issues that affect all people; Taxation! Taxes, which are a burden to most, are actually a benefit to the CPAs and Tax Attorneys. For many years I thought I was living in the best of all possible worlds [the USA] at the best of all possible times and yet I became aware of the oppression and tyranny of national government.

I discovered that I had the “PT” mentality all along but was not living the PT life and I realized how intolerable living by society’s rules was for me. Thus, I began my educational journey about taxation and how to live as a PT.

My reality was that I was successful but nothing came easy. It was a struggle as I worked on the government and corporate stage of “what have you done for me today”? Asking questions never solved the issue. In fact, I was considered a loner, an outsider, not a team player. But I could not any longer say “How high?” when I was told to “Jump”. Happiness is a state of mind after all and my reality may not be similar to yours. But I worked hard for my money and all I asked was some rather basic questions only to be rebuffed and viewed with skepticism.

Consider this reality: In Joseph Stalin’s time, nobody could deny that from a personal liberty and material point of view, Stalin himself (materially at least) had it pretty good -- even though no one else in the Soviet Union lived as well as he did.

But I venture to guess that if we asked him in 1950 if he was happy, he’d disregard the material aspect to focus on the fact that his life and the political system he ran was in constant danger. He survived only by deporting, jailing and murdering a few million of his perceived or real enemies every year.

Today in Russia, there is a new system offering greater economic opportunity and personal liberty. There are lots of newly rich Russians who for the first time in 50 years have the legal right to engage in commerce, travel and freely communicate with foreigners. At the same time, in modern Russia, there is also more personal danger to the non-political guy on the street from violent criminals, and from economic uncertainty.

For those in any society, there is the goal of stability, security and prosperity while encouraging some sense of individual liberty or initiative but always in context of a balancing act. Perfection in society does not exist so governments continually tinker with laws to maintain their perceptions of reality and use their propaganda experts to encourage others to accept it as the norm for that society.

Trend analysis is of particular interest to me and that helps determine my next strategy in my journey as a PT. As you can tell, a PT by definition is one who is a free thinker compared to those who prefer a highly regulated and heavily taxed society. In countries like the United States of America the government “tinkers” are actively at work. A greater percentage of its population is incarcerated than in other “less free” societies. More and more are being jailed for smaller offenses which lead to a decline in personal liberty. Reportedly, 250,000 Americans leave the USA annually because of it.
Chapter 21: The Search for Individual Liberty

As in Germany in the late 1930s and through the end of WWII, few people complained about the incarceration of the varieties of categories of “bad [politically incorrect] people” that those on the outside did not feel that they fit into. Merely asking questions could cause them to fit into the “undesirable classification” and so probing questions were not discussed in public and ever so quietly even among friends. Personal liberty declined rapidly in that atmosphere.

So the question arises, “How do I cope as a PT?” “How does one secure a better lifestyle with material benefits” in a socialistic society like America?” . has become is a very real question for many Americans today. Perhaps the first thing to figure out is to ask yourself “What kind of behavior is being rewarded in the country where you live and what kind of behavior is being punished?”

Once you identify the answer, take the road less traveled by to make more money or whatever it is you think you need while avoiding the activities or behavior that would get you into trouble with the establishment. If you can’t exist comfortably where you are or achieve your aspirations where you live then look for opportunities elsewhere in the world. Consider a physical relocation to where you perceive greater opportunities exist. Choose the location that fits your needs best.

For those who have read Karl Marx and his ten planks to his “Communist Manifesto” you see all too clearly that most of them are in full force and effect in the USA.

Take a look at the ten planks for a moment and consider what you see in “Amerika” today in regard to the impact of Government control:

1. Abolition of Private Property – some will argue and I will give ground here but try maintaining your home and property from the tax man and his tax liens if you do not pay his annual property tax. Folks, there is no true “allodial title” to land any more in the USA.
2. Heavy Progressive Income Tax – you have already read the facts on this matter and there is no doubt about this as a fact for most who do not understand how to exist outside this communist tool.
3. Abolition of all rights of inheritance – you ever heard of “inheritance tax”? Is it just a precursor? Time will tell.
4. Confiscation of property of all immigrants and rebels – this one is up in the air so no insight just yet on this one.
5. Central Bank – you know that Andrew Jackson fought against the U.S. Bank in his administration. However, today the Federal Reserve is the Central Bank.
6. Government Control of Communications and Transportation – Try the FCC, the FAA…can you board a flight today without going past “government” screeners? Any idea about all the acres of Cray Computers the NSA uses to listen in on your “private” voice, fax, email, & wire communications?
7. Government ownership of factories and agriculture – Certainly you have heard of the FDA. Remember anything about the CAFR and what the government does with all those funds? They invest them and become owners of the corporations without anyone being the wiser.
8. Government Control of Labor – Not quite the same that occurred in the former Soviet Union but what percentage of private employers will hire you without a SSN or your signing an IRS Form W-4 or garnishing your “wages” with an IRS levy.
9. Corporate Farms & Regional Planning – this one is up in the air so no insight just yet on this one. Who are the majority stockholders in ADM?
10. Government Control of Education – All local school boards exists on the hand outs from the federal government in spite of all the “property taxes” that are taken from Americans to support this educational system.
Chapter 21: The Search for Individual Liberty

There is room to disagree but you have to admit that the potential is there. What if you did some investigation on this yourself? Would you feel “comfortable” asking questions of the government leaders on these issues? What do you think the attitude of the officials being questioned on these matters would be toward you? Do you see any relationship to the Straussian Economic Philosophy of the elites in the above planks?

In some countries, entrepreneurs are richly rewarded, but we see less and less of that existing in the United States [constitutional republic] than ever in its history. You should match your personality and skills to an environment that appreciates your contributions.

This is where a wise PT starts to shine. Identify several countries or cities where your favorite diversions are socially acceptable so that you will not create any offense and wind up in jail. The key is to go to those locations where you can legally and openly do what you love doing so that you are free from adverse societal rules.

Make it a goal to obtain more than one passport and to maintain an open mind. This will make a critical difference to your quality of life. You just don’t want to be considered by any society you are “Passing Through” as being a “bad person” with your lifestyle choices which are not criminal but at odds with the social customs of a country you might be considering. What is freedom in one country might make you a “bad person” or a slave in another. Look over your needs and perceptions and choose wisely.

For me, my PT ethos defines an ideal place to live is where I pay little or no taxes, don’t have to risk getting my head shot off in any war, encourages alternative energy applications for housing and travel needs, excellent museums, decent roads, as well as first class French and Chinese restaurants.

Unless you are an American, you need not renounce citizenship or trouble yourself with the need for dual passports. European PTs can live indefinitely and invisibly in any other European country. As one who is perceived by local law enforcement and bureaucrats as “just passing through” you can enjoy the PT lifestyle.

However, you must be private and not talkative to others you meet. I call this the “European PT Mindset”, which means that you mind your own business, keep a low profile, and avoid trouble. If you talk about your self to others, use the European method of conversation which is politely share your thoughts on the cuisine, the coffee, the weather, and your enjoyment of a good glass of wine. Make no expressions of interest in politics or worldly matters that would have local ramifications. Don’t discuss where you have lived and why you are currently in that country.

If you get the sense that things are changing in the location you are at, then pack up and move to another location. If you have property in a country, own it in the name of an entity but never in your own name. That way if you leave, it can be sold and the funds wired to any bank in the world.

To be a successful PT, your activities involved in your PT lifestyle must be a closely guarded secret. Maintain the “European PT Mindset” at all times. If you are an American you more than likely tend to talk too much. Just zip your lip and taste the delights as a PT.

Even family members can have differences in their lifestyle choices. Thus, not everyone in the world can be or should choose to be a PT. If you enjoy the public limelight, having your picture in the local newspapers, working in an office all day then this is probably not an option for you. To me time is short so I want to travel, learn multiple foreign languages, meet new people, and develop new skills to enrich my life.

So how much does this PT lifestyle cost? How much money do you need to get started?

First of all, modify your appearance to the world. If you enjoy baubles then enjoy them in private. Do not show off as that only draws unwanted attention to your portable wealth. Wear clothes that are nice and comfortable but not so elegant that everyone in a crowd sees you. If you really want to blend in, then wear oversized or baggy clothes to make your like just an “average guy”.

Second, drive dependable vehicles or if you insist on the luxury, only drive the middle of the road variety. Avoid the €150,000+ luxury cars that really draw attention as you pass by. Pay cash for the cars and register them in the name of a foreign entity such as a trust or IBC in which you have the power of attorney. Drive it for 5 to 8 years before trading it. Better choice would be the inexpensive Smart Car. Figure that most cars are depreciating to the point that there is little to no residual value at the end of your use of it.

If you must drive a Ferrari, try renting one for a weekend and if anyone asks you about it you can reply that it is something you considered doing as a special treat for a wedding anniversary or some other special event. If you must buy those toys, take them on a road trip but don’t increase your visibility by using it to drive down to the local pub. Garage them and don’t leave them out in the open in front of your home.

To answer how much money you will need you should have enough net worth that will enable you to live off the interest or have a portable occupation that allows you to earn money as you travel devoid of any licenses or permits.

Work at your home or take your work with you on your PC laptop and enjoy coffee and bread cakes while you work. Find a way to earn money on the internet free from others and their control. Investing is an excellent method. Successful traders can make enough each month to buy a new Mercedes S Class by working about 4 hours a day. Certainly covers all the expenses. Whatever you do with your possessions, keep it moderate and don’t be a prisoner of them.

In your planning do not disclose your intentions to anyone especially in your home country. Avoid dealing with lawyers, accountants, or political contacts you might have associated with in the past. You basically want to divorce yourself from the system you are leaving behind.

Best not to bank in the same area you live. Build a small number of credit cards in banks located in different countries so that your transactions are private in the location you are living in.

Where ever the road of life takes you, find happiness in each day. Be kind to others and when appropriate give what you can to others. If it is money, do it without fanfare and do it anonymously. The journey may be a bumpy road at times but don’t let that affect your attitude. Spend time with the things that bring you joy where you are… and make the most of each day. Be generous to others by sharing your time or a kind word.

Maintain your “giving” as a private effort. Zip your lip and do not discuss anything with anyone except the weather and good food. Keep smiling and keep the faith. All things are possible to those who choose to believe.

A humorous way of expressing this idea is:

“Three can keep a secret and protect your privacy... only if two of them are dead.”
DECLARATION OF STATUS BY CONTRACTUAL AGREEMENT

Be it known to all who read this presentment that this Declaration of Status declares the following to be facts without option to be disputed, negated, or later challenged.

I agree, without reservation, declare that by attaching my name and signature that I ______________________________ [print you full legal birth name legibly] am an American National by birth or naturalization and have no federal domicile, or legal address, permanent address, or residence within any federal jurisdiction consisting of U.S. Territories, military installations, federal buildings, national parks, the District of Columbia or other insular possessions of the National Government now referenced by the term “Federal Zone”.

Furthermore, I declare that I do not derive any “income” from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” [federal franchise] within the “United States”.

I personally declare that:

1. I am a “nonresident alien” to all federal jurisdiction(s) [defined at 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(B)] and truly am one who is a “transient foreigner” on the earth.

2. I am a “stateless person” within the meaning of 28 USC §1332(a) immune from the jurisdiction of the federal courts, which are all Article IV territorial/tribunal courts with jurisdiction only within the District of Columbia and no where else per 4 USC §72 with the singular exception of the U.S. Virgin Islands per 48 USC §1612.

3. I am a reasonable, responsible, patriotic, and open-minded individual who simply wants an honest and accountable government that diligently obey and respects the Constitution, enacted positive law, and does not try to enforce that which is not enacted positive law [at all times]. Every American National expects and deserves a government that respects the requirement for “consent” in every interaction between it and its inhabitants, including in the area of taxation. The reason is that the Declaration of Independence says that all just powers of government are based on the “consent of the governed”. Where there is no explicit, written, informed consent, there is no authority and nothing but tyranny and injustice. Because the national government is not respecting these limits on its authority, then I cannot and will not subdize or condone or aid any efforts which would conflict with these objectives with my earnings or my labor or my tacit consent or obedience.

“If money is wanted by Rulers who have in any manner oppressed the people, they may retain it until their grievances are redressed and thus peaceably procure relief without trusting to despised petitions or disturbing the public tranquility.”
[Continental Congress, 1774; Am. Pol. 233; Journals of the Continental Congress, October 26, 1774]

4. I am NOT:
   a. A “U.S. Citizen” as defined by the Federal Government in 8 USC §1401 and who is the only type of “citizen” who is the object of the Internal Revenue Code under 26 CFR §1.1-1(c).
   b. A U.S. “resident” as defined by the Federal Government under 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(A). All “residents” are “aliens” in the IRC, and I am NOT an “alien” and neither is a “non-resident alien” an “alien”.
   c. A “U.S. Person” as defined at 26 USC §7701(a)(30).
   d. An “individual” with any earnings “effectively connected with a trade or business in the United States” under 26 USC §871(b).
e. Federal “employee” as defined at 26 USC §3401(c) and 26 CFR §31.3401(c)-1.

f. A person with any contracts in place, agency, or fiduciary duty with the federal government. Such contracts include but are not limited to the W-4, 1040, or SS-5 federal forms.

g. One who conducts commerce or engages in a federal franchise with the national government.

Instead, my earnings and all of my property is a “foreign estate” as described in 26 USC §7701(a)(31) and not subject to the jurisdiction of the Internal Revenue Code. I am a Secured Party to the Constitution as I do not live within the exclusive or general jurisdiction of the National Government but temporarily occupy (but not “reside” or “inhabit” within) the 50 states of the Union. As such, the Special Law found in Title 26 does not apply to me. This fact is confirmed by the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment written by former President of the United States William H. Taft on June 16, 1909 and promulgated in the Congressional Record of the United States Senate on pages 3344-3345.

I understand that it is the policy of the provider of educational material [which is the function of the ministry services] does not provide legal advice or representation, but instead teaches and empowers sovereign people themselves to manage their own legal affairs without the involvement of either the ministry or the corrupted legal profession.

“The words people of the United States and citizens are synonymous terms and mean the same thing. They both describe the political body who according to our republican institutions from the sovereignty and who hold the power and conduct the government through their representatives. They are what we familiarly call the ‘sovereign people’ and every citizen is one of this people, and a constituent member of this sovereignty....”

[Boyd v. State of Nebraska, 143 U.S. 135 (1892)]

As a sovereign individual, I hereby state that I am formally declaring, to any and all interested parties, the following based upon my understanding of enacted federal law regarding Subtitle “A” of the federal income tax.

A. The Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment [which is published in the Congressional Record of the United States Senate on pages 3344-3345] is the foundational document behind the 16th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. From this federal public document there can be no doubt as to the authenticity and expressions stipulated by the former President of the United States William H. Taft.

B. President Taft stated in the Legislative Intent of the 16th Amendment that the federal income tax was, as recommended to the United States Congress, levied only upon the National Government. Therefore, those individuals who make up the National Government are Federal Officers, Federal Employees, and Elected Officials of the Federal Government are the only proper “taxpayers”.

C. The jurisdiction to which Subtitle “A” of the Internal Revenue Code is made applicable upon is:

a. The “federal zone” which is to say the District of Columbia, U.S. Territories, and other insular possessions belonging to the National Government.

b. Admiralty jurisdiction, which is the territorial waters of the United States.

c. Those with a “legal domicile” within the federal zone, including statutory “citizens of the United States” under 8 USC §1401 or “residents” under 26 USC §7701(b)(1)(A). Since I am not a domiciliary of the federal zone, then the provisions found in 26 USC §911 do not apply to me.
The reason for this was stated by President Taft in regard to the United States Supreme Court decision in Pollock v. Farmer’s Loan & Trust case proving that the federal government does not have the power or the authority granted to it by the Constitution to impose an income tax upon the now 50 states of the Union. The federal income tax is not applicable outside the limited jurisdiction stipulated in the above section (C) (a thru d).

D. The power to tax is the power to destroy! It is repulsive and contrary Constitutional design for that which was created [the federal government] to become [be proclaimed] superior to its creator [We The People].

“The power to tax involves the power to destroy; the power to destroy may defeat and render useless the power to create; and there is a plain repugnance in conferring on one government [the Federal Government] a power to control the constitutional measures of another [We The People], which other, with respect to those very measures, is declared to be supreme over that which exerts the control.”

[Van Brocklin v. State of Tennessee, 117 U.S. 151 (1886)]

The People created the sovereign states of the Union and through those initial states of the Union, the federal government was created. That which was created can only be destroyed by that which created it.

“What is a constitution? It is the form of government, delineated by the might hand of the people, in which certain first principles of fundamental laws are established. The Constitution is certain and fixed; it contains the permanent will of the People, and is the supreme law of the land; its is paramount to the power of the Legislature, and ca be revoked or altered only by the authority that made it. The life-giving principle and the death-doing stroke must proceed from the same hand.”

[VanHorne’s Lessee Dorrance, 2 U.S. 304 (1795)].

“The great principle is this; because the constitution will not permit a state to destroy, it will not permit a law [including a tax law] involving the power to destroy.”

[Providence Bank v. Billings, 29 U.S. 514, (1830)]

As I am one of “We The People” then the federal government, as expressed by the decisions of the United States Supreme Court per the Constitution of the United States, was created by the People. As proclaimed by the founding fathers to the Constitution, God, Our Heavenly Father, created all life. The government did not create the People and therefore it is devoid of moral authority to directly destroy or undermine the sovereignty of those the People.

“Having thus avowed my disapprobation of the purposes, for which the terms, State and sovereign, are frequently used, and of the object, to which the application of the last of them is almost universally made; it is now proper that I should disclose the meaning, which I assign to both, and the application [2 U.S. 419,455] which I make of the latter. In doing this, I shall have occasion incidentally to evince, how true it is, that States and Governments were made for [and by] man; and at the same time, how true it is that his creatures and servants have first deceived, next vilified and, at last, oppressed their master and maker.”

[Justice Wilson, Chisholm v. Georgia, 2 Dall. (2 U.S.) 419, L.Ed. 440, 455 (1793)]

Thus, the federal government has no authority to impose the Subtitle “A” income tax directly upon “We The People” domiciled within the states of the Union without apportionment, unless they provide the individual, informed consent in writing and thereby contract away [by waiver] their Constitutional inghts.

Instead, it can tax only those who volunteer or choose, absent duress, to make themselves subject to the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code by voluntarily entering into federal employment or conducting a “trade or business” or other voluntary excise taxable activity.

E. Since 1939, the Internal Revenue Code has been repealed [per 53 Stat. 1, Section 4] and is not now enacted into positive law. This is confirmed by examining the Legislative Notes under 1 USC §204. Neither have I seen a tax case where the government as the moving party has ever been required by any court to prove that a section of the IRC they were citing as authority was positive law. This is an obvious violation of the Constitutional requirement for due process of law as well as a violation of my religious beliefs, which say in Number 15:30 that “presumption” is a sin.
“Presumption” and “Due Process” are mutually exclusive conditions, in fact. Consequently, Subtitle “A” of the IRC is nothing but a repealed “code” and not an enacted positive law. It is the “bible” for a state-sponsored religious cult. Therefore, it is an official, state-sponsored religion based on usually false “presumption” which is observed only by those who voluntarily consent to join it can be bound by it. My beliefs prohibit me from joining such a damaging, socialist cult.

F. There are no Implementing Regulations published in the Federal Register which impose the federal income tax upon American Nationals a.k.a. Non-resident aliens to all federal jurisdiction(s), of which I am one. The requirement upon the IRS to publish any obligation is found at 5 USC §552(a)(1), 5 USC §553(a)(2), 26 CFR §601.702(a)(1), 31 CFR §1.3(a)(4), and 44 USC §1505(a).
The Effect of Failure to Publish in the Federal Register is found at 26 CFR §601.702(a)(2)(ii). It is my understanding from a legal opinion letter written by Michael L. White, Federal Attorney, Office of the Federal Register, that there are no Implementing Regulations which have been imposed upon American Nationals any obligation for the Subtitle “A” federal income tax who are not first federal employees and have identified their Domicile or Tax Home in the District of Columbia a.k.a the United States per 26 USC §7408(d).

Neither can any of these requirements be waived in my case, because I neither consent to be a “taxpayer” nor do I have any income “effectively connected with the conduct of a “trade or business” [which is a public office in the United States Government as required by 26 CFR §1.1-
I(a)(2)(ii)] within the United States.”

Neither do I have any income from the “United States” under 26 USC §871(a) that is not connected with a “trade or business”. Therefore, my entire estate is classified as a “foreign estate” not subject to the Internal Revenue Code as defined in 26 USC §7701(a)(31).

G. The meaning of the word “income” both at the time the 16th Amendment was ratified and now means “corporate profit”, an that I am not a corporation or legal fiction called a “person” who is the proper subject of Subtitle “A” of the Internal Revenue Code.

“Income has been taken to mean the same thing as used in the Corporation Excise Tax Act of 1909 in the 16th Amendment, and in the various revenue acts subsequently passed.”

I have come to the determination that I am one who is OUTSIDE the jurisdictional application for the federal income taxes expressed in Subtitle “A” , Subtitle “B” and Subtitle “C” by all the above and other information not mentioned. This conclusion was reached by me independently and voluntarily. I am a “NONTAXPAYER” based upon enacted federal law and as such am neither of the subject nor the object of federal revenue laws. I would like further education and assistance from others in protecting my rights and my property as a person who has such legal status. I am being compelled to pursue this education and participation in the ministry not only because the IRS and [in some cases state taxing authorities] won’t help or educate “non taxpayers” but instead act in a self-serving manner by refusing to even acknowledge their existence in violation of 18 USC §208. I believe that this kind of bad faith behavior is a violation of equal protection of the laws and a breach of fiduciary duty under the Constitution by our public servants.

The main and only reason I am involving this ministry is to help me get educated about my God-given rights and how to defend them. The main reason I have to take personal responsibility for defending my rights in this way is because the government has refused its duty under the Constitution to do so. Therefore, the Master must do what the servant is maliciously unwilling to do. Below are what a few prominent authorities say about the virtues of education, and the constitutionally protected Free Assembly which is based upon:

“Only the educated are free.”
[Epictetus, Discourses]

“Knowledge will forever govern ignorance and people who mean to be their own governors, must arm themselves with the power which knowledge gives.”
[James Madison]

“...the greatest menace to freedom is an inert [passive, ignorant, and uneducated] people [who refuse, as jurists, and voters and active citizens, to expose and punish evil in our government.”
[Whitney v. California, 274 U.S. 357 (1927)]

“The American people have always regarded education and acquisition of knowledge as matters of supreme importance which should be diligently promoted [in order to maintain and protect their liberty]. The Ordinance of 1787 declares: Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness [and liberty] of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged.”
[Meyer v. State of Nebraska, 262 U.S. 390 (1923)]

“And you shall teach them ordinances and laws [of both God and man] and shall show them the way wherein they must walk, and the work [of obedience to God] that they must do.”
[Exodus 18:20]

My [God’s] people are destroyed [and enslaved] for a lack of knowledge [and the lack of education that produces it].”
[Hosea 4:6]

The only thing I will use the information and education for that are provided by the ministry is to Petition the Government for a Redress of Grievances of wrongs against my life, liberty, property, and family, which is a protected right under the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America. This is a lawful purpose so that it can never be said that either I nor the ministry are engaging in unlawful activity subject to any penalty or other unconstitutional “Bill of Attainder”.

I understand that it is not the mission or goal of the ministry to make legal recommendations or judgments about my status as a “non-taxpayer”. I further understand that the ministry does not condone violation of any lawfully imposed duty and does not support evasion of a tax liability. I understand that the ministry does not offer any assistance to those who are legally or voluntarily identified as “taxpayers”. Such parties will, of their own free will actions, be directed to the government websites for their information that pertains to them and are encouraged to fulfill their obligation(s).
I understand that only I, under the Internal Revenue Code, and not the IRS [see Internal Revenue Manual (I.R.M.), Section 5.111.6.8 and 26 USC §6020(b) nor the courts of the government [see 28 USC §2201(a)] nor anyone in government, may determine whether I as a tripartite being am “liable” for the Subtitle “A” income tax stipulated in the Internal Revenue Code. This is a result of the fact that “Our tax system is based upon voluntary [self] assessment and payment, and not upon distraint” according to the United States Supreme Court in Flora v. United States, 362 U.S. 145 (1959).

“A reasonable construction of the taxing statutes does not include vesting any tax official with absolute power of assessment against individual not specified in the statutes as a person liable for the tax without an opportunity for judicial review of this status before the appellation of “taxpayer” is bestowed upon them and their property is seized....” [Botta v. Scanlon, 288 F.2d. 504, 508 (1961)]

I understand that if I am ever to achieve the status of being a “sovereign” individual, then I must be willing and able to:

1. Educate myself as education is primary to understanding the law regarding the federal income tax.
2. Refuse to accept the vain and self-serving edicts of a judge or lawyer [who in most cases have illegal conflicts of interest in violation of 28 USC §144, 28 USC §455, and 18 USC §208] to tell me what the law says, but instead to read it for myself and reach my own conclusions.
3. Trust my own education when I am reading and researching the law for myself.
4. As a free moral agent, I take complete and personal and exclusive responsibility for myself in all aspects of my conclusions and decisions as a result of my educational pursuits. I must take exclusive and personal responsibility for myself because the tyranny we face on the part of the government at present was created mainly by the government exploiting the human weakness to evade responsibility.
5. Apply what I have learned about the law to my specific situation and then to confidently challenge those who would question my conclusions by demanding that they prove me wrong by their presentment of Implementing Regulations published in the Federal Register to demonstrate the law and the facts properly and correctly.
6. Insist that those in government service are not above the law but are mere servants to their Master, We The People. Therefore, the servants must carry the Burden of Proof and any refutable proof must be reliable, probative, and substantial which is what an Implementing Regulation published in the Federal Register accomplishes.

H. Tax Returns and government correspondence

I understand that the ministry does not prepare or assist in the preparation of tax returns of any kind. Instead, if I file a return it is entirely my decision and responsibility should I choose to do so. At that time, I will no longer be able to participate in any educational material or education from this ministry.

There are other websites, like www.sedm.org, which have MODIFIED or SUBSTITUTE forms for 1040NR et al. As a free moral agent, I can use their forms if I choose but I understand that I will no longer be able to participate in any educational material or education from this separate and distinct ministry.

In the event of receiving government correspondence inferring that my private sector non-federal earnings were mistakenly presumed, by Tax Class 5 information returns [for example, Forms W-2, W-4, 1099, 1098, etc], to have created a nexus or contract with the federal government as one being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the “United States” that I will rebut such claims immediately by responding to IRS correspondence in order to correct the IRS presumption.
I also agree to:

1. Resign as a Compelled Social Security Trustee and the form “Resignation of Compelled Social Security Trustee, Form #06.002” at http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm will be a format to consider in accomplishing this task.

2. Provide to the state and federal government legal notice that I have legally divorced them and changed my domicile to the Kingdom of Heaven, which is here and now on this earth. “Legal Notice of Change in Domicile/Citizenship Records and Divorce from the United States, Form #10.001.” This information is available at http://sedm.org/Forms/FormIndex.htm will be a format to consider in accomplishing this task.

I will never again put any identifying number, whether it is an SSN, TIN, or EIN on any correspondence or notice bearing an identifying number allegedly associated with me. I will dispute the number and renounce any connection as Trustee or fiduciary or beneficiary to any government program, entitlement, or benefit. I will do this because I will not accept the Mark of the Beast.

I. Withholding

I agree from this point forward not to voluntarily submit IRS Form W-4 or the equivalent state form to my private sector, non-federal employer except under duress because I am not an “employee” under the Internal Revenue Code and I do not consent to call my earnings “wages” as referenced in 26 USC §3402(p) and 26 CFR §31.3401(a)-3.

I will instead use a modified IRS Form W-8BEN to control my withholding and submit it using the instructions contained in the pamphlet on www.sedm.org website entitled Federal and State Withholding options for Private Employers. If I give my private employer anything, it will be to request termination of withholding as either an affidavit or a W-8BEN.

The only circumstance where this requirement may be waived is any of the following:

1. My private employer threatens to fire me or not hire me for failure to submit an IRS Form W-4 indicating that I am under duress using the attachments provided in the pamphlet Federal and State Withholding options for Private Employers.

2. My private employer directs me unlawfully to use the wrong form or not to use the attachments provided and I feel threatened about losing my job and unable to sue him as he rightfully deserves. In that case, I will file an Amended/Corrected/Substitute IRS Form 4852 at the end of the year zeroing out his fraudulent income reports and leaving the IRS with no evidence upon which to base an assessment. I will use the directions located below for that purpose:

J. Prohibited Activities

As a member, I agree never to use any of the Ministry materials for an unlawful purpose, and agree never at any time to solicit the Ministry to engage in any of the following specifically prohibited activities or use Ministry materials for any of the following purposes.

a. Offering information or assistance to “Taxpayers”, “U.S. citizens”, U.S. residents, or those with income “effectively connected with a trade or business in the United States”. There is no assumption of responsibility by the author or the Ministry for the misuse of material by persons who violate this Member Agreement.
b. Offering information or assistance to anyone who has filed a 1040 instead of the Substitute for Return Form 1040NR or those who have indicated any tax liability or monies owed to the IRS on their return for any period they require help with. No member may have any earnings which are “effectively connected with a “trade or business”, which are earnings from a public office as described in 26 USC §7701(a)(26) and 4 USC §72.

c. Getting in any kind of taxable or government regulated activity, either under state or federal law. This would simply comprise our independence and create a conflict of interest with our message. Consequently, we cannot and will not operate as a privileged federal or state “corporation” or 501(c)(3) entity. To do so would be to surrender our sovereignty by fulfilling the exceptions to the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act found at 28 USC §1605(a)(2).

d. Advocating or knowingly [willfully] engaging in any kind of illegal activity, including fraud.

e. Taking any kind of leadership or power of attorney role over the lives of others. This includes, giving legal advice, making determinations about the legal status of a person, or assuming legal liability for the decisions or actions of others. As educators and paralegals but not lawyers, the most we can do is offer information to people about options they have in a given situation and then explain to them the consequences of each option by showing them what the law and the courts say on the subject. We will never offer less than two options and we will always suggest that the options we are aware of may not include all of the options available or necessarily even the best option. We will also tell members of this Agreement that the decision of which option to take is entirely their responsibility and not ours. On the occasion of every inquiry by a member to this Agreement, we will also tell people that they should research and confirm everything we say and not trust anyone, including us, for complete or error free information about the options available to them. We will never be anything more than servants of the sovereign People we serve and assuming any other role undermines their sovereignty.

f. Preparing tax returns for others or advising anyone in the preparation of returns will not occur.

g. Making any promises or assurances about either the accuracy or the success of any of the educational resources or processes offered will not occur. Anyone who promises you any result or promises you entirely error free material is quite honestly not to be completely truthful. This is especially true in a field so deliberately and systematically obfuscated and propagandized by the government as taxation. The most we are authorized to do is keep scientific statistics on the success of our methods and reveal those carefully maintained statistics to interested parties. This ministry does not authorize anyone to share subjective opinions about the effectiveness of our methods or materials. Any such representations by anyone should be considered unauthorized, untrustworthy, and probably untrue and we can not be made liable for such clearly false statements.

h. There still remains a high probability that the government will attempt persecution because of our educational information. This eventuality arises where power is consolidated and centralized which causes an attraction to wicked and perverse people who lust for power and want to conceal knowledge of their treacherous, selfish and tyrannical acts for fear of a catalytic action by the nature of the information provided. Governments throughout world history have repeatedly demonstrated that those in authority positions want to control power over others, increase money into their coffers, and influence via intimidation a population to protect their lies.

K. Representing anyone before the IRS or the government for any purpose or reason.

Any member to this Agreement shall assume complete and sole responsibility for preparing and submitting any correspondence that they may send to government authorities. That is the only way to maintain our anonymity and prevent those who would prefer to persecute us for providing the educational information presented. Otherwise, we become targets of wrongful and illegal government persecution. No different than that which occurred against all who present truth that is opposed to the current political climate of the time in which one lives. Thus, the reference to Galileo and the paradigm shift he created in his time. There is nothing new under the sun when governments act.

L. Advertising or marketing.

All of our non-taxpayer [American Nationals a.k.a. nonresident aliens who do not derive their earnings from being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the “United States”] member will be introduced by referrals from other satisfied members. We will not offer any kind of affiliate program or commission structure to anyone because we believe this compromises the integrity of our message.

M. Providing information or education materials or services of any kind to businesses.

This Ministry provides educational information only “tripartite beings” and not legal fictions [businesses] such as corporations, trusts, or partnerships.

N. There is no offer to create, or administer any kind or type of credit repair services, debt cancellation using UCC, corporation soles, trusts, asset protection, or bogus securities such as use of “bills of exchange”.

O. There is no commerce within the legislative jurisdiction of the United States Government. All donations [should there be any] to this educational ministry will occur via eCommerce on a web server and using bank accounts that are outside jurisdiction of the government of the United States.

P. Use of donations provided goes directly to support the activities or information that they were incident to. This means, for instance, that if a donation is made for a response letter, then the donation may not be used directly for preparing response letters but will be used for other purposes.

Q. Those who are taxpayers and have a liability for such tax is primarily based on the taxpayer’s domicile and their being engaged in the conduct of a “trade or business” within the “United States”.

R. There is no assistance provided to Taxpayers at all in any context.

This includes offering information or assistance to taxpayers in starting or stopping income tax withholding or giving advice about withholding. Taxpayers can not become a member to this Agreement for any reason and are instructed to seek all information they need from the IRS or others in the government providing such services.

S. Anti Mole Provisions

In the context of my relationship with this ministry and its agents, officers, and employees, I hereby waive all rights and benefits that might accrue to me by virtue of asserting official, judicial, or sovereign immunity by virtue of employment, contract, or agency arising from any relationship I might have with any government.

I agree never to provide any information about this ministry or my involvement with this ministry to any government representative unless I am summoned or subpoenaed and the summons or subpoena is signed by either a state judge or district court judge who has demonstrated jurisdiction over the territory within which the alleged crime was committed.

In the event that I am ever properly summoned or subpoenaed in any legal proceeding to answer questions about this Ministry or my involvement with this Ministry, I promise to:

1. Maintain a copy of this Member Agreement.

2. Present this Member Agreement to the appropriate parties as the only evidence I have about service provided to me by this Ministry and others in affiliation with this Ministry.

3. Have the inquisitor sign the Deposition Agreement that will be provided once the Ministry is contacted in order to provide that document.

4. Require the inquisitor to answer the Tax Deposition Questions in their entirety with an Admit or Deny answer and to stipulate to admit the questions, supporting evidence, and answers into evidence in any trial involving me or the Ministry.

5. Have the inquisitor sign a copy of the Member Agreement prior to asking questions and to send a certified copy of the signed document, scanned into Adobe PDF format, and emailed to the Ministry. I am not allowed to associate with and cannot be compelled to associate with anyone but a member of the Ministry in context of law or taxation. This is guaranteed by the First Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Instead I will claim “Fifth Amendment” in response to every question tendered to me about such matters.

The reason that I can and must take the Fifth Amendment in answer to every question is because prior to answering such questions, I formed a sacred Contract [the Member Agreement] with the Ministry that I would substitute myself in any judgment against the Ministry that uses adverse evidence I provided, and doing so makes me the main party of any investigation of the Ministry.

This Member Agreement also makes me a part of the Ministry and therefore a defendant in any such proceeding against the Ministry. Since the government cannot interfere with my right to contract [Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution of the United States], then it cannot interfere with my status as a person affected by the investigation, and therefore cannot preclude me from claiming the Fifth Amendment in answer to every question.

Neither can the government claim that by doing so, I am involved in any conspiracy to willfully commit any kind of crime by making such a contract, because:
1. The Ministry explicitly states in the Member Agreement that it cannot and does not involve itself in any unlawful activity.

2. The Ministry openly and frequently invites the government to rebut the overwhelming evidence of government wrongdoing vi the Tax Deposition Questions which is the reason for its existence and has not yet gotten anyone in the government to credibly rebut any of the evidence.

3. My own personal experience and the experience of others with who I am in contact has consistently confirmed a willful pattern of cover-up, malice, and bad faith on the part of everyone in the government in respect to the very serious legal issues raised in the Tax Deposition Questions. Consequently, I am more inclined to trust and believe the research of the Ministry than to believe what appears to me to be a pack of thieves and liars running the government expressed in 4 USC §72.

If questioned about my physical location during the time that I was talking with, emailing or donating to the Ministry, I will specify that all such events were conducted entirely outside of federal jurisdiction in a foreign state and are therefore irrelevant and not discoverable in any federal court. I can lawfully do this regardless of where the actual transaction occurred because this trick is also used in the Internal Revenue Code as well in 26 USC §7701(a)(39) and 26 USC §7408(d) and the Ministry is entitled to equal protection of the laws.

I certify under penalty of perjury that if I am either presently or in the future employed with or receiving any financial or other benefit from the U.S. government, the government of any state of the Union, or any law enforcement or tax collection agency of the United States, that I will not submit any evidence, testimony, or information that might be unfavorable to this Ministry and others in affiliation with this Ministry or any of its members to any law enforcement agency or court within the United States and that if I disregard this requirement, then I promise to be personally liable for the following:

1. Pay the legal fees and personal time lost to this Ministry and others in affiliation with this Ministry and/or any members, in defending themselves against such evidence, litigation, or testimony.

2. Substitute myself as the adjudged party for any charges or criminal indictments that are based on evidence or testimony that I might provide.

3. Be identified as a Member in Bad Standing after obtaining, using, reading, or viewing any materials or availing themselves of any services provided and who does not meet all the requirements for this Member Agreement.

4. Members in Bad Standing consent to be liable for THREE TIMES any monetary sums or damages inflicted/owed to this Ministry as a consequence of violating any provision of this Member Agreement Contract.

5. If the Member in Bad Standing also works for any U.S. government agency, bureau, or other subdivision of the government, the Member in Bad Standing consents to TEN TIMES the monetary liability of monetary sums or damages inflicted/owed to this Ministry.
   a. Examples of U.S. government subdivisions might be [but are not limited to] the Department of Justice of the United States, the Internal Revenue Service (I.R.S.), any state revenue agency, a governmental agency acting as contractors or informants for these organizations.

Those who have requested to terminate their Membership shall be considered as Former Members. They shall continue to be bound by the terms specified in the Member Agreement as well as the Anti Mole Provision. The above constraints on Former Members apply even if they destroy or give away the materials or information they obtained from this Ministry.

T. Basis for My Beliefs

I understand that neither this Ministry nor any of its officers, employees, etc are authorized to:

a. Guarantee or infer any specific result by virtue of using the educational materials and/or services available to its members.
b. Share subjective opinions about the usefulness of using the Ministry materials.

The Ministry makes every possible effort to ensure the accuracy, appropriateness, usefulness of this materials, processes, and services. However, it has no control over how public servants, who are often malfeasant and not educated in the law, will respond to a petition for redress of grievances directed at remediying their illegal and injurious behavior. Any guarantees of particular results by this Ministry or any agent, officer, or employee of this Ministry should be regarded as fiction, untrustworthy, and should not be relied upon as a basis for belief.

The ONLY reasonable basis for belief about liability in the context of federal taxation that does not involve some form of “presumption” and therefore violation of due process are:

1. Enacted positive law from the Statutes At Large.
2. The Rulings of the Supreme Court and not lower courts.

All forms of legal evidence other than the above are simply “prima facie” and involve compelling the defendant to “presume” something, which violates not only due process but amounts to compelled association or participation in a state-sponsored religion in violation of the First Amendment. Such is a sin according to Numbers 15:30.

No other sources of reasonable belief are acceptable to me until someone with delegated authority form the government proves to me with court admissible evidence why any part of the document, Reasonable Belief [http://sedm.org/Forms/05-MemLaw/ReeasonableBelief.pdf], is not consistent with prevailing law.

I also understand that everything on the Ministry website and all communications with, to, or about ministry officers and other members constitutes religious and political speech and beliefs that is not factual [commercial], not actionable and not admissible as evidence pursuant to Federal Rules of Evidence 610.

The only way any of the materials or speech here may be classified as “factual” and legally actionable is with an affidavit signed by other than a ministry officer or a testimonial oath at t court trail attesting to its accuracy, and the person signing such an affidavit agrees to take complete and exclusive responsibility for al the consequences arising out of such an affidavit or out of the factual speech he or she may make.

Two exceptions to the above paragraph which are stated to be both FACT and are ADMISSIBLE as evidence, in their entirety, in any court of law because they must be admissible as evidence in order to protect Ministry Officers and Members from unlawful acts of persecution by a corrupted government:

U. Severability and Jurat

In the event that any part of this Member Agreement is found to be unenforceable, it is my intent and the intent of the Ministry and others in affiliation with this Ministry that all remaining provisions shall be legally binding.

I voluntarily declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the state of the Union that I am domiciled in and from without the “United States” defined in 26 USC §7701(a)(9) & (a)(10), and 7408(d) of the Internal Revenue Code and under 28 USC §1746(1) that the foregoing facts are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief, so help me God.

(b) Trade or business within the United States
For purposes of this part, part II, and chapter 3, the term "trade or business within the United States" includes the performance of personal services within the United States at any time within the taxable year, but does not include—

(1) Performance of personal services for foreign employer
The performance of personal services—

(A) for a nonresident alien individual, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States, or

(B) for an office or place of business maintained in a foreign country or in a possession of the United States by an individual who is a citizen or resident of the United States or by a domestic partnership or a domestic corporation, by a nonresident alien individual temporarily present in the United States for a period or periods not exceeding a total of 90 days during the taxable year and whose compensation for such services does not exceed in the aggregate $3,000.

(2) Trading in securities or commodities
(A) Stocks and securities

(i) In general Trading in stocks or securities through a resident broker, commission agent, custodian, or other independent agent.

(ii) Trading for taxpayer's own account Trading in stocks or securities for the taxpayer's own account, whether by the taxpayer or his employees or through a resident broker, commission agent, custodian, or other agent, and whether or not any such employee or agent has discretionary authority to make decisions in effecting the transactions. This clause shall not apply in the case of a dealer in stocks

(B) Commodities

(i) In general Trading in commodities through a resident broker, commission agent, custodian, or other independent agent.

(ii) Trading for taxpayer's own account Trading in commodities for the taxpayer's own account, whether by the taxpayer or his employees or through a resident broker, commission agent, custodian, or other agent, and whether or not any such employee or agent has discretionary authority to make decisions in effecting the transactions. This clause shall not apply in the case of a dealer in commodities.

(iii) Limitation Clauses (i) and (ii) shall apply only if the commodities are of a kind customarily dealt in on an organized commodity exchange and if the transaction is of a kind customarily consummated at such place.

(C) Limitation

Subparagraphs (A)(i) and (B)(i) shall apply only if, at no time during the taxable year, the taxpayer has an office or other fixed place of business in the United States through which or by the direction of which the transactions in stocks or securities, or in commodities, as the case may be, are effected.

(c) Effectively connected income, etc.

(1) General rule

For purposes of this title—

(A) In the case of a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States during the taxable year, the rules set forth in paragraphs (2), (3), (4), (6), and (7) shall apply in determining the income, gain, or loss which shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.

(B) Except as provided in paragraph (6) or (7) or in section 871 (d) or sections 882 (d) and (e), in the case of a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation not engaged in trade or business within the United States during the taxable year, no income, gain, or loss shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.

(2) Periodical, etc., income from sources within United States—factors

In determining whether income from sources within the United States of the types described in section 871 (a)(1), section 871(h), section 881 (a), or section 881 (c), or whether gain or loss from sources within the United States from the sale or exchange of capital assets, is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, the factors taken into account...
shall include whether—

(A) the income, gain, or loss is derived from assets used in or held for use in the conduct of such trade or business, or

(B) the activities of such trade or business were a material factor in the realization of the income, gain, or loss.

In determining whether an asset is used in or held for use in the conduct of such trade or business or whether the activities of such trade or business were a material factor in realizing an item of income, gain, or loss, due regard shall be given to whether or not such asset or such income, gain, or loss was accounted for through such trade or business.

(3) Other income from sources within United States

All income, gain, or loss from sources within the United States (other than income, gain, or loss to which paragraph (2) applies) shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.

(4) Income from sources without United States

(A) Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C), no income, gain, or loss from sources without the United States shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.

(B) Income, gain, or loss from sources without the United States shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States by a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation if such person has an office or other fixed place of business within the United States to which such income, gain, or loss is attributable and such income, gain, or loss—

(i) consists of rents or royalties for the use of or for the privilege of using intangible property described in section 862 (a)(4) derived in the active conduct of such trade or business;

(ii) consists of dividends or interest, and either is derived in the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business within the United States or is received by a corporation the principal business of which is trading in stocks or securities for its own account; or

(iii) is derived from the sale or exchange (outside the United States) through such office or other fixed place of business of personal property described in section 1221 (a) (1), except that this clause shall not apply if the property is sold or exchanged for use, consumption, or disposition outside the United States and an office or other fixed place of business of the taxpayer in a foreign country participated materially in such sale.

Any income or gain which is equivalent to any item of income or gain described in clause (i), (ii), or (iii) shall be treated in the same manner as such item for purposes of this subparagraph.
§ 7701. Definitions

Sec. 301.6109-1 Identifying numbers.

(a) In general.--(1) Taxpayer identifying numbers.--(i) Principal types. There are several types of taxpayer identifying numbers that include the following: social security numbers, Internal Revenue Service (IRS) individual taxpayer identification numbers, IRS adoption taxpayer identification numbers, and employer identification numbers. Social security numbers take the form 000-00-0000. IRS individual taxpayer identification numbers and IRS adoption taxpayer identification numbers also take the form 000-00-0000 but include a specific number or numbers designated by the IRS. Employer identification numbers take the form 00-0000000.

(ii) Uses. Social security numbers, IRS individual taxpayer identification numbers, and IRS adoption taxpayer identification numbers are used to identify individual persons. Employer identification numbers are used to identify employers. For the definition of social security number and employer identification number, see Secs. 301.7701-11 and 301.7701-12, respectively. For the definition of IRS individual taxpayer identification number, see paragraph (d) (3) of this section. For the definition of IRS adoption taxpayer identification number, see Sec. 301.6109-3(a).

Except as otherwise provided in applicable regulations under this chapter or on a return, statement, or other document, and related instructions, taxpayer identifying numbers must be used as follows:

(A) Except as otherwise provided in paragraph (a) (1) (ii) (B) and (D) of this section, and Sec. 301.6109-3, an individual required to furnish a taxpayer identifying number must use a social security number.

(B) Except as otherwise provided in paragraph (a) (1) (ii) (D) of this section and Sec. 301.6109-3, an individual required to furnish a taxpayer identifying number but who is not eligible to obtain a social security number must use an IRS individual taxpayer identification number.

(C) Any person other than an individual (such as corporations, partnerships, nonprofit associations, trusts, estates, and similar nonindividual persons) that is required to furnish a taxpayer identifying number must use an employer identification number.

(D) An individual, whether U.S. or foreign, who is an employer or who is engaged in a trade or business as a sole proprietor should use an employer identification number as required by returns, statements, or other documents and their related instructions.

the social security number for all tax purposes under this title, even though the individual is, or later becomes, a nonresident alien individual. Further, any individual who has an application pending with the Social Security Administration has notified the individual that a social security number cannot be issued. Any alien individual duly issued an IRS individual taxpayer identification number who later becomes a U.S. citizen, or an alien lawfully permitted to enter the United States either for permanent residence or under authority of law permitting U.S. employment, will be required to obtain a social security number. Any individual who has an IRS individual taxpayer identification number and a social security number, due to the circumstances described in the preceding sentence, must notify the Internal Revenue Service of the acquisition of the social security number and must use the newly-issued social security number as the taxpayer identifying number on all future returns, statements, or other documents filed under this title.

(ii) Employer Identification number. Any individual with both a social security number (or an IRS individual taxpayer identification number) and an employer identification number may use the social security number (or the IRS individual taxpayer identification number) for individual taxes, and the employer identification number for business taxes as required by returns, statements, and other documents and their related instructions. Any alien individual duly assigned an IRS individual taxpayer identification number who also is required to obtain an employer identification number must furnish the previously-assigned IRS individual taxpayer identification number to the Internal Revenue Service on Form SS-4 at the time of application for the employer identification number. Similarly, where an alien individual has an employer identification number and is required to obtain an IRS individual taxpayer identification number, the individual must furnish the previously-assigned employer identification number to the Internal Revenue Service on Form W-7, or such other form as may be prescribed by the Internal Revenue Service, at the time of application for the IRS individual taxpayer identification number.

(e) Banks, and brokers and dealers in securities. For additional requirements relating to deposits, share accounts, and brokerage accounts, see 31 CFR 103.34 and 103.35.

(f) Penalty. For penalties for failure to supply taxpayer identifying numbers, see sections 6721 through 6724.

(g) Special rules for taxpayer identifying numbers issued to foreign persons--

(i) General rule--(i) Social security number. A social security number is generally identified in the records and database of the Internal Revenue Service as a number belonging to a U.S. citizen or resident alien individual. A person may establish a different status for the number by providing proof of foreign status with the Internal Revenue Service under such procedures as the Internal Revenue Service shall prescribe, including the use of a form as the Internal Revenue Service may specify. Upon accepting an individual as a nonresident alien individual, the Internal Revenue Service will assign this status to the individual's social security number.

(ii) Employer Identification number. An employer identification number is generally identified in the records and database of the Internal Revenue Service as a number belonging to a U.S. person. However, the Internal Revenue Service may establish a separate class of employer identification numbers solely dedicated to foreign persons which will be identified as such in the records and database of the Internal Revenue Service. A person may establish a different status for the number either at the time of application or subsequently by providing proof of U.S. or foreign status with the Internal Revenue Service under such procedures as the Internal Revenue Service shall prescribe, including the use of a form as the Internal Revenue Service may specify. The Internal Revenue Service may require a person to apply for the type of employer identification number that reflects the status of that person as a U.S. or foreign person.

(iii) IRS Individual taxpayer identification number. An IRS individual taxpayer identification number is generally identified in the

(c) a person born outside of the United States and its outlying possessions of parents both of whom are citizens of the United States and one of whom has had a residence in the United States or one of its outlying possessions, prior to the birth of such person;

(d) a person born outside of the United States and its outlying possessions of parents one of whom is a citizen of the United States who has been physically present in the United States or one of its outlying possessions for a continuous period of one year prior to the birth of such person, and the other of whom is a national, but not a citizen of the United States;

(e) a person born in an outlying possession of the United States of parents one of whom is a citizen of the United States who has been physically present in the United States or one of its outlying possessions for a continuous period of one year at any time prior to the birth of such person;

(f) a person of unknown parentage found in the United States while under the age of five years, until shown, prior to his attaining the age of twenty-one years, not to have been born in the United States;

(g) a person born outside the geographical limits of the United States and its outlying possessions of parents one of whom is an alien, and the other a citizen of the United States who, prior to the birth of such person, was physically present in the United States or its outlying possessions for a period or periods totaling not less than five years, at least two of which were after attaining the age of fourteen years: Provided, That any periods of honorable service in the Armed Forces of the United States, or periods of employment with the United States Government or with an international organization as that term is defined in section 288 of title 22 by such citizen parent, or any periods during which such citizen parent is physically present abroad as the dependent unmarried son or daughter and a member of the § 1408. Nationals but not citizens of the United States at birth

Unless otherwise provided in section 1401 of this title, the following shall be nationals, but not citizens, of the United States at birth:

(1) A person born in an outlying possession of the United States on or after the date of formal acquisition of such possession;

(2) A person born outside the United States and its outlying possessions of parents both of whom are nationals, but not citizens, of the United States, and have had a residence in the United States, or one of its outlying possessions prior to the birth of such person;

(3) A person of unknown parentage found in an outlying possession of the United States while under the age of five years, until shown, prior to his attaining the age of twenty-one years, not to have been born in such outlying possession; and

(4) A person born outside the United States and its outlying possessions of parents one of whom is an alien, and the other a national, but not a citizen, of the United States who, prior to the birth of such person, was physically present in the United States or its outlying possessions for a period or periods totaling not less than seven years in any continuous period of ten years—

(A) during which the national parent was not outside the United States or its outlying possessions for a continuous period of more than one year, and

(B) at least five years of which were after attaining the age of fourteen years.

The proviso of section 1401 (g) of this title shall apply to the national parent under this paragraph in the same manner as it applies to the citizen parent under that section.
Mr. Scott McDonald
789 Meal Drive
Gurley, Alabama 35748

Dear Mr. McDonald:

This is in response to your letter to the Commissioner concerning Social Security numbers for children.

The Social Security Act does not require a person to have a Social Security number (SSN) to live and work in the United States, nor does it require an SSN simply for the purpose of having one. However, if someone works without an SSN, we cannot properly credit the earnings for the work performed.

Other laws require people to have and use SSN's for specific purposes. For example, the Internal Revenue Code (26 U.S.C. 6109 (a) and applicable regulations (26 CFR 301.6109-1 (d)) require an individual to get and use an SSN on tax documents and to furnish the number to any other person or institution (such as an employer or a bank) that is required to provide the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) information about payments to the individual. There are penalties for failure to do so. The IRS also requires employers to report SSN's with employees' earnings. In addition, people filing tax returns for taxable years after December 31, 1994, generally must include the SSN of each dependent.

The privacy Act regulates the use of SSN's by government agencies. They may require an SSN only if a law or regulation either orders or authorize them to do so. Agencies are required to disclose the authorizing law or regulation. If the request has no legal basis, the person may refuse to provide the number and still receive the agency's services. However, the law does not apply to private sector organizations. Such an organization can refuse its services to anyone who does not provide the number on request.

We hope you find this information helpful. If you have further questions, you may call our toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213. Our representatives will be glad to help you.

Sincerely,

Subpart A--ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTIONS OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

§422.1 Organization and functions.
§422.5 District offices and branch offices.

Subpart B--GENERAL PROCEDURES

§422.101 Material included in this subpart.
§422.103 Social security numbers.
§422.104 Who can be assigned a social security number.
§422.105 Presumption of authority of nonimmigrant alien to engage in employment.
§422.106 Filing applications with other government agencies.
§422.107 Evidence requirements.
§422.108 Criminal penalties.
§422.110 Individual's request for change in record.
§422.112 Employer identification numbers.
§422.114 Annual wage reporting process.
Earnings reported without a social security number or with an incorrect employee name or social security number.
§422.120 Information on deferred vested pension benefits.
§422.125 Statements of earnings; resolving earnings discrepancies.
§422.130 Claim procedure.
§ 422.103 Social security numbers.

(a) General. The Social Security Administration (SSA) maintains a record of the earnings reported for each individual assigned a social security number. The individual's name and social security number identify the record so that the wages or self-employment income reported for or by the individual can be properly posted to the individual's record. Additional procedures concerning social security numbers may be found in Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury regulation 26 CFR 31.6011(b)-2.

(b) Applying for a number—(1) Form SS-5. An individual needing a social security number may apply for one by filing a signed form SS-5, "Application for A Social Security Number Card," at any social security office and submitting the required evidence. Upon request, the social security office may distribute a quantity of form SS-5 applications to labor unions, employers, or other representative organizations. An individual outside the United States may apply for a social security number card at the Department of Veterans Affairs Regional Office, Manila, Philippines, at any U.S. foreign service post, or at a U.S. military post outside the United States. (See §422.106 for special procedures for filing applications with other government agencies.) Additionally, a U.S. resident may apply for a social security number for a nonresident dependent when the number is necessary for U.S. tax purposes or some other valid reason, the evidence requirements of §422.107 are met, and we determine that a personal interview with the dependent is not required. Form SS-5 may be obtained at:

(i) Any local social security office;
(ii) The Social Security Administration, 300 N. Greene Street, Baltimore, MD 21201;
(iii) Offices of District Directors of Internal Revenue;
(iv) U.S. Postal Service offices (except the main office in cities having a social security office);
(v) U.S. Employment Service offices in cities which do not have a social security office;
(vi) The Department of Veterans Affairs Regional Office, Manila, Philippines;
(vii) Any U.S. foreign service post; and (viii) U.S. military posts outside the U.S.

(2) Birth registration document. SSA may enter into an agreement with officials of a State, including, for this purpose, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and New York City, to establish, as part of the official birth registration process, a procedure to assist SSA in assigning social security numbers to newborn children. Where an agreement is in effect, a parent, as part of the official birth registration process, need not complete a form SS-5 and may request that SSA assign a social security number to the newborn child.

(3) Immigration form. SSA may enter into an agreement with the Department of State (DOS) and the Department of Homeland Security to assist SSA by collecting enumeration data as part of the immigration process. Where an agreement is in effect, an alien need not complete a Form SS-5 with SSA and may request, through DOS or Department of Homeland Security, as part of the immigration process, that SSA assign a social security number and issue a social security number card to him/her.

Requests for SSNs to be assigned via this process will be made on forms provided by DOS and Department of Homeland Security.

(c) How numbers are assigned —(1) Request on form SS–5. If the applicant has completed a form SS–5, the Department of Veterans Affairs Regional Office or the U.S. foreign service post, or the U.S. military post outside the United States that receives the completed form SS–5 will require the applicant to furnish documentary evidence, as necessary, to assist SSA in establishing the age, U.S. citizenship or alien status, true identity, and previously assigned social security number(s), if any, of the applicant. A personal interview may be required of the applicant. (See §422.107 for evidence requirements.) After review of the documentary evidence, the completed form SS–5 is forwarded or data from the SS–5 is transmitted to SSA's central office in Baltimore, Md., where the data is electronically screened against SSA's files. If the applicant requests evidence to show that he or she has filed an application for a social security number card, a receipt or equivalent document may be furnished. If the electronic screening or other investigation does not disclose a previously assigned number, SSA's central office assigns a number and issues a social security number card. If investigation discloses a previously assigned number for the applicant, a replacement social security number card is issued.

(2) Request on birth registration document. Where a parent has requested a social security number for a newborn child as part of an official birth registration process described in paragraph (b)(2) of this section, the State vital statistics office will electronically transmit the request to SSA's central office in Baltimore, MD, along with the child's name, date and place of birth, sex, mother's maiden name, father's name (if shown on the birth registration), address of the mother, and birth certificate number. This birth registration information received by SSA from the State vital statistics office will be used to establish the age, identity, and U.S. citizenship of the newborn child. Using this information, SSA will assign a number to the child and send the social security number card to the child at the mother's address.

(3) Request on immigration document. Where an alien has requested a social security number as part of the immigration process described in paragraph (b)(3) of this section, Department of Homeland Security will electronically transmit to SSA's central office in Baltimore, MD, the data elements collected for immigration purposes, by both Department of Homeland Security and DOS, the alien must provide to DOS or Department of Homeland Security along with the child's name, date and place of birth, sex, mother's maiden name, father's name (if shown on the birth registration), address of the mother, and birth certificate number. This data from the SS–5 is forwarded or data from the SS–5 is transmitted to SSA's central office where the data is electronically screened against SSA's files. If the applicant requests evidence to show that he or she has filed an application for a social security number card, a receipt or equivalent document may be furnished. If the electronic screening or other investigation does not disclose a previously assigned number, SSA's central office assigns a number and issues a social security number card. If investigation discloses a previously assigned number for the applicant, a replacement social security number card is issued.

(d) Social security number cards. A person who is assigned a social security number will receive a social security number card from SSA within a reasonable time after the number has been assigned. (See §422.104 regarding the assignment of social security number cards to aliens.) Social security number cards are the property of SSA and must be returned upon request.

(e) Replacement of social security number card —(1) When we may issue you a replacement card. We may issue you a replacement social security number card, subject to the limitations in paragraph (e)(2) of this section. In all cases, you must complete a Form SS–5 to receive a replacement social security number card. You may obtain a Form SS–5 from any Social Security office or from one of the sources noted in paragraph (b) of this section. For evidence requirements, see §422.107.

(2) Limits on the number of replacement cards. There are limits on the number of replacement social security number cards we will issue to you. You may receive no more than three replacement social security number cards in a year and ten replacement social security number cards per lifetime. We may allow for reasonable exceptions to these limits on a case-by-case basis in compelling circumstances. We also will consider name changes (i.e., verified legal changes to the first name and/or surname) and changes in alien status which result in a necessary change to a restrictive legend on the SSN card (see paragraph (e)(3) of this section) to be compelling circumstances, and will not include either of these changes when determining the yearly or lifetime limits. We may grant an exception if you provide evidence establishing that you would experience significant hardship if the card were not issued. An example of significant hardship includes, but is not limited to, providing SSA with a referral letter from a governmental social services agency indicating that the social security number card must be shown in order to obtain benefits or services.

(3) Restrictive legend change defined. Based on a person's immigration status, a restrictive legend may appear on the face of an SSN card to indicate that work is either not authorized or that work may be performed only with Department of Homeland Security (DHS) authorization. This restrictive legend appears on the card above the individual's name and SSN. Individuals without work authorization in the U.S. citizens receive SSN cards showing the restrictive legend, "Not Valid for Employment;" and SSN cards for those individuals who have temporary work authorization in the U.S. show the restrictive legend, "Valid For Work Only With DHS Authorization." U.S. citizens and individuals who are permanent residents receive SSN cards without a restrictive legend. For the purpose of determining a change in restrictive legend, the individual must have a change in immigration status or citizenship which results in a change to or the removal of a restrictive legend when compared to the prior SSN card data. An SSN card request based upon a change in immigration status or citizenship which does not affect the restrictive legend will count toward the yearly and lifetime limits, as in the case of Permanent Resident Aliens who attain U.S. citizenship.

INCOME TAX ON EMPLOYEES

SECTION 801. In addition to other taxes, there shall be levied, collected, and paid upon the income of every individual a tax equal to the following percentages of the wages (as defined in section 811) received by him after December 31, 1936, with respect to employment (as defined in section 811) after such date:

1. With respect to employment during the calendar years 1937, 1938, and 1939, the rate shall be 1 per centum.
2. With respect to employment during the calendar years 1940, 1941, and 1942, the rate shall be 1 1/2 per centum.
3. With respect to employment during the calendar years 1943, 1944, and 1945, the rate shall be 2 per centum.
4. With respect to employment during the calendar years 1946, 1947, and 1948, the rate shall be 2 1/2 per centum.
5. With respect to employment after December 31, 1948, the rate shall be 3 per centum.

DEDUCTION OF TAX FROM WAGES

SEC. 802. (a) The tax imposed by section 801 shall be collected by the employer of the taxpayer by deducting the amount of the tax from the wages as and when paid. Every employer required so to deduct the tax is hereby made liable for the payment of such tax, and is hereby indemnified against the claims and demands of any person for the amount of such payment made by such employer.
(b) If more or less than the correct amount of tax imposed by section 801 is paid with respect to any wage payment, then, under

Dear Tom,

Thank you for writing to inquire about Congressional authority over the United States and the District of Columbia.

Your assertion that Congress has exclusive legislative authority over Washington, D.C. and limited legislative authority over the states is correct. There is no Constitutional requirement to identify the source of authority when passing a particular law, and often there are multiple or overlapping authorities for the same law. Because Congress may pass laws both national and local in scope, evaluations of Constitutional authority must be done on a case by case basis.

I have enclosed a letter from the American Law Division of the Library of Congress regarding your question, and I hope that this information is helpful to you. Again, thank you for writing, and if I can be of further assistance please don't hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Zoe Lofgren
Member of Congress

IMPORTANT: See current Quarterly Cumulative Supplement for changes.

Various Constitutional amendments such as the 16th concerning the federal income tax do NOT apply to the 50 FREE & INDEPENDENT States of America; rather only to the exclusive federal areas specified by Congress (see above), because such power jurisdiction is separate to the 50 States as they are to each other by Law. Florida State 1995 Income Tax Code Ch. 220

220.02 Legislative Intent

(1) It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this code to impose a tax upon all corporations, organizations, associations, and other artificial entities which derive from this state or from any other jurisdiction permanent and inherent attributes not inherent to or available to natural person, such as perpetual life, transferable ownership represented by shares or certificates and limited liability for all owners. It is intended that limited liability companies be subject to the tax imposed by such corporations and other entities to taxation hereunder for the privilege of conducting business, deriving income, or existing within this state. This code is not intended to tax, and shall not be construed so as to tax any natural person who engages in a trade, business or profession in this state under his or her own or any fictitious name whether individually as a proprietorship or, in partnership with other: any estate of a decedent or incompetent: or any testamentary trust.
To the Senate and House of Representatives:

It is the constitutional duty of the President from time to time to recommend to the consideration of Congress such measures, as he shall judge necessary and expedient. In my inaugural address, immediately preceding this present extraordinary session of Congress, I invited attention to the necessity for a revision of the tariff at this session, and stated the principles upon which I thought the revision should be affected. I referred to the then rapidly increasing deficit and pointed out the obligation on the part of the framers of the tariff bill to arrange the duty so as to secure an adequate income, and suggested that if it was not possible to do so by import duties, new kinds of taxation must be adopted, and among them I recommended a graduated inheritance tax as correct in principle and as certain and easy of collection.

The House of Representatives has adopted the suggestion, and has provided in the bill it passed for the collection of such a tax. In the Senate the action of its Finance Committee and the course of the debate indicate that it may not agree to this provision, and it is now proposed to make up the deficit by the imposition of a general income tax, in form and substance of almost exactly the same character as, that which in the case of Pollock v. Farmer's Loan and Trust Company (157 U.S., 429) was held by the Supreme Court to be a direct tax, and therefore not within the power of the Federal Government to impose unless apportioned among the several States according to population. [Emphasis added] This new proposal, which I did not discuss in my inaugural address or in my message at the opening of the present session, makes it appropriate for me to submit to the Congress certain additional recommendations.

Again, it is clear that by the enactment of the proposed law the Congress will not be bringing money into the Treasury to meet the present deficiency. The decision of the Supreme Court in the income-tax cases deprived the National Government of a power which, by reason of previous decisions of the court, it was generally supposed that government had. It is undoubtedly a power the National Government ought to have. It might be indispensable to the Nation's life in great crises. Although I have not considered a constitutional amendment as necessary to the exercise of certain phases of this power, a mature consideration has satisfied me that an amendment is the only proper course for its establishment to its full extent.

I therefore recommend to the Congress that both Houses, by a two-thirds vote, shall propose an amendment to the Constitution conferring the power to levy an income tax upon the National Government without apportionment among the States in proportion to population.

This course is much to be preferred to the one proposed of reenacting a law once judicially declared to be unconstitutional. For the Congress to assume that the court will reverse itself, and to enact legislation on such an assumption, will not strengthen popular confidence in the stability of judicial construction of the Constitution. It is much wiser policy to accept the decision and remedy the defect by amendment in due and regular course.

HOW OUR LAWS ARE MADE

Revised and Updated

by Charles W. Johnson, Parliamentarian,
U.S. House of Representatives

Presented by Mr. Warner
November 12, 1997.—Ordered to be printed affirmative to pass the bill, the measure becomes the law of the land notwithstanding the objections of the President, and it is ready for publication as a binding statute.

LINE ITEM VETO

The Line Item Veto Act provides the President authority to cancel certain individual items contained in a bill or joint resolution that he has signed into law. The President may cancel only three types of fiscal items: a dollar amount of discretionary budget authority, an item of new direct spending, and a tax change benefiting a class of 100 or fewer. The cancellations must be received by the House and Senate within five calendar days of the enactment of such a law and are effective unless disapproved. The President submits a single message to both Houses containing all the cancellations per law. The Act also provides special expedited procedures by which the House and Senate may consider a bill or joint resolution disapproving a President's cancellation. Such a "disapproval bill" may be passed by a majority vote in the House and Senate and presented to the President for his signature or veto under the Constitution. If the disapproval bill were vetoed by the President, the House and Senate could override the veto by a two-thirds vote in each House in which case the President's cancellations would be null and void. The constitutionality of the Line Item Veto Act is the subject of pending litigation at the time of publication of this edition.

XIX. PUBLICATION

One of the important steps in the enactment of a valid law is the requirement that it shall be made known to the people who are to be bound by it. There would be no justice if the state were to hold its people responsible for their conduct before it made known to them the unlawfulness of such behavior. In practice, our laws are published immediately upon their enactment so that the public will be aware of them.

If the President approves a bill, or allows it to become law without signing it, the original enrolled bill is sent from the White House to the Archivist of the United States for publication. If a bill is passed by both Houses over the objections of the President, the body that last overrides the veto transmits it. It is then assigned a public law number, and paginated for the Statutes at Large volume covering that session of Congress. The public and private law numbers run in sequence starting anew at the beginning of each Congress and since 1957 are prefixed for ready identification by the number of the Congress. For example, the first public law of the 105th Congress is designated Public Law 105–1 and the first private law of the 105th Congress is designated Private Law 105–1. Subsequent laws of this Congress also will contain the same prefix designator.

SLIP LAWS

The first official publication of the statute is in the form generally known as the "slip law". In this form, each law is published separately as an unbound pamphlet. The heading indicates the

Dear Mr. Schiff:

This is in response to your January 4, 1996, letter asking how you can tell what category a particular regulation falls.

Regulations are authorized by Internal Revenue Code section 7805. They constitute the primary source for guidance on the Treasury's position regarding the interpretation of the Code. Regulations have, generally, been classified into three broad categories: legislative, interpretative, and procedural.

Legislative regulations are those for which the Service is specifically authorized by the Code to prescribe the operating rules. Generally, legislative regulations have the force and effect of law unless the regulation exceeds the scope of the delegated power, is contrary to the statute, or is unreasonable.

Interpretative regulations explain the Service's position on the various sections of the Code. Although interpretative regulations do not have the force and effect of law, the courts customarily accord them substantial weight.

Procedural regulations are considered to be directive rather than mandatory, and thus, do not have the force and effect of law. The purpose of procedural regulations is to outline both for public consumption and internal guidance those rules which control the operation of the Internal Revenue Service in carrying out its prime function of administering and enforcing the Internal Revenue laws.

I hope that this information will be helpful to you.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Kordick, Chief Assistance Section
§ 7805. Rules and regulations

(a) Authorization

Except where such authority is expressly given by this title to any person other than an officer or employee of the Treasury Department, the Secretary shall prescribe all needful rules and regulations for the enforcement of this title, including all rules and regulations as may be necessary by reason of any alteration of law in relation to internal revenue.

(b) Retroactivity of regulations

(1) In general

Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, no temporary, proposed, or final regulation relating to the internal revenue laws shall apply to any taxable period ending before the earliest of the following dates:

(A) The date on which such regulation is filed with the Federal Register.

(B) In the case of any final regulation, the date on which any proposed or temporary regulation to which such final regulation relates was filed with the Federal Register.

(C) The date on which any notice substantially describing the expected contents of any temporary, proposed, or final regulation is issued to the public.

(2) Exception for promptly issued regulations

Paragraph (1) shall not apply to regulations filed or issued within 18 months of the date of the enactment of the statutory provision to which the regulation relates.

(3) Prevention of abuse

The Secretary may provide that any regulation may take effect or apply retroactively to prevent abuse.

(4) Correction of procedural defects

The Secretary may provide that any regulation may apply retroactively to correct a procedural defect in the issuance of any regulation.

The Internal Revenue Code of 1954 established Title 26 of the United States Code, and superseded the former tax law referred to as the Internal Revenue Code of 1939. The 1954 Code became law on August 16, 1954, when the president signed H.R. 8300. It became Public Law 591, 83rd Congress.

Beginning with the enactment of the 1954 Code, we stopped assigning a separate number (such as Regulations 111 or Regulations 118) to newly issued regulations. Since we began this practice, regulations are grouped under Title 26 of the CFR.

I hope this information is helpful. If we can be of further assistance, please contact Mrs. Rosemary Wallace, Identification Number 2814302090, at (215) 516-7606. This number is not toll-free.

Sincerely,

TITLE 26--INTERNAL REVENUE

CHAPTER I--INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

PART 1--INCOME TAXES--Table of Contents

Sec. 1.0-1 Internal Revenue Code of 1954 and regulations.

(a) Enactment of law. The Internal Revenue Code of 1954 which became law upon enactment of Public Law 591, 83d Congress, approved August 16, 1954, provides in part as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That

(a) Citation. (1) The provisions of this Act set forth under the heading ‘Internal Revenue Title’ may be cited as the ‘Internal Revenue Code of 1954’.
(2) The Internal Revenue Code enacted on February 10, 1939, as amended, may be cited as the ‘Internal Revenue Code of 1939’.
(b) Publication. This Act shall be published as volume 68A of the United States Statutes at Large, with a comprehensive table of contents and an appendix; but without an index or marginal references. The date of enactment, bill number, public law number, and chapter number, shall be printed as a headnote.
(c) Cross reference. For saving provisions, effective date provisions, and other related provisions, see chapter 80 (sec. 7801 and following) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.
(d) Enactment of Internal Revenue Title into law. The Internal Revenue Title referred to in subsection (a)(1) is as follows:

In general, the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 are applicable with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1953, and ending after August 16, 1954. Certain provisions of that Code are deemed to be included in the Internal Revenue Code of 1939. See ___ section 7851.

(b) Scope of regulations. The regulations in this part deal with (1) the income taxes imposed under subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, and (2) certain administrative provisions contained in subtitle F of such Code relating to such taxes. In general, the applicability of such regulations is commensurate with the applicability of the respective provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 except that with respect to the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 which are deemed to be included in the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, the regulations relating to such provisions are applicable to certain fiscal years and short taxable years which are subject to the Internal Revenue Code of 1939. Those provisions of the regulations which are applicable to taxable years subject to the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 and the specific taxable years to which such provisions are so applicable are identified in each instance. The regulations in 26 CFR...
Sec. 6001. - Notice or regulations requiring records, statements, and special returns

Every person liable for any tax imposed by this title, or for the collection thereof, shall keep such records, render such statements, make such returns, and comply with such rules and regulations as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe. Whenever in the judgment of the Secretary it is necessary, he may require any person, by notice served upon such person or by regulations, to make such returns, render such statements, or keep such records, as the Secretary deems sufficient to show whether or not such person is liable for tax under this title. The only records which an employer shall be required to keep under this section in connection with charged tips shall be charge receipts, records necessary to comply with section 6053(c), and copies of statements furnished by employees under section 6053(a)
Sec. 6011. - General requirement of return, statement, or list

(a) General rule

When required by regulations prescribed by the Secretary any person made liable for any tax imposed by this title, or with respect to the collection thereof, shall make a return or statement according to the forms and regulations prescribed by the Secretary. Every person required to make a return or statement shall include therein the information required by such forms or regulations.

(b) Identification of taxpayer

The Secretary is authorized to require such information with respect to persons subject to the taxes imposed by chapter 21 or chapter 24 as is necessary or helpful in securing proper identification of such persons.

(c) Returns, etc., of DISCS and former DISCS and FSC's and former FSC's

(1) Records and information

A DISC or former DISC or a FSC or former FSC shall for the taxable year -

(A) furnish such information to persons who were shareholders at any time during such taxable year, and to the Secretary, and

(B) keep such records, as may be required by regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

(2) Returns

A DISC shall file for the taxable year such returns as may be prescribed by the Secretary by forms or regulations.
Sec. 6012. - Persons required to make returns of income

(a) General rule

Returns with respect to income taxes under subtitle A shall be made by the following:

(1)

(A) Every individual having for the taxable year gross income which equals or exceeds the exemption amount, except that a return shall not be required of an individual:

(i) who is not married (determined by applying section 7703), is not a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)), is not a head of a household (as defined in section 2(b)), and for the taxable year has gross income of less than the sum of the exemption amount plus the basic standard deduction applicable to such an individual,

(ii) who is a head of a household (as so defined) and for the taxable year has gross income of less than the sum of the exemption amount plus the basic standard deduction applicable to such an individual,

(iii) who is a surviving spouse (as so defined) and for the taxable year has gross income of less than the sum of the exemption amount plus the basic standard deduction applicable to such an individual, or

Sec. 7851. - Applicability of revenue laws

(a) General rules

Except as otherwise provided in any section of this title -

(1) Subtitle A

(A)

Chapters 1, 2, 4, [1] and 6 of this title shall apply only with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1953, and ending after the date of enactment of this title, and with respect to such taxable years, chapters 1 (except sections 143 and 144) and 2, and section 3801, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 are hereby repealed.

(B)

Chapters 3 and 5 [1] of this title shall apply with respect to payments and transfers occurring after December 31, 1954, and as to such payments and transfers sections 143 and 144 and chapter 7 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 are hereby repealed.

(C)

Any provision of subtitle A of this title the applicability of which is stated in terms of a specific date (occurring after December 31, 1953), or in terms of taxable years ending after a specific date (occurring after December 31, 1953), shall apply to taxable years ending after such specific date. Each such provision shall, in the case of a taxable year subject to the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, be deemed to be included in the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, but shall be applicable only to taxable years ending after such specific date. The provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 superseded by provisions of subtitle A of this title the applicability of which is stated in terms of a specific date (occurring after http://www4.law.cornell.edu/uscode/26/7851.html

December 31, 1953) shall be deemed to be included in subtitle A of this title, but shall be applicable only to the period prior to the taking effect of the corresponding provision of subtitle A.

(D)

Effective with respect to taxable years ending after March 31, 1954, and subject to tax under chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 -

Sections 13(b)(3), 26(b)(2)(C), 26(h) (1)(C) (including the comma and the word "and" immediately preceding such section), 26(i)(3), 108 (k), 207(a)(1)(C), 207(a)(3)(C), and the last sentence of section 362(b)(3) of such Code are hereby repealed; and

(ii)

Sections 13(b)(2), 26(b)(2)(B), 26(h) (l)(B), 26(i) (2), 207(a)(1)(B), 207(a)(3)(B), 421(a)(1)(B), and the second sentence of section 362(b)(3) of such Code are hereby amended by striking out "and before April 1, 1954" (and any accompanying punctuation) wherever appearing therein.

(2) Subtitle B

(A)

Chapter 11 of this title shall apply with respect to estates of decedents dying after the date of enactment of this title, and with respect to such estates chapter 3 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 is hereby repealed.

(B)

Chapter 12 of this title shall apply with respect to the calendar year 1955 and all calendar years thereafter, and with respect to such years chapter 4 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 is hereby repealed.

(3) Subtitle C

Subtitle C of this title shall apply only with respect to remuneration paid after December 31, 1954, except that chapter 22 of such subtitle shall apply only with respect to remuneration paid after December 31, 1954, which is for services performed after such date. Chapter 9 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 is hereby repealed with respect to remuneration paid after December 31, 1954, except that subchapter B of such chapter (and subchapter E of such chapter to the extent it relates to subchapter B) shall remain in force and effect with respect to remuneration paid after December 31, 1954, for services performed on or before such date.

(4) Subtitle D

Subtitle D of this title shall take effect on January 1, 1955.

Subtitles B and C of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 (except chapters 7, 9, 15, 26, and 28, subchapter B of chapter 25, and parts VII and VIII of subchapter A of chapter 27 of such code) are hereby repealed effective January 1, 1955. Provisions having the same effect as section 6416(b)(2)(H), \[^1\] and so much of section 4082(c) (FOOTNOTE 1) as refers to special motor fuels, shall be considered to be included in the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 effective as of May 1, 1954. Section 2450(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 (as amended by the Excise Tax Reduction Act of 1954) applies to the period beginning on April 1, 1954, and ending on December 31, 1954.

(5) Subtitle E

Subtitle E shall take effect on January 1, 1955, except that the provisions in section 5411 permitting the use of a brewery under regulations prescribed by the Secretary for the purpose of producing and bottling soft drinks, section 5554, and chapter 53 shall take effect on the day after the date of enactment of this title. Subchapter B of chapter 25, and part VIII of subchapter A of chapter 27, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 are hereby repealed effective on the day after the date of enactment of this title. Chapters 15 and 26, and part VII of subchapter A of chapter 27, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 are hereby repealed effective January 1, 1955.

(6) Subtitle F

(A) General rule

The provisions of subtitle F shall take effect on the day after the date of enactment of this title and shall be applicable with respect to any tax imposed by this title. The provisions of subtitle F shall apply with respect to any tax imposed by the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 only to the extent provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C) of this paragraph.

(B) Assessment, collection, and refunds

Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph (A), and notwithstanding any contrary provision of subchapter A of chapter 63 (relating to assessment), chapter 64 (relating to collection), or chapter 65 (relating to abatements, credits, and refunds) of this
Sec. 601.702 Publication and public inspection.

(a) Publication in the Federal Register--(1) Requirement. Subject to the application of the exemptions described in paragraph (b)(1) of Sec. 601.701 and subject to the limitations provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the Internal Revenue Service is required under 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(1) to separately state and currently publish in the Federal Register for the guidance of the public the following information:

(i) Descriptions of its central and field organization and the established places at which, the persons from whom, and the methods whereby, the public may obtain information, make submittals or requests, or obtain decisions, from the Service;

(ii) Statements of the general course and method by which its functions are channeled and determined, including the nature and requirements of all formal and informal procedures which are available;

(iii) Rules of procedure, descriptions of forms available or the places at which forms may be obtained, and instructions as to the scope and content of all papers, reports, or examinations;

(iv) Substantive rules of general applicability adopted as authorized by law, and statements of general policy or interpretations of general applicability formulated and adopted by the Service; and

(v) Each amendment, revision, or repeal of matters referred to in subdivisions (i) through (iv) of this subparagraph.

Pursuant to the foregoing requirements, the Commissioner publishes in the Federal Register from time to time a statement, which is not codified in this chapter, on the organization and functions of the Internal Revenue Service, and such amendments as are needed to keep the statement on a current basis. In addition, there are published in the Federal Register the rules set forth in this part (Statement of Procedural Rules), such as those in Subpart E of this part, relating to conference and practice requirements of the Internal Revenue Service; the regulations in Part 301 of this chapter (Procedure and Administration Regulations); and the various substantive regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, such as the regulations in Part 1 of this chapter (Income Tax Regulations), in Part 20 of this chapter (Estate Tax Regulations) and, in Part 31 of this chapter (Employment Tax Regulations).

(2) Limitations--(i) Incorporation by reference in the Federal Register. Matter which is reasonably available to the class of persons affected thereby, whether in a private or public publication, will be deemed published in the Federal Register for purposes of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph when it is incorporated by reference therein pursuant to the approval of the Director of the Federal Register. The matter which is incorporated by reference must be set forth in the private or public publication substantially in its entirety and not merely summarized or printed as a synopsis. Matter, the location and scope of which are familiar to only a few persons having a special working knowledge of the activities of the Internal Revenue Service, may not be incorporated in the Federal Register by reference. Matter may be incorporated by reference in the Federal Register only pursuant to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(1) and 1 CFR Part 20.

(ii) Effect of failure to publish. Except to the extent that a person has actual and timely notice of the terms of any matter referred to in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph which is required to be published in the Federal Register, such person is not required in any manner to resort to, or be adversely affected by, such matter if it is not so published or is not incorporated by reference therein pursuant to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph. Thus, for example, any such matter which imposes an obligation and which is not so published or incorporated by reference will not adversely change or affect a person’s rights.

(b) Public inspection and copying—(1) In general. Subject to the application of the exemptions described in paragraph (b)(1) of Sec. 601.701, the Internal Revenue Service is required under 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(2) to make available for public inspection and copying or, in the alternative, to promptly publish and offer for sale the following information:

(i) Final opinions, including concurring and dissenting opinions, and orders, if such opinions and orders are made in the adjudication of cases;

(ii) Those statements of policy and interpretations which have been adopted by the Internal Revenue Service but are not published in the Federal Register; and

(iii) Its administrative staff manuals and instructions to staff that affect a member of the public.

The Internal Revenue Service is also required by 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(2) to maintain and make available for public inspection and copying current indexes identifying any matter described in (b)(1)(i) through (iii) of this paragraph which is issued, adopted, or promulgated after July 4, 1967, and which is required to be made available for public inspection or published. In addition, the Internal Revenue Service will also promptly publish, quarterly or more frequently, and distribute (by sale or otherwise) copies of each index or supplements thereto unless it determines by order published in the Federal Register that the publication would be unnecessary and impracticable, in which case the Internal Revenue Service will nonetheless provide copies of such indexes on request at a cost not to exceed the direct cost of duplication. No matter described in (b)(1)(i) through (iii) of this paragraph which is required by this section to be made available for public inspection or published may be relied upon, used, or cited as precedent by the Internal Revenue Service against a party other than an agency unless such party has actual and timely notice of the terms of such matter or unless the matter has been indexed and either made available for inspection or published, as provided by this subparagraph. This subparagraph applies only to matters which have precedential significance. It does not apply, for example, to
Richard Durjak
5506 West 22nd Place
Cicero, IL 60650

Dear Mr. Durjak:

The Director of the Federal Register has asked me to respond to your inquiry. You have asked whether Internal Revenue Service provisions codified at 26 U.S.C. 6020, 6201, 6202, 6201, 6203, 6221, 6231 through 6243, 6601, 6602, 6651, 6701, and 7207 have been processed or included in 26 CFR part 1.

The Parallel Table of Authorities and Rules, a finding aid compiled and published by the Office of the Federal Register (OFR) as a part of the CFR Index, indicates that implementing regulations for the sections cited above have been published in various parts of title 27 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). There are no corresponding entries for title 26. However, the Parallel Table is only an extract of authority citations from the CFR data base and cannot be considered a comprehensive key to the statutory basis of all regulations. An agency may have additional authority for regulations that are not listed separately in authority citations, or is carried within the text of CFR sections. Citations in regulatory text generally do not appear as entries in the Parallel Table.

Since there are 11 volumes that make up part 1 of title 26 of the CFR, it would require extensive research to answer your question with certainty. Commercial computer based services are better equipped to perform this type of research. In any case, the OFR has neither the resources nor the authority to perform the research requested, since to do so would require us to make substantive interpretations as to whether certain tax statutes have any association with the specified set of regulations (see 1 CFR 3.1 enclosed).

Your second question refers to IRS procedures for incorporating material by reference in the Federal Register. The incorporation by reference process is narrowly defined by the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552(a) and 1 CFR Part 31. Our records indicate that the Internal Revenue Service has not incorporated by reference in the Federal Register (as that term is defined in the Federal Register system) a requirement to make an income tax return.

I hope this information will be useful to you.

Sincerely,

MICHAEL L. WHITE
Attorney
Office of the Federal Register

Dear Sirs:

Mr. Pope and I have Power of Attorney for [Name] and are authorized to resolve the instant matter.

We have before us your CP-515. Before we can proceed to settle this, we have some documents we need for you to provide to us.

In reviewing the documents sent by the IRS we do not find any citation or reference to the specific tax you are claiming our client, [Name], is liable for. Since there are numerous types of taxes, enumerated in the Internal Revenue Code, we need to know which specific type(s) of tax or taxes the records show that the IRS has determined our client is allegedly liable for in the specific year(s) in question.

We also need to know what specific tax form(s) the IRS records claim or show was required to file for the specific year or years in question.

Specifically, the documents we need you to send are:

1) the documents used to determine what type(s) of tax [Name] is liable for;
2) the documents used to determine what form [Name] is required to file for that tax; and:
3) the documents used to determine what type of class of taxpayer the IRS records indicate that [Name] is, for the specific year(s) in question.

Since our client has never been given documents by the IRS which clearly state what specific tax(es) the IRS claims [Name] is liable for and which specific form he / she is required to file, it is imperative that we must be able to obtain a true and correct copy of these documents before we can begin to resolve this matter.
Dear Mr. Roberts:

This letter is in response to your Privacy Act request dated October 21, 1998.

In response to your items 1, 2, and 3, our records indicate that Mr. and Mrs. have filed a Form 1040, U.S. Individual Income Tax Return. The return was received on January 8, 1997. Mr. and Mrs. have therefore determined the sources of income, the type of form to file and the particular tax they are liable for.

Thank you for your inquiry.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Baker:

Your letter dated September 26, 1998 to Mr. Charles O. Rossotti, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, has recently been forwarded to my office for reply. Your inquiry concerned the authority by which the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) requires an individual to file a tax return.

It is not the policy of IRS to respond to letters such as yours on a point by point basis. Such letters almost always reflect personal opinions and frustrations with the tax system which the IRS is unable to address. However, we can supply the following general information which may concern the area of the law you are addressing. If more information is needed, you may wish to contact the Library of Congress.

Our system of taxation is dependent on taxpayers' belief that the laws they follow apply to everyone and that the IRS will respect and protect their rights under the law. We assure you that the mission of the IRS is to provide America's taxpayers top quality service by helping them understand and meet their tax responsibilities and by applying the tax law with integrity and fairness to all. We apologize for any actions of rude behavior or intimidation you may have encountered.

The courts have consistently upheld the constitutionality of the federal income tax. See, e.g., Broughton v. United States, 632 F.2d 707 (8th Cir. 1980); Cuddy v. Commissioner, 65 T.C. 68 (1975), aff'd mem., 559 F.2d 1207 (3rd Cir. 1977); and Schiff v. Commissioner, T.C.M. 1984-223, aff'd 751 F.2d 116 (2nd Cir. 1984).

The courts have rejected claims that the Sixteenth Amendment, which grants Congress the power to prescribe the current income tax laws, was not properly ratified. Some individuals have alleged that the Sixteenth Amendment is invalid because Ohio was not a state at the time of ratification. However, the amendment was ratified by 38 states altogether and ratification was necessary by only 36. Therefore, more than enough states ratified this amendment even without Ohio's vote.

Whether an individual is liable for income tax is determined under Subtitle A of the Internal Revenue Code, (the Code), Chapter 1, Subchapter A. Determination of Tax Liability. Part 1, Section 1, imposes a tax on the taxable income of every individual. Whether an individual has taxable income is determined under Chapter 1, Subchapter B—Computation of Taxable Income. Part 1, Section 63, defines "taxable income"; generally, as gross income minus the deductions allowed by Chapter 1.

Subtitle A & F

The current federal tax law enacted by Congress is the Code. Sections 6001 and 6011 of the Code provide, in pertinent part, that every person liable for any tax imposed by the Code shall make a return. In addition, Section 6012 of the Code provides that a federal income tax return shall be made by every individual whose gross income equals or exceeds certain amounts. "Shall" as used in Sections 6001, 6011 and 6012 means "must"; "must" means "to be required to". Who is required by the Code to file a return is explained in the instructions for Form 1040 under the heading "Filing Requirements".

The law itself does not require individuals to file a Form 1040. However, Section 6001 of the Code states that every person liable for a tax imposed by the Code shall make returns and comply with such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may from time to time prescribe. Section 1.6012(a)(4) of the Income Tax Regulations states that Form 1040 is prescribed for general use in making the return required under Section 6012 of the Code.

Section 6151 of the Code provides that, except as specifically provided otherwise, when a return of tax is required by the Code or the Regulations, the person required you make such a return shall, without assessment or notice and demand from the Secretary, pay such tax to the internal revenue officer with whom the return is filed.

Section 6331 of the Code states that if any person liable to pay tax neglects or refuses to pay the same within 10 days after notice and demand, it shall be lawful for the Secretary to collect such tax by levy upon all property and rights to property belonging to such person. The levy may be made upon the accrued salary or wages of any officer, employee, or elected official of the United States, the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of the United States or the District of Columbia, by serving a notice of levy on the employer of such officer, employee or elected official.

Section 6321 of the Code provides that if any person liable to pay any tax neglects or refuses to pay the same after demand, the amount (including any interest, additional amount, addition to tax, or assessable penalty, together with any costs that may accrue in addition thereto) shall be a lien in favor of the United States upon all property and rights to property, whether real or personal, belonging to such person.

Your correspondence also request copies of several documents. Under 44 U.S.C. Chapter 1505, the Federal Register publishes Presidential Proclamations and Executive Orders, other documents they have "general applicability and legal effect", and documents required to be published by Congress. That does not mean or imply that any portion of the Code must be published in the Federal Register. The Code is the Federal Tax Law, not a "document" or "order".

We hope this information is helpful.

Sincerely,

EXHIBIT 24

"Silence equates to fraud where there is a legal or moral obligation to reveal the information or where a question left unanswered would be intentionally misleading." US v. Pruden, 424 F2d

January 26, 2002

Dear Chief, ACS:

This is a Freedom Of Information Act request under Title 5 USC Section 552. This is my firm promise to pay fees and costs for locating and duplicating the records below, ultimately determined in accordance with 26 CFR Section 601.702(f). If costs are expected to exceed $0.00, please send estimate of costs.

If portions of this request are exempt from release, please furnish me with those portions reasonably segregated. Please expedite this request within the time prescribed by statute. This request pertains to calendar year 1996 as identified on the CP 504.

A recent CP 504 form letter was received from your location regarding Year Ending 1996. Notice Date: 1-21-2002. I spoke with Mr. Salinas, ID # 8900828 in your Fresno CA office and he could not determine any tax in his computer records that was related to the CP 504. Mr. Salinas stated that the IRS completed an Assessment and substitute tax form that generated the CP 504 form letter. "Tax liability is a condition precedent to the demand. Merely demanding payment, even repeatedly, does not cause liability." Boathke v. Flour Engineers & Contractors, 713 F.2d 1405 (1983)

This FOIA Request is to obtain a clean, readable, hardcopy of the following documents in question:

1. A copy of the Form 23C Assessment and Supporting Documents for the year in question, which only identifies [Name in upper & lower case], an American Citizen, as having been assessed. The Form 23 C and Supporting Documents must have been signed and dated by an IRS Assessment Officer under Penalties of Perjury against the Assessment Officer in order to be a valid authorized document. [A RACS report is not acceptable.]

2. A copy of the Substituted Tax Form for the year in question completed by the IRS individual who acted under enacted federal tax law to complete such a document.

3. A copy of the Delegation of Authority from the Secretary of the Treasury authorizing the identified IRS agent to complete the Substituted Tax Form for the year in question on behalf of the IRS.

4. An identification of the enacted federal tax law consisting of the specific Statute section in 26 USC and the specific Implementing Regulation section located in 26 CFR imposing the [currently unidentified] tax upon American Citizens.

I understand the penalties provided in 5 USC Section 552(a)(1)(A)(3) for requesting or obtaining access to records under false pretense. This information is being secured for my own behalf for use in the CP 504 action that has been sent. Please identify all correspondence with my name and Social Security Number.

Sec. 556. - Hearings; presiding employees; powers and duties; burden of proof; evidence; record as basis of decision

(a) This section applies, according to the provisions thereof, to hearings required by section 553 or 554 of this title to be conducted in accordance with this section.

(b) There shall preside at the taking of evidence -

(1) the agency;

(2) one or more members of the body which comprises the agency; or

(3) one or more administrative law judges appointed under section 3105 of this title.

This subchapter does not supersede the conduct of specified classes of proceedings, in whole or in part, by or before boards or other employees specially provided for by or designated under statute. The functions of presiding employees and of employees participating in decisions in accordance with section 557 of this title shall be conducted in an impartial manner. A presiding or participating employee may at any time disqualify himself. On the filing in good faith of a timely and sufficient affidavit of personal bias or other disqualification of a presiding or participating employee, the agency shall determine the matter as a part of the record and decision in the case.

(c) Subject to published rules of the agency and within its powers, employees presiding at hearings may -

(1) administer oaths and affirmations;

(2) issue subpenas authorized by law;

(3) rule on offers of proof and receive relevant evidence;

(4) take depositions or have depositions taken when the ends of justice would be served;

(5) regulate the course of the hearing;

(6) hold conferences for the settlement or simplification of the issues by consent of the parties or by the use of alternative means of dispute resolution as provided in subchapter IV of this chapter;

(7) inform the parties as to the availability of one or more alternative means of dispute resolution, and encourage use of such methods;

(8) require the attendance at any conference held pursuant to paragraph (6) of at least one representative of each party who has authority to negotiate concerning resolution of issues in controversy;

(9) dispose of procedural requests or similar matters;

(10) make or recommend decisions in accordance with section 557 of this title; and

(11) take other action authorized by agency rule consistent with this subchapter.

Except as otherwise provided by statute, the proponent of a rule or order has the burden of proof. Any oral or documentary evidence may be received, but the agency as a matter of policy shall provide for the exclusion of irrelevant, immaterial, or unduly repetitious evidence. A sanction may not be imposed or rule or order issued except on consideration of the whole record or those parts thereof cited by a party and supported by and in accordance with the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence. The agency may, to the extent consistent with the interests of justice and the policy of the underlying statutes administered by the agency, consider a violation of section 557(d) of this title sufficient grounds for a decision adverse to a party who has knowingly committed such violation or knowingly caused such violation to occur. A party is entitled to present his case or defense by oral or documentary evidence, to submit rebuttal evidence, and to conduct such cross-examination as may be required for a full and true disclosure of the facts. In rule making or determining claims for money or benefits or applications for initial licenses an agency may, when a party will not be prejudiced thereby, adopt procedures for the submission of all or part of the evidence in written form.

The transcript of testimony and exhibits, together with all papers and requests filed in the proceeding, constitutes the exclusive record for decision in accordance with section 557 of this title and, on payment of lawfully prescribed costs, shall be made available to the parties. When an agency decision rests on official notice of a material fact not appearing in the evidence in the record, a party is entitled, on timely request, to an opportunity to show the contrary
Sec. 7701. - Definitions

The term "or his delegate" -

(i) when used with reference to the Secretary of the Treasury, means any officer, employee, or agency of the Treasury Department duly authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury directly, or indirectly by one or more redelegations of authority, to perform the function mentioned or described in the context; and

(ii) when used with reference to any other official of
Sec. 1313. - Definitions

(a) Determination

For purposes of this part, the term "determination" means - a decision by the Tax Court or a judgment, decree, or other order by any court of competent jurisdiction, which has become final;

(1)

(2)

a closing agreement made under section 7121;

(3)

a final disposition by the Secretary of a claim for refund. For purposes of this part, a claim for refund shall be deemed finally disposed of by the Secretary -

(A)

as to items with respect to which the claim was allowed, on the date of allowance of refund or credit or on the date of mailing notice of disallowance (by reason of offsetting items) of the claim for refund, and

(B)

as to items with respect to which the claim was disallowed, in whole or in part, or as to items applied by the Secretary in reduction of the refund or credit, on expiration of the time for instituting suit with respect thereto (unless suit is instituted before the expiration of such time); or under regulations prescribed by the Secretary, an agreement for purposes of this part, signed by the Secretary and by any person, relating to the liability of such person (or the person for whom he acts) in respect of a tax under this subtitle for any taxable period.

(4)

(b) Taxpayer

Notwithstanding section 7701(a)(14), the term "taxpayer" means any person subject to a tax under the applicable revenue law.

(c) Related taxpayer

For purposes of this part, the term "related taxpayer" means a taxpayer who, with the taxpayer with respect to whom a determination is made, stood, in the taxable year with respect to which the erroneous inclusion, exclusion, omission, allowance, or disallowance was made, in one of the following relationships:

(1) husband and wife,

(2) grantor and fiduciary,

(3) grantor and beneficiary,

(4) fiduciary and beneficiary, legatee, or heir,

(5) decedent and decedent's estate,

(6) partner, or

(7) member of an affiliated group of corporations (as defined in section 1504)
Sec. 6331. - Levy and distraint

(a) Authority of Secretary

If any person liable to pay any tax neglects or refuses to pay the same within 10 days after notice and demand, it shall be lawful for the Secretary to collect such tax (and such further sum as shall be sufficient to cover the expenses of the levy) by levy upon all property and rights to property (except such property as is exempt under section 6334) belonging to such person or on which there is a lien provided in this chapter for the payment of such tax. Levy may be made upon the accrued salary or wages of any officer, employee, or elected official, of the United States, the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of the United States or the District of Columbia, by serving a notice of levy on the employer (as defined in section 3401(d)) of such officer, employee, or elected official. If the Secretary makes a finding that the collection of such tax is in jeopardy, notice and demand for immediate payment of such tax may be made by the Secretary and, upon failure or refusal to pay such tax, collection thereof by levy shall be lawful without regard to the 10-day period provided in this section.

(b) Seizure and sale of property

The term "levy" as used in this title includes the power of distraint and seizure by any means. Except as otherwise provided in subsection (e), a levy shall extend only to property possessed and obligations existing at the time thereof. In any case in which the Secretary may levy upon property or rights to property, he may seize and sell such property or rights to property (whether real or personal, tangible or intangible).

(c) Successive seizures

Whenever any property or right to property upon which levy has been made by virtue of subsection (a) is not sufficient to satisfy the claim of the United States for which levy is made, the Secretary may, thereafter, and as often as may be necessary, proceed to levy in like manner upon any other property liable to levy of the person against whom

(d) Requirement of notice before levy

(1) In general

Levy may be made under subsection (a) upon the salary or wages or other property of any person with respect to any unpaid tax only after the Secretary has notified such person in writing of his intention to make such levy.

(2) 30-day requirement

The notice required under paragraph (1) shall be -

- (A) given in person,
- (B) left at the dwelling or usual place of business of such person, or
- (C) sent by certified or registered mail to such person's last known address.

LEGISLATIVE INTENT

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD - SENATE - JUNE 16, 1909

[From Pages 3344 - 3345]

EXHIBIT 29

The Secretary read as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

It is the constitutional duty of the President from time to time to recommend to the consideration of Congress such measures, as he shall judge necessary and expedient. In my inaugural address, immediately preceding this present extraordinary session of Congress, I invited attention to the necessity for a revision of the tariff at this session, and stated the principles upon which I thought the revision should be affected. I referred to the then rapidly increasing deficit and pointed out the obligation on the part of the framers of the tariff bill to arrange the duty so as to secure an adequate income, and suggested that if it was not possible to do so by import duties, new kinds of taxation must be adopted, and among them I recommended a graduated inheritance tax as correct in principle and as certain and easy of collection.

The House of Representatives has adopted the suggestion, and has provided in the bill it passed for the collection of such a tax. In the Senate the action of its Finance Committee and the course of the debate indicate that it may not agree to this provision, and it is now proposed to make up the deficit by the imposition of a general income tax, in form and substance of almost exactly the same character as, that which in the case of Pollock v. Farmer's Loan and Trust Company (157 U.S., 429) was held by the Supreme Court to be a direct tax, and therefore not within the power of the Federal Government to impose unless apportioned among the several States according to population. [Emphasis added] This new proposal, which I did not discuss in my inaugural address or in my message at the opening of the present session, makes it appropriate for me to submit to the Congress certain additional recommendations.

Again, it is clear that by the enactment of the proposed law the Congress will not be bringing money into the Treasury to meet the present deficiency. The decision of the Supreme Court in the income-tax cases deprived the National Government of a power which, by reason of previous decisions of the court, it was generally supposed that government had. It is undoubtedly a power the National Government ought to have. It might be indispensable to the Nation's life in great crises. Although I have not considered a constitutional amendment as necessary to the exercise of certain phases of this power, a mature consideration has satisfied me that an amendment is the only proper course for its establishment to its full extent.

I therefore recommend to the Congress that both Houses, by a two-thirds vote, shall propose an amendment to the Constitution conferring the power to levy an income tax upon the National Government without apportionment among the States in proportion to population.

This course is much to be preferred to the one proposed of reenacting a law once judicially declared to be unconstitutional. For the Congress to assume that the court will reverse itself, and to enact legislation on such an assumption, will not strengthen popular confidence in the stability of judicial construction of the Constitution. It is much wiser policy to accept the decision and remedy the defect by amendment in due and regular course.
Again, it is clear that by the enactment of the proposed law the Congress will not be bringing money into the Treasury to meet the present deficiency, but by putting on the statute book a law already there and never repealed will simply be suggesting to the executive officers of the Government their possible duty to invoke litigation.

If the court should maintain its former view, no tax would be collected at all. If it should ultimately reverse itself, still no taxes would have been collected until after protracted delay.

It is said the difficulty and delay in securing the approval of three-fourths of the States will destroy all chance of adopting the amendment. Of course, no one can speak with certainty upon this point, but I have become convinced that a great majority of the people of this country are in favor of investing the National Government with power to levy an income tax, and that they will secure the adoption of the amendment in the States, if proposed to them.

Second, the decision in the Pollock case left power in the National Government to levy an excise tax, which accomplishes the same purpose as a corporation income tax and is free from certain objections urged to the proposed income tax measure.

I therefore recommend an amendment to the tariff bill imposing upon all corporations and joint stock companies for profit, except national banks (otherwise taxed), savings banks, and building and loan associations, an excise tax measured by 2 per cent on the net income of such corporations. This is an excise tax upon the privilege of doing business as an artificial entity and of freedom from a general partnership liability enjoyed by those who own the stock. (Emphasis added) I am informed that a 2 per cent tax of this character would bring into the Treasury of the United States not less than $25,000,000.

The decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Spreckels Sugar Refining Company against McClain (192 U.S., 397), seems clearly to establish the principle that such a tax as this is an excise tax upon privilege and not a direct tax on property, and is within the federal power without apportionment according to population. The tax on net income is preferable to one proportionate to a percentage of the gross receipts, because it is a tax upon success and not failure. It imposes a burden at the source of the income at a time when the corporation is well able to pay and when collection is easy.

Another merit of this tax is the federal supervision, which must be exercised in order to make the law effective over the annual accounts and business transactions of all corporations. While the faculty of assuming a corporate form has been of the utmost utility in the business world, it is also true that substantially all of the abuses and all of the evils which have aroused the public to the necessity of reform were made possible by the use of this very faculty. If now, by a perfectly legitimate and effective system of taxation, we are incidentally able to possess the Government and the stockholders and the public of the knowledge of the real business transactions and the gains and profits of every corporation in the country, we have made a long step toward that supervisory control of corporations which may prevent a further abuse of power.

I recommend, then, first, the adoption of a joint resolution by two-thirds of both Houses, proposing to the States an amendment to the Constitution granting to the Federal Government the right to levy and collect an income tax without apportionment among the several States according to population; and, second, the enactment, as part of the pending revenue measure, either as a substitute for, or in addition to, the inheritance tax, of an excise tax upon all corporations, measured by 2 percent of their net income.

Sec. 1349. - Corporation organized under federal law as party

The district courts shall not have jurisdiction of any civil action by or against any corporation upon the ground that it was incorporated by or under an Act of Congress, unless the United States is the owner of more than one-half of its capital stock.
§ 103.34 Additional records to be made and retained by banks.

(a)(1) With respect to each certificate of deposit sold or redeemed after May 31, 1978, and before October 1, 2003, or each deposit or share account opened with a bank after June 30, 1972, and before October 1, 2003, a bank shall, within 30 days from the date such a transaction occurs or an account is opened, secure and maintain a record of the taxpayer identification number of the customer involved; or where the account or certificate is in the names of two or more persons, the bank shall secure the taxpayer identification number of a person having a financial interest in the certificate or account. In the event that a bank has been unable to secure, within the 30-day period specified, the required identification, it shall nevertheless not be deemed to be in violation of this section if (i) it has made a reasonable effort to secure such identification, and (ii) it maintains a list containing the names, addresses, and account numbers of those persons from whom it has been unable to secure such identification, and makes the list available to the Secretary as directed by him. A bank acting as an agent for another person in the purchase or redemption of a certificate of deposit issued by another bank is responsible for obtaining and recording the required taxpayer identification, as well as for maintaining the records referred to in paragraphs (b)(11) and (12) of this section. The issuing bank can satisfy the recordkeeping requirement by recording the name and address of the agent together with a description of the instrument and the date of the transaction. Where a person is a non-resident alien, the bank shall also record the person's passport number or a description of some other government document used to verify his identity.

(2) The 30-day period provided for in paragraph (a)(1) of this section shall be extended where the person opening the account has applied for a taxpayer identification or social security number on Form SS-4 or SS-5, until such time as the person maintaining the account has had a reasonable opportunity to secure such number and furnish it to the bank.

(3) A taxpayer identification number required under paragraph (a)(1) of this section need not be secured for accounts or transactions with the following: (i) Agencies and instrumentalities of Federal, state, local or foreign governments; (ii) judges, public officials, or clerks of courts of record as custodians of funds in controversy or...

under the control of the court; (iii) aliens who are (A) ambassadors, ministers, career diplomatic or consular officers, or (B) naval, military or other attaches of foreign embassies and legations, and for the members of their immediate families; (iv) aliens who are accredited representatives of international organizations which are entitled to enjoy privileges, exemptions and immunities as an international organization under the International Organization Immunities Act of December 29, 1945 (22 U.S.C. 288), and the members of their immediate families; (v) aliens temporarily residing in the United States for a period not to exceed 180 days; (vi) aliens not engaged in a trade or business in the United States who are attending a recognized college or university or any training program, supervised or conducted by any agency of the Federal Government; (vii) unincorporated subordinate units of a tax exempt central organization which are covered by a group exemption letter. (viii) a person under 18 years of age with respect to an account opened as a part of a school thrift savings program, provided the annual interest is less than $10; (ix) a person opening a Christmas club, vacation club and similar installment savings programs provided the annual interest is less than $10; and (x) non-resident aliens who are not engaged in a trade or business in the United States. In instances described in paragraphs (a)(viii) and (ix) of this section, the bank shall, within 15 days following the end of any calendar year in which the interest accrued in that year is $10 or more use its best effort to secure and maintain the appropriate taxpayer identification number or application form therefor.

(4) The rules and regulations issued by the Internal Revenue Service under section 6109 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 shall determine what constitutes a taxpayer identification number and whose number shall be obtained in the case of an account maintained by one or more persons.

(b) Each bank shall, in addition, retain either the original or a microfilm or other copy or reproduction of each of the following:

(1) Each document granting signature authority over each deposit or share account, including any notations, if such are normally made, of specific identifying information verifying the identity of the signer (such as a driver's license number or credit card number);

(2) Each statement, ledger card or other record on each deposit or share account, showing each transaction in, or with respect to, that account;

(3) Each check, clean draft, or money order drawn on the bank or issued and payable by it, except those drawn for $100 or less or those drawn on accounts which can be expected to have drawn on them an average of at least 100 checks per month over the calendar year or on each occasion on which such checks are issued, and which are (i) dividend checks, (ii) payroll checks, (iii) employee benefit checks, (iv) insurance claim checks, (v) medical benefit checks, (vi) checks drawn on government agency accounts, (vii) checks drawn by brokers or dealers in securities, (viii) checks drawn on fiduciary accounts, (ix) checks drawn on other financial institutions, or (x) pension or annuity checks;

(4) Each item in excess of $100 (other than bank charges or periodic charges made pursuant to agreement with the customer), comprising a debit to a customer's deposit or share account, not required to be kept, and not specifically exempted, under paragraph (b)(3) of this section;

(5) Each item, including checks, drafts, or transfers of credit, of more than $10,000 remitted or transferred to a person, account or place outside the United States;

(6) A record of each remittance or transfer of funds, or of currency, other monetary instruments, checks, investment securities, or credit, of more than $10,000 to a person, account or place outside the United States;

(7) Each check or draft in an amount in excess of $10,000 drawn on or issued by a foreign bank which the domestic bank has paid or presented to a nonbank drawee for payment;

(8) Each item, including checks, drafts or transfers of credit, of more than $10,000 received directly and not

(a) Payments of $600 or more

All persons engaged in a trade or business and making payment in the course of such trade or business to another person, of rent, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensations, remunerations, emoluments, or other fixed or determinable gains, profits, and income (other than payments to which section 6042 (a)(1), 6044 (a)(1), 6047 (e), 6049 (a), or 6050N (a) applies, and other than payments with respect to which a statement is required under the authority of section 6042 (a)(2), 6044 (a)(2), or 6045), of $600 or more in any taxable year, or, in the case of such payments made by the United States, the officers or employees of the United States having information as to such payments and required to make returns in regard thereto by the regulations hereinafter provided for, shall render a true and accurate return to the Secretary, under such regulations and in such form and manner and to such extent as may be prescribed by the Secretary, setting forth the amount of such gains, profits, and income, and the name and address of the recipient of such payment.

(b) Collection of foreign items

In the case of collections of items (not payable in the United States) of interest upon the bonds of foreign countries and interest upon the bonds of and dividends from foreign corporations by any person undertaking as a matter of business or for profit the collection of foreign payments of such interest or dividends by means of coupons, checks, or bills of exchange, such person shall make a return according to the forms or regulations prescribed by the Secretary, setting forth the amount paid and the name and address of the recipient of each such payment.

(c) Recipient to furnish name and address

When necessary to make effective the provisions of this section, the name and address of the recipient of income shall be furnished upon demand of the person paying the income.

§ 6014. Income tax return—tax not computed by taxpayer

(a) Election by taxpayer

An individual who does not itemize his deductions and who is not described in section 6012 (a)(1)(C)(i), whose gross income is less than $10,000 and includes no income other than remuneration for services performed by him as an employee, dividends or interest, and whose gross income other than wages, as defined in section 3401 (a), does not exceed $100, shall at his election not be required to show on the return the tax imposed by section 1. Such election shall be made by using the form prescribed for purposes of this section. In such case the tax shall be computed by the Secretary who shall mail to the taxpayer a notice stating the amount determined as payable.

(b) Regulations

The Secretary shall prescribe regulations for carrying out this section, and such regulations may provide for the application of the rules of this section—

1. to cases where the gross income includes items other than those enumerated by subsection (a),
2. to cases where the gross income from sources other than wages on which the tax has been withheld at the source is more than $100,
3. to cases where the gross income is $10,000 or more, or
4. to cases where the taxpayer itemizes his deductions or where the taxpayer claims a reduced standard deduction by reason of section 63 (c)(5).

Such regulations shall provide for the application of this section in the case of husband and wife, including provisions determining when a joint return under this section may be permitted or required, whether the liability shall be joint and several, and whether one spouse may make return under this section and the other without regard to this section.
§ 6011. General requirement of return, statement, or list

(a) General rule
When required by regulations prescribed by the Secretary any person made liable for any tax imposed by this title, or with respect to the collection thereof, shall make a return or statement according to the forms and regulations prescribed by the Secretary. Every person required to make a return or statement shall include therein the information required by such forms or regulations.

(b) Identification of taxpayer
The Secretary is authorized to require such information with respect to persons subject to the taxes imposed by chapter 21 or chapter 24 as is necessary or helpful in securing proper identification of such persons.

(c) Returns, etc., of DISCS and former DISCS and FSC’s and former FSC’s

(1) Records and information
A DISC or former DISC or a FSC or former FSC shall for the taxable year—

(A) furnish such information to persons who were shareholders at any time during such taxable year, and to the Secretary, and

(B) keep such records, as may be required by regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

(2) Returns
A DISC shall file for the taxable year such returns as may be prescribed by the Secretary by forms or regulations.

(d) Authority to require information concerning section 912 allowances
The Secretary may by regulations require any individual who receives allowances which are excluded from gross income under section 912 for any taxable year to include on his return of the taxes imposed by subtitle A for such taxable year such information with respect to the amount and type of such allowances as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.
§ 6001. Notice or regulations requiring records, statements, and special returns

Every person liable for any tax imposed by this title, or for the collection thereof, shall keep such records, render such statements, make such returns, and comply with such rules and regulations as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe. Whenever in the judgment of the Secretary it is necessary, he may require any person, by notice served upon such person or by regulations, to make such returns, render such statements, or keep such records, as the Secretary deems sufficient to show whether or not such person is liable for tax under this title. The only records which an employer shall be required to keep under this section in connection with charged tips shall be charge receipts, records necessary to comply with section 6053 (c), and copies of statements furnished by employees under section 6053 (a).

§ 7408. Actions to enjoin specified conduct related to tax shelters and reportable transactions

(a) Authority to seek injunction
A civil action in the name of the United States to enjoin any person from further engaging in specified conduct may be commenced at the request of the Secretary. Any action under this section shall be brought in the district court of the United States for the district in which such person resides, has his principal place of business, or has engaged in specified conduct. The court may exercise its jurisdiction over such action (as provided in section 7402 (a)) separate and apart from any other action brought by the United States against such person.

(b) Adjudication and decree
In any action under subsection (a), if the court finds—

1. that the person has engaged in any specified conduct, and
2. that injunctive relief is appropriate to prevent recurrence of such conduct, the court may enjoin such person from engaging in such conduct or in any other activity subject to penalty under this title.

(c) Specified conduct
For purposes of this section, the term "specified conduct" means any action, or failure to take action, which is—

1. subject to penalty under section 6700, 6701, 6707, or 6708, or
2. in violation of any requirement under regulations issued under section 330 of title 31, United States Code.

(d) Citizens and residents outside the United States
If any citizen or resident of the United States does not reside in, and does not have his principal place of business in, any United States judicial district, such citizen or resident shall be treated for purposes of this section as residing in the District of Columbia.

All offices attached to the seat of government shall be exercised in the District of Columbia, and not elsewhere, except as otherwise expressly provided by law.
§ 7433. Civil damages for certain unauthorized collection actions

(a) In general
If, in connection with any collection of Federal tax with respect to a taxpayer, any officer or employee of the Internal Revenue Service recklessly or intentionally, or by reason of negligence, disregards any provision of this title, or any regulation promulgated under this title, such taxpayer may bring a civil action for damages against the United States in a district court of the United States. Except as provided in section 7432, such civil action shall be the exclusive remedy for recovering damages resulting from such actions.

(b) Damages
In any action brought under subsection (a) or petition filed under subsection (e), upon a finding of liability on the part of the defendant, the defendant shall be liable to the plaintiff in an amount equal to the lesser of $1,000,000 ($100,000, in the case of negligence) or the sum of—

(1) actual, direct economic damages sustained by the plaintiff as a proximate result of the reckless or intentional or negligent actions of the officer or employee, and

(2) the costs of the action.

(c) Payment authority
Claims pursuant to this section shall be payable out of funds appropriated under section 1304 of title 31, United States Code.

(d) Limitations
(1) Requirement that administrative remedies be exhausted
A judgment for damages shall not be awarded under subsection (b) unless the court determines that the plaintiff has exhausted the administrative remedies available to such plaintiff within the Internal Revenue Service.

(2) Mitigation of damages
The amount of damages awarded under subsection (b)(1) shall be reduced by the amount of such damages which could have
No civil action for the collection or recovery of taxes, or of any fine, penalty, or forfeiture, shall be commenced unless the Secretary authorizes or sanctions the proceedings and the Attorney General or his delegate directs that the action be commenced.

Referrals to Examination

5.1.11.6.4.1 (05-27-1999)
Preparation of Form 3449

1. Prepare Form 3449 Referral Report with sufficient information for Examination to prepare a return(s) for taxpayers who refuse or fail to file once contacted. To complete Form 3449, follow the steps outlined below:

A. For IMF referrals, state the income, (must meet current LEM criteria)) the amount of withholding, and compute the potential tax due using Filing Status 1 or 3 with no deductions or exemptions. State which documents or sources were used to compute income and withholding. Thoroughly document the non-IRP income and sources;

Note:
1. The Employment Tax Program is responsible for determining when income of independent contractors or officers of corporations should be reported as wages subject to income tax and or FICA. The program responsibilities involve determining the appropriateness of the following:

   A. Withholding of income tax on wages of employees reported on Form 941, 941-M and Form 1042

   B. Employer tax and employee tax (Social Security) under the General Insurance Contribution Act Form 941, Form 942, Form 943 and Schedule H (Form 1040)

   C. Employer tax and employee tax for retirement purposes imposed on employers of individuals performing railroad services and the railroad employee representatives tax reported on CT-1 and CT-2

   D. Withholding on certain gambling winnings reported on Form 941, Form 945 and Form 1042 by the payor of winnings

   E. Backup withholding

   F. Tax for unemployment insurance under the Federal Unemployment Act reported on 940

   G. Withholding of tax under IRC 1441 and 1442

2. Refer a case to the area Employment Tax Program or the PSP Support Manager in Compliance when it is determined during an investigation that a taxpayer may be treating employees as independent contractors or officers may be taking draws, loans, dividends, professional or administrative fees, etc., to avoid reporting taxable wages.

3. Refer potential Employee/Employer relationship determinations on Form 3449 relating all the facts of the case.

4. Internal Revenue Manual 4600, Employment Tax Handbook, contains additional information for all functions pertaining to the administration of Employee/Employer classification issues.

5.1.11.6.10 (05-27-1999) IRC 6020(b) Authority

   1. The following returns may be prepared, signed and assessed under the authority of IRC 6020(b):

      A. Form 940, Employer’s Annual Federal Unemployment Tax Return

      B. Form 941, Employer’s Quarterly Federal Tax Return

      C. Form 943, Employer’s Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees

      D. Form 720, Quarterly Federal Excise Tax Return

      E. Form 2290, Heavy Vehicle Use Tax Return

      F. Form 2670, Return of Partnership Income
Authority to Execute Returns

The authority granted to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue by 26 CFR 301.6020-1(b) and 26 CFR 301.7701-9 to execute returns required by any internal revenue law or regulation made thereunder when the person required to file such return fails to do so, is delegated to:

1. Revenue agents;
2. Tax auditors;
3. Revenue officers, GS-9 and above;
4. Collection Office function managers, GS-9 and above;
5. Automated Collection Branch Managers, GS-9 and above; and
6. Service Center Collection Branch managers, GS-9 and above.

The authority delegated herein may not be redelegated.

Delegation Order No. 182 (Rev. 2), effective March 7, 1983, is superseded.

/s/ James I. Owens
Deputy Commissioner

The IRM restricts the broad delegation shown in figure 23-2, for revenue officers, to employment, excise, and partnership tax returns because of constitutional issues. (You have already studied audit referrals as a means to enforce compliance on income tax returns).

Generally you can file the following returns, using the authority granted by IRC section 6020(b):

1. Form 940, Employer's Annual Federal Unemployment Tax Return
2. Form 941, Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return
Dear Mr.,

This is in response to your Privacy Act request dated October 15, 1993.

The document locator numbers identified in your request are for Substitute for Returns, Form 1040. As stated in our prior response, these documents are available through routine processing procedures. Please refer to the enclosed page from Internal Revenue Manual 1273.

Delegation orders which authorize Internal Revenue Service employees to create substitutes for returns do not exist. This is part of a processing procedure Imposed in an Internal Revenue Manual. If you wish to obtain a copy of the appropriate manual, you should address your inquiry to:

Exhibit F
Mr. CURTIS. So in comparing the number of men in the top echelon who would supervise the people in the field, that varies from district to district?

Mr. AVIS. That is true. In some districts where we do not have very much of a permissive problem, we would not have as many permissive supervisors.

Mr. CURTIS. What is a permissive problem?

Mr. AVIS. That is your tax problem, your regulatory problem, your regulation of your industry; that is what we refer to generally as the permissive side, that is, distinguished from the law enforcement.

Chairman KEAN. They are classified differently?

Mr. AVIS. Depending on the job they do. For example, take in the Denver district and the Seattle district, the problem there does not correspond to the Louisville district, for example, which is a large distilling center, and in Indiana and Kentucky, and consequently they are not graded as high.

Chairman KEAN. You still have the same title, but not the same grade and salary?

Mr. AVIS. That is right, sir.

Chairman KEAN. And the staff is much smaller in one area than in another?

Mr. AVIS. Much smaller, and that applies to rank and file, of course, as well as to intermediate supervisory positions.

Chairman KEAN. The only reason some of these areas exist are for geographical reasons, and otherwise you would probably make it a lot bigger to cover more territory, but for geographical reasons you have to bunch them close together, some of the smaller ones?

Mr. AVIS. That is true, sir.

Mr. CURTIS. I have one more question. What type of alcohol and liquor tax problem would be referred to the Bureau of Internal Revenue generally, and not be confined to and finally disposed of in the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division?

Mr. AVIS. I do not believe there is any.

One of my assistants refers to policy and personnel, and of course, under this new structure, we are concerned here in Washington, as I pointed out largely with policy and in administering the industry, rather than directing the personnel. That is left primarily to the district commissioners or, rather, the assistant district commissioners.

Mr. CURTIS. An alcohol tax matter that would go to the Appeals Section --

Mr. AVIS. There is just no such thing. That is where this structure differs.

Let me point this out now: Your income tax is 100 percent voluntary tax and your liquor tax is 100 percent enforced tax. Now, the situation is as different as night and day. Consequently, your same rules just will not apply, and therefore the alcohol and tobacco tax has been handled here in this reorganization a little differently, because of the very nature of it, than the rest of the overall tax problem.

EXHIBIT 37

The provisions of subtitle F shall take effect on the day after the date of enactment of this title and shall be applicable with respect to any tax imposed by this title. The provisions of subtitle F shall apply with respect to any tax imposed by the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 only to the extent provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C) of this paragraph.

(B) Assessment, collection, and refunds
Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph (A), and notwithstanding any contrary provision of subchapter A of chapter 63 (relating to assessment), chapter 64 (relating to collection), or chapter 65 (relating to abatements, credits, and refunds) of this title, the provisions of part II of subchapter A of chapter 28 and chapters 35, 29, and 37 (except section 3777) of subtitle D of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 shall remain in effect until January 1, 1955, and shall also be applicable to the taxes imposed by this title. On and after January 1, 1955, the provisions of subchapter A of chapter 63, chapter 64, and chapter 65 (except section 6405) of this title shall be applicable to all internal revenue taxes (whether imposed by this title or by the Internal Revenue Code of 1939), notwithstanding any contrary provision of part II of subchapter A of chapter 28, or of chapter 35, 36, or 37, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939. The provisions of section 6405 (relating to reports of refunds and credits) shall be applicable with respect to refunds or credits allowed after the date of enactment of this title, and section 3777 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 is hereby repealed with respect to such refunds and credits.

(C) Taxes imposed under the 1939 Code
After the date of enactment of this title, the following provisions of subtitle F shall apply to the taxes imposed by the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, notwithstanding any contrary provisions of such code:

(i) Chapter 73, relating to bonds.
(ii) Chapter 74, relating to closing agreements and compromises.
(iii) Chapter 75, relating to crimes and other offenses, but only insofar as it relates to offenses committed after the date of enactment of this title, and in the case of such offenses, section 6531, relating to periods of limitation on criminal prosecution, shall be applicable. The penalties (other than penalties which may be assessed) provided by the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 shall not apply to offenses, committed after the date of enactment of this title, to which chapter 75 of this title is applicable.
shall remain in force and effect with respect to remuneration paid after December 31, 1954, for services performed on or before such date.

(4) Subtitle D

Subtitle D of this title shall take effect on January 1, 1955.

Subtitles B and C of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 (except chapters 7, 9, 15, 26, and 28, subchapter B of chapter 25, and parts VII and VIII of subchapter A of chapter 27 of such code) are hereby repealed effective January 1, 1955. Provisions having the same effect as section 6416(b)(2)(H), \[1\] and so much of section 4082(c) (FOOTNOTE 1) as refers to special motor fuels, shall be considered to be included in the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 effective as of May 1, 1954. Section 2450(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 (as amended by the Excise Tax Reduction Act of 1954) applies to the period beginning on April 1, 1954, and ending on December 31, 1954.

(5) Subtitle E

Subtitle E shall take effect on January 1, 1955, except that the provisions in section 5411 permitting the use of a brewery under regulations prescribed by the Secretary for the purpose of producing and bottling soft drinks, section 5554, and chapter 53 shall take effect on the day after the date of enactment of this title. Subchapter B of chapter 25, and part VIII of subchapter A of chapter 27, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 are hereby repealed effective on the day after the date of enactment of this title. Chapters 15 and 26, and part VII of subchapter A of chapter 27, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 are hereby repealed effective January 1, 1955.

(6) Subtitle F

(A) General rule

The provisions of subtitle F shall take effect on the day after the date of enactment of this title and shall be applicable with respect to any tax imposed by this title. The provisions of subtitle F shall apply with respect to any tax imposed by the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 only to the extent provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C) of this paragraph.

(B) Assessment, collection, and refunds

Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph (A), and notwithstanding any contrary provision of subchapter A of chapter 63 (relating to assessment), chapter 64 (relating to collection), or chapter 65 (relating to abatements, credits, and refunds) of this chapter...

FEDERAL JURISDICTION TAX QUESTION ANSWERED

2001 WL 306496
87 A.F.T.R.2d 2001-1233, 2001-1 USTC P 50.366
(Cite as: 2001 WL 306496 (S.D.Cal.))

United States District Court, S.D. California.
Matthew A. FOGEL, Plaintiff.
v.
UNITED STATES of America, Defendant.
No. 00-CV-2293-J (LSP).

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT’S MOTION TO DISMISS WITH PREJUDICE

JONES, District J.

This matter comes before the Court on the United States OF America’s Motion to Dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction and failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Because section 2201(a) of the Declaratory Judgment Act [FN1] expressly denies federal courts subject matter jurisdiction over requests for declaratory judgments in federal tax matters, the Government’s motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction is GRANTED with prejudice. Because the Court lacks jurisdiction, Defendant’s motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted is DENIED as MOOT.

BACKGROUND

Plaintiff, Matthew A. Fogel, was born in New York and has paid taxes in the United States for several years. (Compl.PP 6, 10.) On November 14,2000, Mr. Fogel, in propria persona, filed a complaint against the United States of America, alleging “fraud, slavery and involuntary servitude in the application of the Collective Entity Rule.” (Compl. at 1.) Plaintiff claims that obtaining a Social Security Number from the government amounts to a contractual relationship with the United States and that paying taxes is voluntary under that contractual relationship. Plaintiff further alleges that because he was not born "within the boundaries of the United States" he is not a "person" or "taxpayer" within the meaning of the United States tax code and thus, his social security "contract" is void. (Compl. PP 10-13.) Plaintiff now seeks a declaratory judgment which provides him with "non-taxpayer" status and rescinds all "contracts" between him and the United States. (Compl. at 3.)

DISCUSSION

I. Subject Matter Jurisdiction

A. Standard of Review

Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1), a motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction may be properly granted if the plaintiff does not meet its burden in establishing that the court has such jurisdiction. Because federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction, the plaintiff must demonstrate that the court has been authorized to preside over the case either by statute or the constitution. See Willy v. Coastal Corp., 503 U.S. 131, 136-37 (1992). Whenever it appears that the court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, the court is obligated to dismiss the action. Fed.R.Civ.P. 12(h) (3). In a suit against the United States, a 12(b)(1) motion is proper when sovereign immunity has not been waived. See McCarthy v. United States, 850 F.2d 558, 560 (9th Cir.1988). "[A] waiver cannot be implied but must be unequivocally expressed." United States v. King, 395 U.S. 1,4 (1969).

B. Analysis

The government's motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction must be granted pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2201(a), which expressly declares an exception to federal court jurisdiction in controversies "with respect to Federal taxes" when the plaintiff requests declaratory relief. See Hughes v. United States, 953 F.2d 531, 536-37 (9th Cir.1991) (where the real issue in the case is whether the plaintiff must pay taxes, the court lacks subject matter jurisdiction under § 2201). Because Plaintiff has requested a declaratory judgment finding that he is a "non-taxpayer" and is not required to file taxes in the United States, this Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction and is obligated to grant the United States' motion to dismiss.

"2 Furthermore, even if Plaintiff's claim validly invoked federal question jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1331, he has failed to demonstrate that the United States has given consent to be sued and thereby waived its sovereign immunity, a requirement that must be met before this Court may preside over such a case. See United States v. Dalm, 494 U.S. 596,608 (1990). Section 1331 itself does not contain a waiver of sovereign immunity. See Kester v. Campbell, 652 F.2d 13 (9th Cir.1981). Because the Plaintiff has failed to establish that the United States has waved its sovereign immunity, there is undeniably no subject matter jurisdiction in this case. [FN2]

FN2. Plaintiff filed an untimely opposition motion for summary judgment on January 25, 2001. In it he asserts that the United States is not sovereign to him, thus no waiver is necessary. Plaintiff's failure to recognize the U.S. as his sovereign does not obliterate the doctrine of sovereign immunity.

CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, Defendant's Motion to Dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction is GRANTED with prejudice pursuant to section 2201(a) of Declaratory Judgment Act. The Defendant's Motion to Dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted is DENIED as MOOT. Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment is also DENIED as MOOT. The Clerk of the Court is ORDERED to close this file.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

END OF DOCUMENT
FRCP 12 (b) HOW PRESENTED.

Every defense, in law or fact, to a claim for relief in any pleading, whether a claim, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party claim, shall be asserted in the responsive pleading thereto if one is required, except that the following defenses may at the option of the pleader be made by motion:

1) lack of jurisdiction over the subject matter,
2) lack of jurisdiction over the person,
3) improper venue,
4) insufficiency of process,
5) insufficiency of service of process
6) failure to state a claim for which relief can be granted.

FRCP 12 (h) WAIVER OR PRESERVATION OF CERTAIN DEFENSES

(1) A defense of lack of jurisdiction over the person, improper venue, insufficiency of process, or insufficiency of service of process is waived (A) if omitted from a motion in the circumstances described in subdivision (g), or (B) if it is neither made by motion under this rule nor included in a responsive pleading or an amendment thereof permitted by Rule 15(a) to be made as a matter of course.

(2) A defense of failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, a defense of failure to join a party indispensable under Rule 19, and an objection of failure to state a legal defense to a claim may be made in any pleading permitted or order under Rule 7(a), or by motion for judgment on the pleadings, or at the trial on the merits.

(3) Whenever it appears by suggestion of the parties or otherwise that the court lacks jurisdiction of the subject matter, the court shall dismiss the action.
United States Supreme Court Decisions regarding ‘once subject matter jurisdiction has been challenged, the court shall go no further’.

EXHIBIT 40

“When a federal court review the sufficiency of a complaint, the issue is not whether a plaintiff will ultimately prevail but whether the claimant is entitled to offer evidence to support the claims. Indeed it may appear on the face of the pleadings that a recovery is very remote and unlikely but that is not the test.

In passing on a motion to dismiss, whether on the ground of lack of jurisdiction over the subject matter or for failure to state a cause of action, the allegations of the complaint should be construed favorably to the pleader.”

“Despite a federal trial court’s threshold denial of a motion to remand, if, at the end of the day a case, a jurisdictional defect remains uncured, the judgment must be vacated.”
Sec. 31.3402(p)-1 Voluntary withholding agreements.

(a) In general. An employee and his employer may enter into an agreement under section 3402(b) to provide for the withholding of income tax upon payments of amounts described in paragraph (b)(1) of Sec.31.3401 (a)-3, made after December 31, 1970. An agreement may be entered into under this section only with respect to amounts, which are includible in the gross income of the employee under section 61, and must be applicable to all such amounts paid by the employer to the employee. The amount to be withheld pursuant to an agreement under section 3402(p) shall be determined under the rules contained in section 3402 and the regulations thereunder. See Sec. 31.3405(c)-1, Q and A-3 concerning agreements to have more than 20-percent Federal income tax withheld from eligible rollover distributions within the meaning of section 402.

(b) Form and duration of agreement.

(1) (i) Except as provided in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, an employee who desires to enter into an agreement under section 3402(p) shall furnish his employer with Form W-4 (withholding exemption certificate) executed in accordance with the provisions of section 3402(f) and the regulations thereunder. The furnishing of such Form W-4 shall constitute a request for withholding.

(ii) In the case of an employee who desires to enter into an agreement under section 3402 (p) with his employer, if the employee performs services (in addition to those to be the subject of the agreement) the remuneration for which is subject to mandatory income tax withholding by such employer, or if the employee wishes to specify that the agreement terminate on a specific date, the employee shall furnish the employer with a request for withholding which shall be signed by the employee, and shall contain:

(a) The name, address, and social security number of the employee making the request;

(b) The name and address of the employer;

(c) A statement that the employee desires to terminate withholding of Federal income tax, and if applicable, of qualified State individual income tax (see paragraph (d) (3)(i) of Sec. 301.6361-1 of this chapter [Regulations on Procedures and Administration]); and

(d) If the employee desires that the agreement terminate on a specific date, the date of the termination of the agreement.
If accepted by the employer as provided in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph, the request shall be attached to, and constitute part of, the employee's Form W-4. An employee who furnishes his employer a request for withholding under this subdivision shall also furnish such employer with Form W-4 if such employee does not already have a Form W-4 in effect with such employer.

(iii) No request for withholding under section 3402(p) shall be effective as an agreement between an employer and an employee until the employer accepts the request by commencing to withhold from the amounts with respect to which the request was made.

(2) An agreement under section 3402 (p) shall be effective for such period as the employer and employee mutually agree upon. However, either the employer or the employee may terminate the agreement prior to the end of such period by furnishing a signed written notice to the other. Unless the employer and the employee agree to an earlier termination date, the notice shall be effective with respect to the first payment of an amount in respect of which the agreement is in effect which is made on or after the first "status determination date" (January 1, May 1, July 1, and October 1 of each year) that occurs at least 30 days after the date on which the notice is furnished. If the employee executes a new Form W-4, the request upon which an agreement under section 3402 (p) is based shall be attached to, and constitute a part of, such new Form W-4.

Sec. 3402. - Income tax collected at source

(a) Requirement of withholding

(1) In general

Except as otherwise provided in this section, every employer making payment of wages shall deduct and withhold upon such wages a tax determined in accordance with tables or computational procedures prescribed by the Secretary. Any tables or procedures prescribed under this paragraph shall -

(A) apply with respect to the amount of wages paid during such periods as the Secretary may prescribe, and

(B) be in such form, and provide for such amounts to be deducted and withheld, as the Secretary determines to be most appropriate to carry out the purposes of this chapter and to reflect the provisions of chapter 1 applicable to such periods.

(2) Amount of wages

For purposes of applying tables or procedures prescribed under paragraph (1), the term "the amount of wages" means the amount by which the wages exceed the number of withholding exemptions claimed multiplied by the amount of one such exemption. The amount of each withholding exemption shall be equal to the amount of one personal exemption provided in section 151(b), prorated to the payroll period. The maximum number of withholding exemptions permitted shall be calculated in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary under this section, taking into account any reduction in withholding to which an employee is entitled under this section.

(b) Percentage method of withholding

Sec. 3121. - Definitions

(a) Wages

For purposes of this chapter, the term "wages" means all remuneration for employment, including the cash value of all remuneration (including benefits) paid in any medium other than cash; except that such term shall not include - in the case of the taxes imposed by sections 3101(a) and 3111(a) that part of the remuneration which, after remuneration (other than remuneration referred to in the succeeding paragraphs of this subsection) equal to the contribution and benefit base (as determined under section 230 of the Social Security Act) with respect to employment has been paid to an individual by an employer during the calendar year with respect to which such contribution and benefit base is effective, is paid to such individual by such employer during such calendar year. If an employer (hereinafter referred to as successor employer) during any calendar year acquires substantially all the property used in a trade or business of another employer (hereinafter referred to as a predecessor), or used in a separate unit of a trade or business of a predecessor, and immediately after the acquisition employs in his trade or business an individual who immediately prior to the acquisition was employed in the trade or business of such predecessor, then, for the purpose of determining whether the successor employer has paid remuneration (other than remuneration referred to in the succeeding paragraphs of this subsection) with respect to employment equal to the contribution and benefit base (as determined under section 230 of the Social Security Act) to such individual during such calendar year, any remuneration (other than remuneration referred to in the succeeding paragraphs of this subsection) with respect to employment paid (or considered under this paragraph as having been paid) to such individual by such predecessor during such calendar year and prior to such acquisition shall be considered as having been paid by such successor employer; than one-half of any such pay period by an employee for the person employing him do not constitute employment, then none of the services of such employee for such period shall be deemed to be employment. As used in this subsection, the term "pay period" means a period (of not more than 31 consecutive days) for which a payment of remuneration is ordinarily made to the employee by the person employing him. This subsection shall not be applicable with respect to services performed in a pay period by an employee for the person employing him, where any of such service is excepted by subsection (b)(9).

(d) Employee

For purposes of this chapter, the term "employee" means:

(1) any officer of a corporation; or

(2) any individual who, under the usual common law rules applicable in determining the employer-employee relationship, has the status of an employee; or

(3) any individual (other than an individual who is an employee under paragraph (1) or (2)) who performs services for remuneration for any person:

(A) as an agent-driver or commission-driver engaged in distributing meat products, vegetable products, fruit products, bakery products, beverages (other than milk), or laundry or dry-cleaning services, for his principal;

(B) as a full-time life insurance salesman;

(C) as a home worker performing work, according to specifications furnished by the person for whom the services are performed, on materials or goods furnished by such person which are required to be returned to such person or a person designated by him; or

(D) as a traveling or city salesman, other than as an agent-driver or commission-driver, engaged upon a full-time basis in the solicitation on behalf of, and the transmission to, his principal (except for side-line sales activities on behalf of some other person) of orders from wholesalers, retailers, contractors, or operators of hotels, restaurants, or other similar establishments for merchandise for resale or supplies for use in their business operations;

if the contract of service contemplates that substantially all of such services are to be performed personally by such individual; except that an individual shall not be included in the term "employee" under the provisions of this paragraph if such individual has a substantial investment in facilities used in connection with the performance of such services (other than in facilities for transportation), or if the services are in the nature of a single transaction not part of a continuing relationship with the person for whom the services are performed; or

(4) any individual who performs services that are included under an agreement entered into pursuant to section 218 of the Social Security Act.

(e) State, United States, and citizen

For purposes of this chapter -

(1) State

The term "State" includes the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa.

(2) United States

The term "United States" when used in a geographical sense includes the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa.

An individual who is a citizen of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico (but not otherwise a citizen of the United States) shall be considered, for purposes of this section, as a citizen of the United States.

(f) American vessel and aircraft

For purposes of this chapter, the term "American vessel" means any vessel documented or numbered under the laws of the United States; and includes any vessel which is neither documented or numbered under the laws of the United States nor documented under the laws of any foreign country, if its crew is employed solely by one or more citizens or residents of the United States or corporations organized under the laws of the United States or of any commodity with respect to which such service is performed. For purposes of this subparagraph, any unincorporated group of operators shall be deemed a cooperative organization if the number of operators comprising such group is more than 20 at any time during the calendar year in which such service is performed;

(C) the provisions of subparagraphs (A) and (B) shall not be deemed to be applicable with respect to service performed in connection with commercial canning or commercial freezing or in connection with any agricultural or horticultural commodity after its delivery to a terminal market for distribution for consumption; or

(5) on a farm operated for profit if such service is not in the course of the employer's trade or business or is domestic service in a private home of the employer.

As used in this subsection, the term "farm" includes stock, dairy, poultry, fruit, fur-bearing animal, and truck farms, plantations, ranches, nurseries, ranges, greenhouses or other similar structures used primarily for the raising of agricultural or horticultural commodities, and orchards.

(h) American employer

For purposes of this chapter, the term "American employer" means an employer which is -

(1) the United States or any instrumentality thereof,

(2) an individual who is a resident of the United States,

(3) a partnership, if two-thirds or more of the partners are residents of the United States,

(4) a trust, if all of the trustees are residents of the United States, or

(5) a corporation organized under the laws of the United States or of any State.

We reviewed your Form W-4, Withholding Allowance Certificate, with the employer listed above. Our records indicate that you have not filed tax returns for the 1997 and 1998 tax years. Your income appears to create a tax liability. You may not receive all the federal income tax that was withheld.

Internal Revenue Code Section 3402(n) states that (1) an employee may claim EXEMPT status only if he/she has no tax liability for the prior tax year and expects to receive all the federal income tax that was withheld, and (2) anticipates that he/she will not incur a tax liability for the current year and will expect a refund for all federal income tax.

Therefore, based on the information above, your Form W-4 does not meet the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code Section 3402(n)(1)&(2) and related employment tax regulations to claim the EXEMPT status. Therefore, we have directed your employer to disregard your Form W-4 and withhold as follows:

*Withholding Status: Single Withholding Allowances: 0

* Please note that this does not affect your filing status.

Your employer will honor a new Form W-4 that you submit only if it claims no more than the number of allowances shown above. However, you may choose to claim less than this number.

If you have any questions, please contact us at the address shown on this letter, or call between 6:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday – Thursday.

§ 1.871-1 Classification and manner of taxing alien individuals.

(a) Classes of aliens. For purposes of the income tax, alien individuals are divided generally into two classes, namely, resident aliens and nonresident aliens. Resident alien individuals are, in general, taxable the same as citizens of the United States; that is, a resident alien is taxable on income derived from all sources, including sources without the United States. See §1.1-1(b). Nonresident alien individuals are taxable only on certain income from sources within the United States and on the income described in section 864(c)(4) from sources without the United States which is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States. However, nonresident alien individuals may elect, under section 6013(g) or (h), to be treated as U.S. Residents for purposes of determining their income tax liability under Chapters 1, 5, and 24 of the Code. Accordingly, any reference in §§1.1-1 through 1.1388-1 and §§1.1491-1 through 1.1494-1 of this part to non-resident alien individuals does not include those with respect to whom an election under section 6013 (g) or (h) is in effect, unless otherwise specifically provided. Similarly, any reference to resident aliens or U.S. residents includes those with respect to whom an election is in effect, unless otherwise specifically provided.

(b) Classes of nonresident aliens—(1) In general. For purposes of the income tax, nonresident alien individuals are divided into the following three classes:

(i) Nonresident alien individuals who at no time during the taxable year are engaged in a trade or business in the United States.

(ii) Nonresident alien individuals who at any time during the taxable year are, or are deemed under §1.871-9 to be, engaged in a trade or business in the United States, and

(iii) Nonresident alien individuals who are bona fide residents of Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year.

An individual described in subdivision (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph is subject to tax pursuant to the provisions of subpart A (section 871 and following), part II, subchapter N, chapter 1 of the Code, and the regulations thereunder. See §1.871-7 and 1.871-8. The provisions of subpart A do not apply to individuals described in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph, but such individuals, except as provided in section 933 with respect to Puerto Rican source income, are subject to the tax imposed by section 1 or section 1201(b). See §1.876-1.

(2) Treaty income. If the gross income of a nonresident alien individual described in subparagraph (1) (i) or (ii) of this paragraph includes income on which the tax is limited by tax convention, see §1.871-12.

(3) Exclusions from gross income. For rules relating to the exclusion of certain items from the gross income of a nonresident alien individual, including annuities excluded under section 871(f), see §§1.872-2 and 1.894-1.

(4) Expatriation to avoid tax. For special rules applicable in determining the tax of a nonresident alien Am. Nats. can expatriate!! individual who has lost U.S. citizenship with a principal purpose of avoiding certain taxes, see section 877.

(5) Adjustment of tax of certain nonresident aliens. For the application of pre-1967 income tax provisions to residents of a foreign country which imposes a more burdensome income tax than the United States, and for the adjustment of the income tax of a national or resident of a foreign country which imposes a discriminatory income tax on the income of citizens of the United States or domestic corporations, see section 896.

(c) Effective date. This section shall apply for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1966. For corresponding rules applicable to taxable years beginning before January 1, 1967, see 26 CFR 1.871–1 and 1.871–7(a) (Revised as of January 1, 1971).

MEMORANDUM

September 22, 1995

SUBJECT: Constituent Inquiry: Congressional Power to Legislate

AUTHOR: Kenneth R. Thomas

This is to respond to your request to explain how one can identify a law that has been passed under Congress' authority to legislate regarding the District of Columbia, and a law that is passed under Congress' authority to legislate regarding the other fifty states.

Article I of the Constitution addresses the structure and powers of the United States Congress. For example, Article I, §8 contains 18 clauses, each of which addresses one or several areas in which Congress has the authority to legislate. Other Congressional powers are found in other Articles of the Constitution, or in the various amendments to the Constitution. Among these many powers, Congress has been granted the authority to exercise exclusive jurisdiction over the District of Columbia. It should be noted, however, that there is no similar clause in the Constitution that gives Congress authority to exercise exclusive jurisdiction over the states.

When Congress passes a law, there is no requirement under the Constitution that the Congress identify the nature or source of its authority. Often, a particular piece of legislation may have multiple constitutional authorities, each of which would be sufficient to pass the legislation. Or, in many cases, the legislative authority is derived from overlapping authorities which support some, but not all pieces of the legislation. Thus, for instance, a bill concerning universal health care might be based on the authority of 1 See, e.g., U.S. Const., Art. IV, §3, cl. 2 (provides congressional power over federal land and territories).

2 See, e.g., U.S. Const., Amendment XIV, §5 (giving Congress the power to enforce the Fourteenth Amendment).

Congress to regulate commerce,\(^4\) to raise taxes,\(^6\) to grant patent\(^7\) necessary laws,\(^7\) and other powers.

Congress passes many laws that affect the District of Columbia, including both laws national in scope, e.g. imposing taxes, regulating air quality, or building highways, and laws local in nature, e.g. a law limiting how the District Government may spend its federal payment. Arguably, all these laws are based on Congress's authority over the District of Columbia, at least to the extent that they affect the District of Columbia. However, these laws may or may not have an independent basis elsewhere in the Constitution.

Consequently, legal analysis evaluating the constitutional basis would need to be done on a case by case basis. Occasionally, arguments are be made in federal courts that Congress has acted outside of the scope of its constitutional authority in passing a piece of legislation. In these cases, the constitutional basis for a particular piece of legislation may address the issue of which Congressional powers are the basis for the legislation. Or, in other cases, a court might note the constitutional authority for a statute in dicta. Generally, however, the constitutional basis for legislation is accepted by both parties to a case, so the issue is generally irrelevant to particular litigation.

Withholding of Tax

Generally, a foreign person is subject to U.S. tax on its U.S. source income. A U.S. person is subject to NRA withholding. However, withholding does not include withholding of any type of U.S. real property interest. In the Code (see U.S. Real Property Interest, later) or under section 1446 of the Code (see Partnership Withholding on Effectively Connected Income, later).

A withholding agent must withhold 30% of any payment subject to NRA withholding, made to a payee that is a foreign person. However, a withholding agent may apply a reduced rate of withholding (including an exemption from withholding) if it can reliably associate the payment with documentation from a beneficial owner that is a foreign person entitled to a reduced rate of withholding.

Withholding Agent

You are a withholding agent if you are a U.S. or foreign person that has control, receipt, custody, disposal, or payment of any item of income of a foreign person that is subject to withholding. A withholding agent may be an individual, corporation, partnership, trust, association, or any other entity, including any foreign intermediary, foreign partnership, or U.S. branch of certain foreign banks and insurance companies. You may be a withholding agent even if there is no requirement to withhold from a payment or even if another person has withheld the required amount from the payment.

Although several persons may be withholding agents for a single payment, the full tax is required to be withheld only once. Generally, the U.S. person who pays amounts subject to NRA withholding is the person responsible for withholding. However, other persons may be required to withhold. For example, a payment made by a flow-through entity or nonqualified intermediary that knows, or has reason to know, that the full amount of NRA withholding was not done by the person from which it receives a payment is required to do the appropriate withholding since it also falls within the definition of a withholding agent. In addition, withholding must be done by any qualified intermediary in accordance with the terms of its qualified intermediary withholding agreement, discussed later.

Liability for tax. As a withholding agent, you are personally liable for any tax required to be withheld. This liability is independent of the tax liability of the foreign person to whom the payment is made. If you fail to withhold and the foreign payee fails to satisfy its U.S. tax liability, then both you and the foreign person are liable for tax, as well as interest and any applicable penalties. The applicable tax will be collected from you. If the foreign person satisfies its U.S. tax liability, you may still be held liable for interest and penalties for your failure to withhold.

Determination of amount to withhold. You must withhold on the gross amount subject to NRA withholding. You cannot reduce the gross amount by any deductions. However, see Scholarships and Fellowships Grants and Pay for Personal Services Performed, later, for when a deduction for a personal exemption may be allowed.

When to withhold. Withholding is required at the time you make a payment of an amount subject to withholding. A payment is made to a U.S. payee if the U.S. payee realizes income on the payment but does not have a tax liability. If the income is realized by a foreign payee, it is not subject to withholding if the foreign payee is not a beneficial owner of the income or does not have a tax liability. However, if the foreign payee is a beneficial owner of the income, withholding is required. A payment is made to a foreign payee if the foreign payee realizes income on the payment and is subject to withholding.

Wages paid to employees. If you are the employer of a nonresident alien employee, you may have to withhold taxes at graduated rates. See Pay for Personal Services Performed, later.

Effectively connected income by partnerships. A withholding agent that is a partnership (whether U.S. or foreign) is also responsible for withholding on its income effectively connected with a U.S. trade or business that is allocable to a U.S. person. See Partnership Withholding on Effectively Connected Income, later, for more information.

U.S. real property interest. A withholding agent may also be responsible for withholding if a foreign person transfers a U.S. real property interest to a U.S. person that is subject to Form 1099 reporting if (1) the U.S. person that is subject to Form 1099 reporting if (1) the U.S. person that is subject to Form 1099 reporting if (1) the U.S. person that is subject to Form 1099 reporting if (1) the U.S. person that is subject to Form 1099 reporting if (1) the U.S. person is not an exempt recipient, (2) the IRS notifies you that the TIN furnished by the payee is incorrect, or (3) there has been any discovery of a payee certification failure. Generally, a TIN must be provided by a U.S. real property interest to a U.S. person. You must withhold 30% of any payment income paid to a foreign intermediary or flow-through entity that collects for a U.S. person subject to Form 1099 reporting. See Identifying the Payee, later, for more information.

Persons Subject to NRA Withholding

NRA withholding applies only to payments made to a payee that is a foreign person. It does not apply to payments made to U.S. persons.

Usually, you determine the payee’s status as a U.S. or foreign person based on the documentation that person provides. See Documentation, later. However, if you have received no documentation or you cannot reliably associate all or a portion of a payment with documentation, then you must apply certain presumption rules, discussed later.
§ 6091. Place for filing returns or other documents

(a) General rule

When not otherwise provided for by this title, the Secretary shall by regulations prescribe the place for the filing of any return, declaration, statement, or other document, or copies thereof, required by this title or by regulations.

(b) Tax returns

In the case of returns of tax required under authority of part II of this subchapter—

(1) Persons other than corporations

(A) General rule

Except as provided in subparagraph (B), a return (other than a corporation return) shall be made to the Secretary—

(i) in the internal revenue district in which is located the legal residence or principal place of business of the person making the return, or

(ii) at a service center serving the internal revenue district referred to in clause (i), as the Secretary may by regulations designate.

(B) Exception

Returns of—

(i) persons who have no legal residence or principal place of business in any internal revenue district,

(ii) citizens of the United States whose principal place of abode for the period with respect to which the return is filed is outside the United States,

(iii) persons who claim the benefits of section 911 (relating to citizens or residents of the United States living abroad), section 931 (relating to income from sources within Guam, American Samoa, or the Northern Mariana Islands), or section 933 (relating to income from sources...
§ 911. Citizens or residents of the United States living abroad

(a) Exclusion from gross income
At the election of a qualified individual (made separately with respect to paragraphs (1) and (2)), there shall be excluded from the gross income of such individual, and exempt from taxation under this subtitle, for any taxable year—

(1) the foreign earned income of such individual, and

(2) the housing cost amount of such individual.

(b) Foreign earned income

(1) Definition
For purposes of this section—

(A) In general
The term "foreign earned income" with respect to any individual means the amount received by such individual from sources within a foreign country or countries which constitute earned income attributable to services performed by such individual during the period described in subparagraph (A) or (B) of subsection (d)(1), whichever is applicable.

(B) Certain amounts not included in foreign earned income
The foreign earned income for an individual shall not include amounts—

(i) received as a pension or annuity,

(ii) paid by the United States or an agency thereof to an employee of the United States or an agency thereof,

(iii) included in gross income by reason of section 402 (b) (relating to taxability of beneficiary of nonexempt trust) or section 403 (c) (relating to taxability of beneficiary under a nonqualified annuity), or

(iv) received after the close of the taxable year following the taxable year in which the services to which the amounts income for any taxable year shall be determined without regard to the limitation of subparagraph (A) of subsection (b) (2).

(d) Definitions and special rules
For purposes of this section—

(1) Qualified individual
The term "qualified individual" means an individual whose tax home is in a foreign country and who is—

(A) a citizen of the United States and establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary that he has been a bona fide resident of a foreign country or countries for an uninterrupted period which includes an entire taxable year, or

(B) a citizen or resident of the United States and who, during any period of 12 consecutive months, is present in a foreign country or countries during at least 330 full days in such period.

(2) Earned income
(A) In general
The term "earned income" means wages, salaries, or professional fees, and other amounts received as compensation for personal services actually rendered, but does not include that part of the compensation derived by the taxpayer for personal services rendered by him to a corporation which represents a distribution of earnings or profits rather than a reasonable allowance as compensation for the personal services actually rendered.

(B) Taxpayer engaged in trade or business
In the case of a taxpayer engaged in a trade or business in which both personal services and capital are material income-producing factors, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary, a reasonable allowance as compensation for the personal services rendered by the taxpayer, not in excess of 30 percent of his share of the net profits of such trade or business, shall be considered as earned income.

(3) Tax home
The term "tax home" means, with respect to any individual, such individual's home for purposes of section 162 (a)(2) (relating to traveling expenses while away from home). An individual shall not be treated as having a tax home in a foreign country for any period for which his abode is within the United States.

(4) Waiver of period of stay in foreign country
Notwithstanding paragraph (1), an individual who—

(A) is a bona fide resident of, or is present in, a foreign country for any period,

§ 1505. Documents to be published in Federal Register

(a) Proclamations and Executive Orders; Documents Having General Applicability and Legal Effect; Documents Required To Be Published by Congress. There shall be published in the Federal Register—

(1) Presidential proclamations and Executive orders, except those not having general applicability and legal effect or effective only against Federal agencies or persons in their capacity as officers, agents, or employees thereof;

(2) documents or classes of documents that the President may determine from time to time have general applicability and legal effect; and

(3) documents or classes of documents that may be required so to be published by Act of Congress.

For the purposes of this chapter every document or order which prescribes a penalty has general applicability and legal effect.

(b) Documents Authorized To Be Published by Regulations; Comments and News Items Excluded. In addition to the foregoing there shall also be published in the Federal Register other documents or classes of documents authorized to be published by regulations prescribed under this chapter with the approval of the President, but comments or news items of any character may not be published in the Federal Register.

(c) Suspension of Requirements for Filing of Documents; Alternate Systems for Promulgating, Filing, or Publishing Documents; Preservation of Originals. In the event of an attack or threatened attack upon the continental United States and a determination by the President that as a result of an attack or threatened attack—

(1) publication of the Federal Register or filing of documents with the Office of the Federal Register is impracticable, or

(2) under existing conditions publication in the Federal Register would not serve to give appropriate notice to the public of the contents of documents, the President may, without regard to any other provision of law, suspend all or part of the requirements of law or regulation for filing with the Office or publication in the Federal Register of documents or classes of documents.
§ 552. Public information; agency rules, opinions, orders, records, and proceedings

(a) Each agency shall make available to the public information as follows:

(1) Each agency shall separately state and currently publish in the Federal Register for the guidance of the public—

(A) descriptions of its central and field organization and the established places at which, the employees (and in the case of a uniformed service, the members) from whom, and the methods whereby, the public may obtain information, make submittals or requests, or obtain decisions;

(B) statements of the general course and method by which its functions are channeled and determined, including the nature and requirements of all formal and informal procedures available;

(C) rules of procedure, descriptions of forms available or the places at which forms may be obtained, and instructions as to the scope and contents of all papers, reports, or examinations;

(D) substantive rules of general applicability adopted as authorized by law, and statements of general policy or interpretations of general applicability formulated and adopted by the agency; and

(E) each amendment, revision, or repeal of the foregoing.

Except to the extent that a person has actual and timely notice of the terms thereof, a person may not in any manner be required to resort to, or be adversely affected by, a matter required to be published in the Federal Register and not so published. For the purpose of this paragraph, matter reasonably available to the class of persons affected thereby is deemed published in the Federal Register when incorporated by reference therein with the approval of the Director of the Federal Register.

(2) Each agency, in accordance with published rules, shall make available for public inspection and copying—

(A) final opinions, including concurring and dissenting opinions, as well as orders, made in the adjudication of cases;

(B) those statements of policy and interpretations which have been adopted by the agency and are not published in the Federal § 556. Hearings; presiding employees; powers and duties; burden of proof; evidence; record as basis of decision

(a) This section applies, according to the provisions thereof, to hearings required by section 553 or 554 of this title to be conducted in accordance with this section.

(b) There shall preside at the taking of evidence—

   (1) the agency;

   (2) one or more members of the body which comprises the agency; or

   (3) one or more administrative law judges appointed under section 3105 of this title.

This subchapter does not supersede the conduct of specified classes of proceedings, in whole or in part, by or before boards or other employees specially provided for by or designated under statute. The functions of presiding employees and of employees participating in decisions in accordance with section 557 of this title shall be conducted in an impartial manner. A presiding or participating employee may at any time disqualify himself. On the filing in good faith of a timely and sufficient affidavit of personal bias or other disqualification of a presiding or participating employee, the agency shall determine the matter as a part of the record and decision in the case.

(c) Subject to published rules of the agency and within its powers, employees presiding at hearings may—

   (1) administer oaths and affirmations;

   (2) issue subpenas authorized by law;

   (3) rule on offers of proof and receive relevant evidence;

   (4) take depositions or have depositions taken when the ends of justice would be served;

   (5) regulate the course of the hearing;

   (6) hold conferences for the settlement or simplification of the issues by consent of the parties or by the use of alternative means of dispute resolution as provided in subchapter IV of this chapter;

   (7) inform the parties as to the availability of one or more alternative means of dispute resolution, and encourage use of such methods;

(8) require the attendance at any conference held pursuant to paragraph (6) of at least one representative of each party who has authority to negotiate concerning resolution of issues in controversy;

(9) dispose of procedural requests or similar matters;

(10) make or recommend decisions in accordance with section 557 of this title; and

(11) take other action authorized by agency rule consistent with this subchapter.

(d) Except as otherwise provided by statute, the proponent of a rule or order has the burden of proof. Any oral or documentary evidence may be received, but the agency as a matter of policy shall provide for the exclusion of irrelevant, immaterial, or unduly repetitious evidence. A sanction may not be imposed or rule or order issued except on consideration of the whole record or those parts thereof cited by a party and supported by and in accordance with the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence. The agency may, to the extent consistent with the interests of justice and the policy of the underlying statutes administered by the agency, consider a violation of section 557 (d) of this title sufficient grounds for a decision adverse to a party who has knowingly committed such violation or knowingly caused such violation to occur. A party is entitled to present his case or defense by oral or documentary evidence, to submit rebuttal evidence, and to conduct such cross-examination as may be required for a full and true disclosure of the facts. In rule making or determining claims for money or benefits or applications for initial licenses an agency may, when a party will not be prejudiced thereby, adopt procedures for the submission of all or part of the evidence in written form.

(e) The transcript of testimony and exhibits, together with all papers and requests filed in the proceeding, constitutes the exclusive record for decision in accordance with section 557 of this title and, on payment of lawfully prescribed costs, shall be made available to the parties. When an agency decision rests on official notice of a material fact not appearing in the evidence in the record, a party is entitled, on timely request, to an opportunity to show the contrary.
Sec. 2679. - Exclusiveness of remedy

(a) The authority of any federal agency to sue and be sued in its own name shall not be construed to authorize suits against such federal agency on claims which are cognizable under section 1346(b) of this title, and the remedies provided by this title in such cases shall be exclusive.

(b)

(1) The remedy against the United States provided by sections 1346(b) and 2672 of this title for injury or loss of property, or personal injury or death arising or resulting from the negligent or wrongful act or omission of any employee of the Government while acting within the scope of his office or employment is exclusive of any other civil action or proceeding for money damages by reason of the same subject matter against the employee whose act or omission gave rise to the claim or against the estate of such employee. Any other civil action or proceeding for money damages arising out of or relating to the same subject matter against the employee or the employee's estate is precluded without regard to when the act or omission occurred.

(2) Paragraph (1) does not extend or apply to a civil action against an employee of the Government -

(A) which is brought for a violation of the Constitution of the United States, or

(B) which is brought for a violation of a statute of the United States under which such action against an individual is otherwise authorized.

7/14/2002
(c) The Attorney General shall defend any civil action or proceeding brought in any court against any employee of the Government or his estate for any such damage or injury. The employee against whom such civil action or proceeding is brought shall deliver within such time after date of service or knowledge of service as determined by the Attorney General, all process served upon him or an attested true copy thereof to his immediate superior or to whomever was designated by the head of his department to receive such papers and such person shall promptly furnish copies of the pleadings and process therein to the United States attorney for the district embracing the place wherein the proceeding is brought, to the Attorney General, and to the head of his employing Federal agency.

(d) Scope of Office

1. Upon certification by the Attorney General that the defendant employee was acting within the scope of his office or employment at the time of the incident out of which the claim arose, any civil action or proceeding commenced upon such claim in a United States district court shall be deemed an action against the United States under the provisions of this title and all references thereto, and the United States shall be substituted as the party defendant.

2. Upon certification by the Attorney General that the defendant employee was acting within the scope of his office or employment at the time of the incident out of which the claim arose, any civil action or proceeding commenced upon such claim in a State court shall be removed without bond at any time before trial by the Attorney General to the district court of the United States for the district and division embracing the place in which the action or proceeding is pending. Such action or proceeding shall be deemed to be an action or proceeding brought against the United States under the provisions of this title and all references thereto, and the United States shall be substituted as the party defendant. This certification of the Attorney General shall conclusively establish scope of office or employment for purposes of removal.

3. In the event that the Attorney General has refused to certify scope of office or employment under this section, the employee may at any time before trial petition the court to find and certify that the employee was acting within the scope of his office or employment. Upon such certification by the court, such action or proceeding shall be deemed to be an action or proceeding brought against the United States under the provisions of this title and all references thereto, and the United States shall be substituted as the party defendant. A copy of the petition shall be served upon the United States in accordance with the provisions of Rule 4(d)(4) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. In the event the petition is filed in a civil action or proceeding pending in a State court, the action or proceeding may be removed without bond by the Attorney General to the district court of the United States for the district and division embracing the place in which it is pending. If, in considering the petition, the district court determines that the employee was not acting within the scope of his office or employment, the action or proceeding shall be remanded to the State court.

(4) Upon certification, any action or proceeding subject to paragraph (1), (2), or (3) shall proceed in the same manner as any action against the United States filed pursuant to section 1346(b) of this title and shall be subject to the limitations and exceptions applicable to those actions.

(5) Whenever an action or proceeding in which the United States is substituted as the party defendant under this subsection is dismissed for failure first to present a claim pursuant to section 2672(a) of this title, such a claim shall be deemed to be timely presented under section 2401(b) of this title if-

(A) the claim would have been timely had it been filed on the date the underlying civil action was commenced, and

(B) the claim is presented to the appropriate Federal agency within 60 days after dismissal of the civil action.

(e) The Attorney General may compromise or settle any claim asserted in such civil action or proceeding in the manner provided in section 2677, and with the same effect
Jurisdiction of Federal Courts

As only the judicial power vested in Congress is to create courts whose judges shall hold their office during good behavior, it necessarily follows that, if Congress authorizes the creation of courts and the appointment of judges for a limited time, it must act independently of the Constitution and upon territory which is not part of the United States within the meaning of the Constitution. -Downes v. Bidwell, 182 US 244, 266 (1900).

since the plurality's conclusion — that Congress could under Article I expand the scope of the federal courts' Article III jurisdiction — contradicted the fundamental notion that Article III sets forth the exclusive catalog of permissible federal court jurisdiction. Thus, Union Gas was wrongly decided, and is overruled. The Eleventh Amendment restricts the judicial power under Article III, and Article I cannot be used to circumvent the constitutional limitations placed upon federal jurisdiction. - Seminole Tribe of Florida v. Florida No. 94-12, Argued October 11, 1995 Decided March 27, 1996

That the term “District Court of the United States” refers to an Article III court and the term “United States District Court” refers to an Article I court is stated in the following:

58 S.Ct. 543, 303 U.S. 201, Mookini V. U.S., (U.S Hawai‘i 1938)

In other words, Article I courts only have jurisdiction within territory which is not part of the United States within the meaning of the Constitution. This omits jurisdiction within the 50 State Republics. This is extremely important because it was further established by the Supreme Court that congress, therefore the federal Article I courts are not subject to the same constitutional limitations as when they are legislating for the United States:

In exercising this power, Congress is not subject to the same constitutional limitations, as when it is legislating for the United States. See Downes v. Bidwell, supra; Territory of Hawaii v. Mankichi, 190 U.S. 197,23 S.Ct. 787; Dorsey, United States, supra; Dowdell v. United States, 221 U.S. 325, 332 31 S.Ct. 590, 593; Ocampo v. United States, 234 U.S. 91, 98, 34 S.Ct. 712, 715, Public Utility Commissioners v. Ynchausti & Co., supra, 251 U.S. 406, 407, 40 S.Ct. 279; Balzac v. Porto Rico, supra. And in general the guaranties of the Constitution, save as they are limitations upon the exercise of executive and legislative power when exerted for or over our insular possessions, extend to them only as Congress, in the exercise of its legislative power over territory belonging to the United States, has made those guaranties applicable. See Balzac v. Porto Rico, supra.

The term jurisdiction pertains to two types, jurisdiction in regards to the subject, and the other of the parties:

"Jurisdiction" is of two kinds—one of the subject, the other of the parties—and both must exist in order to authorize the court to try and determine the cause. Unless the law gives the court jurisdiction of the subject, jurisdiction cannot be acquired by the consent of the parties; but, if the law gives jurisdiction of the subject, the court may acquire jurisdiction of the parties by their consent. But if B., without challenging the jurisdiction of the court, should file his answer pleading to the merits, neither party could afterwards question the jurisdiction of the court because by their actions they are "Courts must defer to Treasury's interpretive regulations if they implement congressional mandate in some reasonable manner."

"in determining whether Treasury Regulation is consistent with congressional mandate, court looks to see whether regulation harmonizes with plain language of the statute, its origin and its purpose."

National Muffler Dealers Assoc. v. United States, 440 U.S. at 477

"Currency Reporting Act is not self-executing and imposes no reporting duties with respect to currency transactions until implementing regulations have been promulgated."

"Individual cannot be prosecuted for violating Currency Reporting Act unless he violates implementing regulation" United States v. Murphy, 809 F.2d 1427, 9th Cir, 1987

"Under the Act, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to prescribe by regulation certain recordkeeping and reporting requirements for banks and other financial institutions in this country. Because it has a bearing on our treatment of some of the issues raised by the parties, we think it important to note that the Act's civil and criminal penalties attach only upon violation of regulations promulgated by the secretary; if the Secretary were to do nothing, the Act itself would impose no penalties on anyone."

"Given the scope of the information which Customs Form 4790 requires a traveler to furnish, as well as the Form's role as an implementing mechanism for the reporting regulations, Form 4790 is a substantive and implementing rule which falls within none of the acceptable exemptions under APA and should have been published in the Federal Register." Enclosed find your receipt, which I signed, showing I received your letter. As I told you by phone, I will answer questions about the report I issued in March.

I have forwarded the information about your case on for the preparation of a Statutory Notice of Deficiency. In doing so, I wrote up a summary of this case with a more detailed analysis of my basis for the deficiency. Enclosed find a copy of Form 886-A Explanation of Items. I hope that will answer most of your questions about the adjustments.

I address the Statute of Limitations issue on the second page. Normally the Statute of Limitations does expire three years from the date the return was filed or due, whichever is later. However, in this case the Statute was extended 6 weeks because you were within the class of "John Does" with offshore credit cards. So the Statute of Limitations was extended under internal Revenue Code Section 7609(e)(2).

A legal analysis of the circumstances under which the Statute of Limitations can be extended is beyond what I can provide for you. You may want to research the issue at your local law library.

Also as explained on the enclosed Form 886-A, I was unable to tell if you were an employee or an independent contractor for Oaxaca Management International, Inc. But either way I came to the same conclusion because you did not show,

(1) that the charges on the credit card were paid or incurred while performing Services for Oaxaca,
(2) that you accounted to Oaxaca for the expenses, and
(3) that you were required to return any excess reimbursement.

I understand it's your position these are corporate expenses paid directly by the corporation, however, you refused to tell me what kind of business Oaxaca was in, or what you did for the company, and most of the charges were for cash advances. Also, I am hard pressed to accept charges such as those made at Allen Family Shoes, Ralph's Grocery Stores, Pharaoh's Lost Kingdom or Hilmers Luggage as ordinary corporate business expenses without further documentation.

You indicated that Oaxaca is a company outside the jurisdiction of the IRS, but you are a United States citizen and required to report all your income, regardless of whether you received anything showing the amount of the income.

I have now been told that the document titled Offshore Credit Card Project was prepared by the IRS from information provided by MasterCard. We cannot provide you with the original information received from MasterCard because that includes information about other taxpayers. If your purpose in asking for that information is to show that the card was owned by Oaxaca, I'm not contesting that. I prepared the report on the assumption that Oaxaca was using that card to reimburse you for your expenses.

I do not have any information about you directly from Leadenhall Bank & Trust. What I was trying to explain is that MasterCard does not issue credit cards itself. They are issued by a bank, in this case Leadenhall. Any information MasterCard has about the cardholder comes from the issuing bank.

I have submitted a request to see if there is a way I can get a copy of the original John Doe Summons issued to MasterCard. I will let you know what I find out about that. Copies of the Summons issued to you two and Bank of America are kept at our District Office. It will take a little longer to get those copies, but I will provide them when I receive them. However, the adjustments to your 1999 tax return were based solely on the information from the original John Doe Summons to MasterCard and your oral testimony.

I am also requesting that you provide me with your completed income tax returns for the years 2000 and 2001. If you are unable to do so, you may provide me with copies of all the information regarding income and deductions for those years and I will issue a report showing the corrected tax due. Please provide me with that information no later than June 6, 2003.

Sincerely,

Brenda K. Popma

Regarding your recent contact with my office on the difficulties you are experiencing with the Internal Revenue Service, it is the policy of our office not to give legal advice and suggest that you seek counsel with tax expertise.

We can address your specific question relative to IRS Form 668-W, Notice of Levy on Wages...Section 6331 IRC entitled “Levy and Distraint” and Section 6331 (a) IRC entitled “Authority of Secretary”, “Levy may be made upon the accrued salary or wages of any officer, employee or elected official of the United States, District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of the United States or the District of Columbia, by serving notice of levy on the employee of such officer, employee or elected official...”, does not provide authority to levy wages of private citizens in the private sector.

The omission of this section from IRS form 668-W may be misleading to some employers, as you have suggested.

I hope that you will find this information useful and regret that I am unable to provide you with more assistance.

Please feel free to contact me again if you have questions or comments regarding your federal government.

Sincerely,

DENNIS M. HERTEL

5.14.10 Payroll Deduction Agreements and Direct Debit Installment Agreements

5.14.10.1 Overview

1. This chapter provides procedures for processing Payroll Deduction agreements and Direct Debit installment agreements. Payroll deduction agreements are those agreements where employers deduct payments from taxpayer's wages, and mail them to the Internal Revenue Service. Direct Debit Installment agreements allow the Service to debit taxpayer's bank accounts. Payroll Deduction agreements and Direct Debit installment agreements benefit the taxpayer by reducing the likelihood of default and lessening taxpayer burden.

5.14.10.2 Payroll Deduction Agreements

1. The use of Form 2159, Payroll Deduction Agreement, must be strongly encouraged when the taxpayer is a wage earner, particularly if the taxpayer defaulted on a previous installment agreement.

2. Private employers, states, and political subdivisions are not required to enter into payroll deduction agreements. Taxpayers should determine whether their employers will accept and process executed agreements before agreements are submitted for approval or finalized.

3. Comptroller General decision 8-45105 (signed in 1955) requires Federal Agencies to deduct and pay over the amount shown on payroll deduction agreements.

4. Allow a reasonable period for the employer to complete the necessary bookkeeping and submit the first payment.

5. On balance due and ACS accounts, encourage taxpayers to hand deliver agreements to employers; otherwise mail agreements to employers. If taxpayers prefer the Service initiate this contact, it may be made if the taxpayer received Letter 3164 A at least 10 days prior to mailing Form 2159 to the employer. Ensure Form 12175 is completed and forwarded to the Third Party Contact Coordinator in the area or center initiating the contact. Letter 3164 A must have been mailed for each module included in the installment agreement. If Letter 3164 A has not been mailed, the taxpayer may authorize a specific third party contact if the revenue officer or other contact employee completes Form 12160 and has it signed by the taxpayer(s). This form should be kept with the case file and the case file history should be documented to reflect the date that the taxpayer provided the authorization. In processing Payroll Deduction Agreements ensure that all Third Party Contact guidelines have been observed. See IRM 5.1.17.

6. The employer and the taxpayer should sign Form 2159 before submission to the manager for approval.

7. On ACS accounts, direct employers responses to ACS call sites, document case files and forward them to call sites after completing telephone contact.

8. Ensure TC 971 AC 043 is input on all modules within 24 hours of the taxpayer's request for a payroll deduction agreement.

Tax Treatment of Thrift Savings Plan Payments to Nonresident Aliens and Their Beneficiaries

Except as noted below for uniformed services accounts, this notice summarizes tax rules that apply to Thrift Savings Plan (TSP) payments made to nonresident aliens and beneficiaries of nonresident aliens.

A nonresident alien is an individual who is neither a U.S. citizen nor a resident of the United States. A resident alien is an individual who is or was a lawful permanent resident of the United States during any part of a calendar year. An alien may also be considered a U.S. resident if the individual meets the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) “substantial presence” test for a calendar year. For information on residency status and the tests for residency, you may obtain IRS Publication 515, Withholding of Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Entities, or IRS Publication 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens.

We are required by law to provide you with this notice; however, because tax rules are complex, you may wish to consult a tax advisor before you make any decision that might be affected by them.

For purposes of this notice, the following additional definitions may be helpful:

• A participant is a Federal employee or a member of the uniformed services (or a former Federal employee or member of the uniformed services) who has an account in the TSP.

• A beneficiary is a person entitled to the TSP account of a deceased participant.

• A current or former spouse is an individual who is (or was) a spouse of a participant and who receives a payment under a qualifying order.

• Taxable income means an amount of money received from the TSP by a participant or beneficiary which is subject to U.S. income tax.

• Tax withholding is money that is withheld from a TSP distribution and paid to the IRS as a credit towards U.S. income tax.

Special Note for the Rollover or Transfer of Uniformed Services Accounts

Tax-exempt balances (i.e., contributions from combat zone pay) may be transferred or rolled over into

- An eligible rollover distribution is a distribution from the TSP to a participant, or to a participant’s spouse or former spouse, which is not (1) a monthly payment that is calculated based on life expectancy, (2) a monthly payment made over a period of at least 10 years, (3) an IRS required minimum distribution, or (4) a financial hardship withdrawal.

- A traditional IRA is an individual retirement account described in §408(a) of the Internal Revenue Code (I.R.C.) or an individual retirement annuity described in I.R.C. §408(d). It does not include a Roth IRA, a SIMPLE IRA, or a Coverdell Education Savings Account (formerly known as an education IRA).

- An eligible employer plan includes a plan qualified under I.R.C. §401(a), including a §401(k) plan, profit-sharing plan, defined benefit plan, stock bonus plan, and money purchase plan; an I.R.C. §403(a) annuity plan; an I.R.C. §403(b) tax-sheltered annuity; and an eligible I.R.C. §457(b) plan maintained by a governmental employer.

- A transfer occurs when you instruct the TSP to send all or part of a payment directly to a traditional IRA or an eligible employer plan, instead of issuing it directly to you.

- A rollover occurs when the TSP makes a distribution to you (which includes the amount of the check you receive plus the amount withheld) and you deposit any part of that distribution into a traditional IRA or eligible employer plan within 60 days of the date you receive it.

Special Note for the Rollover or Transfer of Uniformed Services Accounts

Tax-exempt balances (i.e., contributions from combat zone pay) may be transferred or rolled over into

1 The “United States” includes the 50 states and the District of Columbia.

2 This is commonly referred to as the “green card” test.

Federal Retirement Thrift Investment Board

OC 96-21 (7/2004) EDITIONS PRIOR TO 6/03 OBSOLETE
a traditional IRA or transferred into certain eligible employer plans, but only if the IRA or plan accepts tax-exempt balances. Although an eligible rollover distribution will be distributed to you based on the proportion of taxable and tax-exempt balances in your account, if you choose to transfer a portion of the distribution the taxable balance will be transferred to your IRA or plan first. Tax-exempt money will be transferred only if the taxable portion of your distribution does not satisfy the percentage that you elect to transfer to your IRA or plan. Any tax-exempt money in your withdrawal that cannot be transferred will be paid directly to you (or to your checking or savings account, if you so elect).

You may only transfer (not roll over) a tax-exempt balance to an eligible employer plan. The only types of eligible employer plans that can accept a transfer of tax-exempt balances from the TSP are plans qualified under I.R.C. § 401(a) and I.R.C. § 403(b) annuity plans; however, a plan is not legally required to accept such a transfer.

You cannot first transfer or roll over a tax-exempt balance into a traditional IRA and later transfer or roll over that amount into an employer plan. If you transfer or roll over a tax-exempt balance into a traditional IRA, it is your responsibility to keep track of the amount of these contributions and report that amount to the IRS on the appropriate form so that the nontaxable amount of any future distribution(s) can be determined.

Tax-exempt balances in a uniformed services TSP account may not be transferred into a civilian TSP account.

Tax Treatment of TSP Payments

The tax treatment of TSP payments is explained in the following questions and answers.

1. Do I owe U.S. taxes on a payment from the TSP?

A payment made by the TSP is taxable income for U.S. Federal income tax purposes in the year in which the payment is made. The Federal income tax treatment of payments from the TSP depends on two factors: the residency status of the participant when he or she was employed as a Federal employee and the residency status of the participant or beneficiary when he or she receives the payment(s) from the TSP. The Internal Revenue Code governs your tax liability and withholding responsibilities.

In general, the following rules apply:

- A resident alien participant will be liable for U.S. income tax.
- A nonresident alien participant who never worked for the U.S. Government in the United States will not be liable for U.S. income tax.
- A U.S. citizen beneficiary of a resident or nonresident alien participant will be liable for U.S. income tax.
- A resident alien beneficiary of a U.S. citizen participant or resident or nonresident alien participant will be liable for U.S. income tax.
- A nonresident alien beneficiary of a U.S. citizen participant or resident alien participant will be liable for U.S. income tax.
- A nonresident alien beneficiary of a nonresident alien participant will not be liable for U.S. income tax if the participant never worked for the U.S. Government in the United States.
- An Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN) is required when a payee is not eligible to obtain a Social Security number (SSN). To obtain an ITIN, the payee must complete IRS Form W-7, Application For IRS Individual Taxpayer Identification Number, and submit the form with certain documentation to the IRS.

2. Will the TSP withhold U.S. taxes from my payments?

This depends on whether the payment you receive is subject to U.S. income tax. If the money you receive is subject to U.S. income tax, then it is subject to withholding. In general, the only persons who do not owe U.S. taxes are nonresident alien participants and nonresident alien beneficiaries of nonresident alien participants. The TSP will not withhold any U.S. taxes if you fit into either category and you submit the certification described below. However, if you do not submit the certification to the TSP, the TSP must withhold 30% of your payment for Federal income taxes.
