Legally exit the U.S. Tax Club

The Federal Income Tax is Voluntary!

Are you fed up with handing over a large percentage of your hard-earned money to the Internal Revenue Service every year? If so, we can help you keep your money.

But, how can this be achieved in a manner that won't make you a target?

Use the law.

The U.S. Supreme Court declared the Federal Income Tax to be unconstitutional unless the law included the population-based Rule of Apportionment.

The 16th Amendment clearly excluded this requirement.

Americans can, however, volunteer to join the Tax Club.

And if you can volunteer your way in, you can also exit.

Please be aware. There are 2 'United States.'

The Constitutional Republic — the 50 states of the Union — is vastly different from the corporate 'United States' in regard to The Constitution and Bill of Rights.

People born in the District of Columbia and territories like Puerto Rico don't have the Constitutional protections that are inalienable to other Americans.

	Constitutional Republic	District of Columbia
☑	Sovereign individuals	☐
☑	Protected by The Constitution	☐
☑	Voluntary U.S. Taxpayer	☐
☐	Subject of U.S. Congress	☑

It's up to you to clarify your true and correct status as a sovereign Constitutional American.

The Revocation of Election we offer meets the criteria for opting out of the Tax Club — an option provided by the U.S. Congress, not us. This frees you from any obligation to file and pay the U.S. Federal Income Tax for the current tax year plus all future years.
